II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 22nd July 1915 and any objection or suggestion which may be received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

E. A. A. COWLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Draft Rules.

1. Every vessel passing through the line of navigation known as the Madaripur Bhil channel shall stop at the prescribed toll-stations notified in the Schedule II attached for the purpose of assessment, or check, of toll charges.

2. For the purposes of these rules, vessels other than rafts, timbers, bamboos or other floating material shall be divided into two classes as below :—

Class I.—To include all vessels of the usual native types of build.

Class II.—To include all steamers, flats and barges, and such other square-built boats as should, in the opinion of the Collector of Tolls, be included.

3. The net tonnage of every vessel of class I, whether laden or empty shall, for the purposes of these rules, be determined by the following measurements :—

(A) The product of one-quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water-line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the interior greatest depth from the water-line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

(B) The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches; the measurement of the breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

(C) The maundage on which tollage shall be charged shall be a simple multiple of 12½ maunds, rejecting any remainder by which the maundage, calculated as above, may exceed such simple multiple.

4. For vessels in class II the tonnage shall be determined as follows :—

The tonnage of steamers shall be the registered tonnage as given in the certificate of survey of the steamer.

Toll shall be levied on the actual weight of cargo carried on steamers, flats, barges and other vessels included in this class, as declared in the manifests.

When the registered tonnage of a steamer, or the manifest for cargo of a flat is not available, the tonnage will be taken as arrived at under rule 3.

For square-built boats the total maundage, as determined under rules for class I, shall be increased by half, and for steamers one-third of the total maundage shall be deducted for engine space.

5. Every vessel except as exempted under rule 10 shall be furnished at the toll-station of entry with a ticket on which the name of the serang manjhi or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maund-age of the vessel, the nature and weight of the cargo it contains, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket will remain current shall be entered.

6. This ticket may be demanded and checked by any navigation officer while the vessel is within the toll-limits of the Bhil channel and must kept on board and at hand for that purpose. The ticket must be given up the exit toll-station. If the ticket is not produced on demand by officer, such officer shall assess the amount of toll payable and the ves be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 until such sum is realized.

7. Vessels leaving the channel between two toll-stations shall obtain permit for so doing in Form No. 1 from the Toll Collector of the toll-station of entry. In such cases the Toll Collector will issue a ticket in the usual form and also collect the same before the vessel is permitted to proceed.

8. A vessel, which has been detained under these rules or under section 9 of the Act, may not be removed from the channel without the order of the Collector of tolls until the toll due has been paid. During such detention the manjhi, owner or agent must make arrangements for the safety of the vessel and cargo.

9. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll-station before a vessel is permitted to proceed: Provided that the Collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act may, at his discretion, permit vessels belonging to individuals or firms of recognised standing to proceed without prepayment, on an undertaking that the bills for tollage due shall be liquidated monthly on presentation.

10. (I) In the case of steamers and flats falling under the latter portion of rule 9 a copy of the traffic manifest must be handed in at the exit toll-station, a receipt for which in Form No. 2 will be issued by the Toll Collector to the person in charge of the vessel, in such cases no ticket in the usual form will be issued. If the traffic manifest is not produced at the exit toll-station the procedure as laid down in rules 6 and 8 will be adopted.

(II) The traffic manifest or the receipt for the same may be demanded by any navigation officer while the vessel is within the limits of the Bhil channels between the Manickdah entrance and Chur Maguria.

11. The term "Navigation officer" as used in rule 6 shall include the Collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act, and the officer, or the subordinate duly authorised by such officer of the Public Works Department in charge of the subdivision or section within which the channel is situated.

12. Duplicates of lost tickets will be granted by the Toll Collector who originally issued the ticket on payment of a fee of one-fourth of the amount of toll payable, subject to a maximum of one rupee and a minimum of four annas. The duplicate will be issued only when the Toll Collector is satisfied concerning the identity of the boat.

13. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the channel.

14. (1) In every case of a sunken vessel, whether due to negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

(2) If, three days after the occurrence of a wreck, it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner, provided that when the wreck obstructs the fairway they shall take action at once to remove the same.

15. When a sunken vessel has been recovered, the Supervisor shall cause notices to be posted at the toll offices, or other prominent places, calling on those concerned to pay to the Collector of tolls all toll or demurrage which may be due, as well as the expenses incurred in the recovery of the vessel and cargo. Should the sum due be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the boat and its furniture, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold under the procedure directed in section 9 of the Act.

16. The purchaser of a vessel sold under the provisions of section 9 of the Act shall have the right to take it out of the channel on the day of purchase, or within such time as may be allowed by the Collector of tolls, without payment of tolls.

17. When any laden vessel, which has sunk, has been recovered, or when any laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Act or of these rules, the Supervisor shall give immediate notice of the recovery or seizure to the owner of the cargo or his agent, requiring the removal of the cargo without delay, and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

18. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or the abode of the owner of the cargo of such vessel, the notice prescribed in rule 16 shall be effected by a notice exhibited in his office, and by advertisement in at least one English and one vernacular Calcutta and local newspaper.

19. Lights and Signals.—All vessels, whether travelling or moored in the channel, must, between sunset and sunrise, carry a white light in a lantern on the fore-part of the vessel where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the light prescribed in the first paragraph of this rule.

20. Every vessel proceeding in the channel must limit her speed to six miles an hour from the 15th October to the 10th July, and to eight miles an hour from the 11th July to the 14th October.

21. For any infringement of rules 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15, 17, 19 or 20, the person in charge of the vessel or other persons in fault shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 or Rs. 5 a day for any continuing infringement.

His Excellency in Council also shares the Commander-in-Chief's appreciation of the valuable assistance rendered by the Royal Navy and the Royal Indian Marine.

No. 11854-1, dated Simla, the 8th June 1915.

From—The Chief of the General Staff,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Army Department.

2. His Excellency considers that the operations in question were skilfully carried out and that the conduct of the troops reflects credit on all ranks. He desires to commend to the favourable consideration of Government the officers, non-commissioned officers and men whose services are brought to notice in the reports, and wishes to invite attention to the valuable assistance rendered by the Royal Navy and Royal Indian Marine.

3. His Excellency recommends that these reports be treated as despatches and published in the Gazette of India.

Headquarters, Basrah, No. 174-G., dated 29th December, 19[illegible]

From—LIEUTENANT-GENERAL SIR A. A. BARRETT, [illegible] K.C.V.O., Commanding, Indian Expeditionary Force "D,"

To—The Chief of the General Staff, Army Headquarters,

I HAVE the honour to submit, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the accompanying reports by Major General C. I. Fry, Lieutenant-Colonel G. S. Frazer and Commander W. Nunn, R.N., on the operations which resulted in the capture of Qurnah and the surrender of the Turkish garrison with its commander, the late Vali of Basrah.

The force originally despatched from Basrah on the evening of the 3rd December for this purpose consisted of 2 guns of the 82nd Battery, Royal Field Artillery, 1 company of Norfolks, half company 3rd Sappers and Miners, the 104th Rifles and the 110th Mahrattas under command of Colonel G. S. Frazer. Two of the transports containing these troops were armed with 2 field guns each, to be placed at the disposal of the Senior Naval Officer as soon as the landing of the troops had been completed.

Colonel Frazer's orders were to land at a spot selected by Captain Hayes-Sadler, R.N., on the left bank of the river a few miles below Qurnah, and, acting in concert with the naval force, to clear the left bank of the enemy up to and beyond Qurnah, after which he had a free hand to decide whether to cross the river and attack the village of Qurnah, or to hold on and await reinforcements.

It will be seen from Colonel Frazer's report that the clearing of the left bank was carried out most successfully.

The enemy on this bank, after being driven from his entrenchments and from the village of Muzaira'ah, fell back to the north, while our leading troops got engaged with those holding the village of Qurnah on the right bank. Owing to the thick groves of palm trees at this spot, intersected as usual by numerous creeks, touch was lost with the retreating Turks, who were thus enabled to cross the river unmolested higher up stream; while Colonel Frazer, being unable to cross the river under a heavy fire, withdrew for the night. It will be seen from the report of Captain Nunn, R.N., that although the naval guns and the field guns on the transports were able to afford most efficient support during the first part of the action, the ships and armed launches, one of which was disabled, could not, owing to being exposed to heavy shell fire, go far enough up stream to bring an effective fire to bear upon the enemy holding this village.

I consider that Colonel Frazer accomplished all that could have been expected of him, having regard to the limited number of troops under his command. The Turks had been reinforced before the action commenced and were in greater strength than was expected.

As soon as the transports containing wounded and prisoners returned to Basrah, I ordered General Fry to take up reinforcements consisting of 4 more field guns, the remaining 3 companies of the Norfolk Regiment, the 7th Rajputs and a half battalion of the 120th Infantry.

His orders were to reconnoitre the ground thoroughly before renewing the engagement, and to let me know if he considered more troops would be required. He asked for a Mountain Battery and some transport mules, which were despatched as quickly as possible.

The further course of the action is fully described in General Fry's report and it only remains for me to express my high appreciation of the skilful manner in which they were carried out and of the excellent behaviour of the troops engaged. I consider that the crossing of the river was a most creditable performance and I trust that the gallant conduct of Lieutenant Campbell and the non-commissioned officers and men of the 3rd Sappers and Miners, who swam the river, will meet with due recognition.

I also wish to endorse General Fry's commendations of other officers and men who distinguished themselves during this engagement, although, as I have already mentioned in a previous report, I propose to defer bringing the names of individual officers to notice until the operations as a whole have been concluded. I much regret that the force has now lost the services of Captain Hayes-Sadler, R.N., and the officers and men of H. M. S. "Ocean," who have now rejoined their ship and quitted the Gulf.

LIST OF ACCOMPANIMENTS TO DESPATCH.

I

Report on the operations of General Fry's column on 6th, 7th and 8th December 1914, culminating in the surrender of Qurnah.

THE troops despatched from Basrah on the 5th December to reinforce Lieutenant-Colonel Frazer's Column (104th Rifles, 110th Mahratta Light Infantry and section 82nd Battery) arrived at Camp Shaib at 5 A.M. on 6th December and disembarked, extending the existing perimeter camp to the north (see Sketch Map of Camp Shaib, page 20). Colonel Frazer had arranged for a reconnaissance of the enemy's position by 3 companies under Major Hill at 8 A.M., and during this I and one of my staff went on board H. M. S. "Lawrence" to confer with Sir P. Cox and Captain Hayes-Sadler, Senior Naval Officer. [6th December 1914; 5 A.M; 8 A.M]

The enemy had re-occupied Muzaira'ah after Colonel Frazer's operation of the 4th December and appeared to be actively engaged in entrenching the position.

At 10-30 A.M. the enemy opened fire with 2 guns from the southern end of Muzaira'ah on Major Hill's reconnaissance, firing about 6 groups of 2 shots of well-timed shrapnel, and at 11 A.M. opened on the "Lawrence" firing 6 groups of 2 shots. They appeared to be ranging new guns. [10-30 A.M; 11 A.M]

The reconnaissance returned to camp, while the "Lawrence" withdrew a short distance down stream.

At 2-30 P.M. the Senior Naval Officer reported that about 500 enemy with 2 guns were advancing from Muzaira'ah across the plain. The 110th were sent forward to reinforce the outposts with 2 sections, 76th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. After some brief long range fire the enemy retired, and beyond a small affair of outposts just before dusk, when the enemy advanced [2-30 P.M] too close, necessitating the reinforcement of the outposts by 1 double company, there was no sniping or other disturbing element during the ensuing night.

From my intelligence it appeared that the enemy had been considerably reinforced since Colonel Frazer's action on 4th, and were now estimated at 1,200—1,500 about Muzaira'ah with 6 guns, and about 800 in Qurnah with 4 guns.

As any forward movement from Muzaira'ah would enable the enemy to shell the camp (though the danger was a night one only) and to prevent any further reinforcement to the enemy, I decided that an early attack on Muzaira'ah, with the clearing of the left bank of the Tigris [illegible]r, was essential to further operations. This, however, would have bee[illegible] [illegible]ectual unless I was prepared to remain in possession of captured grou[illegible] [illegible] opening of a short line of communication to Shaib Camp would be e[illegible] and consequently 320 mules were wired for, being the minimu[illegible] [illegible]mated requirement. (For the working of this line see Appendix "A".)

December 1914. On 7th December, the force (Appendix "B"), less one double company per battalion and details of other units left in camp, assembled on the further side of the creek just north of the camp at 9 A.M. Considerable delay occurred owing to difficulties experienced by the field artillery in crossing this shallow creek, filled by an exceptionally high tide.

My plan of attack was for the 2nd Norfolk Regiment and the 120th Infantry to attack the village of Muzaira'ah and the trenches south of that place, while the 110th Light Infantry, echeloned back on the right of the 2nd Norfolk Regiment, was to carry out a turning movement against the north of the village, the 7th Rajputs and 104th Rifles being held in reserve. The section, 82nd Battery, was directed to support the left attack, the 2 sections, 76th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, the right attack. The Mountain Battery and transport mules asked for had arrived at camp; and I must here express my thanks for the prompt despatch o[f] these, the latter being especially necessary for my plans. The 30th Mountain Battery at once joined the force for the action, and was placed between the field batteries to support either flank as required.

Close co-operation had been arranged for with the Senior Naval Officer. For the distribution of troops and subsequent movements see Sketch Map of action of 7th December, page 21.

The advance commenced at 11 A.M. over an absolutely level and bare open plain without a vestige of cover, and at 11-15 A.M. 82nd Battery opened fire on Muzaira'ah at a range of 2,750 yards.

Ten minutes later the enemy opened rifle fire from the village and trenches covering it, and at 11-45 A.M. the 76th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, came into action at 3,800 yards range. Two of the enemy's guns then opened fire on the 76th Battery from the north end of Muzaira'ah, the flashes being visible, but they were silenced in 10 rounds and did not re-open fire, being subsequently captured intact.

The infantry were meanwhile steadily advancing and all artillery advanced to closer ranges. As the infantry came into action each line successively dropped their blankets to facilitate movement and these were collected after the action.

The 2nd Norfolk Regiment and 120th Infantry came under some enfilade fire from trenches on the enemy's right, but the prompt switching of fire on to that flank by the 82nd Battery and guns from the ships, combined with vigorous action on the part of the 120th Infantry reinforced by a double company 7th Rajputs, with Maxim guns, effectually checked any danger from that direction.

Meanwhile the 110th Light Infantry executed their turning movement against trenches on the north of Muzaira'ah, till at 12-50 P.M. the whole of the 2nd Norfolk Regiment being now merged in the firing line, the village was stormed at the point of the bayonet, the enemy not waiting to receive the charge.

The pursuit through the palm groves was vigorously carried out by the 120th Infantry and 2nd Norfolk Regiment, while the 110th Light Infantry cleared the trenches immediately north of Muzaira'ah. The 104th Rifles followed closely after the 110th Light Infantry and, as the latter regiment swung towards the river, moved northwards clearing further trenches occupied by the enemy in their retirement. All the artillery moved round the north of Muzaira'ah and shelled the fleeing enemy.

At 2 P.M. two hostile guns opened fire from the north-north-east, the flashes only being visible. These were silenced in 7 minutes by searching fire from 76th Battery at 4,100 yards range, and teams were seen galloping away, leaving the guns. A squadron of cavalry or even a troop during this pursuit would have been invaluable, for the 2 guns could undoubtedly have been captured and probably a large body of the enemy (estimated from 1,000 to 1,500) could have been rounded up, with their line of retreat up the river bank c[illegible] — 2 P.M.

Major Maule, 82nd Battery, had meanwhile placed one of his guns in position [illegible] he left bank of the Tigris at the northern edge of the palm groves an[illegible] [illegible]ectually raked the river front of Qurnah at a range of 2,300 yards. — 3-15 P.M.

The 7[illegible] [illegible]puts, except for 1 double company reinforcement to the 120th, were [illegible]erve throughout the action.

Throug[illegible] [illegible]palm groves the fighting continued till nearly dusk, the enemy brin[illegible] [illegible] heavy fire to bear from Qurnah and along the river bank.

Camp was a[illegible]anged for the force in some gardens between Muzaira'ah and the palm gr[illegible]es, where, though within shell fire from Qurnah, it was hidden from vie[illegible] and covered by the glare of the burning village. By 5 P.M. all units w[illegible]e settling into camp (see Sketch of Camp, Muzaira'ah, page 22) except th[illegible] 110th Light Infantry, who were covering the operation from the north-west and who came in after dark. About this time two enemy's shells were burst outside the north-west corner of camp and at 9-30 P.M. 5 shells wer[illegible] [illegible]red over the glowing village: no damage was done and the ensuing nigh[illegible] [illegible]as devoid of incident. — 5 P.M. — 9-30 P.M.

The captures this[illegible] [illegible] included 3 field guns, about 130 prisoners and a large number of rifles [illegible]ich were destroyed. — Captures

The enemy are es[illegible]ated to have had about 2,000 troops on the left bank, and subsequent inform[illegible]tion places their casualties at about 200 killed and 300 wounded, but the latte[illegible] is probably under-estimated. Our casualties were British officers wound[illegible]d 5; Indian officers wounded 3; rank and file killed 8; wounded 112, o[illegible] whom 2 have since died. — Casualties

I must acknowledge the admirable support extended by the Artillery and the Navy, which seems to have paralyzed all artillery resistance.

From my intelligence this evening it appeared that about 1,500 of the enemy escaped northwards up the left bank of the Tigris and that the majority had embarked and fled north, while in Qurnah itself were some 800 regulars with 4 guns.

I decided to attempt a crossing of the Tigris without delay.

Early on the morning of 8th December the half Company (No. 17) Sappers and Miners were despatched to the northern edge of the palm groves to get a line across the river. The 104th Rifles were to reconnoitre and cover the operations from the north; the 110th Light Infantry and 2nd Norfolk Regiment were moved to the edge of the palm groves, the former to cross and the latter to cover the crossing, while the artillery moved to positions in support, and the 120th Infantry and 7th Rajputs were to distract attention opposite Qurnah itself in combination with the naval force. — 8th December 191[illegible]

The dispositions of the crossing are shown in sketch of crossing of River Tigris, page 23.

At 11-30 A.M. Havildar Ghulam Nabi swam across the Tigris with a log line accompanied by Lance Naik Nur Dad and Sapper Ghulam Haidar, and in spite of a strong current and the possibility of a heavy fire being brought on them at any moment, they succeeded in swimming the 130 yards of river and landing on the right bank Lieutenant Campbell, R.E., then went across and the 1¼" wire cable, especially brought up for the purpose, was hauled over and made fast; a difficult feat in the strong current on an ebb tide. — 11-30 A.M.

A dhow was secured with the assistance of two or three friendly Arabs, and being brought across, the first party of some 70 men, 110th Light Infantry, under Lieutenant-Colonel Frazer and Captain Cochran, General Staff Officer, 3rd grade, for Intelligence, successfully landed on the right bank at 1-20 P.M. under some rifle fire from dhows down stream. Though the operation was tedious, the rest of the Battalion was gradually pushed over. — 1-20 P.M.

Meanwhile the Navy and a Double Company of each of the 120th Infantry and 7th Rajputs were distracting the enemy's attention in front of Qurnah successfully; for the crossing did not appear to have been realized by the enemy till too late, though some rifle and ineffectual shell fire was experienced.

The 104th Rifles had earlier reported that they could cross about 1½ miles up stream by 3 dhows, the crews of which were friendly. They were directed to cross and come up on the right of the 110th Light Infantry for the advance on Qurnah, while the 2nd Norfolk Regiment detached half a Battali[illegible]n to replace them.

The single gun, 82nd Battery, only returned the enemy's fire and it was not found necessary for the other guns to disclose themselves. One Section, 30th Mountain Battery, without mules, followed the 110th Light Infantry across the river but were not employed, as Lieutenant-Co[illegible]el Frazer, meeting with some opposition north of Qurnah, decided it w[illegible]oo late in the day to storm the town with the probability of street figh[illegible].

The 104th Rifles, 110th Light Infantry and Sectio[illegible]h Mountain Battery accordingly went into camp on the right ban[illegible]r the flying bridge One Double Company, 110th Light Infantry, u[illegible]er Lieutenant-Colonel Britt[illegible]n, however, moving down the right bank, did not get the order to retire, and entering the enemy's position on their righ[illegible] enfiladed their northern defence and occupied three towers in this pa[illegible] of their position. This Double Company, being isolated, later withdrew to camp without casualty for the night.

To support this force on the right bank, the 2nd Norfolk Regiment were left to camp at the end of the palm groves on the left bank, other units resuming their camp at Mazaira'ah.

The ensuing night was devoid of incident.

Our casualties this day were 23 rank and file wo[illegible]ded.

th December 1914

At 5 A.M., on 9th December, as I was about to re[illegible]e operations, I received intimation from the Senior Naval Officer that a deputation of officers from Subhi Bey, the late Vali of Basrah and Turkish Commander, had boarded H. M. S. "Espiegle" about midnight, stating that the Vali was prepared to surrender unconditionally.

8-30 A. M

I met a deputation, consisting of the Chief Staff Officer and 2 Lieutenants on board at 8-30 A.M., when arrangements for surrender were made and all movements of troops stopped.

1-30 P M

At 1-30 P.M., accompanied by Sir Percy Cox, Captain Hayes-Sadler (Senior Naval Officer) and Staffs, I landed at the Vali's house and received his surrender, returning to him his sword in recognition of his able defence.

Meanwhile the 104th Rifles and 110th Light Infantry had moved into Qurnah, and piquets were posted round the town, the remainder of the battalions being drawn up round the Turkish force which had fallen in with piled arms on the open square at the south corner of the town.

2-30 P M

At 2-30 P.M., the Union Jack was formally hoisted and the transference of the prisoners to the paddle steamer "Blosse Lynch" was proceeded with. The details of ordnance and prisoners taken at Qurnah are shown in Appendix "C."

General remarks and recommendations.—I cannot speak too highly of the conduct of the troops throughout these operations and their steadiness under heavy fire. Their tactical formations were admirably adapted to the ground which afforded no cover, and the units were handled with marked ability.

Royal Navy

My thanks are due to Captain Hayes-Sadler, R.N., for his very close co-operation with his naval force throughout these operations, which was of invaluable assistance.

Royal Artillery

The fact that there were so few casualties was due to the splendid co-operation of the field and mountain artillery. Their fire was rendered very difficult owing to mirage, but in spite of this they maintained an accurate fire on the enemy's trenches right up to the moment of assault. They also immediately silenced any of the enemy's guns which opened fire. Major St. T. B. Nevinson, 76th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, acted as Commander Royal Artillery and directed this co-operation with great skill and ability. Major St. J. Maule, 82nd Battery, Royal Field Artillery, throughout showed great initiative, and his action in bringing a gun to bear on the river front of Qurnah on the 7th and 8th December had much to do with the decisive issue of the operations.

Major H. J. Cotter, 30th Mountain Battery, and Captain E. V. Sarson, 76th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, gave valuable services.

No. 98166 Battery Sergeant Major H. E. Haggett, 76th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, is noted for exceptionally able and energetic assistance.

No 17 Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners

No. 17 Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners.—I cannot speak too highly of the services rendered by this half Company throughout, under the command of Lieutenant R. C. Lord, R.E. They have had very hard work and their [illegible]evotion to it has been of incalculable assistance [illegible]r H. E. Winsloe, R.E., acted as my A. C. R. E. and ably directed the ope[illegible]tion of bridging the river Tigris.

Hav[illegible]ar Ghulam Nabi, No. 2632, swam across the Tigris with a log line accompani[illegible] by Lance Naik Nur Dad, No. 3743, and No. 3898 Sapper Ghulam Haidar. T[illegible]e was a strong current in the river which was about 130 yards wide, and th[illegible]emy were occupying the opposite bank only a short distance down strea[illegible] [illegible]lthough they were not fired on, there was every rea[illegible]n to expect they [illegible] be, as the ground on the opposite bank was densely wooded and favoured [illegible]pproach of an enemy. It was owing to their gallant action that the stee[illegible]e was got across and the flying bridge constructed. I recommend Hav[illegible]ar Ghulam Nabi for the "Order of Merit" and Lance-Naik Nur Dad an[illegible] Sapper Ghulam Haidar for the "Distinguished Conduct Medal."

Lieutenant M. G. Campbell, R. E., deserves special recognition for his gallant crossing o[illegible] the Tigris, holding on to the log line only, when a strong current was running, to superintend the hauling over of the steel hawser and fix the running tackle for the flying bridge—he was for some time under fire while performing this difficult operation.

2nd Battalion Norfolk Regiment

2nd Battalion, Norfolk Regiment.—This fine Regiment has throughout been an example to o[illegible]rs, both in the field and in camp. Their cohesion and the precision in th[illegible] ovements showed that they have attained a very high standard of efficie[illegible] in their peace training, the credit for which is due to Lieutenant-Colo[illegible]el E. C. Peebles, D. S. O., who has commanded the Regiment with marked [illegible]ility and energy.

Captain W. J. O B. [illegible]aunt (severely wounded) proved himself a gallant leader.

Captain and Adjutant G. de Grey was particularly conspicuous in taking messages to the firing line, and conveying ammunition to it when it was running short.

Lieutenant H. S. Farebrother for bold handling of his machine gun section over absolutely open ground.

No. 5008 Sergeant W. Bailey (twice wounded) for work with machine guns.

No.	Name
No. 5223	Lance Sergeant L. Snell	for exceptionally gallant and useful work during the attack on Muzaira'ah.
„ 5973	Sergeant A. Cornwall
„ 7226	Lance Sergeant Leveridge
„ 7345	Corporal W. Fristin
7521	Musician Mullinger
7784	„ Sharpe
8049	Private A. Dawson
8365	Private F. Pryor	did particularly well, attending to Captain Daunt when wounded.
8632	„ A. George

Captain D. Arthur, I.M.S., was particularly conspicuous in attending Captain Daunt and other wounded when exposed to heavy fire and throughout the action.

7th Rajputs

7th Rajputs.—This Regiment was held in reserve throughout, but one Double Company under Lieutenant-Colonel Parr did well when it reinforced the 120th Infantry.

Lieutenant W. L. Harvey.—For the very efficient manner in which he brought up his machine gun section in support of the 120th Infantry; he was wounded just after adjusting a jam in one of his guns.

Subadar Brijmohan Singh—handled his company in a very efficient manner when brought up in support of the 120th Infantry and acted throughout with conspicuous bravery and coolness.

104th Rifles

104th Rifles.—This regiment has been engaged in every action which has taken place during this campaign and has met with very heavy casualties. Their work under my command during these operations has throughout been excellent and quite up to the fine traditions of the Regiment. During the action of the 7th they were in reserve, but were thrown in towards the end of the action and carried out the pursuit well.

On the 8th Lieutenant-Colonel C. B. Clery showed great initiative in securing the 3 dhows up stream and his action greatly facilitated the rapidity of crossing.

Captain H. M. Butler (severely wounded) for exceptional skill and gallant leading of his Double Company in the attack on Muzaira'ah.

Sub-Assistant Surgeon Pundit, I.S.M.D.—During the attack on Muzaira'ah on the 7th December 1914, Rifleman Ghos Mahammad was shot by an Arab, who was hiding in one of the huts. Sub-Assistant Surgeon Pundit called on a sepoy of another regiment to enter the hut and clear it. The sepoy seemed reluctant to do so, and this Sub-Assistant Surgeon took his rifle and bayonet, entered the house and closed with the Arab. The sepoy followed and between them they killed him. He also shown exceptional bravery in attending wounded under fire.

110th Mahratta Light Infantry

110th Mahratta Light Infantry.—This Regiment carried out the turning movement on the enemy's left flank on the 7th with great intelligence and dash and worked well on the 8th.

Lieutenant-Colonel T. X. Britten.—His action on 8th December 1914, in capturing 3 towers on the right of the enemy's position at Qurnah, shows him to be a resourceful and dashing leader.

Captain K. E. Cooper showed great dash and bravery attacking through the north end of Muzaira'ah. He approached one small house from which fire was being kept up, climbed a wall at the back and shot 4 Turks, who were occupying it, with his revolver.

Subadar Hari Savant and Jemadar Vishnu Ghone for conspicuous coolness and ability in handling their Half Double Companies on 7th and 8th December 1914.

No. 2089 Lance-Naik Bhan Sawant (since killed), a young soldier who showed much dash and spirit in command of the scouts of his company.

No. 1118 Lance-Naik Haider Beg, a signaller, who on two occasions signalled an important message from the firing line to the artillery, standing up fearlessly in the open under heavy fire, doing so, as he could not see properly in any other position.

120th Infantry.

120th Rajputana Infantry.—This Regiment, consisting of only Headquarters and 2 Double Companies, acted with great boldness and spirit on our left flank and ably supported the 2nd Norfolk Regiment when the latter came under enfilade fire from the enemy's right.

Lieutenant and Adjutant W. L. Miskin showed great dash and capacity. After Captain Macready was wounded he took command of that officer's Double Company and handled it well, having twice to change direction to meet enfilade fire, and on each occasion succeeded in turning out the enemy.

Subadar Dunga Rawat for conspicuous bravery and coolness in handling his Half Double Company.

No. 978 Havildar Gunesh for marked capacity as a leader.

Medical Services.—The Field Ambulances under Major E. Bennett R. A. M. C., worked with great devotion on the 7th and were under shell fire for a short time that night.

Transport.—I must recognise the good work done by the portion of the 10th Mule Corps under Jemadar Allah Din and endorse the recommendations to notice of individuals mentioned in paragraph 12 of Appendix "A."

Headquarters.—Finally I would bring forward the names of Captain E. G. Dunn, Royal Irish Rifles, my Brigade Major, who again gave most valuable and energetic assistance in the working out of the details of the operations. His clear conveyance of my orders materially assisted in the successful issue of the operations. Also Captain W. F. C. Gilchrist, 52nd Sikhs (F. F.), my Staff Captain, who again proved himself an able, energetic and resourceful Staff Officer; he in the absence of either a Supply or Transport Officer organized and maintained an unfailing supply to the troops from my original camp at Shaib.

Captain H. G. Morrell, 119th Infantry, in command of the 18th Brigade Section of the 34th Divisional Signal Company, carried out his duties under difficult circumstances very ably and with untiring energy.

Captain G. W. Cochran, 81st Pioneers, General Staff Officer, 3rd Grade for Intelligence, worked unsparingly and the information he collected turned out to be very accurate. He also gave me much assistance in other ways.

APPENDIX "A."

Report on the working of the transport between Shaib Camp and Muzaira'ah.

1. On arrival at Shaib on the morning of the 5th December 1914, General Fry decided to get up three hundred mules, his intention being, when the village of Muzaira'ah was captured and the troops reached the left bank of the Tigris, to maintain himself there and attempt to cross above Qurnah.

2. A demand for 320 mules was therefore sent to Basrah at 1 P.M. on December 5th.

3. These mules (320) arrived on the morning of the 7th at 7 A.M. They were disembarked by 9 A.M.

4. I ordered them to feed and saddle up at 12 noon. Captain Lanyon of the Norfolk Regiment was put in charge of the mules to distribute them. I gave him a distribution list showing how mules were to be allotted.

5. At 1 P.M. orders were telephoned to camp to load up the mules as it was seen that Muzaira'ah would soon be in our possession.

6. About 4-30 P.M. the mules began to arrive in Camp Muzaira'ah. As it was getting dark and spasmodic firing was going on the confusion was considerable.

All the mules were unloaded however, and in the dark assembled by the duffadars and taken back to camp.

This evening the Regiments got each—

16 loads rations,
8 " ammunition,
8 " tools,
8 " cooking pots.
some kits,

and so were amply provided for.

7. The orders for the 8th, 9th and 10th were to send up one day's rations each day.

8. As it was feared that the horses might not be able to get full forage rations on 8th, 100 loads of forage were sent for and arrived after dark on 8th.

With them came 48 mules for duty in Muzaira'ah as 1st line mules in case of a further advance across the river. The mules this day therefore did a double trip.

9. There being ample forage in camp, the mules on 9th and 10th only brought up men's rations from Shaib, while 18 mules assisted in carrying up kits of units as they were sent across the Tigris.

10. Eventually all the mules were taken to the right bank of Tigris on the 12th, having been used to ration the troops left on the left bank and to bring up the remains of kits left in camp.

11. On the 8th, when two units were passed over to the right bank, all available mules and the 30th Mountain Battery baggage were used to send up their kits, so that by the evening the troops across the river were rationed and had their blankets that night.

12. Captain Lanyon speaks very highly of the work done by Jemadar Allah Din who commanded the mules. His work was of the greatest help.

The Kote Duffadars:—

2193 Busaki Ram,
6417 Jamal Din,
205 Mir Dad,

were of the greatest help to me in collecting their mules in the dark and in constantly moving backwards and forwards.

The men, of whom I saw a certain amount, were cheery and worked well, and though they were under spasmodic shell fire on 7th and 8th and had to cross the plain where bullets, though spent, were falling, behaved very well indeed.

Copy of Report by Lieutenant-Colonel G. S. Frazer, 110th Mahratta Light Infantry, Commanding, Qurnah Column, on the operations of the 4th December 1914, dated Camp Um Rash, 5th December 1914.

I HAVE the honour to report as follows on the operations yesterday.

2. My Staff Officer, Captain Branson, who was wounded, has already taken to you most of the details, and I sent you a wireless in code last night.

3. The disembarkation yesterday morning was carried out quickly and without confusion.

Two small creeks delayed the advance of the column till they could be rendered passable.

My Advance Guard was, in the first instance, directed so as to pass well to the east of Muzaira'ah.

As all the scouting had to be done with Infantry, the advance was not very quick.

It was first reported that there was no enemy in Muzaira'ah and I then changed the direction of the Advanced Guard so that their right passed to the east of Muzaira'ah.

It was then discovered beyond a doubt that the enemy were in position along the edge of the date palms (see Sketch, page 21) between Muzaira'ah and Qurnah.

I directed the Advanced Guard to clear the village and brought up the other ½ Battalion of the 110th on their left, and attacked the enemy on their left flank.

It then became known that Muzaira'ah was occupied by the enemy.

I sent the Norfolks, 1 D. C., to support the ½ Battalion 110th attacking the village.

Eventually the Sappers and Miners also joined the right attack.

The village was cleared and also the trenches in front of the date trees, where the 110th captured 69 prisoners and 2 abandoned field guns (9 prs.).

In the meantime, the ships had been shelling Qurnah, and the date groves, and the Royal Field Artillery Muzaira'ah. and the practice of all guns seemed to be excellent.

The troops after this did not come under shell fire, but the rifle fire opposed to them was considerable.

When the troops entered the date grove I reinforced the left half of the 110th by ½-Battalion of 104th, and the enemy was driven back to the Tigris river, where they quickly effected a crossing by means of boats arranged as flying bridges.

At 2-10 P.M. I ordered a retirement to the place near where we disembarked and there formed camp.

After my Infantry entered the date grove my Field Artillery was unable to render any further assistance.

The Tigris east of Qurnah is from 200 to 300 yards wide and field guns cannot operate against Qurnah owing to the date trees.

My retirement to camp was well and steadily carried out.

I am of opinion that until guns can be brought up to demolish the houses of Qurnah, the only way to effect a landing would be to do so with country boats north of Qurnah.

All the troops under my command performed their duty most thoroughly.

Captain Branson, 110th Mahratta Light Infantry, my Staff Officer, afforded me the greatest assistance and was wounded shortly after I had decided to retire, while I was issuing the orders.

I attach a report from the Officer Commanding 104th.

The Officer Commanding 110th reports as follows :—

> "Of the officers who came under my observation I should like to particularly mention Major Hill and Lieutenant Hind in the Company firing line, and Lieutenant Ball who handled the machine guns most efficiently."

No. 959 Lance-Naik Apa Bagive displayed great bravery during the attack on the enemy's position in the date groves, and in the subsequent advance towards Qurnah. He was carrying the flag on the left of the line in order to indicate the position of the line to the warships. The flag was a very conspicuous mark, and drew a heavy fire from the enemy. Lance-Naik Apa Bagive carried the flag absolutely in the open. Had he taken cover, the flag might not have been visible.

I am sending down all prisoners on "Blosse Lynch", "Malomir" and "Medijieh" under command of Captain Bayley, Royal Field Artillery.

APPENDIX "D."

Report by Lieutenant-Colonel C. Clery, Commanding 104th Rifles, to the Staff Officer, Qurnah Column, dated 5th December 1914.

As requested, I have the honour to forward the names of the following officers and men of the regiment under my command, who were conspicuous for their gallant conduct during the action on the 4th instant opposite Qurnah :—

Captain E. G. J. Byrne.—This officer in the face of a heavy and accurate fire brought his machine guns right up to the firing line on the river bank opposite Qurnah. From here his fire was so galling to the Turks that they brought up a field gun and endeavoured to silence the machine guns. Several of the shells hit the parapet where the machine guns were; notwithstanding this, Captain Byrne kept his guns in action, and did not retire from his position until ordered to retire. This officer on two previous occasions on which the Regiment has been in action, has brought his detachment forward most intelligently and gallantly. On this occasion he received one bullet through his helmet and one cut his puttee.

2. Subadar Ghulam Rasul.—This Indian Officer was conspicuous for the gallant manner in which he led his men forward in the face of a heavy accurate and short range fire from the Turks.

This officer was subsequently killed.

3. Jemadar Kishna Ram—Conspicuous pluck under fire, and assisted a wounded man to rear under heavy fire during the retirement.

4. No. 2317 Lance-Naik Guman Singh.
5. „ 2866 Rm. Khota Ram.
6. „ 2478 Rm. Dhanna Ram.
7. „ 2090 Rm. Maula Dad.

8. When ordered to retire, the two machine guns had to be carried by hand some 250 yards back to the mules under heavy fire. Not having enough men to take away all the ammunition boxes as well as guns, the machine gun officer asked four men to return to the position and recover the ammunition boxes. They did so under a heavy gun and rifle fire and brought back all the boxes to the mules, although the troops had left the trench.

9. No. [illegible] Havildar Mohru Ram, when left in command of a long mixed firing [illegible] performed meritorious service in controlling this line and opening very heavy, accurate fire on the Qurnah position, thus keeping the enemy's fire down while other parts of the firing line retired.

10. No. [illegible]15 Reservist Jhonta Singh, "B" Coy.—Meritorious conduct during the retirement from the river, in carrying Rm. Jai Singh, who was severely wounded through the chest, on his shoulders for 600 yards under heavy fire, over a number of water nullahs, finally handing him over to some dhoolie bearers.

Reservist Jhonta Singh was previously recommended by his Double Company Commander for good work during the action of November 15th, when he carried ammunition forward to the firing line from mules that had fallen into a canal.

11. No. 2263 Bugler Narsu Singh, "A" Coy.—For meritorious conduct in taking written orders regarding the retirement under a heavy fire along the firing line on two occasions—once to extreme right and again later on to the machine guns on the left.

Dated H. M. S. "Espiegle," Qurnah, 15th December 1914.

From—COMMANDER W. NUNN, Senior Naval Officer, Persian Gulf Division,
To—The General Officer Commanding, 18th Brigade.

IN the absence of Captain Hayes-Sadler, R.N., of H. M. S. "Ocean," who was Senior Naval Officer at the time, I beg to forward a short report from the naval point of view on the Qurnah operations from 3rd December to the 9th December 1914.

The names of H. M. Ships engaged were as follows:—

H. M. S. "Espiegle"	...	Commander W. Nunn, R.N.
„ "Odin"	...	Commander C. R. Wason, R.N.
„ "Lawrence"	...	Commander R. N. Suter, R.N.
H. M. Armed Launch "Lewis Pelly"		Lieutenant in Command, J.F.B. Carslake, R.N.
„ „ „ "Miner"	...	Lieutenant in Command, C. H. Heath-Caldwell, R.N.
„ „ „ "Shaitan"	...	Lieutenant Commander in Command, F. G. S. Elkes, R.N.R. (killed in action).

I have the honour to report as follows on the part taken in the operations for attack and occupation of Qurnah by H. M. S. "Espiegle" under my command.

On Thursday, 3rd December, H. M. S. "Espiegle" left Basrah at 3-50 P.M., and anchored to northward of Dair, about 10 miles south of Qurnah, at 7-45 P.M., and weighed and proceeded at 5-5 A.M., on 4th December towards Qurnah, followed by H. M. Ships "Odin" and Lawrence" and armed launches "Miner," "Lewis Pelly," and "Shaitan" and the four Lynch's steamers "Medijieh," "Blosse Lynch" "Malomir," and "Salami," carrying the troops.

"Medijieh" and "Blosse Lynch" each had two 18-pr. field artillery guns mounted in the forepart of the deck-house.

On rounding the river bend near Um Rash, fire was opened on us by two Turkish guns mounted to the south-west of Muzaira'ah village, and we at once replied, opening fire at 6-45 A.M.

The transports went alongside the bank just south of Um Rash village and disembarked troops, and at 9-20 A.M., they had disembarked and were advancing towards enemy.

The "Blosse Lynch" and "Medijieh" came up and anchored off our port quarter at 9-55 A.M., and opened fire. At this point the enemy's fire was fairly accurate, and they were firing on us from the two Muzaira'ah guns and also from Qurnah.

At 10-5 A.M., "Espiegle" was hit on port bow but not damaged, and was also hit several times later, "Lawrence" also being hit several times.

"Odin" had been left in a position to guard the camp which was formed at the place of disembarkation.

At 1-0 P.M., the armed launches were ordered up to assist in the attack as our troops were seen to have practically reached the left bank of the Tigris opposite Qurnah. The launches opened a rapid, accurate fire and a hot fire was opened on them by the Turkish guns and riflemen.

At about 1-40 P.M., "Miner" was seen to be listing and she returned towards ship and grounded just ahead of "Espiegle" and reported that she has been hit and that a shell had penerated starboard side into engine-room.

Assistance was at once sent by "Espiegle" and leak stopper placed over hole and "Miner" was, later on, able to raise steam again and proceed down river where during the night she was patched by "Odin."

All this time "Espiegle" was in extremely shallow water and unable to move nearer Qurnah. The "Espiegle's" fire had been directed on the enemy's guns at Qurnah, which had been several times temporarily silenced, also those at Muzaira'ah.

During the advance of our troops "Espiegle" and "Lawrence" also shelled the enemy's trenches.

At 2-30 P.M., extremely heavy firing was heard near the bank of the Tigris opposite Qurnah and at 3-0 P.M., a signal was received from Lieutenant-Colonel Frazer, Commanding Troops, that he had decided to retire to Shaib Camp south of Um Rash.

"Espiegle" and "Lawrence" at once directed a heavy fire on the only Qurnah houses which could be seen plainly enough to be sure of not hitting our troops and ordered the armed launches back at 4 P.M.

At 6-15 P.M., the retirement had been affected and "Blosse Lynch" and "Medijieh" and launches had gone down river, as "Espiegle" proceeded towards the camp and remained there for the night.

Reinforcements were asked for from Basrah and the river steamers sent down for them on 5th December, bringing up four more 18-pr. guns and two and-a-half battalions of troops, with General Fry in command, on Sunday morning, 6th December, and disembarked on arrival.

On Sunday forenoon General Fry held a conference on board "Lawrence" during, which the enemy opened fire, and in the afternoon at 2-10 P. M., "Lawrence" which was anchored just to north-west of camp reported that the enemy were advancing with guns across the plain from Muzaira'ah.

"Espiegle" at once proceeded to a position north-west of camp and opened fire with shrapnel on the enemy at 2 P.M., "Lawrence" also firing on them.

"Espiegle" was hit twice by enemy's shell, one piercing the side of port bow near 3-pr. gun post. This shell had been fired by enemy's guns near Muzaira'ah village. At 3-10 P.M., one of them was silenced and, it is thought put out of action by a shell by "Espiegle." "Lawrence" was also hit.

Our field artillery had also got into action and the enemy retired across the plain with considerable loss.

"Espiegle" ceased fire at 3-25 P.M., and returned to anchorage for protection of Shaib Camp. More reinforcement arrived in the river steamers about 6-30 P.M., on 7th December, and the troops left the camp at 9 A.M., to advance for attack on Turks' position in accordance with scheme arranged, so that Navy and Army could co-operate as much as possible.

"Espiegle" weighed at 9-45 A. M., and proceeded up river and anchored at 10-10 A.M., to north-west of Um Rash with "Lawrence" astern and launches and "Odin" to south-east.

The enemy at once opened fire from the guns at Qurnah and Muzaira'ah, and we at once replied attacking the guns with lyddite and co-operating with the field guns in the river steamers "Blosse Lynch" and "Medijieh" in shelling enemy's trenches during the advance of our troops, Lieutenant A. G. Seymour, R.N., of H.M.S. "Espiegle," directing the gun fire from the mast-head.

At 11-30 A.M., a very heavy musketry fire was opened on our troops from Muzaira'ah village, and "Espiegle" moved further up the river at 11-50 A.M., and again at 2-10 P.M., although in very shallow water, in order to support the troops.

The armed launches were sent forward at 2 P.M., and at this time Lieutenant G. E. Harden, R.N., of H.M.S. "Espiegle" went in the steam-cutter to locate and sound round the dredger which the Turks had sank in the river between us and Qurnah.

A heavy fire was being kept up by the Turkish guns and at 3-30 P.M., the "Shaitan" returned with her Captain, Lieutenant Commander F. O. S. Elkes, R.N.R., killed and several wounded, and steaming gear disabled. Her wounded were taken and treated on board "Espiegle."

The launches were recalled at 2-45 P.M., and "Espiegle" remained in the same position for the night, the enemy firing a few shells when the moon rose.

The enemy's fire had been very heavy and fairly accurate during the day and "Espiegle" was hit several times, two men being wounded by a segment of shell which hit spreader of main topmast rigging and burst over afterpart of the ship. Another shell pierced foremast cowl and lodged in netting.

Great difficulty was experienced in keeping signal communication with the Army, but we ascertained during the night that they had camped near Muzaira'ah and would advance on Qurnah in the morning.

At 8-30 A.M. on 8th December, the armed launch "Lewis Pelly" was ordered to reconnoitre towards Qurnah and was heavily fired on by Turkish guns and riflemen at 9 A.M.

"Espiegle" therefore opened fire and ordered "Lewis Pelly" back. Heavy firing in the woods indicated that our troops were engaged and we received information from General Fry that he intended to attempt to cross the Tigris above Qurnah and advance on the town.

"Espiegle" proceeded further up the river and Lieutenant G. E. Harden, of "Espiegle" placed a buoy on the outer side of the sunken lighter, and, with "Lewis Pelly" sounding ahead, "Espiegle" passed it about 11 A.M. and anchored to northward of it, opening fire on the guns at Qurnah and firing lyddite at the houses. "Blosse Lynch" and "Medijieh" also moved up and assisted, and "Lawrence" anchored some cables astern. Firing continued intermittently until sunset, and heavy rifle fire and the burning buildings indicated that the troops were progressing. The guns did not fire till after sunset and early in the middle watch a small steamer with all lights burning was observed to be coming down the river from the direction of the town blowing her siren to attract attention.

"Espiegle's" siren pipe had been cut by shell so "Blosse Lynch" was directed to sound her siren in reply, and I sent an armed boat away under Lieutenant G. H. Harden, R.N., to board her as she approached. She was found to have on board a deputation of three Turkish Officers to discuss terms of surrender of Qurnah.

They came on board at 12-35 A.M., and were interviewed by Captain Hayes-Sadler, R.N., of H.M.S. "Ocean," who is directing naval operations from "Espiegle," and agreed to an unconditional surrender and to meet General Fry on board "Espiegle" at 8-30 A.M.

At 8-30 A.M. on 9th December the three Turkish Officers, viz., Major Hussain, Lieutenant Kornal and Lieutenant Ismail Haki, returned on board and met General Fry and Staff and arranged details as to surrender.

"Espiegle" went further up the river at high water with "Lewis Pelly" again sounding ahead, and although very shallow was able to reach the deeper water near Qurnah and entered the Tigris, anchoring off Qurnah at 10-50 A.M.

In the afternoon, General Fry landed from H.M.S. "Espiegle" and received the sword of the Turkish Vali and Officers, the Turkish troops were disarmed and sent down the river as prisoners of war, and the Union Jack was hoisted over Qurnah.

Endorsement dated Qurnah, 15th December 1914.

FORWARDED. In my report on these operations I have already mentioned the great assistance and co-operation extended by the Naval Force under Capain Hayes-Sadler, R.N. I much admired the intrepidity shown by the Commanders of the armed launches in ascending the Shatt-al-Arab River under shell fire each day, and sincerely regret the death of one of these. Lieutenant Elkes, R.N.

No. 204 (G), dated Basrah, the 3rd February 1915.

From—LIEUTENANT-GENERAL SIR A. A. BARRETT, K.C.B., K.C.V.O., Commanding, Indian Expeditionary Force "D,"
To—The Chief of the General Staff, Army Headquarters.

I HAVE the honour to submit, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the following report on an engagement with the Turks north of Qurnah on the 20th January.

Reports from naval and cavalry reconnaissances were to the effect that Turkish outposts had occupied some sand-hills about six miles north of Muzaira'ah on the left bank of the Tigris. I thought it advisable to drive them back, and to impress upon our troops, as well as upon our adversaries, that it was not our intention merely to maintain a passive defence of our prepared position at Qurnah—Muzaira'ah.

A copy of the operation order issued is attached.*

The cavalry of the advanced guard, after drawing the enemy's fire from his trenches on the sand-hills, moved eastward to cover our right flank, sending a patrol to the west to watch the villages near the river bank. The Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry then advanced direct on the sand-hills, which were speedily cleared of the enemy. The 103rd Light Infantry prolonged the line to the left, with the 22nd Punjabis and 119th Infantry in second line, and the Norfolk Regiment and half a battalion of the 7th Rajputs in reserve. The Turkish guns, six in number, opened fire from a position near the village of Rotah and were heavily shelled by the "Espiegle" and by our batteries. As our infantry advanced they came under fire from the Turkish main trenches.

These were at the time believed to be north of the Rotah creek, but a comparison of reports received since the action leads to the conlcusion that some of them must have been on the south bank. A large extent of ground in front of the creek was marshy, so that the men of our leading battalions were over their knees in water.

The cavalry were also in wet ground. Our artillery were in action at a range of 3,500 yards, engaging the enemy's guns and shelling his trenches and camps, which were plainly visible beyond the creek. The 4-inch guns of the "Espiegle," firing lyddite, were also within effective range, with two guns of the 82nd Battery, Royal Field Artillery, mounted on the deck of the S. S. "Medjidieh." The enemy's guns were temporarily silenced, and some of his troops were seen to be retiring to the north-east.

At this stage I was inclined to order a general advance on Rotah village, with a view to destroying the Turkish camp, and possibly capturing his guns. But I had warned the troops beforehand that I had no intention of crossing the creek, and an advance through marshy ground without cover would probably have entailed considerable loss. I also had to consider that our force was hardly strong enough to hold a position at Rotah as well as at Qurnah in the event of more troops being brought down from Baghdad.

I therefore issued orders to stand fast and prepare to withdraw to camp. Our second line took up a position on the sand-hills and our first line withdrew almost unmolested, except for an occasional shell from the enemy's guns, their infantry fire being well kept down by our artillery and the guns of the "Espiegle." Shortly after noon the engagement ceased, and by 2 o'clock the last of our troops were back in camp at Muzaira'ah.

Arab reports gave the strength of the enemy at about 5,000, and variously estimated his losses at from 200 to 300 killed, besides many wounded. These numbers may be exaggerated, but it is evident that his troops were much demoralised by our fire. Askari Bey, who had recently arrived from Constantinople to take command, was wounded, and is said to have returned to Baghdad.

I was much pleased with the behaviour of the troops on this occasion. General Dobbie handled his brigade skilfully, and the rapid and spirited advance of the Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry and the 103rd Mahrattas is worthy of special mention.

I am greatly indebted to Captain Nunn, R N., for the valuable assistance afforded by H. M. S. "Espiegle" and the armed launch "Miner."

Copy of a report from Captain W. Nunn, Royal Navy, Senior Naval Officer, Persian Gulf Division, to the General Officer Commanding, Indian Expeditionary Force "D," dated Qurnah, 21st January 1915.

I HAVE the honour to forward the following report on the naval operations in the Shatt-al-Arab on the 20th January.

At 6-50 A.M. H. M. S. "Espiegle" (Captain W. Nunn, R. N., Senior Naval Officer) followed by H. M. Armed Launch "Miner" (Lieutenant in Command

S. N. Heath-Caldwell) and "Medjidieh," having on board two 18-pr. Royal Field Artillery guns, proceeded up the river from anchorage off Tigris Camp.

At 7-30 the ships came under fire of the enemy's guns posted on south side of Rotah village, and at 7-58 A.M. "Espiegle" anchored in reach of Tigris beyond Bahran village heading E. N. E. in a position in which her whole broadside bore on enemy's position, and opened fire on enemy's guns.

At 8-15 A.M. "Medjidieh" anchored as previously arranged about a quarter of a mile to southward of "Espiegle" and warped her stern round to bring her guns to bear and then opened fire.

At 8-20 A.M. "Miner" anchored off Bahran village and was attacked by twenty armed Arabs who ran out from the village. "Miner" drove them away with a well directed fire and then continued to engage parties of armed Arabs and cavalry on the right bank of Tigris.

"Espiegle's" fire was at first directed entirely on enemy's guns, of which five were plainly visible from the ship in pits south of Rotah village (just north of Rotah creek), "Medjidieh" assisting.

Later on "Espiegle" and "Medjidieh", also shelled enemy's trenches and parties of Turks, who came forward close along left bank of river under cover of the raised bank and sniped at the ship.

After 10-45 A.M. the enemy's guns seldom fired. Their fire had been fairly good for direction, but badly laid for elevation, and shots and fragments of shell often fell near the ship but did no damage.

About 10-45 A.M the signal arrived that our forces were retiring to camp, so "Espiegle" shelled the trenches vigorously and ordered "Miner" and "Medjidieh" to drop down river firing as they went.

A large body of the enemy's infantry were observed about 10-0 A.M. to be leaving the camp near Sakhricha marching in column and numbering between one and two thousand. They marched to south-eastward round Pear Drop bend and reinforced the trenches and position near Rotah about noon. "Espiegle" was able to put a few shells amongst them and they scattered and took cover.

On their left was a large scattered body of enemy, presumably Arabs, numbering several thousand. On our departure they appeared to march into Rotah with red and green flags flying.

At noon the "Miner" was ordered to set Bahran village on fire, which she did not and took two Arabs in Turkish uniform prisoners who were fighting for the Turks; at the same time the Royal Engineers were destroying Halla village.

At 12-10 P.M. "Espiegle" weighed and followed the others down river, the enemy keeping up gun and rifle fire as we left.

3. The following officers are specially brought to notice for gallantry in the field:—

Major M. H. Anderson, 33rd Cavalry.	In the operations from Mezera on the left bank of the Tigris on 30th January 1915, he led a successful charge against the enemy with conspicuous gallantry and resolution—he had 2 horses shot under him.
Captain W. M. Hunt, 23rd Mountain Battery.	At Ahwaz, on the 3rd March 1915, this officer displayed conspicuous coolness and bravery in repeatedly checking the enemy with his own rifle, although severely wounded, and thus enabling his section of the 23rd Mountain Battery to withdraw at a most critical stage of the fight.
2nd-Lieutenant H. J. Baillie, 2nd Battalion, Dorset Regiment.	Near Ahwaz, on the 3rd March 1915, displayed conspicuous courage. With a handful of men he gallantly checked the advance of overwhelming numbers of the enemy and was thus instrumental in saving many of our wounded from falling into their hands.
Lieutenant-Colonel C. S. Stack, 33rd Cavalry.	Severely wounded near Shaiba on 3rd March 1915, whilst displaying great personal gallantry and handling his regiment in a most skilful manner. This officer did extremely good work whilst commanding the Shaiba Post for over two months.
Captain H. E. Shortt, I.M.S. ...	In the operations from Mezera on the left bank of the Tigris on 30th January 1915, this Medical Officer displayed great devotion and courage in attending wounded in the open, in face of rifle fire at comparatively close quarters.
Captain A. R. Thomson, 7th Rajputs.	Near Ahwaz, on the 3rd March 1915, was acting as Signalling Officer on the Staff of the Column Commander. At a critical moment he displayed great initiative in collecting as many men as he could and holding a position to cover the retirement. He next gallantly led a bayonet charge against a party of the enemy who were blocking the road to camp and succeeded in clearing them out.
Captain H. C. West, "S" Battery, R.H.A.	Near Shaiba, on the 3rd March 1915, at a critical moment of the operations when the teams of a gun and a waggon were down, displayed conspicuous coolness and courage in keeping the enemy at bay with his revolver, whilst he enabled his defenceless drivers to escape on foot.
Lieutenant R. H. Sheepshanks, 12th Cavalry (attached 33rd Cavalry).	Was conspicuous for his gallantry and skilful handling of a small body of cavalry near Ahwaz on the 3rd March 1915. Re-forming his troop he repeatedly charged the foremost lines of the enemy and inflicted heavy loss on them.

4. In a previous report, I mentioned the good services of the officers and men of the Royal Navy. Since the departure of Captain Hayes-Sadler, the duties of Senior Naval Officer have been most ably performed by Captain Nunn, R.N., of H.M.S. "Espiegle," whose valuable advice and ready co-operation in all our undertakings has contributed so greatly to the success of the operations.

5. I am also much indebted to the officers of the Royal Indian Marine, who have shown zeal and energy in organising a most efficient river transport service, and in making all arrangements for the berthing and unloading of the large fleet of vessels that has been employed on transport duties. The whole has been under the able direction of Captain Hamilton, R.I.M., and among those serving under him I would specially mention Captains Goldsmith and Marsh.

6. I am glad to take this opportunity of expressing my thanks to the officers and crews of the steamers of the British India Steam Navigation Company which conveyed the troops from India at the outset of the operations, while the Turks were still in occupation of the country. At this time there was much risk owing to the difficult navigation of the river, and to the fact that the banks were often held by the enemy. The one desire of the Captains of these vessels was to push forward as rapidly as possible, and to afford us all the help that was in their power. The same remark applies to the Captains of Lynch Bros. steamers and of the other river craft which have been in constant employment on transport duties, and have many times been in situations of considerable danger.

The following are those who are worthy of special commendation:—

Captain R. W. Coope	... ...	H. T. "Elephanta."
Captain G. R. Elton	... ..	H. T. "Umaria."
Captain J. S. Kilner	... ...	H. T. "Ekma."
Lieutenant S. L. Mills, R.N.R.	...	H. T. "Varela."
Captain J. S. Reddock	.. ...	H. T. "Erinpura."
Captain C. J. Swanson	... ...	H. T. "Torilla."
Captain C. H. Cowley	... ...	"Mejidieh."
Captain E. C. P. D'Eye	... ...	"Blosse Lynch."
Captain F. W. Lyte	... ...	"Shushan."
Captain O. Sczulczewski	... ...	"Malamir."
Captain Hassan bin Ghulami	...	"Salimi."
Captain Tahir bin Bangool	...	"Mozaffari."

7. In a previous report I expressed my great indebtedness to Sir Percy Cox for his valuable advice and assistance. His intimate knowledge of local politics, and his remarkable personal influence over the surrounding tribesmen, have smoothed over many difficulties, and greatly assisted the military operations.

I also wish to mention the good services of Mr. E. G. Gregson of the Indian Police, Mr. D. Gumley of the Indo-European Telegraph Department, Mr. E. Clerici of the Postal Department, and Mr. Thomas Dexter, Personal Assistant and Interpreter to the Military Governor of Basrah.

Doctor Arthur Bennett, of the American Mission Hospital, has helped us greatly by undertaking the treatment of wounded Turkish and Arab officers and men.

8. Several recommendations of Indian ranks for the Indian Order of Merit and Indian Distinguished Service Medal on account of recent acts of gallantry, which are now being recorded, will be submitted in due course.

J. H. KERR,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 2951—2961, dated Delhi, the 18th December 1914.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Home Department.

IN supersession of the orders contained in the Resolution of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 2831-2842, dated the 8th December 1899, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to issue the following instructions with regard to certificates of identity.

2. Every native of India who contemplates proceeding out of India to foreign countries is strongly urged before leaving to furnish himself with an authoritative certificate of identity, in the form appended to this Resolution, signed by the head of the district (in a Presidency town, the Commissioner of Police) in the case of residents of British India, and by the Political Officer in that of residents of Native States. In the case of a student the certificate should be signed by the head of his last school or college and countersigned by the District Officer (in a Presidency town, the Commissioner of Police) or Political Officer, as the case may be.

Appeals for assistance by destitute Indians who desire repatriation and by students who, owing to embarrassed circumstances, are unable to complete their course of education cannot be dealt with satisfactorily unless the parties are in a position to produce evidence of identity. The possession of a certificate of identity will be specially useful to young men of good family, as it may enable the Secretary of State to obtain for them social and other attentions.

Those who are desirous, however, of travelling in countries where a passport will be necessary are advised to furnish themselves with such a document also before leaving India, in lieu of, or in addition to, a certificate of identity. It should be remembered that no person is entitled to a passport, as of right, on the ground that he is a British subject, and the production before authorities outside India of a certificate of identity, unless supplemented by documentary evidence of respectability is not sufficient to ensure that a passport will be granted.

Form of Certificate of Identity.

1. Name of applicant ____
2. Father's name and caste
3. Residence ____
4. Age of applicant ____
5. *Nationality of applicant ____
6. Social or pecuniary status of father (or guardian)
7. Date of probable departure of applicant from India
8. Object of applicant's visit to England (Europe) ____

Signature of District Officer (in a Presidency town, the Commissioner of Police) or Political Officer, or head of school or college.†

Dated ____

* i.e., whether a British subject by birth, or by naturalization (or a subject of a Native State).

† Countersignature of the District or Political Officer should be obtained on certificates signed by heads of schools or colleges.

NOTE.—Holders of certificates of identity intending to apply subsequently in England or elsewhere for a passport to visit a foreign country are warned that no person is entitled to a passport as of right on the sole ground that he is a British subject. The production of a certificate of identity, therefore, will not ordinarily be sufficient to secure the grant of a passport, unless it is supplemented by documentary evidence of respectability, endorsed by a local Government or other authority competent to issue passports in India, certifying that the holder is a fit and proper person to receive a passport.

F. A. A. COWLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Draft Rules.

1. Every vessel passing through the line of navigation known as the Madaripur Bhil channel shall stop at the prescribed toll-stations notified in the Schedule II attached for the purpose of assessment, or check, of toll charges.

2. For the purposes of these rules, vessels other than rafts, timbers, bamboos or other floating material shall be divided into two classes as below:—

Class I.—To include all vessels of the usual native types of build.

Class II.—To include all steamers, flats and barges, and such other square-built boats as should, in the opinion of the Collector of Tolls, be included.

3. The net tonnage of every vessel of class I, whether laden or empty shall, for the purposes of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

(A) The product of one-quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water-line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the interior greatest depth from the water-line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

(B) The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches; the measurement of the breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

(C) The maundage on which tollage shall be charged shall be a simple multiple of 12½ maunds, rejecting any remainder by which the maundage, calculated as above, may exceed such simple multiple.

4. For vessels in class II the tonnage shall be determined as follows:—

The tonnage of steamers shall be the registered tonnage as given in the certificate of survey of the steamer.

Toll shall be levied on the actual weight of cargo carried on steamers, flats, barges and other vessels included in this class, as declared in the manifests.

When the registered tonnage of a steamer, or the manifest for cargo of a flat is not available, the tonnage will be taken as arrived at under rule 3.

For square-built boats the total maundage, as determined under rules for class I, shall be increased by half, and for steamers one-third of the total maundage shall be deducted for engine space.

5. Every vessel except as exempted under rule 10 shall be furnished at the toll-station of entry with a ticket on which the name of the serang manjhi or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage of the vessel, the nature and weight of the cargo it contains, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket will remain current shall be entered.

6. This ticket may be demanded and checked by any navigation officer while the vessel is within the toll-limits of the Bhil channel and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. The ticket must be given up at the exit toll-station. If the ticket is not produced on demand by a canal officer, such officer shall assess the amount of toll payable and the vessel will be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act until such sum is realized.

7. Vessels leaving the channel between two toll-stations shall obtain a permit for so doing in Form No. 1 from the Toll Collector of the toll-station of entry. In such cases the Toll Collector will issue a ticket in the usual form and also collect the same before the vessel is permitted to proceed.

8. A vessel, which has been detained under these rules or under section 9 of the Act, may not be removed from the channel without the order of the Collector of tolls until the toll due has been paid. During such detention the manjhi, owner or agent must make arrangements for the safety of the vessel and cargo.

9. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll-station before a vessel is permitted to proceed. Provided that the Collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act may, at his discretion, permit vessels belonging to individuals or firms of recognised standing to proceed without prepayment, on an undertaking that the bills for tollage due shall be liquidated monthly on presentation.

10. (I) In the case of steamers and flats falling under the latter portion of rule 9 a copy of the traffic manifest must be handed in at the exit toll-station, a receipt for which in Form No. 2 will be issued by the Toll Collector to the person in charge of the vessel, in such cases no ticket in the usual form will be issued. If the traffic manifest is not produced at the exit toll-station the procedure as laid down in rules 6 and 8 will be adopted

(II) The traffic manifest or the receipt for the same may be demanded by any navigation officer while the vessel is within the limits of the Bhil channels between the Manickdah entrance and Chur Maguria.

11. The term "Navigation officer" as used in rule 6 shall include the Collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act, and the officer, or the subordinate duly authorised by such officer of the Public Works Department in charge of the subdivision or section within which the channel is situated.

12. Duplicates of lost tickets will be granted by the Toll Collector who originally issued the ticket on payment of a fee of one-fourth of the amount of toll payable, subject to a maximum of one rupee and a minimum of four annas. The duplicate will be issued only when the Toll Collector is satisfied concerning the identity of the boat.

13. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the channel.

14. (1) In every case of a sunken vessel, whether due to negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

(2) If, three days after the occurrence of a wreck, it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner, provided that when the wreck obstructs the fairway they shall take action at once to remove the same.

15. When a sunken vessel has been recovered, the Supervisor shall cause notices to be posted at the toll offices, or other prominent places, calling on those concerned to pay to the Collector of tolls all toll or demurrage which may be due, as well as the expenses incurred in the recovery of the vessel and cargo. Should the sum due be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the boat and its furniture, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold under the procedure directed in section 9 of the Act.

16. The purchaser of a vessel sold under the provisions of section 9 of the Act shall have the right to take it out of the channel on the day of purchase, or within such time as may be allowed by the Collector of tolls, without payment of tolls.

17. When any laden vessel, which has sunk, has been recovered, or when any laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Act or of these rules, the Supervisor shall give immediate notice of the recovery or seizure to the owner of the cargo or his agent, requiring the removal of the cargo without delay, and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

18. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or the abode of the owner of the cargo of such vessel, the notice prescribed in rule 16 shall be effected by a notice exhibited in his office, and by advertisement in at least one English and one vernacular Calcutta and local newspaper.

19. Lights and Signals.—All vessels, whether travelling or moored in the channel, must, between sunset and sunrise, carry a white light in a lantern on the fore-part of the vessel where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the light prescribed in the first paragraph of this rule.

20. Every vessel proceeding in the channel must limit her speed to six miles an hour from the 15th October to the 10th July, and to eight miles an hour from the 11th July to the 14th October.

21. For any infringement of rule 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15, 17, 19 or 20 the person in charge of the vessel or other persons in fault shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 or Rs. 5 a day for any continuing infringement.

I.—From this date no foreigner shall be allowed to disembark in the Colony unless he is provided with a properly authenticated passport or unless the Council of the nation to which he says he belongs guarantees him.

Every foreigner, allowed to disembark here, if he wishes to reside in the Colony, must provide himself with a special Permit issued by the Chief of the Police.

II.—Foreigners not allowed to disembark must remain on board the steamer. Those who may succeed in disembarking without leave will be sent back by the next steamer either at their own expense or in the case of destitution at the expense of the Shipping Line bringing them here.

A Police Official will go on board the boat at Nhabe. The Master must hand him a list of all foreigners on board including foreigners forming part of the crew.

in whatever proportion and at whatever pressure, and whether or not in admixture with other substances shall be deemed to be an explosive within the meaning of the said Act, subject to the following exception; that if it be shown to the satisfaction of the Governor General in Council that acetylene declared to be an explosive by this Notification when in admixture with any substance, or in any form or condition, is not possessed of explosive properties, the Governor General in Council may, by order, exempt such acetylene from being deemed to be an explosive within the meaning of the said Act:

Provided that nothing in this Notification shall apply to acetylene in admixture with air when such admixture takes place only in a burner or contrivance in which the mixture is intended to be burnt:

Provided also, that nothing in this Notification shall be held to apply to an admixture of acetylene and air which may unavoidably occur in the first use or recharging of an apparatus, properly designed and constructed with a view to the production of pure acetylene:

Provided also, that, subject to the conditions hereinafter specified, acetylene, when in admixture with oil gas (that is to say, a gas manufactured from mineral oil), shall not be deemed to be an explosive within the meaning of the said Act, when under compression—service-pipes of the Commissioners for the purpose of leading water to premises within the Municipality for domestic purposes only :—

Rules for the grant to private premises in the Barisal Municipality of house-connections for domestic purposes in connection with the filtered water-supply.

1. So long as the Commissioners deem it practicable and consistent with the maintenance of an efficient water-supply, they may allow any owner or occupier of a house paying a water-rate imposed under the provisions of Part VII of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, on the annual value of such house, when such annual value is not less than Rs. 100, to lay down communication-pipes from the service-pipes of the Commissioners for the purpose of leading water to such house for domestic purposes only, subject to the following rules and conditions.

2. The owner or occupier of any house requiring water to be laid on to such house for domestic purposes, or requiring any addition or alteration to an existing water-supply, must apply for the same on a printed form to be supplied free of cost at the Municipal office. Every such applicant for a house-connection shall pay a sum equal to one-third of the annual valuation of his holding, or in case where the one-third of the valuation is below Rs. 100, the sum of Rs. 100.

3. A fee of Rs. 5 per cent. on the estimated cost for all works covering the house-connections must be paid to the Commissioners by such owner or occupier for each house-connection before any work is commenced, such fee to be in addition to all other costs and charges imposed under these rules.

4. Each house must have a separate connection, and extensions from the communication-pipes of one house to another shall not be permitted.

5. The owner or occupier of the house in respect of which the connection is required must pay the entire cost of the connection, including the supply and fixing of the fittings referred to in rule 7, and must also pay the cost of such alterations in, or repairs to, roads, drains, sewers, gas or water-mains or pipes, and the cost of such other works as may be necessitated by, or result from, the work of making such connection.

6. (1) The work required may, at the option of the Commissioners, either be carried out by the Commissioners themselves at the expense of the owner or occupier of the house in respect of which the work is required, or may be carried out by a person or firm employed by such owner or occupier and approved by the Commissioners.

(2) The work must be done under the supervision of an officer appointed by the Commissioners in this behalf, and no connection must be made with the Municipal water-main, except at such time as may be appointed and in such position as may be selected by an authorised Municipal officer.

7. A house-connection shall comprise the following parts of fittings :—

(a) a brass or gun-metal ferrule inserted in the main supply pipe,

(2) All fittings shall be inspected and tested and stamped by an officer of the Municipality before being fixed.

(3) If any owner or occupier shall desire to adopt any fitting of a pattern different from the standard pattern, he must present such fitting for the approval of the Chairman, and any fittings so presented may, if considered satisfactory by the Chairman, be stamped, and samples thereof may be purchased and placed among the standard fittings.

9. The size of ferrules and the diameter of communication-pipes referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of rule 7 and the number of taps shall be fixed according to the following scale:—

Over „ 1,500	$\frac{3}{4}''$	1"	4

10. The house-connection, when fitted in position, must be capable of standing a pressure of 100 feet, and no water shall be supplied until this test has been applied by the Commissioners.

11. (1) On every communication-pipe a brass or gun-metal stop-cock having the same waterway as such pipe shall be placed as near as practicable to the point where that pipe enters the house to be supplied.

(2) The stop-cock shall be built in a brick chamber provided with a cast-iron surface cover-box so designed that it can be locked, and the key of this box shall remain under the control of the Chairman.

(3) The stop-cock shall be capable of adjustment, so that the supply to the house may be regulated thereby.

(2) The metre must be fixed in a brick chamber covered over with a cast-iron surface-box of approved pattern.

(3) Subject to the provisions of rule 13, no metre must be touched or interfered with in any way except with the permission of the Chairman.

13. The Commissioners shall depute an authorised person to read every metre not less than once a quarter, and shall give notice to the occupier at least twenty-four hours before the reading is recorded.

(b) a further proportionate number of gallons per quarter for every additional fraction of a rupee,

Provided that the disconnection of such pipe shall not relieve any persons from any liabilities which he may have incurred under these rules.

16. Every tap shall be of the same size as the pipe to which it is attached and shall be of brass and of the pattern known as screw-down. Every tap shall be at least 3 feet above the road level.

OATH OR AFFIRMATION OF ALLEGIANCE.

THE Hon'ble Mr. Lang, the Hon'ble Mr. Donald, the Hon'ble Mr. Birley, the Hon'ble Mr. Cowley, the Hon'ble Mr. Twidell and the Hon'ble Mr. Birkmyre made an oath or affirmation of their allegiance to the Crown.

The PRESIDENT said :—

"GENTLEMEN,

Before we begin our business, I should like to say that I am glad to preside, and to see so many of you here to-day. You all know the different views held about sittings of Council in Dacca, and you know the conditions which led me to call a meeting here last year. I was very sorry when I could not preside over that meeting—owing to those sad and unforeseen circumstances which altered so many of our plans. But I believe the meeting served a useful purpose. I have, therefore, again summoned you to Dacca in the full belief that you will again do good work. I thank you, both officials and non-officials, for having come in such numbers. I know it was not convenient to all of you; but you have come of your own free will, and because you want to show your friendliness to your fellow members who are anxious to hold meetings here from time to time. I am glad of this renewed evidence of the unity of the Presidency of Bengal, and I feel sure you will none of you regret having come to learn for yourselves a little about Dacca and the great part it hopes to play, in the development of Bengal.

We will proceed now to our business. With regard to questions, I shall, in virtue of my power under rule 12 of the Question Rules and in order to meet what is I believe the convenience of members, ask my hon'ble colleague, Mr. Beatson Bell, to make a formal statement after questions are over about a matter on which several questions have been put. I tell you this now in order that any of you may be reassured who has doubts as to its being in order when he hears a member of Government refer to 'a statement', though none of the Council rules provides for the making of 'statements'.

It may be convenient also for me to tell you now that at the end of business to-day I may quite possibly adjourn the house not to a particular day as is customary, but sine die. If so, it will only be in the hope of meeting the convenience of members. There will be a meeting in Calcutta early in September. A day was fixed by me for this—the 6th—in conformity with which my own engagements have been made. But I learned a day or two ago that this date does not suit all of you, and a suggestion has been made to me to change it. I do not yet know whether a change is possible which would not be even more inconvenient; but I shall do my best, and, as soon as I can, will let Hon'ble Members know how it seems to me best to decide."

STARRED QUESTIONS.

By the Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR :—

Reported cases of outrage upon women in the Jamalpur sub-division.

*1. (a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the reported cases of outrage upon women in the Jamalpur subdivision of the Mymensingh district?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state what action they have taken or are taking to prevent the recurrence of such outrages?

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) Yes.

(b) A full and careful inquiry has been held by the District Magistrate. Six cases have been brought to light. Particulars are given in the memorandum which is laid on the table. The local officers are fully alive to the necessity of taking prompt and vigorous action for the suppression of crime of this nature."

MEMORANDUM REFERRED TO IN THE ABOVE REPLY.

"1. One Mohim Chandra Chanda, a resident of village Kursha, lodged a complaint before the Subdivisional Officer, Jamalpur, on the 22nd April, 1915, that his sister and another girl who was living with him had been abducted by some Muhammadans. It was stated that on the 12th April a burglary was committed in the complainant's house and that on the following day the two girls were found to be missing. On the 25th April two Muhammadans came to the complainant and promised to produce the girls on payment of Rs. 25. The complainant agreed and paid Rs. 5 in advance. The girls were then produced and the complainant paid Rs. 10 more, promising to pay the balance later, but as he was going off with the two girls, he was attacked by seven or eight persons and the two girls were taken away from him.

The Subdivisional Officer issued warrants for the arrest of the accused and for the production of the girls. The warrants could not, however, be executed, and proclamation and attachment were ordered. Every effort of the police to produce the girls was unsuccessful. Subsequently, on the information furnished by the mukhtar of the complainant, one girl was discovered on the 24th May and the other on the 1st June. The statements of the girls show that on the day of occurrence, while watching a fire that had broken out in the neighbourhood, they were carried off by force by seven or eight Muhammadans, who ravished them at intervals and removed them from house to house to prevent their discovery by the police. Offers of nika marriage were made to them by the accused, which they declined. Six of the accused named have been arrested, and three absconders have been proclaimed and their property attached. Warrants were also issued for the arrest of a panchayat and another person in whose house the girls were alleged to have been secreted at different times.

Two cases are now under trial—one against the six persons arrested out of those named by the complainant, and the other against the panchayat and the owner of a house in which the girls are said to have been detained.

There are a large number of witnesses, but it is expected that the proceedings before the Magistrate will be concluded before the end of this month.

2. One Bhagan Muchi, a resident of Sherpur, complained against two other muchis and three Muhammadans, charging them with having abducted his wife. All the accused with the exception of Hachmania Sheikh, who is still absconding, were arrested and committed to the Sessions for trial on the 8th May, 1915. The two Muhammadans accused in this case were also committed to the Sessions in a separate case on the charge of abducting the wife of Hachmania Sheikh, the absconding accused in the first case. In both of these cases the accused have been acquitted by the Court of Sessions.

3. One Kunja Dassi lodged a complaint in court on the 21st April, 1915, to the effect that, on the 19th April, while she was sleeping with one Jadu Nath Patni whose mistress she is, several Muhammadans broke into the house, assaulted her and Jadu Nath severely, dragged her away, and took her to the houses of certain Muhammadans. She managed to escape from them and was rescued by the village dafadar. It is recorded, however, at the Jamalpur thana that Jadu Nath lodged a different complaint there on the 20th April. He stated that Kunja Dassi was seduced by him about three years ago and that since then she had been living with him as his wife. He suspected her of having illicit connection with a neighbour named Jogesh. On the night of the 19th April he woke up from his sleep and found that she was not in bed with him. Suspecting that she was with Jogesh he went to the latter's house to demand her. A quarrel ensued between him and Jogesh in which the latter hit him with a lathi. The villagers hearing the noise came and separated them. On his way to the thana he heard that Kunja Dassi had been traced in village Konabari, which is the village of the Muhammadan accused named by Kunja Dassi.

The accused were committed to the Sessions and have been convicted and sentenced to six years' rigorous imprisonment each. The Judge and the Jury were of opinion that the head-constable made a false entry regarding the information lodged at the police-station by Jadu Nath Patni.

Proceedings against the head-constable have been instituted.

4. Another case has been instituted by one Muhammadan against another Muhammadan. The allegation in this case is that the wife was abducted by her own brothers and other relatives.

Questions and Answers.

This case has since been settled amicably between the parties, and the accused have been discharged.

5. A case was instituted in June by Sukni Peshakar against five Muhammadans charging them with the abduction of her daughter Janaki. One of the accused alleges that the daughter is married to him and that she was enticed away from him and induced to adopt the profession of her mother. He says that he instituted proceedings under section 498, Criminal Procedure Code, and recovered his wife and that Sukni's case has been brought against him and four other men with the object of bringing him to terms. Janaki herself denies that she was abducted and supports her husband's version of the facts. The case is still under inquiry.

6. The latest case was instituted in June by a Muhammadan against three Hindus complaining that when his wife was staying with his brother-in-law she was carried off by the three accused and ravished and kept for two days after which she managed to escape. The three accused were arrested by the 8th of July and, as the woman has fallen ill no evidence has yet been recorded. This case is distinguished from others by the fact that it alleges the abduction of a Muhammadan woman by Hindus."

By the Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR:

*2. Will the Government be pleased to state whether they are considering the desirability of supplying the members of the Bengal Legislative Council with copies of Government Reports and other similar Government publications issued by them from time to time?

Supply of Government Reports and publications to members of the Bengal Legislative Council.

The Hon'ble MR. DONALD replied :—

"Besides Acts, Bills and papers relating thereto and Proceedings of the Bengal Legislative Council, copies of the Calcutta Gazette, Bengal Civil List and Bengal Administration Report are regularly supplied to all Members. Government are considering the question of supplying copies of other Government publications to the Members of the Bengal Legislative Council."

By the Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR :—

*3. (a) Have the Government received a communication from the Calcutta Improvement Trust regarding the laying out of a Park in the Fringe Area (Shambazar) for use as a playground and also as a recreation ground?

Laying out of Park in the Fringe Area (Shambazar).

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state what orders have been passed on the said communication?

The Hon'ble MR. DONALD replied :—

(a) "Government have received a communication from the Calcutta Improvement Trust regarding the laying out of a Park in the Fringe Area (Shambazar).

(b) The matter is still under the consideration of Government."

By the Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR :—

*4. Will the Government be pleased to state whether they are considering the desirability of transferring the Court for Juvenile Offenders from its present site in Lower Circular Road to a position nearer the centre of the town?

Transfer of the site of the Court for Juvenile offenders.

Questions and Answers.

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

"Until this question was received no suggestion had been made to Government that the Court should be removed and consequently the question has not been considered: and in any case Government would not be in a position to consider the removal until near the year 1918, when the lease of the present building expires."

By the Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR :—

Inconvenience felt by the Honorary Presidency Magistrates in finding their way to their Court rooms.

*5. (a) Are the Government aware of the inconvenience felt by the Honorary Presidency Magistrates of the new Central Police Court, Calcutta, in having to find their way to the Court rooms by the same staircase as that used by the general public?

(b) Is it not the case that formerly in the Lal Bazar Police Court a separate private staircase was provided for the Stipendiary and Honorary Presidency Magistrates?

(c) Are the Government aware that in the New Central Police Court, Calcutta, the Honorary Presidency Magistrates sitting on the first floor have invariably to elbow their way to the Court room through the crowd?

(d) Is it not a fact that this was brought to the notice of the Chief Presidency Magistrate?

(e) Are the Government taking any steps to remove the inconvenience complained of?

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

"Government are aware that on the opening of the Central Police Court, some inconvenience was felt by both Honorary and Stipendiary Magistrates in the matter of access to their Court rooms. The inconvenience has lately been removed partly by structural alterations and partly by a rearrangement of rooms. The Honorary Magistrates have now been given a room which is accessible by the Magistrates' private entrance."

By the Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR

Terms and scope of Mr. Gourlay's inquiry in connection with the Calcutta Police.

*6. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state in full the terms and scope of the inquiry entrusted to Mr. Gourlay in connection with the Calcutta Police?

(b) Is any public evidence proposed to be taken in the said inquiry?

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

"Mr. Gourlay has been deputed to compile a history of the Bengal and of the Calcutta Police forces and their relations to one another. He has also been asked to examine the recommendations of the Police Commission of 1903 so far as they affect Bengal and to report how far the recommendations concerning the personnel, training and pay of the Police force have been carried out successfully or tried and found by experience to have failed. He will also consider the main proposals of Government made since the Commission and report the extent to which they have been put in force, found successful or unsuccessful, and what remains to be done. Mr. Gourlay will not take formal evidence, but has discussed questions connected with his inquiry with many persons, both officials and non-officials."

Questions and Answers.

By the Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR :—

Recording complaints taking up of investigations local thanas.

*7. (a) Are the Government aware that the people of Calcutta frequently find it difficult to get the local thanas to record their complaints in their diaries or to take up investigations, and that in view of such difficulty the people invariably avoid resorting to the police and rather put up with offences like theft, robbery and depredations of budmashes ?

(b) If so, what action are Government taking to remedy this grievance ?

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

"Government have received no complaints of this nature and only one instance has been brought to the notice of the Commissioner of Police within the last eighteen months. In that instance, which occurred in April last, the Sub-Inspector who refused to record a complaint was degraded to the rank of Head Constable.

Government would welcome the co-operation of the public in bringing to the notice of the Commissioner of Police, without delay, any instances of a similar nature."

By the Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR :—

Improvement the position prospects subordinate Indian police officers the Calcutta Police.

*8. Will the Government be pleased to state what steps, if any, they have taken to improve the position and prospects of subordinate Indian police officers in the Calcutta Police from the rank of constables upwards ?

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

"The following comparative statement shows the improvements effected after 1905 :—

	Before 1905.	After 1905.
	Rs	Rs.
Pay of Inspectors	100—250	200—300*
,, Sub-Inspectors ...	80—90	125—175*
,, Head Constables ...	14—20	17½—25
Constables ...	8—10	10—13

* Plus conveyance allowance

In 1914 the pay of all grades of Constables and Head Constables was raised by Re. 1. Six new appointments of a rank corresponding to that of Deputy Superintendent in the Provincial Police have recently been sanctioned. The posts carry a salary of Rs. 400, Rs. 450 and Rs. 500 with free quarters and a conveyance allowance of Rs. 50 per month."

By the Hon'ble MAULVI MAZHARUL ANWAR CHAUDHURI :—

Filling of vacancies in the clerical establishment the office of the Director of Agriculture

*9. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state how many vacancies there have been in the clerical establishment (including the newly-created seed-store clerkships) in the office of the Director of Agriculture in Calcutta, during the last twelve months, and how many Muhammadans and how many Hindus were appointed to fill those vacancies ?

(b) Was one of those vacancies caused by the transfer of a Muhammadan clerk to some mufassal station, and was this vacancy filled up by a Muhammadan or was a Hindu appointed ?

(c) Is it a fact that so long as the post of Librarian in the office of the department was temporary it was held by a Muhammadan, but that as soon as the post was made permanent it was given to a Hindu ?

Questions and Answers.

(d) How many vacancies have there been in the posts of clerks during the last twelve months in the office of the Deputy Director of Agriculture at Dacca, and how many Muhammadans and how many Hindus were appointed to fill those vacancies?

The Hon'ble MR. BIRLEY replied :—

(a) "There have been six vacancies during the last 12 months, and they have been filled by five Hindus and one Muhammadan.

(b) One vacancy was caused by the transfer of a Muhammadan and it was filled by the appointment of a Hindu.

(c) The post of Librarian was never a temporary post. It was temporarily filled by a Muhammadan, who took leave on account of ill-health. The post is now held by a Hindu who has not been confirmed in the appointment.

(d) There have been two vacancies in the posts of clerks in the office of the Deputy Director of Agriculture at Dacca during the last 12 months: they have been filled by Hindus."

By the Hon'ble MAULVI MAZHARUL ANWAR CHAUDHURI :—

[...]nual floods [...]d by the river

*10. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether their attention has been drawn to the serious damage to crops and house property in parts of the districts of Burdwan and Birbhum by the annual floods caused by the river Ajai?

(b) Is it a fact that the intensity of these floods has been considerably increased since the construction of the Barharwa-Bandel Railway line?

(c) Are the Government contemplating any measures with a view to prevent or mitigate the ravages of these annual floods?

The Hon'ble MR. COWLEY replied :—

(a) "The damage done by annual floods in the Ajai river has been under the consideration of Government from as far back as 1836.

(b) We have nothing to show that the intensity of the floods in the Ajai river has been increased by the construction of the Barharwa-Bandel Railway line. On the contrary, gauge-readings at Satkahonia show that the highest recorded flood in the Ajai river occurred on the 15th July, 1899. It may be noted that the East Indian Railway line have added no less than 684 running feet of waterway under the railway embankment, between the Ajai and the Kandoor rivers to the north, subsequent to the constructior of the Barharwa-Bandel line.

(c) The information before Government is to the effect that any attempt to embank the Ajai river with a view to protect the adjoining country from submersion would be a mistake and would considerably obstruct the natural drainage of the country. This question was fully discussed in 1860 and orders were then issued for the entire abandonment of the Ajai embankments with the exception of the 4 D Schedule embankments 27, 28, 29 and 30."

By the Hon'ble MAULVI MAZHARUL ANWAR CHAUDHURI :—

[...]ts of Income-[...] Assessors in [...]tta.

*11. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state how many Income-tax Assessors there are in Calcutta, and how many of them are Hindus and how many of them are Muhammadans?

(b) When filling the post of an Income-tax Assessor in Calcutta, which fell vacant in 1913, were there not qualified Muhammadan candidates from whom selection could have been made?

(c) Did this post fall vacant again in the beginning of 1915?

(d) If so, was the vacancy advertised?

(e) Has the vacancy been filled up by a Hindu or by a Muhammadan?

Questions and Answers.

The Hon'ble Mr. DONALD replied :—

"(a) There are nine Income-tax Assessors in Calcutta, of whom five are Hindus, three Anglo-Indians and one Muhammadan.

(b) When the post of an Income-tax Assessor fell vacant in 1913, there were two Muhammadan candidates. One of them was not qualified. The application from the other candidate was considered in filling the vacancy.

(c), (d) and (e) A vacancy occurred in February, 1915. This vacancy was not advertised. It was filled by the promotion of a Hindu gentleman from among the District Assessors.

It may be mentioned for the information of the Hon'ble Member that vacancies in the Calcutta Assessorships are not advertised. The usual method of appointment is by promotion from among the District Assessors. The interests of all communities are considered in making appointments. Out of 21,094 assessees paying a total tax of over Rs. 43,00,000 less than 1,000 are Muhammadan assessees, and they contribute only 1·6 per cent. of the total tax paid."

Damage Comilla town floods caused the river Gumti.

*12. (a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the recent breaches made by floods in several places in the banks of the river Gumti, whereby considerable damage has been caused in the neighbourhood of the town of Comilla ?

(b) Is it not a fact that, before the adjustment of the two provinces, the attention of the late Eastern Bengal and Assam Government was drawn, in its Legislative Council, to the likelihood of these floods occurring ?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state the reason for the apparent delay in coming to a decision in regard to the Gumti Embankment question and, in any case, state what measures they have taken or are taking to prevent the recurrence of the floods ?

The Hon'ble MR. COWLEY replied :—

(a) "Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) The question referred to in (b) was asked by the Hon'ble Member in the Council meeting held on the 18th March, 1912. He was then informed that during the past 40 years several inquiries had been held under the orders of Government with regard to the Gumti embankment and that the question of permanently controlling the floods by regulating and diverting them down streams on either bank, before the river leaves the hills, was then under investigation by the Tippera Raj. The investigation made in 1912 under the Tippera Raj yielded no result; consequently an Assistant Engineer of the Public Works Department was deputed in the cold weather of 1912-13 to investigate this question in more detail. The report was received by this Government in April 1913 and was not considered conclusive. It was subsequently decided by the Chief Engineer, Lieutenant-Colonel Joly de Lotbinière, that it was desirable to ascertain if it was possible to control the floods of the Gumti river by the construction of storage reservoirs in the hills from which it takes its rise, and it was the intention of this Government to depute an Assistant Engineer to make inquiries into this subject in the cold weather of 1914-15. Unfortunately, it has not yet been possible to depute an officer to this special duty, but in May 1915 the Hon'ble Member in charge inspected the embankments along with the Chief Engineer, the Superintending Engineer and the Manager of the Tippera Raj. The embankments are the property of the Tippera Raj and the repairs are carried out by the Raj under an agreement between the Raja of Hill Tippera and the Government of Bengal. At the time of this inspection the embankments appeared generally to be in a fair state of preservation, and the Chief Engineer gave such instructions as appeared to be necessary. Within about a month, however, an unusually early and unusually severe flood occurred, and in spite of the strenuous efforts of the local officers the breaches in question took place. At the time of the recent visit of the Hon'ble Member in charge most of the breaches with one important exception had been repaired; it has since been reported that all breaches have been completely repaired with the result that the state of the surrounding country is now normal. It should be explained that the breaches took place on the right bank, not on the left bank. The town of Comilla was therefore unaffected, the area damaged being the fields of the tenants of the Raj. The following figures, supplied by the Manager of the Raj estate, show the expenditure incurred by the Raja within recent years upon the repairs of the embankments :—

Questions and Answers.

1910-11	10,253
1911-12	15,424
1912-13	19,575
1913-14	15,960
1914-15	12,098

This answer deals only with the portion of the embankments which lies in the Raj estate and not with the portion, some miles lower down, which lies in the Ganga Mandal estate."

eged distress e district of ra owing to loods caused e river Gumti.

*13. (a) Are the Government aware of the present distress under which the people of the district of Tippera are suffering owing to the floods caused by the overflowing of the Gumti river ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they are considering the advisability of prohibiting all private exports of food-grain from the district of Tippera, until the people of that district recover from the present crisis and the prices of food-grain again become normal ?

The Hon'ble MR. BIRLEY replied :—

"(a) Government are aware of the existence of distress in Tippera district. A general statement on the subject will be made by the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell.

(b) To prohibit the export of food-grain from Tippera district would be contrary to the policy of the Government of India, and the proposal cannot be entertained. Moreover Burma rice is plentiful at moderate price and aus is now coming into the market."

By the Hon'ble NAWAB SAIYID HOSSAM HAIDER CHAUDHURI, KHAN BAHADUR :—

olera and -pox epi-s in and the town of *14. (a) Are the Government aware of the fact that cholera and small-pox broke out lately in a virulent form in and about the town of Comilla ?

(b) What was the cause of these epidemics ?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state what steps (if any) they are taking to check the periodical return of these epidemics ?

(d) Are the Government considering the desirability of introducing the "Drainage Scheme" in the Comilla Municipality ?

Questions and Answers.

The Hon'ble MR. DONALD replied :—

"(a) There have been limited outbreaks both of small-pox and cholera in and around Comilla this year. Reports have been received of the following cases :—

Month.	Small-pox.		Cholera.
	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.
March	14	2	9	5
April	65	2	12	11
May	5	5	24	19
June	3	3*	Nil	Nil

* These three deaths occurred outside the town.

(b) Cholera is endemic in Eastern Bengal. Cholera outbreaks in the town of Comilla will not be checked until a proper water-supply is introduced.

Small-pox was imported from Calcutta.

(c) The Tippera District Board entertains four Medical Officers for the purpose of checking outbreaks of cholera. The Municipal Commissioners of Comilla are considering a water-supply project.

Fourteen vaccinators were appointed by the Municipality after the outbreak of small-pox, with the result that the epidemic was speedily reduced.

(d) The Municipal Commissioners are considering the desirability of introducing a drainage scheme in the Comilla Municipality. The scheme has not yet been submitted to Government."

By the Hon'ble NAWAB SAIYID HOSSAM HAIDER CHAUDHURI, KHAN BAHADUR :—

Alleged closing down of the technical schools in the Presidency.

*15. (a) Are the Government aware that some of the technical schools in the Presidency are being closed down for lack of students?

(b) If so, are the Government considering the advisability of attracting boys by some method to join these institutions in larger numbers?

The Hon'ble MR. DONALD replied :—

(a) "Government are aware that there has been a decrease in the number of applicants for admission to the sub-overseer classes attached to various technical schools. The sub-overseer classes attached to the Barisal and Rangpur Schools have been closed and the Midnapur Technical School has been abolished.

(b) The sub-overseer classes are only concerned with the training of an inferior grade of Civil Engineers, and from recent investigations it appears that there is even now an overproduction of Civil Engineers generally and of this grade of Civil Engineers in particular. The problem is to devise a system of technical and industrial schools which will help the industrial development of the Presidency, and this is impossible unless each school is in vital touch with existing local industries. The problem is engaging the attention of Government."

By the Hon'ble DR. NILRATAN SARKAR :—

Alleged distress in the districts of Noakhali and Tippera.

*16. (a) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement on the following matters, namely :—

(i) the present extent and intensity of distress that prevails in the districts of Noakhali and Tippera;

(ii) the places in those districts particularly affected and the number of persons in need of, and those actually obtaining, relief;

(iii) the prospects of the aus and jute crops in Noakhali and Tippera and in other districts of Eastern Bengal;

(iv) the extent of injury done to crops and dwelling-houses by floods?

Questions and Answers.

(b) Is it a fact that besides the agricultural and labouring population the members of the poor bhadralog class in those districts are also great sufferers?

(c) What steps have been taken by Government to reach this class of persons?

(d) Is it a fact that deaths from starvation have taken place in the district of Tippera?

(e) Is it a fact that a large number of people are without any employment in the affected areas?

(f) Will the Government be pleased to state what measures they are taking in this connection?

(g) Is it a fact that the price of rice is on the increase in Eastern Bengal, particularly in the districts of Noakhali and Tippera?

(h) Are the Government considering the desirability of taking any special measures to increase the supply of rice?

The Hon'ble MR. BIRLEY replied :—

"The answers to the several questions are contained in the general statement on the situation in Noakhali and Tippera districts which will be made by the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell."

By the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI :—

Chhatra-Serampur Defence Party.

*17. (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the recent house-searches by the Police at Serampur?

(b) Is it the case that the houses of several members of the Chhatra-Serampur Defence Party were searched by the Police?

(c) Is it the case that no incriminating articles were found in any of the searches and that the information upon which the searches were made was false?

(d) Is it the case that the Subdivisional Officer of Serampur congratulated the Defence Party on their public spirit in helping to protect people against wrong-doers?

(e) Is it true that since the house-searches the Defence Party have stopped their work?

(f) Will the Government be pleased to state what action (if any) they are taking in the matter?

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) and (b). The answer is in the affirmative.

(c) It is the case that no incriminating articles were found in any of the houses searched. Government are unable to say whether the information upon which the searches were made was true or false.

(d) The Subdivisional Officer expressed his appreciation of the public spirit of the members of the Defence Party.

(e) The answer is in the affirmative.

(f) A full inquiry has been made into the facts of the case. It has been ascertained that there was nothing illegal in the procedure adopted by the Police, but Government are of opinion that the action taken was precipitate and that further inquiries should have been made before the warrants were applied for and issued. This view has been communicated to the officers concerned."

Case of Dr. Chandi Charan Ghosal and others.

*18 (a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a case in which an Honorary Magistrate, Dr. Chandi Charan Ghosal, and two others were convicted by the Subdivisional Magistrate of Serampur, the former under section 114 of the Indian Penal Code, read with sections 225 and 353 of the said Code, and the latter under the said sections 225 and 353?

(b) Is it not the case that the Sessions Judge of Hooghly in quashing the convictions and setting aside the sentences passed a censure on the Konnagar Police and especially on the head-constable who lodged the first information?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state what action they have taken or are taking in connection with the conduct of the head-constable referred to in the judgment of the Sessions Judge?

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

(a) "Yes.

(b) Yes; the Judge wrote: 'I would go further and say that the circumstances under which Dr. Ghosal was prosecuted reflect discredit upon the Konnagar Police and particularly upon the head-constable who lodged the first information making allegations now found to be false.'

(c) An inquiry has been held into the case by the Commissioner and the Inspector-General of Police. It appears that the main facts of the case are as follows :—

On the 22nd February constable Chakori Singh arrested an orange seller in the Konnagar bazaar for obstructing the traffic. Some opposition was raised both by the orange seller and by the people in the bazaar. At this stage, Dr. Chandi Charan Ghosal drove up, and after an inquiry into the cause of the disturbance, told the people to take both the constable and the orange seller to the Subdivisional Magistrate. It is admitted that the constable was then assaulted by the crowd. The orange seller was convicted on the same day on his own admission under section 34 (3) of Act V of 1861. In the meantime one of the residents of Konnagar went to the town outpost and informed the head-constable on duty that the police had been assaulted in the bazaar. The head-constable recorded the statement as a first information and forwarded it to the thana police. The head-constable is not an investigating officer and took no further part in the case. He was not therefore responsible for instituting the prosecution against Dr. Chandi Charan Ghosal, and the remarks in the judgment of the Sessions Judge on this point seem to have been made under some misapprehension. Proceedings against Dr. Chandi Charan Ghosal were instituted under the orders of the Assistant Superintendent of Police, Serampur, under whose supervision the investigation was conducted. In deciding to send up the case for trial, the Assistant Superintendent appears to have been influenced by the fact that the constable was undoubtedly assaulted by the crowd and that the orange seller who was arrested for obstructing the traffic had been found guilty and fined. After a careful perusal of the records of the case, Government are not prepared to hold that the Assistant Superintendent was wrong in letting the case go before a Magistrate for trial, and they do not propose to take any further action in the matter."

Alleged official interference with recent Municipal elections at Barisal.

*19. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that in the recent Municipal elections at Barisal the Magistrate interfered with a view to influence the decision against Babu Kailas Chandra Sen?

(b) Is it not the case that the policy of Government is that there should be no official interference with popular elections, municipal or otherwise?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state what action (if any) they are taking in the matter?

Questions and Answers.

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) Mr. Strong, Magistrate of Bakarganj, wrote a private letter to the Manager of the Bauphal estate, expressing his opinion on the merits of Babu Kailash Chandra Sen as a Municipal Commissioner and suggesting that some other candidate should be put forward in his place.

(b) It is the policy of Government that there should be no official interference with popular elections, municipal or otherwise, though no orders upon the subject have been issued at any time.

(c) Government have recently issued a circular inviting the attention of Government officers, Executive and Judicial, to the fact that the policy of Government is as has been stated in the reply to the second part of the Hon'ble Member's questions, and in these circumstances they do not propose to take any further action in this matter."

Situation in the famine-stricken tracts in Eastern Bengal

*20. (a) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement as to the situation in the famine-stricken tracts in Eastern Bengal?

(b) In view of the statement made by the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell that the Bengal Government has only Rs. 10,000 in hand for loans, are they considering the desirability of moving the Government of India for a further grant for the relief of famine in Eastern Bengal?

The Hon'ble MR. BIRLEY replied :—

"The Hon'ble Member is referred to the statement which will be made by the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell."

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS.

Decline of the city of Murshidabad.

By the Hon'ble NAWAB BAHADUR OF MURSHIDABAD :—

I. (a) Is it a fact that the city of Murshidabad is rapidly declining in population and also in importance as an industrial centre?

(b) If so, to what are these causes due?

(c) If the answer to clause (a) be in the affirmative, will the Government be pleased to state what action (if any) they are taking to save the city from further decay and impoverishment?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD was laid on the table :—

(a) "The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) The decline in the population of Murshidabad is due probably to the decline in its importance as an industrial centre, which began since the removal of the seat of Government to Calcutta. The diversion of the traffic from the Bhagirathi river to the Railway and the decay of the silk industry are understood to be the principal causes of the diminution of the importance of the place.

(c) No practicable proposal has been submitted by the Municipality or any other responsible authority for the improvement of public health in Murshidabad. If any such proposals are made they will receive the careful consideration of Government."

By the Hon'ble NAWAB BAHADUR OF MURSHIDABAD :—

Extension of class-rooms in the Nawab Bahadur's Institution at Murshidabad

II. (a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the unexpended balance, or surplus, of the funds provided for the management of the Nawab Bahadur's Institution at Murshidabad?

(b) If so, have Government considered the desirability of utilising this sum for the extension of class-rooms in the said institution?

Questions and Answers.

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD was laid on the table :—

"(a) & (b) So far as Government are aware there has been no unexpended balance, or surplus, of the funds provided for the management of the Nawab Bahadur's Institution at Murshidabad. The expenditure over 23 years has exceeded the provision which Government undertook to make."

By the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI :—

Transfer of jurisdiction for trial of certain classes of money suits from Sealdah to Alipore.

III. (a) Is it the case that all suits of a Small Cause Court nature above the value of Rs. 100 and up to the value of Rs. 500, which used to be tried as money suits by the Munsifs at Sealdah, have been ordered to be instituted at Alipore to be tried by a Sub-Judge under the Small Cause Court procedure?

(b) Are the Government aware that this order of transfer has caused hardship to the litigant public and has also deprived them of the right of appeal?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether there has been a falling-off in the number of such suits after the order of transfer as compared with the statistics of previous years?

(d) Are the Government considering the desirability of ordering such suits to be instituted before the Subordinate Judge of Sealdah instead of at Alipore?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. KERR was laid on the table :—

(a) "The change in jurisdiction was effected by Notification No. 1724 J., dated the 17th April, 1914, which was issued at the instance of the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court. The change affected only that portion of the Sealdah Munsifi, which lies outside the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Court at Sealdah.

(b) The Governor General in Council agrees with the Hon'ble Judges that the gain to the public by speedier disposal of cases and reduction of appeals will more than counterbalance any disadvantage arising from the change.

(c) The answer is in the affirmative.

(d) There is no Court of a Subordinate Judge proper at Sealdah. It is presumed that the Hon'ble Member refers to the Court of the Small Cause Court Judge whose jurisdiction is, as already pointed out, entirely separate from that in which the cases referred to fall. Inquiries which have been made show that the amount of work already performed by the Small Cause Court at Sealdah renders it impracticable to extend its jurisdiction as suggested.

As the High Court do not favour a change in the existing arrangements, Government are not disposed to move in the matter."

Extension of elective system to all municipalities.

IV. (a) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing—

(i) the municipalities in Bengal in which the elective system is in force, and

(ii) the municipalities the members of which are wholly nominated by the Government?

(b) With reference to the recent Resolution of the Government of India on Local Self-Government, will the Government be pleased to state whether they are considering the desirability of extending the elective system to municipalities which do not now possess it, and if so, will they be pleased to mention the names of such municipalities?

Questions and Answers.

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD was laid on the table :—

(a) "A statement is laid on the table. It will appear that out of 111 Municipalities in Bengal there are only 15, the members of which are wholly nominated by Government.

(b) The recommendations of the Royal Commission upon Decentralization regarding the extension of the elective principle have always been kept in view. The elective system will be extended to those Municipalities which do not at present enjoy the privilege as soon as this can be done without detriment to public interest. The matter is occupying the attention of Government."

Organization of Excise Department.

V. Will the Government be pleased to state the details of the reorganization of the Excise Department and the methods of recruitment for the various offices?

The following answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD was laid on the table :—

"The main features of the Reorganization Scheme are—

(1) The formation of a close Excise and Salt service for the Presidency, and the dissociation, as far as possible, from excise work of officers entrusted with revenue and judicial functions.

(2) The creation of two appointments of Deputy Commissioner, on Rs. 850—50—1,000 per mensem, to replace the existing Inspector of Excise and the Assistant Commissioner of Salt in charge of the districts of the 24-Parganas and Khulna. The duties of these officers will consist mainly in inspection and advisory work, the supervision of the preventive staff and the co-ordination of the preventive operations.

(3) The creation of a staff of 26 Excise Superintendents, on pay ranging from Rs. 250 to Rs. 700 per mensem, with an additional probationary Superintendent on Rs. 150 per mensem. The scheme provides for the appointment in each district of a special Excise officer who will hold entire charge of district Excise administration in subordination to the Collector, with regard to whom he will occupy a position similar to that of the Superintendent of Police in police matters. Superintendents will be appointed to all districts, except Howrah, Bogra and Noakhali, in which it is proposed for the present to put an Inspector in charge. The Chief Preventive Officer in Calcutta and the Personal Assistant to the Commissioner of Excise, hitherto recruited from other services, are included in the number of Superintendents.

(4) The improvement of the pay and grading and the strengthening of the numbers of existing distillery, warehouse and preventive staff, so as to ensure greater efficiency in preventive work and in supervision over distilleries and warehouses. Fifty-five Inspectors will be appointed on pay ranging from Rs. 100 to Rs. 250 to replace the old Deputy Inspector class. The number of Sub-Inspectors has been raised from 169 to 237 and their pay from Rs 30 rising to Rs. 80, to Rs 50 rising to Rs. 100.

(5) A similar revision of the staff of petty officers, peons and clerks and the amalgamation of the district clerical Excise establishments with the Collectors' establishments.

Superintendents, Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors of Excise and Salt will be recruited in accordance with the rules made on the subject and published under the Financial Department Notification No. 501 S.R., dated the 15th March, 1915, on pages 447--450 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 17th idem. The appointments of Deputy Commissioner will be prize appointments, to be filled up by selection from Superintendents."

(b) Has any other district been similarly affected?

(c) Is it a fact that floods have caused serious damage to the standing crops of rice and jute in Eastern Bengal?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to state the extent of the damage so caused?

Internment of Bengalis.

VI A. Will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) the number of Bengalis interned since the beginning of the war,

(ii) their names and position in life,

(iii) the places where they are interned, and

(iv) whether Government are considering the desirability of paying the cost of their maintenance during the period of internment and such charges as may be incurred for conveying them to the places where they are to be interned?

Questions and Answers.

The following answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR was laid on the table:—

"It is understood that the Hon'ble Member refers to the orders which have been issued under rule 3 of the Defence of India Rules, 1915, restraining the movements of certain persons. Such orders have been served on fourteen persons, of whom twelve are now residing at the places assigned in the orders. The order against one person has been held in abeyance pending inquiries which are being made regarding his state of health, while one person has been removed to jail by order of the High Court since the order was served on him. Government do not consider it consistent with public interests to publish in the proceedings of this Council the names and position in life of the persons on whom orders have been served or to give public information as to the places where they have been ordered to reside, but Government will have no objection to my giving the Hon'ble Member or any other Hon'ble Member confidential information on these points. Nine persons have been given an allowance of Rs. 30 a month each, one person has been given an allowance of Rs. 22 a month, and another an allowance of Rs. 20. An allowance of Rs. 30 a month was sanctioned for the man who has since been removed to jail. No allowance is being paid to the person in respect of whom the order has been held in abeyance, while one of the men in respect of whom the order has been passed and is in force has been allowed to continue to work at his trade and is given no allowance. The travelling expenses of eight persons to the places at which they were ordered to reside were paid by Government, and the person in whose case the order was held in abeyance was given Rs. 20 to cover the cost of his return journey from Chittagong to Calcutta. Two persons are residing at the places at which the order was served on them. House accommodation is provided by the Government in all cases except where the persons are allowed to live in their own houses or in those of their relatives."

The following answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY was laid on the table:—

"Owing to Major Hirst's indisposition the report which was expected at the end of May has not yet been received in complete form, but he reports that it will be submitted shortly. Government will then appoint a small Committee to consider Major Hirst's report and to recommend what action should be taken."

Posting of a Sub-Judge at Malda.

VIII. With reference to the reply given by the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming to my question at the Council meeting of the 2nd July, 1914, with regard to the posting of a Sub-Judge at Malda, will the Government be pleased to state whether a final decision has been arrived at in the matter?

The following answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR was laid on the table:—

"The matter has been further considered by Government in consultation with the High Court, who recently advised that the statistics of judicial work in the Rajshahi-Malda district did not justify any permanent addition to the staff employed in that district. The High Court recognised, however, that there were strong administrative grounds for meeting the wishes of the inhabitants of Malda, and suggested that a Subordinate Judge might be posted to Malda temporarily as an experiment, if an officer could be provided without prejudice to the requirements in the matter of additional Subordinate Judges elsewhere. The following answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD was laid on the table :—

There is not at present any provision for accommodating Indian M.A. and M.Sc. students in Government Hostels, but it is understood that the Scottish Churches College does not exclude such students from its hostels.

(c) Is it also a fact that there is a decree of the Original Side of the High Court for an amount exceeding a lakh of rupees against one Debendra Lal Mullick and others, of Calcutta, in favour of Jafarali Khan and others, passed several years ago?

(d) If so, will the Government be pleased to state why these decrees have not been executed and the amount on realization utilized in paying off the debts of the said Jafarali Khan?

(e) Is it a fact that properties belonging to the estate are at present being sold to pay off debts?

(f) Is it true that Jafarali Khan brought to the notice of the Court of Wards the fact that he has been dispossessed of a certain share of his ancestral property?

(g) Are the Government taking any steps, through the Court of Wards, with the object of instituting suits to enforce these claims?

(h) Is it a fact that the total debts of Jafarali Khan do not exceed Rs. 5,000 and that the annual income of Jafarali Khan exceeds Rs. 25,000?

(i) Will the Government kindly state why these debts have not yet been liquidated?

Distress in the Noakhali and Tippera districts—Mr. Beatson Bell.

(j) Is it a fact that several claims in favour of the estate of Jafarali Khan have become barred by limitation?

(k) If so, will the Government kindly state the circumstances which made such a state of affairs possible?

(l) Is it a fact that Jafarali Khan has made repeated endeavours to get his estate released from the Court of Wards?

(m) Is it also a fact that he has offered to pay off the debt on his estate from his own pocket?

(n) Will the Government kindly state the circumstances under which the Court of Wards still retains control of the estate?

The following answer by the Hon'ble MR. BIRLEY was laid on the table:—

"The statutory power of releasing estates from the Court of Wards is vested in the Board of Revenue by virtue of section 9(c) of Bengal Act IX of 1879. A petition for the release of the estate of Jafarali Khan has been presented to the Board of Revenue and they are now engaged in inquiring into that petition. The Governor in Council has no doubt that the Board of Revenue will give due consideration to all the facts, or alleged facts, embodied in the question of the Hon'ble Member. If Jafarali Khan is dissatisfied with the orders ultimately passed by the Board of Revenue, it is open to him to move the Local Government for a revision of these orders. At present the Governor in Council has no detailed information regarding most of the matters mentioned in this question."

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 2A.

Statement by the Hon'ble Mr. BEATSON BELL, regarding distress in the Noakhali and Tippera districts.

"MY LORD,

As several questions have been asked regarding distress in the districts of Tippera and Noakhali, it will be convenient if I make a general statement on this subject. I have recently toured in the five subdivisions of these districts. I have made a point of visiting the tracts where the situation was said to be worst. Everywhere I have gone into the villages and conversed with the people in their homes.

Tippera has an area of 2,624 square miles and a population of 2,430,138 persons. Noakhali has an area of 1,641 square miles and a population of 1,302,090 persons. Taking the two districts together, the area under jute in 1914 was 365,862 acres and the outturn 5,962,950 maunds. Owing to the war the cultivators lost, at a moderate estimate, four rupees on every maund of jute. In other words, the cash which came to these two districts was less than what the cultivators expected by Rs. 2,38,50,800. This is the root cause of the distress, and it is common to all the jute-producing districts. Three special causes have, however, been in operation in Tippera and Noakhali which have rendered their condition worse than those of the surrounding districts. In the first place, the winter rice crop of 1914-15 suffered much—particularly in Chandpur subdivision and in Noakhali Sadar—from the disease known as ufra. In the second place, the districts of Tippera and Noakhali contain an unusually large number of landless labourers: in ordinary years these men earn good wages by working in the jute and rice fields of raiyats, sometimes in their own districts and sometimes elsewhere. This year owing to the general shortage of cash and to the restriction in the area under jute the demand for labour has been greatly reduced and many of the landless labourers of Noakhali and Tippera have been thrown out of work. In the third place, there have been serious floods in portions of these two districts.

In considering the intensity of distress in any tract the first question which naturally arises is the price of foodstuffs. It is satisfactory to note that in this respect the suituation has not been serious. The following figures show the price per maund of common rice (local aman) during April, May and June of the last three years :—

Distress in the Noakhali and Tippera districts—Mr. Beatson Bell.

—		April.	May.	June.	Average.
		Rs. A.	Rs. A.	Rs. A.	Rs. A.
Tippera (Comilla)	1913 ...	5 0	4 11	4 13	4 13
	1914 ...	5 7	5 10	6 0	5 11
	1915 ...	5 5	5 11	6 0	5 10
Noakhali ...	1913 ...	4 6	4 12	4 2	4 7
	1914 ...	5 5	5 7	5 8	5 6
	1915 ...	5 8	5 13	5 10	5 10

It should also be noted that there have been plentiful imports of Burma rice which has been selling in the bazars throughout the districts at about Rs. 4-8, or even less, per maund. New aus rice is now in the market at about Rs. 5-2 per maund. It has been suggested in one question that the poorer classes of bhadralok, presumably those with small fixed incomes, have suffered specially and therefore require special measures of relief. From the figures just given it seems that this apprehension is not serious. Apart from sugar and salt (which owing to the war have risen in price throughout the province) there has been no material rise in the cost of living in Noakhali and Tippera: on the contrary, the fall in wages consequent on the reduced demand for labour has tended to reduce the cost of living in the case of those with small fixed incomes. The condition of the poorer bhadralok has not been overlooked either by Government or by non-official workers, but undoubtedly the chief sufferers have been the cultivators, the labouring classes and (in consequence) the aged and crippled beggars.

The second point to which attention is naturally drawn is the death-rate. Many sensational accounts of death from starvation have appeared in the press. We can only say that we have investigated every case carefully and in no case are we satisfied that death has been due to this cause. It is indeed most unlikely, in view of the systematic efforts of official and non-official workers in all parts of the districts, that any one should die of hunger. The actual deaths from all causes in the two districts have been—

Tippera	...	29,578	26,679	27,690
Noakhali	...	17,719	16,942	16,597

Another point which deserves notice is the state of credit, the borrowing power, of the two districts. It is usual for jute cultivators to live on borrowed money while the crop is growing This year, owing to the shortage of cash already mentioned, the money-lenders have undoubtedly restricted their business to a great extent. Statements have been made to the effect that money-lenders have entirely closed their business, but this is hardly borne out by facts. An examination of the figures in the Registration Offices of Tippera shows that, apart from mortgages on land, 989 money bonds were registered during the first half of 1915, as against 1,401 money bonds in the same period of 1914. I noticed somewhat similar figures in the Registration Offices of Noakhali. The rate of interest in recent bonds has averaged about Rs. 4-7 per cent. per month.

Finally, as regards the physical state of the country and the standing crops, it may be said at once that throughout the greater part of the two districts the state of the standing crops—aus, jute and aman—leaves nothing to be desired. Aus and jute are now being harvested. Aus, as already noticed, is selling at Rs. 5-2. At a mufassal market, which I personally visited in the middle of July I found the price of new jute to vary from Rs. 6-12 to Rs. 8 per maund according to the quality. While this satisfactory state of affairs exists throughout the greater part of the area there are certain tracts where things are very different. The year has been marked by early and violent floods. The river Gumti burst its right embankment at several places. This was on 9th June, and it was not until more than a month that the landlords who own the embankment completed the repairs. Meanwhile the water poured upon the fields of their raiyats. There were similar floods on the banks of the Buri river in Tippera and the Muhari river in the Feni subdivision of Noakhali. Lowlands in the area where Noakhali subdivision adjoins Chandpur subdivision, and also lowlands in the northern part of Brahmanbaria subdivision suffered seriously from the floods of June. The last-named area also suffered from a recrudescence in July of floods in Sylhet and Cachar. I have visited a great many of the flooded villages in Tippera and Noakhali, and I can vouch for the fact that in considerable areas the broad-cast aman crop—which is the crop on which these villages mainly rely—has been destroyed beyond redemption. The estimated area of serious flooding is 250 square miles in Tippera and 30 square miles in Noakhali.

I now turn to the remedial measures which have been and which are being taken. As the conditions are totally different from those contemplated by the Famine Code, and as, in the greater part of the districts, the distress is purely temporary and will disappear when the standing autumn crops are reaped, we decided that we would not be justified in making any formal declaration of 'famine' and in adopting the elaborate procedure of the Famine Code. The measures which we adopted were threefold and the code which we advised the workers, official and non-official, to follow was the code of common sense. In the first place, District Boards have undertaken special works without the intervention of contractors. These are not relief works or famine works in the technical sense. The works have generally consisted in removing jungle from tanks and roads and in one case (a work which His Excellency personally inspected) about 500 people have been employed in metalling an important road. In Noakhali, about 1,000 tanks have been cleaned of weeds, the cost being debited to the money which the District Board had wisely set aside for the 'Improvement of Water-supply.' The workers on these special works are usually paid four annas per day, boys getting half rates. Up to date Tippera has employed 34,240 workers at an expenditure of Rs. 12,500 and Noakhali 61,737 workers at an expenditure of Rs. 12,138. The second remedial measure has been the distribution of gratuitous relief, generally in the form of doles of rice, to those who are short of food, but physically unable to work on the special works of the District Board. The House will remember that, when the current budget was under discussion, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur asked me to explain why we had made an entry of Rs. 50,000 for gratuitous relief, and the House will remember that I replied as follows :—

'An exactly similar sum was put down in the year which has just closed. We thought it wise to make the provision in view of the distress which might still be prevalent in the Burdwan Division. I am glad to say that we had only to spend Rs. 2,000 of that amount. But although last year we spent only Rs. 2,000, we considered it wise in the present year to repeat the full allotment of Rs. 50,000. We do not know when or where it will be required. We trust it will not be required at all, but all will agree that it is a prudent and considerate provision.'

When the present trouble arose I was truly thankful that we had this grant at out disposal, and were able not only to meet to the full the demands of the local officers, but even to give them rather more than they asked for. Up to date, we have actually allotted Rs. 30,000 for gratuitous relief in Tippera and Noakhali. There have also been considerable donations from private sources. In many cases the contributions from Government and the contributions from private sources have been mingled in a common fund, administered by private workers. The latest figures for gratuitous relief show—

Distress in the Noakhali and Tippera districts—Mr. Beatson Bell.

Tippera Rs. 6,000 distributed to 11,000 persons.
Noakhali Rs. 18,492 distributed to 56,129 persons.

In this, of course, is not included all the quiet charity which is not brought to the notice of any recognised committee, official or non-official—the charity where the giver's left hand knows not what his right hand is doing. I take this opportunity of thanking the honorary workers for all they have done. It is with special satisfaction that I thank the presidents of panchayats for their loyal co-operation with the Circle officers. The zeal and local knowledge of the presidents have been an asset of the first value. The last and largest of the remedial measures which we have adopted has been the distribution of agricultural loans. One of the questions which has been asked is based on a statement (which I did not make) to the effect that on 7th July our available balance for agricultural loans was only Rs. 10,000. I must have been misunderstood, for, as a matter of fact, our available balance on that day was Rs. 30,000. What, however, was the exact balance on that day is no longer of much practical importance. The essential facts are these—that in the budget as passed the allotment for agricultural loans for the whole province was only Rs. 2,50,000 (no one, as far as I remember, criticised this as being too small); that the divisions other than Chittagong have been allotted Rs. 2,20,000, every rupee of which they will require ; and that the sum originally available for Chittagong Division was therefore only Rs. 30,000. This would have been serious, but the House will be glad to learn that by means of gradual reappropriations from other allotments we have been able to place a total sum of three lakhs of rupees at the disposal of the Commissioner of Chittagong for the purpose of agricultural loans, and that we have still some money in hand in case further loans are required either in Chittagong Division or elsewhere. So far, we have not found it necessary to apply to the Government of India for an additional allotment of loans. According to the latest reports the sum actually distributed as loans in Tippera and Noakhali has been Rs. 1,11,395. The loans are being given out on joint bonds. The money is being distributed in the villages according to the simplest possible procedure, and those who have land are being encouraged to take into their joint bonds a few who have no land.

As regards the length of time during which these remedial measures will be continued, it is hoped that, so far as the unflooded area is concerned, the special works of the District Boards, and the distribution of gratuitous rice, will no longer be necessary and may safely be discontinued after the first week of August. In neither case, in the opinion of this Government, should the cessation be made too suddenly. The matter will be left to the discretion of the local authorities and the case of the flooded tracts is being brought specially to their notice. The distribution of the remaining money for agricultural loans will be spread over different periods in different localities, according to circumstances. In the areas which have not been flooded few further loans, if any, will now be required. Loans will continue to be distributed to persons in the flooded area, and also to persons whose houses have been diluviated near the town of Noakhali. In the former case the loans will be given at the season when they will be of most real use to the cultivators to enable them to prepare their next crop and to carry on until that crop is reaped. In the case of persons whose houses have been diluviated the loans will naturally be given at the time they desire to reconstruct their houses. It is not proposed to issue hard-and-fast rules to the Collectors regarding the time of distributing the remaining loans, but it is probable that the bulk of the money will be distributed between now and December, 1915. Discretion is also being left to the Collectors as to the dates on which the instalments of the loans will be repaid. It is thought that the raiyats will generally prefer to repay the loan either in one instalment at the harvest of the next crop, or in two instalments spread over the next two harvests. Lastly, the Collectors are being asked to see that when the time comes the money is collected as far as possible in the villages with a minimum use of the certificate procedure.

I have only to add that when we issued a communiqué on 22nd June we were able to announce a grant of one lakh for loans and Rs. 10,000 for gratuitous relief. From the statement which I have made to-day the House will see that as the situation has developed and as funds have become available we have been able to increase each of these grants to three times their original amount."

LEGISLATIVE BUSINESS.

THE BENGAL DECENTRALIZATION BILL, 1915.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEMS NOS. 3 AND 4.

3. The Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell moved for leave to introduce a Bill to facilitate the administration of certain enactments in force in Bengal.

He said :—

"My Lord, I move for leave to introduce a Bill to decentralize and otherwise to facilitate the administration of certain enactments in force in Bengal.

The Bill has already been published and circulated, and I have little to add to what has been set forth in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. The Bill is the outcome of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Decentralization. A general delegation Bill was first proposed and introduced into the Supreme Council. This Bill gave no details : it simply authorized Government to delegate powers by executive order from a superior to an inferior authority. The Bill was criticised on the ground that it was a 'blank cheque', a 'pig in a poke', and so on. The Bill was ultimately withdrawn and detailed legislation was undertaken. The Supreme Council has already passed a detailed Act dealing with Imperial laws, and we have now to consider similar legislation dealing with our provincial laws. 'Decentralization' is a popular cry with all sections of the community. If any one proposes 'decentralization', there is at once a chorus of approval from officials and non-officials, Indians and Europeans. 'Yes, let us have decentralization. Down with Red Tape! Down with the Circumlocution Office!' But as soon as we descend to details, differences of opinion are apt to arise. In fact, every one believes in 'decentralization', but every one puts a different meaning to the word. For instance, there are many officials, European and Indian, who would reply, if asked to define decentralization, 'Decentralization is an ideal system under which I am given full power to interfere with all the actions of my subordinates, while at the same time my superiors are restrained in every possible way from interfering with my actions.' Others, especially members of the legal profession, would define decentralization 'as a system under which the original order is passed by the lowest possible authority, coupled with an ample series of appeals up to the highest possible authority.' We recognize that we cannot please every one, so we have tried in the Bill before the House to adopt a reasonable and moderate course. We have based our proposals upon practical experience: We have examined our provincial Acts in great detail. Where we have found that in actual practice the order has always been passed by a lower authority and that the confirmation of the superior authority has become a mere formality, we propose to amend the law so as to place the legal responsibility in the proper place—that is to say, in the authority which exercises the power de facto. I take a few cases at random from the schedules of our Bill. Section 64 of the Land Registration Act lays down a table of fees to be paid on the registration of transfers. It also empowers the Board of Revenue to remit these fees in special cases. It has been found by actual practice that when the Commissioner recommends the remission of a fee the Board invariably ratifies his proposal. We therefore ask that the power of remitting these fees should be definitely vested in the Commissioner. Again, in section 101 of the Cess Act it is laid down that the sanction of the Commissioner is necessary before the Collector can depute one of his Deputy Collectors to do the ordinary work of 'Cess Deputy Collector.' In actual practice the Commissioner always allows the Collector to select such Deputy Collector as he sees fit. We propose to amend the law so that these routine references to the Commissioner are no longer necessary. Similarly, in the Municipal Act we propose to transfer to the Commissioner certain powers of control which are nominally exercised by the Local Government, but are exercised in actual practice by the Commissioner, the Local Government formally confirming his suggestions. In this Act, however, we proposé in most cases to make the orders of the Commissioner subject to the administrative control of the Local Government. At this stage I need not weary the House by further details. Each proposal will be examined on its merits in Select Committee and again in full Council. I may add that since the Bill was published a few more proposals, relating mainly to the Cess Act, have been put forward. These also will be examined in Select Committee. Finally, as explained in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, we have refrained from dealing with any Act which has not been in force for at least five years. This is a necessary consequence of our decision to act throughout upon the basis of practical experience."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"My Lord, there is just one matter in regard to which I should like to have a word of explanation from the Hon'ble Member. Decentralization is a captivating word. The Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell, when moving for leave to introduce the Bill, expressed a hope that it would be acceptable to this side of the House as it was acceptable to officials as well as non-officials, to Europeans as well as Indians. We are all for decentralization. But, my Lord, it is necessary that there should be reserved some measure of control to higher authorities in respect of certain matters. One of the matters which I think the Hon'ble Member has just mentioned is this: That in respect of nominations made by the Commissioner of the Division—which nominations are now confirmed by the Government—the final authority will be the Commissioners of the Divisions. My Lord, I have been connected with a municipality for the last 30 years, and I have found that the higher we mount the purer becomes the atmosphere, and that the nominations made by the Magistrates and confirmed by the Commissioners of Divisions have not been nominations which ought to have been accepted. The power as reserved by Government has exercised a beneficent influence upon the discretion of the Commissioner. If the object of the Bill is to take away this power from the Government, then I for one would deem it my duty to oppose this Bill in the interest of Local Self-Government, that is, if the power be withdrawn from the Government and vested in subordinate authorities.

I am afraid subordinate authorities are subject to local influences and they may not exercise that power in a manner acceptable to the higher authorities. That is the view which I hold, and if I am wrong, I hope the Hon'ble Member will correct me. But if I am right, I shall deem it my duty to oppose this Bill."

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said :—

"That is one of the matters which I have already explained. The Commissioner will exercise his powers subject to the administrative control of the Local Government."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"I just want to know this. All these nominations are now made by the Local Government on the recommendations made by the Commissioners. Are we to understand that, after this Bill is passed, the orders of the Commissioners will be final and that the matters will not be laid before the Local Government?

The Bengal Decentralization Bill, 1915—Babu S. N. Banerji—Mr. Beatson Bell.

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said :—

"As I have said, the orders of the Commissioners will be subject to the control of the Local Government."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"The present practice is that these nominations are not gazetted until they are confirmed by the Local Government."

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said :—

"I think that, under the Bill as it now stands, the Commissioner will gazette his nominations, and if any one is dissatisfied with them he can move the Local Government."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"My Lord, we have a number of Municipal Commissioners on this Council. My friend the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray is the chairman of a suburban municipality, and my friend the Hon'ble Maharaja Ranajit Sinha of Nashipur is also the chairman of a mufassal municipality. We have got quite a good volume of experienced opinion with regard to this matter. I hope that my friend the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell will defer to that opinion so far as this particular amendment is concerned."

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said :—

My Lord, I rise to a point of order. This seems to be a question for the Select Committee.

[The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji was called to order.]

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell moved that the said Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Monahan, the Hon'ble Mr. De, the Hon'ble Mr. Birley, the Hon'ble Sir S. P. Sinha, the Hon'ble Sir Bijay Chand Mahtab, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., I.O.M., Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, the Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur and the mover, with instructions to circulate their report in time for its consideration at the meeting of the Council to be held in September next.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"My Lord, I think I am now in order. I have already submitted for your Excellency's consideration the objection which we on this side of the House feel with regard to this Bill.

It is really a very disagreeable thing to speak anything about the personnel of the Select Committee, but I am sorry to say that there is not a single gentleman on the Committee who has good municipal experience——"

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL, interrupting, said :—

"I think the Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur is a Municipal Commissioner."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"He is a nominated Commissioner of a municipality."

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL, said :—

"But he was elected to the Council by the Municipalities of the Rajshahi Division."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"My Lord, what we feel is this : Your Excellency has proposed a Select Committee for the purpose of considering, among other things, municipal matters, but I am sorry to say that it does not consist of any gentlemen possessing considerable municipal experience. I think, my Lord, that there ought to be at least some additions to that Committee. With your Excellency's permission, I would move that either my friend the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray or the Hon'ble Maharaja Ranajit Sinha of Nashipur be added to the Select Committee."

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said :—

"My Lord, I have no objection to either of these gentlemen being appointed to the Select Committee, but we must then have another official member added to the Committee."

[It was eventually decided to add the names of the Hon'ble Mr. Lang and the Hon'ble Babu S. N. Banerji to the Select Committee.]

The Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, I find that this Bill contains certain amendments of the Calcutta Port Act. As my friend the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji has said, 'decentralization' is a very captivating word. Although we are all advocates of self-government, and we are all anxious to have as much power entrusted to local bodies as possible, it is my duty to point out that this amendment of section 51 of the Calcutta Port Act is one which should not be introduced into this Bill.

My Lord, at present under the powers vested in the Calcutta Port Commissioners, they can sanction estimates not exceeding Rs. 50,000 and estimates above that amount are subject to the sanction of the Local Government. What is now proposed—and this is a very important principle—is that they should be empowered to sanction estimates up to two lakhs of rupees without the sanction of the Local Government. I have the honour to belong to some local bodies in Calcutta and none would rejoice as much as I would to see more power given to local bodies. But I have also great faith in the Government established as it now is—a Governor in Council. I submit, my Lord, that all estimates and contracts above Rs 50,000 or a certain sum of money laid down in this Act should be subject to the scrutiny and sanction of the Local Government. There is often a divergence of opinion between the executive and a certain section of the members of local bodies, and it is not infrequently the case that the executive carries with the help of the majority certain estimates which might otherwise have been scrutinized by the Government, and the objections taken by the minority might be based on good grounds. The amendment which is now sought to be introduced will apply also to other Acts, namely, the Calcutta Municipal Act and the Calcutta Improvement Act, and the power now exercised by these local bodies will be increased to the extent of two lakhs of rupees without reference to the Local Government. Although, as I have said, I belong to two of these local bodies, I would strongly oppose any increase of financial power given to them or to any other body without the supervision, scrutiny and control of the Local Government. There is a great safeguard in the Local Government criticising carefully every proposal that comes up to them; for instance, if the Corporation of Calcutta or the Calcutta Improvement Trust or the Calcutta Port Trust sanction an estimate which involves an expenditure of two lakhs of rupees, but a minority of the members consider that such a large sum need not be spent, there would be absolutely no remedy, because the chairman and his majority will always carry the day. Having regard to this danger, it is necessary that the law as it now stands should continue. Speaking on behalf of the community I represent in this Council, I may say that we shall be glad if this power be retained in the hands of Government."

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said :—

"My Lord, at this stage we are only concerned with general principles. Surely the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur does not oppose the whole principle of the Bill because we have proposed to raise the power of the Calcutta Port Trust to sanction estimates from half a lakh to two lakhs of rupees. I take it that he thinks that two lakhs is rather too high. If that is so, it is really a matter for the Select Committee. If he is in favour of the general principle of decentralization, we shall be quite willing to consider this question fully in the Select Committee."

Amendment of the Bengal Legislative Rules, 1912—Mr. Lyon.

The motion was then put in the following form and agreed to:—

That the said Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell, the Hon'ble Mr. Monahan, the Hon'ble Mr. Lang, the Hon'ble Mr. De, the Hon'ble Mr. Birley, the Hon'ble Sir S. P. Sinha, the Hon'ble Sir Bijay Chand Mahtab, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., I.O.M., Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji and the Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur with instructions to circulate their report in time for its consideration at the meeting of the Council in September next.

THE BENGAL LEGISLATIVE RULES, 1912.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 5.

5. The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon moved that for rule 29 of the Bengal Legislative Rules, 1912, the following be substituted, namely:—

"29. (1) Any Member desiring to move for leave to introduce a Bill in accordance with the provisions of section 37 or section 38 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861, shall give the Secretary at least two months' previous notice of his intention and shall, together with the notice, send a copy of the Bill and a full Statement of Objects and Reasons.

Introduction of Bills.

24 & 25 Vict., c. 67.

(2) If, after the expiration of the said period, such motion be carried in Council, the Secretary shall cause the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons, to be printed (if not already in print), and shall send a copy to each Member, and the Bill shall thereupon be deemed to have been introduced in Council:

Provided that the President shall not permit the introduction of any Bill which requires the previous sanction of—

(a) the Governor, under section 38 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861, or

24 & 25 Vict., c. 67.

(b) the Governor General, under—

(i) section 43 of the said Act, or

(ii) section 5 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892,

55 & 56 Vict., c. 14.

as the case may be, unless and until such sanction has been duly accorded thereto.

He said:—

"My Lord, I need not detain the Council for any length of time, as this proposal has already been discussed with several non-official members of Council and has received their approval, and has also been circulated to all members without our receiving any notice of amendment to it.

The object of the amendment is to prolong the period of notice to be given by the author of a private Bill before he asks for permission to introduce it into this Council. It is, I may venture to say, a simple amendment which will obviously facilitate the running of the Legislative machine and will secure the proper consideration of Bills presented to Council at the earliest stage, thus saving possible waste of time and friction later on.

Bills passed by this Council must receive the assent of the Governor-General before they can become law, and may be eventually disallowed by His Majesty the King-Emperor at a later stage. It is accordingly desirable that an opportunity should be given to the Governor General and the Secretary of State to intimate any radical objections which may in their opinion exist to the provisions of any Bill which it is proposed to introduce into this Council before its introduction is debated.

A reference to the proviso to the new rule will also shew that the law prohibits the introduction of certain Bills into the Provincial Council without the previous sanction of the Governor of Bengal or the Governor General of India. Such Bills are (1) measures which affect the public revenues of the Presidency or by which any charge is to be imposed on such revenues, (2) Bills which fall into any of the eight categories mentioned in section 43 of the Indian Councils Act of 1861, and (3) Bills which propose the repeal or amendment of any laws or regulations passed by legislatures other than this Council. While it will be at once obvious in most cases whether a Bill does or does not come within these sections of the law, there may be some cases in which it is difficult to determine the point, and it is desirable in the interests of this Council, in order to avoid our entering upon barren proceedings, that these Bills should be thoroughly examined with reference to these provisions of the law before they are introduced into this Council.

For these reasons, I believe that the amendment of our Rules which I have the honour to propose will meet with the approval of Hon'ble Members."

The motion was put and agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEMS Nos. 6 & 7.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji moved the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that the necessary measures be taken, as soon as it may be convenient, to give effect to the recommendations made by Mr. Swan in his Report on the Industrial Development of Bengal.

He said :—

"My Lord, I hope and trust that your Excellency's Government will see their way to accept this Resolution. I am encouraged in this hope by the attitude of your Excellency's Government in regard to the question of the development of our industries, an attitude which is in entire conformity with the policy of the Government of India. My Lord, the appointment of Mr. Swan as a special officer to enquire into and report upon our industries would be a meaningless proceeding unless it implied that it was the firm resolve of your Excellency's Government to pursue a definite and decisive policy for the promotion of our industries. As this is the first opportunity we have of discussing Mr. Swan's Report, I will say this—that his appointment gave great public satisfaction. His report, remarkable for its brevity and directness of purpose, has been read with interest, and I may add, with profit by an admiring public, and we now appeal to your Excellency's Government to give effect to its leading recommendations with as little delay as practicable. I am entitled, my Lord, to make this appeal, because Mr. Swan's report follows closely the lines of the policy of your Excellency's Government in this matter.

The policy of your Excellency's Government was laid down with clearness and emphasis by the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell on the occasion of the Budget debate in April last. He said in substance, I need not quote the exact words, that whatever their personal convictions might be, whether they were free traders or heretics (I am inclined to think that the Hon'ble Member belongs to the class of heretics), as a Government they were bound to follow the policy laid down by the Government of India and the despatches of the Secretary of State. To them they looked for inspiration and guidance, like the cowboy who every evening turned to the prayer which he had framed and exclaimed 'Them's my sentiments.' The Hon'ble Member added that within the limitations laid down by the Government of India, they were prepared to do all that was humanly possible for the encouragement of our industries. No assurance could be more sympathetic, or more hopeful or more encouraging. Now what are the limitations imposed by the Government of India? We turn to them for guidance. The policy of the Government of India was laid down by the Hon'ble Sir William Clark, the Member for Commerce and Industries, in the course of a debate in the Imperial Legislative Council on this question which took place on the 24th February last. These are his words :—

> New industries cannot, under the stimulus of a few months' accidental shelter from competition, spring fully developed into existence. Such forced growths would be liable to wither like hot-house flowers at the first cold blast of adversity. But there is a practical field for effort where Indian manufacturers are already producing goods of a similar type to those now imported from countries with which we are at war. These industries have proved themselves hardy enough to weather the stress of competition, and for them the opportunity is obvious. They have the chance now of pushing their goods ; of establishing connections which it is to be hoped they will be able to preserve after the war ; and of increasing their production : thus becoming able to reduce their prices and so be much more formidable competitors, should they again have to compete with cheap German and Austrian goods. Expansion of this kind does not necessarily require large expenditure of capital. Such a programme may sound dull and unambitious as compared with the larger visions, which the Hon'ble Mover has adumbrated, of new industries springing into life throughout India, but all the same it is a very sure and useful line of development. It must be remembered that there is a very considerable number of articles now imported from Germany and Austria, which are also produced in this country, such as certain classes of woollens and cottons ; certain types of glassware, including such special Indian articles as bangles and personal ornaments, and fancy goods generally ; various kinds of earthenware and celluloid manufactures, pencils, matches, articles of aluminium and so on. To the producers of all these the present situation affords a very real opportunity.

Now here we have a clear enunciation of the policy of the Government of India which is to be the guiding principle of the Government of Bengal and of all other Local Governments. The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Commerce Department deprecated the starting of new industries, which he thought would be crushed out of existence by a withering competition after the war ; but he added that, in regard to certain old industries, the time was opportune for further development : and here we are entitled according to the declared policy of the Government itself to seek from it every encouragement, both moral support and active co-operation ; and, my Lord, it is in connection with those industries that Mr. Swan makes his recommendations. The situation, therefore, is this—the policy of the Government of India is the policy of the Government of Bengal, and Mr. Swan's recommendations impart a definite and concrete shape to that policy by indicating the line of work which should be followed.

Mr. Swan starts with the proposition that 'the encouragement of Government might take a more active form than it has hitherto done.' That is the keynote of his report My Lord, we who belong to the educated community are all protectionists ; we believe that the aid and encouragement of Government is necessary to foster and stimulate our infant industries. We have high authority on our side. Mr. Austen Chamberlain, the present Secretary of State for India, is a protectionist ; and in his preface to Sir Roper Lethbridge's book he has emphatically declared his protectionist principles as regards Indian industries. Starting with the proposition that there should be more active encouragement of our industries on the part of Government, Mr. Swan recommends that the Government of Bengal should follow the example of the Government of Madras and begin with experiments in connection with some of our industries, such as, for instance, glass-making and the manufacture of matches. Mr. Swan is of opinion that facilities should be given in respect of some of the industries. For instance, he recommends that the Forest Department should make special arrangements for the supply of suitable wood on favourable terms to such industries as matches, pen and pencil making. I had a talk with the proprietor of one of the match factories, and he told me (and I think he repeated his statement to Mr. Swan) that he had enormous difficulties in securing suitable wood from the Kurseong forests. I hope these difficulties are now over and the necessary facilities have been given to match manufacturers for the supply of wood. In this connection it may not be out of place to refer to the question of railway freight. Mr. Swan says in his report :—

> Another difficulty is the cost of freight. It may not be possible to obtain a full waggon-load of suitable timber in one neighbourhood, but the railways charge freight not for the actual weight carried, but for the full capacity of the waggon. In one case the actual load was 231 maunds and the charge was for 551 maunds. I should like to recommend that, in such cases, State railways at least should only charge for the actual weight carried.

My Lord, when foreign Governments subsidize their industries and feed them with their bounties in order that they may compete in the Indian market, is it too much to ask the Government to reduce the railway freights for the transport of swadeshi articles or of the raw material needed for them, upon railways owned by the State? My Lord, cheap German and Austrian manufactures have indeed disappeared; but the Indian market is being flooded with Japanese goods; and behind the industrial enterprise of Japan are the vast resources of the Japanese Government. What is our Government doing? Why should we not have our own articles, manufactured by our own people, so that the wealth of the country may remain in the country? The Government must really make a departure from its past policy and actively participate in the encouragement of our industries.

Mr. Swan recommends that banking facilities should be afforded to our industries. He does not indeed say so in so many words; but no one reading the report can resist the impression that that is a recommendation which, if unfettered by official reserve, he would strongly urge. He mentions industry after industry which, he says, suffers through lack of capital, and he adds at the end of each paragraph the doleful remark : 'I was unable to assist.' This, he says, in connection with tanning, the manufacture of glass and matches and combs. With regard to the last, I understand that your Excellency was pleased to visit the Comb Factory at Jessore and was highly pleased with what you saw. Your Excellency was pleased to observe : 'I feel sure Government would wish to help any local industry if it could do so without departing from principles which it believes ought to underlie its policy.' Now with regard to this lack of capital, is it not possible for the Presidency Banks, which receive large sums of money from the Government, to help our industries? All such aid must undoubtedly proceed upon business principles. But there is a feeling that the banks are timid in advancing money to Indian concerns. An expression of the sympathy of the Government and its desire that such advances should be made where reasonable guarantees are forthcoming would ease the situation and help our struggling industries.

My Lord, one of the most important recommendations made by Mr. Swan is the creation of Co-operative Credit Societies among cottage workers—such as cotton-weavers, silk-weavers and brass-workers. The officer in charge would assist in the purchase of raw materials and find markets for the finished material. Mr. Swan tells us that he has discussed this question with the Registrar of Co-operative Credit Societies, who has made a start in one or two centres and has submitted proposals to Government for extending his operations. I may add that your Excellency's Government has already accepted a Resolution in favour of the establishment of Co-operative Credit Societies for cottage industries, at the meeting of the Council held on the 3rd March in connection with the Hon'ble Raja of Kakina's Resolution.

My Lord, we are all solicitous of the industrial development of our country. Here the people and the Government may whole-heartedly co-operate. India is an agricultural country; and so it has always been. But in the past it was also a manufacturing country. Our agricultural produce helped our manufactures; our manufactures strengthened the resources of our agriculturists. They acted and reacted upon one another and by their mutual interaction added to the volume of national prosperity. It was not our agricultural produce, not our rice or our 'dal' or our wheat that brought the East India Company to our shores; but it was the muslins of Dacca, our silks, our brocades, our calicoes that appealed to the commercial enterprise of European nations. If we had not been so utterly dependent upon the seasons, if the olden days of agriculture supplemented by manufactures had not wholly disappeared, if our community were partly agricultural and partly manufacturing, if agriculture and manufacture flourished side by side, half the anxieties of your Excellency's Government in dealing with the famine in the Eastern districts would have been allayed.

My Lord, there is a peculiar fitness in this discussion taking place at Dacca. There was a time when Dacca was the emporium of trade in Bengal, when its muslins were the admiration of the fashionable world in Europe. But its glories are now gone. It would be an honour to this city and to its past traditions, if, as the result of this debate, a new policy were to be inaugurated—rich in the promises of an enduring stimulus to our industrial development. It is in this hope and confidence that I have ventured to move this Resolution."

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said:—

"MY LORD, I understand that several Hon'ble Members desire to address the House, but I think it would be convenient if I intervene at this stage in order to make it known to all concerned that Government are prepared to accept this resolution. We are asked to take measures 'as soon as it may be convenient' to carry out Mr. Swan's recommendations. Probably we should have said 'as soon as it may be practicable' instead of 'as soon as it may be convenient,' but we are not going to quarrel over this phrase, and we are quite prepared to accept the resolution as it stands. We both mean very much the same thing, though we express it differently. As Hon'ble Members know, 'ekam sad vipra bahudha vadanti.'

For the last 20 or 30 days we have had a plethora of pamphlets and monographs and a plethora of discussions. To-day we are once more discussing the old question. I freely confess that in all these discussions on the industrial development of Bengal my feelings are somewhat damped by two waves of thought and I am sure that these same waves have a similar effect upon the feelings of the members opposite.

The first wave of thought is this—Do we really want to see beautiful Bengal turned into an ugly industrial country, with smoking chimneys everywhere? We are proud to address Bengal in the words of the poet—'Bande Mātaram sujalām suphalām, malayaja-sitalām sasya-syāmalām Mātaram.' Do we really want to see the hands of the beautiful mother stained with toil? Do we want to see her fresh green raiments soiled with smoke and soot? Well, this is a very natural feeling, natural both to those who were born in Bengal and to those who have made Bengal their adopted country. However, we cannot let sentimental feelings stand in our way. We must mingle things useful with things beautiful. The fact is that it is too late to turn back. We are like a man who has entered for a race. Before him, behind him and on both sides there are other competitors pressing towards the goal. To stop or to turn back is impossible. The man who does so will fall and be trampled on.

The other wave of thought which damps us when we are discussing these things is a feeling that we are passing through a large graveyard in the dusk. We see not only the graves of hundreds of past failures. Still more "eerie," we see open graves waiting for the bodies of dying enterprises. When a small boy goes through a grave-yard in the dusk, he whistles to keep up his courage. We feel that we must also whistle. All of us have done so. No doubt, the Hon'ble Mover when he writes articles on this subject in the Bengalee has often whistled to keep up his courage. I confess that when I signed the chapter in the report of the District Administration Committee which deals with the industrial development of Bengal, I had to whistle loudly, and to tell you the truth I feel very much inclined to whistle at this moment and to ask you all to whistle with me in chorus. But the tune which I would ask you to whistle would be this. 'If at first you don't succeed, try try try again.' We must freely admit that our failures have been many; but when we look at other countries, we find that their initial failures were still more numerous. For example, take Australia. At one time it was a purely agricultural country, but it has been turned into a great manufacturing country. The Australians have worked through countless failures to success, and there is no reason why we should not do the same.

I now turn to Mr. Swan's Report and to the recommendations which he has made, and which, as I have said, this Government are prepared to carry out as soon as may be convenient. The first of his main recommendations relates to non-agricultural co-operative societies. This Council accepted a resolution moved by the Hon'ble Raja of Kakina in favour of establishing these societies upon a sound financial basis. The Hon'ble Mover is naturally anxious to know what we are doing in pursuance of this resolution. We have sent a copy to Mr. J. N. Mitra, Registrar of Co-operative Societies, and he has taken note of the unanimous opinion of this house. From his last Annual Report I find that several co-operative credit societies of this kind have already been established among weavers, and he proposes to extend his beneficent operations among other cottage workers. We had a most interesting discussion on this subject at the last Co-operative Credit Conference. I can assure my Hon'ble friend that throughout the country the members of the co-operative movement have taken up this problem with enthusiasm. They hope before many years are past to see two or three hundred co-operative societies of weavers and other workers scattered throughout the country. One of the chief advantages of these societies will be that they will facilitate the working of the Government patronage of Indian industries.

This brings us to the second of Mr. Swan's suggestions. He has pointed out that we might do something more in the way of Government patronage. I do not know whether the House realizes how strong and how clear are the orders of the Government of India upon this subject. The latest orders, those of July 1913, lay down as follows :—

Rule 1.—All articles which are produced in India in the form of raw material, or are manufactured in India from material produced in India, should, by preference, be purchased locally, provided that the quality is sufficiently good for the purpose, and the price not unfavourable.

Rule 2.—All articles manufactured in India from imported materials should, by preference, be purchased in India, subject, however, to the following conditions :—

(a) That a substantial part of the process of manufacture of the articles purchased has been performed in India.

(b) That the price is as low as that at which articles of similar quality can be obtained through the India Office.

(c) That the materials employed are subjected to such inspection and tests as may be prescibed by the Government of India.

The House will therefore, see that the guiding principles of the Government of India are that when articles are manufactured in India from Indian materials, there should be a strong preference in favour of purchasing them here and not elsewhere. In the case of such articles, it is not necessary that the Indian price should be quite as low as the price in London; all that is required is that the price should "not be unfavourable". It is only when the articles are manufactured here but the materials are imported that it is laid down that the price must be as low as the London price. In other words, the more purely Indian the article is the stronger is the injunction to buy it in India, even at a slight loss. These rules have been circulated to every Department. We propose to invite the attention of all Departments to these rules and to ask them to tell us what difficulties, if any, have been felt in carrying out these rules. We realize that the Departments of Government are not always in a position to know where they can find Indian goods and at what price. In other words, we feel that we are not as fully in touch with the Indian market as we should like to be, and we want practical suggestions for getting into closer touch. To show that this is not an imaginary difficulty I shall lay two concrete instances before the House. The House is aware that quinine is sold by Government in glass tubes at all the mufassal post offices. These glass tubes are required annually by the Inspector-General of Prisons to the extent of 10 lakhs of tubes. Before the war he got them from an Austrian firm through the India Office at Rs. 9-1 a thousand. When the war broke out, Col. Buchanan saw that he could no longer get his supply from Austria. He was very anxious to place his order upon the Indian market. He studied a copy of Thacker's Directory and wrote to all the firms, European and Indian, manufacturing glass in India. The lowest offer that he could get was Rs. 62-8 a thousand against Rs. 9-1 which he had previously been paying. He felt that he would not be justified in paying this very large difference of price and he was therefore compelled to obtain his supply from England at Rs. 22-6 per thousand. The House will agree that Col. Buchanan made a genuine effort to carry out the orders of the Government of India in regard to the patronage of Indian industries. I was much impressed by the discouraging result of that effort. Therefore, when I was last in Calcutta, I made inquiries through a friend of mine, an honourable member of this Council, as to whether there was any place, not mentioned in the Directory, where these glass tubes could be made. As a result, my friend and I paid a visit to Harrison Road and there we found a number of cottage-workers making glass tumblers. They had an earthen chula, a pair of tongs and a blow-pipe. They were working in batches of four and they were making tumblers at the rate of 100 per man per day. Each batch of four was turning out 400 tumblers per day, or in other words, rather more than a lakh in the year. I inquired from these men whether they would make an offer for the contract of quinine tubes and they said that they would be glad to consider it. I am going to Calcutta to-morrow and one of the first things that I shall do will be to show one of our quinine tubes to these men in Harrison Road and to ascertain whether it will be possible to place the order with them. I have spoken to the Inspector-General of Jails, and he is still most anxious to place his order with any Indian firm, large or small, which can supply tubes at a reasonable price. Let us hope that our negotiations will bear fruit.

The other concrete instance which I bring to the notice of the House is embodied in a story which His Excellency has permitted me to recount. [The Hon'ble Member here displayed a coloured silk handkerchief]. This beautiful silk handkerchief belongs to His Excellency Lord Carmichael. His Excellency and his father before him and many other Scotch gentlemen have always been fond of this type of handkerchief. They have been accustomed to buy them from a firm in Edinburgh. When His Excellency was about to leave for India, he told the firm that he would no longer have to buy his handkerchiefs from them as he would easily procure them in India. When His Excellency came to Madras he sent a specimen of the handkerchief to the principal dealers in Madras, but they said that these handkerchiefs were probably made in Bengal. When His Excellency came to Bengal he made similar inquiries of the dealers in and around Calcutta, including silk manufacturers. They all examined the specimen and said that they did not know where it came from but thought it was probably from Bombay. His Excellency then inquired in Bombay but the people there said that the handkerchiefs were probably made in Burma. His Excellency made inquiries in Burma and he was told that they were probably made in Japan. His Excellency then applied to the Department of Commerce and Industry and sent them a specimen and desired to know where it was made. After several months the reply came that the handkerchief was probably not a real Indian handkerchief but was made in the south of France. Some people would have given up the quest in dispair but this is not the habit of Lord Carmichael. Having failed in his inquiries in India, he wrote back to the firm in Edinburgh, ordered half a dozen of the handkerchiefs and asked them as a favour to tell him where they were actually made. The handkerchiefs came in due course, and along with them a letter saying that they were made in a place called Murshidabad in the Presidency of Bengal. If His Excellency had not been persistent in this inquiry, none of us would have known that these handkerchiefs were made in Murshidabad. Now, if anybody desires to be patriotic and at the same time fashionable, I advise him to get a large supply of these "Charmichael" handkerchiefs from the cottage-workers in the district of Murshidabad. This story is a good example of the difficulty which we all feel in getting into close touch with the producers of Indian goods.

As Hon'ble Members know, the Department of Commerce and Industry recently held an interesting exhibition in Calcutta and published pamphlets with price-lists. Of course there have been many other exhibitions of this nature, but this was the most business-like. We want to see really business-like exhibitions in every district of Bengal and we want the promoters to circulate business-like price-lists and to keep them up-to-date. This is the best way of preventing the orders of the Government of India from becoming a dead letter. In this matter our co-operative credit societies will be most useful. Let them, with the help of the Co-operative Department, draw up price-lists and send them out to large firms, including Government officers, so that all may have information. We have also recommended to the Government of India that there should be a trade correspondent in every province whose special duty will be to bring the consumers and the producers into touch with one another. Lastly, I may say that the Hon'ble Mover of this resolution and other publishers of newspapers can be most useful to us in this matter by advertising, at preferential rates, the sale of bonâ fide Indian goods.

Another important recommendation of Mr. Swan is that we should start demonstration factories in the same way as has been done in Madras. We all recognize that in this, as in many other matters we have much to learn from Madras. Long before the war Madras has been active in the promotion of Indian industries. Since the war broke out they have increased their energies, giving special attention to ground-nut-pressing, soap-making, glass-making and the manufacture of paper-pulp, matches and pencils. Well, we are quite ready, we are more than anxious, to start similar demonstration factories in Bengal. If any one has read the report of the District Administration Committee, he will see that one of our strongest recommendations is in favour of starting demonstration factories. In this matter, however, everyone must recognize that the first essential is that we should have a Director of Industries. It is because Madras has got a Director of Industries that it has been able to start these successful demonstration factories. We have written to the Government of India asking for a Director of Industries and we are anxiously awaiting sanction. We do not care who is appointed so long as he is a trained business-man, and a man who will deal sympathetically with the people of this country. He may be a Briton, a Colonial or an Indian ; the only thing we stipulate is that he shall not be a German. The house may want to know exactly what we shall do when we get this man. That will depend on the policy laid down by the Government of India. If I were asked in my personal capacity what I should like to see the Director doing, I would answer somewhat as follows, still in my personal capacity—"I want to have a Director with large funds and a free hand. I want to lay before him all the schemes which have been tried in other provinces, all the schemes which have been tried in Bengal, and all the suggestions which have been made for Bengal. I want the Director to travel round the country and to get into touch with the cottage-workers. I want him to start demonstrations wherever there is good prospect of success. After his demonstration has succeeded I would authorise him, where necessary, to give loans to reliable people who propose to follow his example. And if, while all this is going on, we can be protected from alien competition by a high wall of tariffs, so much the better! The Hon'ble Mover has suggested that I am a fiscal heretic. If these opinions are heresy, I plead guilty. But after all, they are only my personal opinions and I fully recognise that we may not be allowed to do nearly so much with our Director. But at least we have good hope that we shall be allowed to make real demonstrations, demonstrations which will be of real help to the workers of this province. At the same time I must sound two notes of warning. The first is that we should not be too ambitious. We should not confine our attention to large factories, but should look with a very kindly eye to the small manufacturers, for example, to the weavers of Carmichael handkerchiefs and the tumbler-makers in Harrison Road. The second note of warning is this. Do not persist in throwing good money after bad. So far the tendency has been to confine attention to the failures, and to try to put them on their legs again. I advised you just now to "try again". That is still my advice. But we must do everything like sane men: we must recognise the logic of hard facts. When it has been clearly demonstrated that, owing to natural causes, climatic influences or racial considerations, a particular industry has failed and must always fail in Bengal, then it is worse then useless to go on with experiments in this particular line. If we find that a particular article can be manufactured cheaper and better in another part of India, it is useless to persist in manufacturing it in Bengal. However high our imaginary wall of protection may be against outside aliens, I do not suppose anyone in Bengal proposes to set up a wall of protection against Behar or Bombay or Madras. With these two notes of warning, I turn briefly to the main recommendations which have been put before us by Mr. Swan and by the Hon'ble Mr. Banerji.

First, as regards glass: This is an attractive subject for demonstration and perhaps we may ultimately see success. But we must remember that as far as we know at present in no part of Bengal can we get the best kind of sand for making glass. The sand has to be imported from other parts of India. That being so, it may well be that after our Director has made his experiments he will advise us that glass is not the best line for Bengal. If so, we should reluctantly give up glass and try something which is better. I may mention that my friends in Harrison Road were not using sand as their raw material. They were using broken glass collected, I suppose, from the rubbish heaps. This would, of course, limit the production of these small workers, but I am not yet convinced that they will be unable to supply the demands of Colonel Buchanan, even if they have to use broken glass as their raw material.

Then there is the question of hides and tanning. The hide question, as we all know, is mixed up with the Germans. We have now got a great opportunity for taking the hide trade out of the hands of the Germans and putting it in the hands of Indians. British traders, as I understand, avoid hides. They think that the profit does not counterbalance the smell. Hindus have religious objections to the trade. It is therefore a matter between the Germans and the Muhammadans. I am one of those who think that the right way to make war is to knock your enemy down and then put your heel on his face and turn it round and round. The last process is mainly commercial. We should place our commercial heel on the face of the prostrate Germans and we should not hesitate to turn it round and round. We should begin to do this while the Germans are still in Ahmednagar. The Muhammadan hide merchants should now bestir themselves and get a firm hold of the trade. How this is to be done is somewhat apart from our present discussion, but in the course of recent inquiries which had this end in view I came to learn certain facts about hides and tanning. In Madras they have a series of tanneries all the way from Berhampur to Tuticorin. The hides which are exported from Madras are the "half tanned" hides prepared in these tanneries. The demand in England is for half-tanned hides, and not for the salted or arsenicated hides which are in the Calcutta market. I made inquiries about the small tanneries in Madras and I found that they have been doing well since the outbreak of war. The capital required for such a tannery is only about Rs. 5,000. Why cannot we have such tanneries in Bengal? I am told that there are two reasons: first, that the best bark is available in Madras and not in Bengal; and secondly, that the Bengal worker gives less return for his wages than the Madras worker. These are matters which we must bring to the notice of our prospective Director of Industries. It may be that we shall get over the difficulties. On the other hand, we may have to abandon tanning and confine ourselves to raw hides.

The question of matches and pencils has been discussed by many gentlemen. I do not think that any one has so far referred to two interesting publications of the Forest Department. One of these is the "Commercial Guide to the Forest Economic Products of India", and the other is a "Monograph on the Prospects of the Match Industry in the Indian Empire with particulars of proposed Match Factory Sites and Woods suitable for Match Manufacture." I do not know whether the Hon'ble Mover has seen these books. I commend them to his study and the study of all interested in this question.

THE HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI, interrupting, said:—"Are these Government Publications?"

THE HON'BLE MR. BEATSON BELL:—

"Yes, they are for sale to the public. The price of the first book is Re. 1-12 and that of the second book is Re. 1. If any one studies these books, he begins to wonder whether after all we are wise in selecting matches or pencils as one of the most suitable objects for our experiments. We see from these books that if we want to have a really successful match or pencil factory, we must have three necessary factors. First, the right kind of wood should be available in a compact and homogeneous forest; secondly, the factory should be near the forest; and thirdly, the factory should be connected by rail or steamer with centres or commercial activity. Unless we have all these conditions co-existing, we are in great danger in throwing away our money. I do not want to throw cold water on this proposal, but it is quite possible that our Director may advise us that until we have a compact and homogenous forest in a suitable place, we should not undertake this industry. At present there is a good deal of wood more or less suitable, but it is scattered through forests of other wood and the collection of it is a very expensive process. The Hon'ble Mover has referred to the experience of Mr. Sailendra Nath Mitra. I have looked up his papers and I find that we did all that we could for him. He was dealing, he had to deal, with contractors and not direct with the Forest Department. What he wanted was that the Forest Department should guarantee the supply of a minimum quantity per annum of a particular kind of wood. This the contractors were not in a position to do, and the Forest Department was not in a position to force the contractors to give such a guarantee. But the Forest Department promised to help Mr. Mitra in his dealings with the contractors, and they still hold out that promise. It is incorrect to suppose that the Forest Department is obstructive. I represent that Department in this Council and I can assure the Hon'ble Member that if any reasonable proposal is put before us we shall meet it in a reasonable spirit.

I think I have dealt with the main industries which have been mentioned in the course of the debate. The Hon'ble Mover has not mentioned saltpetre. At present there is a great demand for saltpetre, as the world is now shut off from the German supply of potash. This is a glorious opportunity, but what are we doing? There are two saltpetre factories in Calcutta, but one of them is about to be closed because the owners are quarrelling among themselves. If we want to make real headway in any industry, the first essential is that we should trust one another. The fact that many of our promising enterprises have failed in the past has simply been due to want of business character. I am not here to preach. My Resolutions—Babu S. N. Ray.

Hon'ble friends know the state of affairs only too well themselves. But let us not despair. We accept this resolution and we accept it heartily, for Government are as anxious as the Hon'ble Members opposite to give a helping hand to the industries of Bengal."

THE HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY SAID :—

"My Lord, we are very grateful to your Lordship's Government for accepting the resolution of my Hon'ble friend Babu Surendra Nath Banerji which I have very great pleasure in supporting. My Lord, we Bengalis must move on with the times if we want to live as a nation and have our necessaries supplied by the manufactured products of our own country and not by those of other countries. In these days when we ask for bread and receive a stone in return we must give up all sentimentalism and even our সুজলাং সুফলাং মলয়জ শীতলাং শস্য শ্যামলাং মাতরং will have to be converted into a place darkened with soot and smoke because the question of the hour is how the Bengalis will survive as a nation.

I must say at the outset that the report of Mr. Swan on the industrial development of Bengal not only contains many useful suggestions but it contains some outspoken criticisms on the policy of Government regarding the industries of the land. It appears that Government have from time to time during the last quarter of a century made some efforts to revive indigenous industries. This will appear from the reports which have appeared under the auspices of Government. Mr. Collin was entrusted with the preparation of the industrial Survey and his report on the existing arts and industries in Bengal was made at the end of 1890. Mr. Cumming was entrusted in 1907-08 with the same duties when Swadeshi movement was at its height and now last, though not least, we have the report of Mr. Swan.

My Lord, the history of the industries of India or of Bengal has been for more than a century and a half a sad one. Whether it was the East India Company professedly acting as a body of trades people or whether it was the Government of India under a Viceroy the policy pursued has been the same—how best to foster British manufacture even though it be at the expense of Indian manufactures.

Mr. John Ranking, one of the merchants of Calcutta, examined before a Committee of the House of Commons in 1813 testified to the prohibitive duties imposed upon piece goods, calicoes, muslins and coloured goods imported into England and said that the real object of these prohibitive duties was to encourage British manufacture.

Speaking of this very place where Your Lordship is holding your Council to-day, Sir Charles Trevelyan in his evidence before the said Committee said "Dacca, which was the Manchester of India, has fallen off from a very flourishing town to a very poor and small one ; the distress there has been very great indeed."

The testimony of Mr. H. H. Wilson is unequivocal. Speaking of the industries of India he said. "It is also a melancholy instance of the wrong done to India by the country on which he has become dependent. It was stated in evidence (1813) that the cotton and silk goods of India up to the period could be sold for a profit in the British market at a price from 50 to 60 per cent. lower than those fabricated in England. It consequently became necessary to protect the latter by duties of 70 and 80 per cent. on their value, or by positive prohibition. Had this not been the case, had not such prohibitory duties and decrees existed, the mills of Paisley and Manchester would have been stopped in their outset, and could scarcely have been again set in motion even by the power of steam. They are created by the sacrifice of the Indian manufacture."

There are the testimonies of Englishmen about the treatment of Indian manufactures when the Government was in the hands of the Company. Their treatment after the country had passed under the direct Government of the Crown had been no less fortunate. On pressure being put by Lancashire mill owners upon the then Secretary of State Lord Salisbury, Lord Lytton exempted from duty all goods made from yarns not finer than 30 S and all yarns up to 26 S and 42 S mule, whereas comparatively heavy duties were imposed upon the cotton fabrics of the Bombay Mills. The members of the Indian Civil Service, who then formed the members of the Viceroy's Executive Council, protested against the sacrifice of Indian Finance but to no purpose. But the indirect effect of all this exemption, of reduction of import duties and imposition of duties upon cotton-made cloths had certainly been to discourage Indian manufature. This is the simple story of how the people of India whose unrivalled manufacturing skill had been testified to by so high an authority as Sir Thomas Munroe in his evidence before the Committee of the House of Commons being deprived of their occupations had turned chiefly to agriculture.

But cotton industry and silk industry were not the only industries of Bengal or of India. For various causes, the sugar, hide and other important industries gradually declined till India has become the exporter of raw materials for other countries to reap a rich havest. Even ships used to be built in India and we read that in 1795-96 six ships as well as large vessels were built in Calcutta.

I have said that for the last quarter of a century Government have been taking some interest in the industries of the country. but that interest has so far been of an academic character. Far from Government helping any industries with subsidy as is done in some of the continental countries. Government have not thought it fit to extend their patronage to articles of local manufacture by making purchases. We find from Mr. Swan's report, "a partner in a large Engineering firm complained to me that they do not get a chance of tendering before indents are sent to the Director-General of Stores. When they got an order, it is for a small quantity required to meet an unforeseen demand, or because the amount indented for has proved insufficient. In another case I found that certain articles of local manufacture had been brought to the notice of the Head of a Department by Mr. Cumming in 1908. When the factory asked for an order they received the reply, "should occasion arise for the purchase of these articles locally, your letter will then be considered." Mr. Swan suggests that the fullest opportunity of tendering should be given to local firms before indents are sent to the India Office. But I think this is not the first time that this suggestion has been made. If my memory serves me right, it is nearly a quarter of a century ago, that Sir Griffiths Evans from his place in the Imperial Council thoroughly exposed these tenders and purchases of articles by the India Office but his criticisms and suggestions fell upon deaf ears.

Mr. Swan considers (1) insufficient capital, and (2) inefficient management to be the causes of failure of industrial enterprises of this country, but I would put it to another cause also. It is the extreme apathy and want of patronage by Government.

My Lord, we all must admit that a great impetus was given to the revival of industries by the Swadeshi movement which was synchronous with the partition agitation. Not only were some of the dying industries revived but new industries were started. According to Mr. Swan, companies for the manufacture of pencils. matches and soap. for cotton-weaving, hosiery and tanning were floated and the middle classes showed considerable enthusiasm and gave practical demonstration of their interest by subscribing largely to these concerns. But unfortunately young men who had absolutely no experience of manufactures and industries or whose practical knowledge consisted in serving as an apprentice in a factory for five or six months in Japan or America thought that they could undertake or be put in charge of any industrial enterprise. The result has been that in many cases. machines have been brought out, money has been spent in building factories, but men have been found to be wanting to carry on the work owing to insufficient knowledge, inefficient training and want of business capacity. But there is another cause why the Swadeshi industries which were the outcome of of the Swadeshi movement of 1905 prospered so little. Government were in a temper. All movements which savoured of Swadeshi were looked upon with suspicion and distrust by Government and men who had anything at stake in the country could not openly take an active part in any of these industrial movements. That there were however in some instances sufficient justifiction for the unsympathetic attitude of Government admits of no question. But if industrial enterprises—the outcome of the Swadeshi movement of 1905, had forfeited justly or unjustly the claims to Government patronage, other enterprises of pre-partition days, such as the Bengal Chemical and Pharmaceutical works met with no better treatment at the hands of the Government. While the European druggists of Calcutta had orders from Government to supply tinctures and medicines, the Bengal Chemical and Pharmaceutcal works had no direct orders from Government except as regards some chemicals. It is a fact well-known to many, that Government issue instructions to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal, now known as Surgeon-General, to Government and Municipal dispensaries and hospitals for the purchase of medicines, etc., from particular firms. Special arrangements are made for payment to these firms. Has it occurred to any official to indent medicines from this enterprising establishment? Similar has been the fate of the Calcutta Pottery Works. Government in all countries specially in India are large consumers of many manufactured articles and it is but natural that the people who undertake industrial enterprises should look upon Government to patronise them, if not by subsidising, at least by making purchases.

The only patronage extended by Government so far has been to give a contract since 1908 for the supply of pens to Messrs. Goopta & Co. for the Controller of Stationery. I think it was during the Viceroyalty of Lord Ripon that Mr. P. M. Bagchi had orders to supply ink to all Government offices. The only active form in which the Bengal Government have shown their sympathy towards the industries of the land is by the establishment of a weaving school at Serampore within the last few years. We are not aware if Government have given any other practical demonstration of their sympathy to improve or to foster the local industries. The Governments of Madras and the United Provinces have spent large sums in improving the industries of their respective Provinces.

My Lord, the recommendations and suggestions made by Mr. Swan to foster the industries of the land are not of a far-reaching character. They are very simple, and such as would or ought to commend themselves to every Government. They are as follows:—

(1) Co-operative Credit Societies should be established among cottage-workers, such as cotton weavers, silk weavers and brass workers, so that they may be free from the hands of the Mahajan. The officer in charge of these societies should assist in the purchase of raw materials and in finding markets for the finished articles.

(2) Demonstrations in the use of improved processes and appliances should be given at suitable centres. Demonstrations might also be given in such matters as the use of the fly-shuttle for Tusser and silk-weaving and the use of an improved dye-stamping machine for brass work.

(3) (a) The Forest Department should make special arrangements for the supply of suitable wood on favourable terms to such industries as matches, pen and pencil-making.

(3) (b) That State Railways should in certain cases only charge for the actual weight of timber carried and not for the full capacity of the wagon.

(4) That Government patronage might be extended more freely than at present to articles of local manufactures.

Some of the above suggestions of Mr. Swan have the support of recognized authorities on Economics. Professor Bastabelle in his book on Public Finance lays down almost similar expedients for encouraging industry.

Resolutions—Babu S. N. Ray and Dr. Nilratan Sarkar.

There is one other suggestion which has not been made by Mr. Swan but it is an important factor in the encouragement of industry. It is the encouragement by means of bounties on production, or premiums for the establishment of new industries. It is, however, beyond the scope of the present Resolution to speak with reference to this matter and I refrain from doing so.

My Lord, it is a notorious fact that for a number of years continental goods had been displacing British goods in this country. Winter cloths of all sorts. matches, soap, glass, pencil, dye, hide which were being sold in the Indian market were practically all imported from Germany and Austria. The British people are essentially tradespeople. One can very well understand the steps taken by them to foster their own industry at the expenses of Indian industry. But what shall we say when we see that the attitude of Government towards the industries of the country has the effect or at least had the effect of indirectly fostering the growth of industries of your Teutonic relations. The time has come when the Government should assume a different attitude towards the development of the industries of the country to that which they have done in times past—the hour has come when the Government should lay down and pursue a settled policy with regard to the industrial development of this country. It needs no word of mine to impress upon Your Lordship's Government the present sad industrial state of the country. The cloths that we wear every day and the sugar which we use, the iron vessels with which we cook our food, the shoes, the soap and other articles of everyday use, even the implements of husbandry are generally of European manufacture. Under the influence of Swadeshi Movement some of the industries have been partially revived and some fresh ones have been started but the progress made has not been so far very encouraging. It is no doubt upon the honesty, the business capacity, the perseverance of our own countrymen that the country must look up to for the revival of its dying and dead industries or for the starting of new ones. But, My Lord, we are handicapped in many ways. What with the duties both here and in foreign countries upon the manufactured articles of this country, what with competition with bounty-fed articles of other countries, the prospect of our industries is not and cannot be of an encouraging character. The outlook is anything but cheering. It behoves therefore for the Government not to remain anymore an idle spectator of the scene. Government themselves are partially responsible for the present state of things. If this ruinous war succeeds in bringing about the industrial development of this country, in at least displacing German, Austrian and Japan goods from the markets of India, and in giving work and food to millions of Bengal's population by reviving the indigenous industries, an incalculable good would then come out of evil and the people of Bengal will bless the days that are to come and bless your Lordship's Government for having inaugurated an era of prosperity among the teeming millions of a poor and law abiding people."

THE HON'BLE DR. NILRATAN SARKAR SAID :—

"My Lord, the present industrial situation in India is one which calls for great watchfulness as well as prompt action on the part of both the Government and the people. The disappearance of Germany from the Indian market implies a displacement of trade of enormous value, a widespread disturbance of the economic equilibrium, which, unless it is guided by far-seeing and provident statesmanship is bound to end in disaster. For Japan's industrial conquest of India by methods of peaceful penetration will not be restricted to those spheres of interest which have been vacated by Germany; this invasion already a faitaccompli, and proceeding by rapid strides, if unperceived, will gather an irresistible momentum as it goes forward, carrying everything before it,—not merely chemicals, soaps, toys, or other commodities made in Germany and imported therefrom but also cotton silk, glass, leather, matches, etc., in fact the staple commodities of Indian Industry and of India's trade with Great Britain, and the real significance of the transfer of trade lies deep below the surface. In all the factors which go to build up the economic organization of a people, whether geographical or social, in cultural traditions as well as in the standard of living. Japan combines the hereditary virtues of the East with the scientific acquisition of the West, the fecundity, the tenacity, the subtlety of an Oriental stock, with the versatility, the progressiveness, the efficiency, the spurt and dash of the most go-a head Occidential type. And the Japanese will, therefore, penetrate in an Oriental country to spheres of interest which the Germans or other European people found effectually closed against them.

And it must always be remembered that the British economic connection with India has this great advantage that Great Britain and India have in one sense been complementary economic units, one predominantly manufacturing, and the other predominantly agricultural; and even as regards manufacturing industries the dividing line between large-scale machine products and small-scale machine-cum-hand production is the line which will for some time keep Indian and British interests from wide or injurious overlapping as well as from irresistible conflict. Japan's combination of hand-power with the power of machinery, of small-scale as well as of large-scale production, of cheap labour with hereditary skill, of low consumption with an increasing efficiency, of artistic craftsmanship with mechanical manipulative and inventive gifts,—all this has been rendered possible because her manufactures have an indigenous agricultural basis, such as Great Britain lacks. The unique combination of gifts and advantages gives her an irresistible power in the Indian market which she will not be slow to employ, is in fact even now employing, with marked or rather unmarked success. And it ought to be borne in mind in this connection that none of the Continental European countries (barring Russia, which does not yet count in the tale of economic expansion) has any political ambition possibilities or spheres of influence in this country, while as much cannot be said of the power in the Far East. The question, therefore, of India keeping to herself the fields of trade which till recently were occupied by Germany is one which neither the Government nor the people can shelve, and it will require for its solution the prompt and wholehearted co-operation of both the vast resources of the Government in organising, financing, and if need be, legislating power being judiciously employed in helping and equipping the people to meet this new economic situation.

The economic revolution in India in the last century was the displacement of the hereditary Indian artisan class by European machinery. In the present century a new revolution is threatened,—the fresh displacement of India's hard-earned economic balance by a hardy and fecund race of Orientals gifted with Occidental efficiency and resourcefulness, and yet in the coming struggle most of the factors are in India's favour if only the fight is properly led. Indian labour is sufficient in quantity, cheap, teachable, and capable of becoming more and more efficient under economic pressure. The overseers and middlemen are available; as also are, in some industries, even the trained scientific experts, who require only business experience and knowledge of local materials and conditions to become competent guides.

The raw materials are also there, lying unutilised, or utilised in a small part in the country; and improvements in agriculture and mining will supply whatever finer staples or improved materials may be required for successful competition. Private capital, though insufficient, is not entirely wanting, but it is shy and cannot be attracted towards "fresh fields" and new ventures without some degree of reasonable security. No doubt in Bengal we are somewhat lacking in business ability and instinct, but it is only after many costly failures, and much trial and error that we can expect to have in our midst captains of industry, entrepreneurs able to create favourable conditions and command success. The crying evil in this field is that the people are without power of initiative and without power of joint action and organization. It, therefore, behoves the Government, as being the ultimate directors in this great co-operative business and joint concern which constitutes the life of a nation, to supply the organising power.

But what stands in our way is a theory or a ghost of a theory, concerning the legitimate scope and functions of the Government, a theory which is now obsolete, dead even in England--its Home. The theory of laissez faire, laissez aller, of leaving things to the course and drift of nature, the forces of competition and of individual effort, may be, and no doubt, are a sound rule for the ordinary conduct of administration, but in all international struggles where the problem is to equip the nation as a unit in the international struggle, this theory has hopelessly broken down and nowhere more so in recent times than in Great Britain, where the whole trend of recent legislative, financial, and administrative activity has been in the opposite direction. But Indian conservatism is a hardy perennial; even in the hey-day of Lloyd Georgian finance with its gospel of State Aid and State Insurance, the Secretary of State ordered a retreat in India even from those spheres of State-aided Industry into which a gradual, continuous and successful advance had been made under a paternal Government keenly conscious of its obligations of guardianship to the millions of artisans. The experiments of the Directors of Industries in Madras had given aluminium and chrome leather to the depressed classes of South Indian artisans and they promised to be the mothers of a hundred more fruitful industries, but these were strangled in the womb. No doubt we can point to same beneficent State institutes in aid of industry; Agricultural Research Institutes and Technological Institutes doing research work—even an Advisory Board of Commerce and Industries with a minister presiding over it—but only the big capitalists and capitalistic organizations can possibly avail themselves of their valuable advice and profit by the fruit of their valuable researches; and the people who are most in need, remain as helpless and hopeless as before; for them the one thing needful is not to be advised but to be trained to practical work, to be shown the way by being led by the hand, and to be supported with capital and credit, the sinews of their economic war; and it is certain they will in the threatened economic vicissitudes and revolution drift helplessly and aimlessly as before—a disorganized rabble, until and unless the Government give them the lead, the practical driving power, which is their one supreme need of the time.

No distribution of blue books and pamphlets, no model farming, breeding, or seed distributing, no activities of bureaus or research institutes, no technical education in the country or provision for such education abroad, no labours of Labour-Committees, Mining Committees or Conferences will save the situation created by the present crisis. In fact what is now needed is a more active industrial policy of Government—the Government should take the initiative in organizing such industries as may have a hopeful outlook in the present condition of the market and with the available resources at the disposal of the country. The methods of Government help and organization will vary according to the varying needs of the industries so selected.

Some industries, as sugar and indigo, may require a great deal of preliminary experimenting, both as regards the cultivation of crops and the subsequent manipulation of the raw material; and these important industries, for which India has special capabilities, can be rehabilitated only if Government were to carry the initial experimental stages to completion so as to place them on a market basis and then make over the concerns to private parties or companies on fair and reasonable terms. In some industries Government may help by the supply of the raw material as Mr. Swan points out in his Report. The Forest Department may make a suitable arrangement for the supply of suitable wood to industries such as matches, and pen and pencil making. In other cases, the chief difficulty is to find an adequate market for the manufactured commodity which cannot be profitably produced except on a large scale, and here Government may help by placing large orders and contracts during the initial stages, as for example at the Tata Steel and Iron Works. In other industries, such as those of cotton, weavers, silk-weavers and brass founders, improved tools, for example, fly-shuttle looms, lathes, hand machines may be supplied on a system of loan and recovery by instalments. Local demonstrations may be given in the use of these tools and processes, and co-operative credit societies may also be established among cottage-workers where the conditions are suitable. But of all the ways in which

Resolutions—Dr. Nilratan Sarkar.

Government can render material help to the growth of new industries in the country the most fruitful and far-reaching are :—

(i) the supply of loanable capital on easy terms on the basis of reasonable security, and,

(ii) the grant of transport facilities by the control of railway rates and steamer freight, as well as by extension of railway lines.

As regards the supply of capital, it may be noted that there are important industries, for example, dyes, glass-ware, etc., which under present conditions of competition require larger capital than private individuals in India are in a position to invest, and joint-stock companies as yet do not command sufficient credit to raise the money.

For financing such industries a central bank advancing loans on adequate security, on cheap terms, should be among the first concerns of the State in India. It is a matter of common knowledge that in France and in Japan State Banks such as the State Bank of France and the Bank of Japan were originally founded with the object among others of assisting industry and agriculture by supplying the use of loanable capital at a moderate charge to farmers and manufacturers on reasonable security. For some time here in India the project of a Central State Bank has been in the air ; but in the various schemes proposed while such necessary matters as the custody of the Government balances and the Government reserves, the adjustment of the currency, etc., have been properly kept in view, I do not notice that one of the primary objects of such banks in all progressive countries, namely, the supply of loanable capital to support agriculture and industry has been at all mooted in the course of the discussion. It will be said that this will be within the province of the Presidency Banks. But as a matter of fact the Presidency Banks do not serve the primary need of financing the indigenous industries. They enjoy many of the advantages of State Banks as custodians of Government deposits and balances and in many other ways, but they confine themselves to financing the carrying trade and the export and import business and some well-established mills, and their resources though repleted by public funds are not available for discharging some of the vital obligations and responsibilities of State Banks. Only the establishment of a State Bank in India with the object of not only carrying on the currency operations but also of supporting the agriculture and industries of the country with the use of capital on reasonable security can meet the needs of the situation.

In the same way facilities for transport are necessary in a much larger degree than are now granted by the existing Railway administrations. My friend Mr. S. C. Ghose points out in his note, "increased control on the part of the Government in the matter of fixing Railway rates is required in the public interest as well as the appointment of a permanent commissioner to hear complaints from the trading interests concerned." There have been instances, as Sir V. Thackersay once remarked, where equal rates under equal conditions have been refused to certain mills and traders. The following extract from Mr. Ghose's report will show the anomalous position in this regard :—

"According to the East Indian Railway scale the charge for flour for 550 miles is As. 7-2 per maund and over the Great Indian Penunsula Railway As. 8-9. But if the traffic was carried for 275 miles over the East Indian Railway and 275 miles over the Great Indian Penunsula, the freight would be As. 11 per maund."

Whatever may be thought of the policy of the State working of Railways in India there can be no doubt that the control over rates should be assumed by the Government in the public interest.

Another important help which the Government may render to the development of indigenous industries would be by the starting of bureaus and agencies for the creation and expansion of markets in the country and abroad, and in this matter we cannot do better than follow the example set by the Japanese Government.

Resolutions—Babu S. N. Banerji and Babu U. L. Ray.

These are some of the ways in which the Government may help the Indian people to meet the growing economic situation brought on by the war. Indeed this momentous problem can be solved only by the Government assuming the leadership of the people."

THE HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI SAID :—

"My Lord, I desire to express my thanks to the Government for accepting this resolution. and I am sure the country will be grateful to Your Excellency's Government for the pronouncement which the Government have made that they will do all in their power to help on Indian industries in Bengal by direct efforts. Only one more comment I desire to make on my friend's observations. The Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell has, in the course of the debate, said that we do not know where we can get indigenous articles. It is perfectly true that we have of ten failed owing to this cause. But the remedy is in the hands of the Government ; all that we have to do is to establish a Museum for the perm ent exhibition of indigenous industries. In 1899 such an exhibition was held in London. The Japanese Gevernment holds such an exhibition for the purpose of the exhibition of Japanese goods. Last year, I think, Japane agents came over to this country and exhibited a lot of their goods. This is, my Lord. a matter which the Government should take up, namely, that it should start a permanent meseum for the exhibition of indigenous articles. People would then know where they are made. All that information would also be available to the Government and to the public. That is a suggestion which I desire to throw out for the acceptance of my Hon'ble friend."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 7.

7. The Hon'ble Babu Upendra Lal Ray moved the following resolution :

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that the Government of India be approached with a request to provide funds for the purchase and maintenance of a second dredger for the Port of Chittagong.

He said :—

"MY LORD,

When replying to an address from the Port Commissioners of Chittagong in the year 1904, His Excellency the Viceroy stated that Government would assist them by supplying a dredger to clear the bars for big steamers. In fulfilment of this promise the Government of India presented the Port with its present Dredger Karnafuli No. 1. This has done good work and though one dredger was considered sufficient at the beginning the time has come when it can hardly cope with the demand.

When Your Excellency visited Chittagong for the first time in August 1912 the members of the Chittagong Chamber of Commerce brought to Your Excellency's notice the recommendations of a sub-committee of experts who advocated the necessity for a second dredger for the Port. Your Excellency in reply was pleased to remark as follows :—

"I can assure you that the Government of Bengal are deeply interested in the prosperity of Chittagong. We have already given you, I hope, a proof of our interest in the recent grant of 1½ lakhs from Provincial Funds. We gave you this grant for your dredging and revetment, although we have received nothing towards it from the Government of India * * * * We will do our best to represent your views to the Government of India who will after all be the chief gainers by the development of your port. If your port is to be kept in its present state of efficiency, dredging operations must continue and the revetment work must be maintained."

At that time Your Excellency was under the impression that the Karnafuli No. 1 was sufficient for the needs of the port until such time as the expansion of trade should attract steamers of a larger draught. The necessity for a second dredger is being keenly felt not merely on account of the expansion of trade but also in consequence of the rapid shoaling of the river at various places. The salt trade of the port has a constant tendency to expand and it will be a matter of surprise to many when I say that in spite of a higher rate of freight for salt to Chittagong than to Calcutta from the manufacturing countries the price of all descriptions of salt has for the last few years been considerably less at Chittagong than at Calcutta. And yet salt steamers have been the worst sufferers at the former port. The steamers Benlawers, Sutlej and Heligoland which came to Chittagong with salt within the last four months and the Olive which is now discharging her cargo of salt at that port had all been detained outside the bar in some cases for over ten days for lack of sufficient water at the bars. Other steamers also had similar experience and at present agents for steamship companies hesitate to consider Chittagong as a port of discharge owing to this very cause. In his speech on the last budget the Hon'ble Mr. Bayley gave some instances of clan Line steamers being compelled to sail without full cargoes either to avoid being neaped or because of being neaped. Steamers with rice and paddy also had similar experience. Further evidence is not required to convince your Excellency's Government about the need of a second Dredger for the port of Chittagong. The Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell in closing the debate on the budget on the 6th April last referred to the resolution I was permitted to move in this very hall last year and which your Excellency's Government so kindly accepted, and he also remarked that he could make no pronouncement beyond referring to the said resolution. The public are anxious to know what effect has been given to the resolution. The Hon'ble Member paid a visit to the port recently accompanied by the Hon'ble Mr. Cowley and both found out for themselves what are the things urgently needed. Both of them recognized that the present dredging arrangements are clearly defective and should be improved as soon as funds can be obtained. Your Excellency also during your recent visit to the port was convinced of the urgency of the scheme. Your Excellency's Government are aware of the recommendations made by Sir Francis Spring in this connection. and when the necessity has been established beyond any doubt the ways and means to meet it rest entirely with your Excellency's Government. There is an apprehension in certain quarters that the repartition of Bengal has resulted in the brushing aside of the needs of this port in the interests of Calcutta ; whether it is true or not we have the assurance that your Excellency's Government "always have had and always will continue to have a very kindly eye on the port of Chittagong." We are thankful for this sympathetic assurance and relying on it I venture to suggest that the Government of India be moved to come to the rescue by supplying the immediate requirements in the shape of a more powerful Dredger with suitable appliances and hopper barges as asked for by the Port Commissioners of Chittagong at a total cost of about 14 lakhs of rupees which they would welcome to have as a grant and not as a loan and also by meeting the costs of maintenance of the same. Otherwise the enormous amounts of money already spent for revetment and dredging as well as the capital outlay for the Railway and the terminal jetties will prove a sheer waste.

The Port of Chittagong is yet a young one and will take some time to become financially strong. Government subsidies have been liberally granted for its improvements and will have to be continued for some years before substantial proofs of return can be expected. The present income of the port is not sufficient to bear the burden of interest charges and of repayment of instalments of a large loan. Facilities given to ocean-going steamers of heavier draughts will no doubt result in the expansion of trade, thereby securing good return in the near future, a reliable forecast of which cannot be given at present by even the best experts in the mercantile line.

Resolutions—Mr. Bayley and Mr. Beatson Bell—Adjournment.

Apart from the benefit derivable by the Port and the Railway, the present large addition of about 15 lakhs of rupees to the Imperial Revenue from customs duty on salt alone at Chittagong will justify liberal contributions from the Imperial Revenue for the improvement of this port."

THE HON'BLE MR. BAYLEY SAID :—

"My Lord I beg to associate myself with the remarks made by the Hon'ble Babu Upendra Lal Ray in moving his Resolution in which he recommends that the Government of India be approached with the request to provide funds for the purchase and yearly maintenance of a second dredger for the Port of Chittagong. In my remarks in this Council in April of this year I gave reasons to show that a second dredger is urgently required. There is no need for me to repeat what I then said. Also the Port Commissioners, Chittagong, have since then had the advantage of a visit from the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell, who, after inquiring into the matter on the spot, intimated that necessary funds could only be expected from the Government of India. Chittagong has also quite recently had the honour of a visit from Your Excellency, during which, I think, Your Excellency was able to inquire yourself as to whether the request for a second dredger is reasonable or not. It is agreed, I think, that the river requires immediate attention, and that dredging is the first requirement, and I trust, therefore, that Your Excellency's Government will at a very early date urge the Government of India to afford the desired relief at the earliest possible moment.

With these words, My Lord, I beg to support the Resolution."

THE HON'BLE MR. BEATSON BELL SAID :—

"My Lord, I am glad to say that we accept this Resolution. Our letter to India on this subject was under preparation before we received notice of this Resolution. We are now in correspondence with the Port Commissioners in order to obtain some further information. I need hardly say that we desire to make our reference to India as cogent and convincing as possible."

The motion was then put and agreed to

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 895L.—The 16th August 1915.—His Excellency the President having been pleased to direct, under rule 39 (b) of the Bengal Legislative Rules, 1912, the publication of the Report of the Select Committee, to which the Bill to decentralize and otherwise to facilitate the administration of certain enactments in force in Bengal, was referred, the Report of the Select Committee, with the Bill, as amended by them, annexed, is hereby published for general information.

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE BENGAL DECENTRALIZATION BILL, 1915.

WE, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee, to which the Bill to decentralize and otherwise to facilitate the administration of certain enactments in force in Bengal, was referred, have considered the Bill, and have the honour to submit this our Report with the Bill, as amended by us, annexed thereto. In reprinting the Bill, the changes made by us have been underlined.

2. In order to give effect to the arrangement under which the Board of Revenue has been relieved of all work connected with excise matters, we have inserted a provision to repeal clause Tenth of section 8 of the Bengal Land-revenue Regulation, 1793 (Bengal Regulation II of 1793).

3. In section 47A (4) of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866 (Ben. Act II of 1866) and section 78A (4) of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866 (Ben. Act IV of 1866), we have substituted "control" for "administrative control", as we consider that the word "administrative" adds nothing to the meaning and may, on the contrary, lead to misunderstanding. We notice that it does not appear in the Government of India's Decentralization Act (IV of 1914).

4. In section 6 of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866 (Ben. Act IV of 1866) the form of the proposed amendment has been altered. The words "with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council" have now been omitted.

5. We have thought it desirable to omit the proposed amendment of section 61 of the Court of Wards Act, 1879 (Ben. Act IX of 1879). An adoption by a ward of the Court may be a matter of State importance, and we think it necessary that the sanction of the Local Government should be obtained.

6. The opportunity has been taken to extend to Eastern Bengal the delegations of powers made for Western Bengal in sections 12, 14, 15, 16, 36, 37, 46 (2), 54 and 57 of the Cess Act, 1880 (Ben. Act IX of 1880) by the Bengal Cess (Amendment) Act, 1910 (Ben. Act IV of 1910).

Certain delegations have also been made in sections 11, 42, 46 (1). 83 88 and 100 of the Cess Act, 1880, transferring to the Board of Revenue sundry powers at present vested in the Local Government.

Two consequential amendments have been made in section 4 and Schedule D of the same Act.

7. After some discussion, we decided that all the amendments relating to the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Ben. Act III of 1884) proposed in the Bill as introduced in Council would be more suitably considered when a general amendment of that Act is next taken in hand. We understand that such legislation is contemplated by Government. We have, therefore, omitted these amendments from the Bill.

8. For a similar reason we have omitted the amendments relating to the Estates Partition Act, 1897 (Ben. Act V of 1897).

9. We have no modifications to suggest in regard to the other portions of the Bill and we recommend that the Bill, as amended by us, be passed.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

No. 717.—The Governor-General in Council has much pleasure in directing the publication of the following letter from the Chief of the General Staff, dated the 29th July 1915, submitting a despatch from General Sir. J. E. Nixon, K.C.B., Commanding, Indian Expeditionary Force "D." describing the operations in the vicinity of Shaiba,—12th to 14th April 1915. The Governor-General in Council concurs in the opinion expressed by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, regarding the conduct of the troops engaged in the operations and the manner in which the latter were carried out. His Excellency in Council also shares the opinion of the Commander-in-Chief that the manner in which the attack on the 14th April 1915 was executed, reflects the greatest credit on Major-General C. J. Melliss, V.C., C.B. and on the troops engaged.

GENERAL SIR JOHN ECCLES NIXON, K.C.B.,

Commanding Force "D."

To

THE CHIEF OF THE GENERAL STAFF, SIMLA.

SIR,

I have the honour to forward, for the information of the Government of India, the accompanying despatches from Major-General C. I. Fry, regarding the fighting at Shaiba on the 12th April, and from Major-General C. J. Melliss, V.C., C.B. regarding the action at Shaiba on the 13th, followed by the defeat of the Turkish forces on the 14th at the battle of Barjisiyah.

2. The Shaiba garrison on the 11th April 1915, consisted of the troops named in the margin, the whole under the command of Major-General Fry.

6th Division. 16th Brigade.

Brigadier General H. Kennedy—

- 16th Cavalry
- 33rd Cavalry.

The defensive perimeter, in which this force was camped, extended over 3½ miles.

During the flood season from February to June, water, varying in depth from one to four feet, lies between Basrah and the further shore, and two methods of approach are in use, across this lagoon, one by wading across, 6 miles and landing near Old Basrah, whence troops and convoys have to march another 4 miles to reach Shaiba; the other by using the native boat, known as "bellum," which is punted by two men and carries 8 to 10 armed men or their equivalent in stores or ammunition. This latter line of approach passes through nearly 8 miles of water and is traversed transversely by a creek too deep to wade.

3. I took over command of this Force on the 9th April at Basrah from Lieutenant-General Sir A. A. Barrett, K.C.B., K.C.V.O., who was granted leave on the 10th by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief owing to ill-health.

The same morning, about daybreak, a party of the horsemen reconnoitered close to Shaiba, but retired before our cavalry.

On the 11th it was reported that the enemy's cavalry had occupied Barjisiyah wood, and that some 4,000 infantry were moving into Shwebda; later in the day Major-General Fry, who had succeeded to the command of the 6th Division, reported that he considered them to be the advanced guard of the enemy's main forces, and that a serious engagement was probable within the next day or two.

I ordered the 30th Brigade, reinforced by the 30th Mountain Battery, under the command of Major-General Melliss, V.C., C.B., to move to Shaiba the following morning, and since he, as senior officer, would command all the forces there, I placed at his disposal the staff of the 6th Division and ordered them to proceed to Shaiba with him.

4. At about 7-30 A.M. on the 12th, General Fry reported that he was attacked from the south in force, and at 11-20 A.M. that he was confident of being able to resist all attacks but was unable to prevent the occupation of Old Basrah by the enemy.

Meanwhile, General Melliss' Brigade, having marched from Makina Masus, commenced its crossing about 9 A.M.

The water was high and the enemy disclosed guns and infantry near Old Basrah; at about 10 A.M. General Fry sent word to say that the enemy were in force between Shaiba and Old Basrah, and that he could not spare more than two battalions to co-operate with General Melliss' Brigade.

As, owing to the distance, I was unable to cover with guns the crossing of General Melliss' Brigade, and, moreover, as he could make no use in the water of the Mountain Battery which accompanied him, I ordered him to return after he had accomplished about one-third of the journey, and to cross by "bellum" by the second route.

The boatmen refused to assist and only about 80 "bellums" were available; I therefore ordered men of the 20th Punjabis, who readily came forward, to punt them. By about 4 P.M. General Melliss accompanied by the Staff of the 6th Division and most of the 24th Punjabis, started and got successfully across to Shaiba that evening by about 10-30 P.M. During the return journey these "bellums" were attacked by the enemy in some force.

These were the only reinforcements which I found it possible to send by the evening of the 14th. The enemy's "bellums" were in considerable force in the lagoon on the route taken on the 13th, and it was therefore necessary to organise better protection for the next day in the shape of a special guard with mountain guns placed on "bellum" rafts. This convoy got across on the 14th with gun ammunition and the remainder of the 24th Punjabis and the arrangements made would have allowed this convoy to be continued daily.

5. The actions themselves are described by the Commanders, and I will now pass on to the part played by the Euphrates Blockade Flotilla, consisting of armed launches, small steamers and gun barges on which were mounted two 4·7", one 12-pr. and three 3-pr. Naval guns, one 5" B. L. and one 18-pr. gun. This flotilla, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel R. P. Molesworth, R.G.A., was enabled to do good service, aided as it was by the valuable assistance of Lieutenant A. G. Seymour, R.N., H.M.S. "Espiegle," officers and men of the Royal Navy on this station.

When the fighting commenced round Shaiba on the 12th, this flotilla was operating off Nakhailah intercepting supplies, which were coming to the enemy across the water in "mahailas" (country boats of from 30 to 80 tons burthen).

The Officer Commanding the Blockade, having observed the action of Barjisiyah on the 14th, approached Nakhailah early on the morning of the 15th and finding that many of the enemy were escaping in native craft, at once gave chase and pursued them to Ratawi, destroying 8 and capturing 4 large "mahailas"; a heavy gale on the following day forced him to lie to.

On the 17th he reached Chubashiah but found it entirely deserted. The enemy were seen retiring in scattered groups accross the desert and though he fired a few rounds at them, they offered no target. It would appear, from subsequent information, that, during their retreat, the enemy were harassed and robbed by their former allies, the Arabs, and that they fled across the desert in wild confusion, scarcely halting until they reached Kamsieh, a distance of close on 90 miles from the scene of their defeat, so thoroughly disorganised were they.

It is now known that Suleiman Askeri, the Turkish Commander, shot himself at Nakhailah after assembling his officers and denouncing the faithlessness of the Arabs.

A large quantity of ammunition, both gun and rifle, was captured upon the battlefield at Barjisiyah and subsequently at Nakhailah; this was either brought in or destroyed on the spot. The total in round numbers amounts to some—

1,500 shell—4·5", 15-pr., and Mountain gun.

400—500,000 rounds S. A. A.

3,000 hand-grenades, some boxes of Lyddite and a number of bombs, fuzes and primers.

6. I cannot speak too highly of the steadiness, spirit and pluck shown by the troops in these actions, nor of the able manner in which they were handled by their Commanders.

In the battle of Barjisiyah our troops had to attack over open ground a superior force of the enemy, skilfully entrenched and concealed, on a front of over 3 miles.

The Turkish troops showed themselves well trained and exhibited tenacity and courage; while their musketry and machine gun fire were remarkably effective.

In driving such an enemy from his position by a bayonet charge, after a steady advance in the face of a hot fire, the British force performed a feat of which any troops might be proud.

7. The races, from which the portion of the Southern Army engaged here are drawn, have shown, in the stiffest fight which has fallen to their lot for years, a steadfastness and gallantry worthy of all praise.

Mahrattas, Dekhani Mahomedans, men from Rajputana, Gujars and Mers have earned for themselves in these operations a proud reputation. They vied with their British comrades in this field, the Royal Artillery—the Norfolks—the Dorsets, in spirit and resolution, and have added lustre to their former traditions.

8. Major-General Fry, under whose orders the defences of Shaiba had been organised, made a very successful defence against the enemy's constant attacks for the first 24 hours, during which the enemy suffered heavy losses and were everywhere repulsed.

9. I would specially bring to notice the services of Major-General C. J. Melliss, V.C., C.B., who at once seized the opportunity of taking the offensive and, after driving the enemy from the vicinity of Shaiba on the 13th April, followed up this success the next day by attacking the Turkish forces in the strong position to which they had retired.

The determination and skill with which he handled his troops on the 14th April resulted in the complete defeat of the enemy after a very hard-fought action, and I fully endorse his recommendation that Barjisiyah be commemorated as a battle honour for the corps engaged.

10. I entirely agree with the recommendations made by Major-Generals Fry and Melliss in the Despatches I am now forwarding and I will only add remarks with regard to the following officers:—

Brigadier-General W. S. Delamain, C. B., D. S. O.—This officer has consistently distinguished himself in command of his Brigade throughout the campaign, and has shown marked ability as a Commander.

Colonel R. N. Gamble, D.S.O., General Staff Officer, 6th Division, was Senior Officer to Major-General Melliss, who speaks most warmly of the services he rendered throughout the hard-fought and successful operations of the 13th and 14th April. I would also add that his thorough knowledge of the locality, of the troops, and of earlier operations has been of the greatest assistance to me.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. S. Cleeve, Royal Field Artillery.—This officer has shown himself an exceptionally able Artillery Commander, who, until disabled by a wound on the 14th April, handled his guns, not only to the admiration of his own side, but also to that of the Officer commanding the opposing artillery. That Turkish Officer, when taken prisoner, particularly requested that he might be presented to the officer who had directed the fire of the British guns, as our artillery fire, he said, had silenced the Turkish batteries in rapid succession in a way that he would not have considered possible.

11. In addition I wish to mention the following who prominently came to my notice, and who were not under the orders of either Major-General Fry or Major-General Melliss.

Major-General G. F. Gorringe, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.—In addition to the command of his own Division, he ably commanded the local defence troops and also undertook the temporary organization of the Communications and Base. His experience of river expeditions rendered him most valuable in arranging the despatch of troops and supplies across the lagoon between Basrah and Shaiba.

Lieutenant-Colonel R. P. Molesworth, R.A., for some weeks commanded the Euphrates Blockade Flotilla, which, with the aid of the Royal Navy, often under extremely arduous and hazardous conditions, did excellent service in stopping the enemy's supplies and harassing his retreat. Lieutenant-Colonel Molesworth has shown much enterprise and energy in these duties and also in reconnaissance work which has been most valuable.

Captain C. A. Pogson, 117th Mahrattas, has done very valuable intelligence work in connection with the Euphrates Blockade and showed much enterprise and daring. He has probably undergone more continuous hardships than any other individual in the force.

Lieutenant R. H. Dewing, Royal Engineers.—On April 15th, the Euphrates Blockade guns drove two "mahailas" (large country cargo-boats) into the reeds. Lieutenant Dewing went in after them and destroyed them with explosives.

Lieutenant Commander A. G. Seymour, R. N. (H.M.S. Espiegle).—The guns and gun crews of the Royal Navy under this officer have contributed largely to the success of the Euphrates Blockade, while his advice on Naval matters and constant support were most valuable to the Officer Commanding.

Major (temporary Lieutenant-Colonel) L. H. Queripel, R. A., Deputy Director of Army Signals, Head Quarters, has shown energy and capability in meeting the sudden strain thrown on the signal service by the operations round Shaiba.

Captain F. Booth, The King's Own (Royal Lancaster Regiment) No. 34 (Divisional Signal) Company.—His zeal and unremitting supervision successfully disposed of the heavy traffic that was unceasing between 12th and 16th April.

2nd-Lieutenant J. McConville, The King's (Liverpool Regiment) No. 34 (Divisional Signal) Company, from 12th to 16th April never left his station day or night, doing very valuable work.

No. 46, Serjeant A. Butcher, No. 34 (Divisional Signal) Company, between 12th and 16th constantly helped the Signallers in their work besides directing traffic and supervising the repair of lines. His services were of the greatest use.

Jemadar Marugesan, No. 34 (Divisional Signal) Company, made two brave attempts on 12th April to repair the Shaiba line, but on both occasions was recalled by the General Officer Commanding, 30th Brigade. Between that date and the 16th supervised his station with unremitting zeal.

No. 370, Naik Sher Ali, 20th Duke of Cambridge's Own Infantry (Brownlow's Punjabis), behaved with initiative and gallantry during the attack on a "bellum" convoy on night of the 12th-13th April.

Colonel P. Hehir, Indian Medical Service, Acting Deputy Director of Medical Services, materially assisted the operations by the ability and untiring energy which he displayed in the working of the important department over which he at the time was presiding.

Major H. A. Bransbury, Royal Army Medical Corps, commanded the sections of No. 19 Combined Clearing Hospital that carried out the evacuation of the wounded after Shaiba—attended himself to all cases (over 1,100 wounded including those of the enemy) as they arrived, displaying much initiative and resource.

4th Class Assistant Surgeon H. N. Murphy, Indian Subordinate Medical Department, was attached to No. 19 Combined Clearing Hospital during the evacuation of wounded from Shaiba—worked with untiring energy and marked intelligence, proving himself to be very capable and reliable.

12. Others of the Medical Service I consider worthy of commendation are:—

Lieutenant-Colonel H. M. Adamson, Royal Army Medical Corps.—(Commanding No. 3 A., British General Hospital up to 21st April.)

Lieutenant-Colonel G. B. Irvine, Indian Medical Service.—(Commanding No. 9, Indian General Hospital.)

Lieutenant-Colonel D. J. Collins, Royal Army Medical Corps.—(Commanding No. 3A., British General Hospital after 21st April.)

Lieutenant-Colonel F. J. Palmer, Royal Army Medical Corps.—(Surgical Specialist, No. 3A., British General Hospital.)

Major H. R. Brown, Indian Medical Service.—(Commanding No. 19 Combined Clearing Hospital.)

Captain C. C. C. Shaw, Indian Medical Service.—(No. 19 Combined Clearing Hospital.)

Captain G. F Graham, Indian Medical Service.—(Medical Officer, 20th Duke of Cambridge's Own Infantry, Brownlow's Punjabis.)

1st Class Assistant Surgeon W. H. Brown, Indian Subordinate Medical Department.—(In charge of Depôt of Medical Stores.)

13. In conclusion I cannot fail to mention the great assistance I received from Major-General G. V. Kemball, C.B., D.S.O.—Major-General, General Staff, and Brigadier-General W. G. Hamilton, D.S.O., Deputy Adjutant and Quartermaster-General, to whom I am much indebted for their able support; also to Lieutenant-Colonel Sir P. Z. Cox, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., the Chief Political Officer.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NIXON, General,

Commanding Indian Expeditionary Force "D".

Report on the Operations at Shaiba on 11th and 12th April 1915, by Major-General C. I. Fry, Indian Army, Commanding at Shaiba.

No. 1815 (Confidential), dated Dirhamiyah, 21st April 1915

From—MAJOR-GENERAL C. I. FRY, Commanding at Shaiba,
To—Major-General, General Staff, Indian Expeditionary Force "D."

I HAVE the honour to submit this report which deals with the first portion of the operations at Shaiba and covers the period during which I was in command of the garrison.

11th April 1915. 7 A.M.

2. The first indication of the advance of the Turkish forces from Nakhailah was a message received from my normal Protective Cavalry reconnaissance at 7 A.M., to the effect that Barjisiyah Wood and Shwebda were occupied by hostile cavalry and that further troops were advancing on the latter place from the north-west.

9 A.M.

The Protective Cavalry were reinforced by the 33rd Cavalry and at 9 A.M., information was received that a large body of the enemy's cavalry had been located in Barjisiyah Wood, another body behind it, a large body of Arabs to the north-west of Shwebda and a large column of regular infantry estimated at 4,000 men was advancing on Shwebda from the direction of Nakhailah. No guns could be distinguished and there were no signs of enemy in other directions.

3-30 P.M.

Except for the approach of the columns on Shwebda, the situation remained unchanged till about 3-30 P.M., when our advanced patrols were driven back by hostile cavalry.

4 P.M.

At 4 P.M., the 6th Cavalry Brigade under Brigadier-General H. Kennedy moved out, supported by a small mixed column always held in readiness for the occasion. The enemy, however, retired into Barjisiyah Wood and by 7 P.M. all was quiet.

7 P.M.

3. My intelligence this evening pointed to an attack during the later portion of the night by a force of some 12,000 Regulars (mostly Kurds).

12 Field Guns.
10,000 Tribesmen.

The plan of attack was said to be—

(a) An attack by the Turkish Regulars direct on the Fort.
(b) Saiyid Yezdi and his following were to attack, from Ana's Tomb, the north of our position.
(c) Ajaimi's Tribesmen on the south of Shaiba from Zubair.
(d) Yusuf, with the "beni malick", from Old Basrah.

All tents were struck and troops occupied their alarm posts.

The distribution of the Garrison, which varied only slightly during the ensuing day, is given in the sketch Map of Shaiba Defences.*

12th April 1915. 5 A.M.

4. The expected attack was actually made at 5 A.M., on 12th April 1915, and turned out to be very much on the above plan. Heavy fire was opened on the Fort Section of the defences from the west and south-west just as it was becoming light, our two piquets in this direction making the enemy disclose themselves and retiring without loss.

The enemy's advanced line reached to about 900 yards of the position and were then checked.

5-45 A.M.

At 5-45 A.M., enemy's gun fire was opened on the Fort from 2 guns to the westward and these were engaged by our Field Artillery.

6-10 A.M.

A determined advance of the Turkish Infantry was made at 6-10 A.M., supported by heavy rifle fire mainly against South Salient, but their attacking line was extended round the west of the Fort up to Kiln Post.

6-30 A.M.

Large bodies of enemy's infantry were seen advancing over the horizon to the westward and masses were also seen occupying the ridge of hills immediately north of Old Basrah.†

7 A.M.

By 7 A.M. the enemy were definitely repulsed and retired leaving small parties in observation, who entrenched themselves about 1,700 yards from the west and south-west of our position. The attack against Cairn post was not very determined and broke up about 8 A.M., considerable numbers, however, collecting in the tamarisk wood to the south of that post.

* Vide Map No. 1 in pocket (not reproduced).

5. Hitherto on the northern face of the position all had been quiet and the defences at Kiln Post and West Work had not been seriously engaged, but at 9 A.M. a large force of irregulars with 6 standards occupied North Mound and houses in the vicinity. Here they remained all day and the subsequent night, making various attempts to advance on our position, but they were easily checked by rifle and machine gun fire.

6. Meanwhile further enemy's guns had opened on the position till it was estimated that they had two heavy 4·5", six Field and four Mountain guns dispersed mostly in pairs in an arc extending from west to the south.

Their heavy guns kept up a good and accurate fire but never exactly located our batteries, which were under cover, while their other guns did little harm, their shells in most cases bursting too high. Our artillery observing officers on Kiln Post located the flashes of the enemy's artillery and in most cases their detachments were driven off, and 6 guns were completely silenced—these guns were withdrawn in the middle of the day while the mirage rendered their position invisible. Two guns of 23rd Mountain Battery, which had been placed for the night immediately south of the Fort, were withdrawn about 11 A.M. without difficulty.

7. Preparations had been made for the despatch of a column of all arms towards Old Basrah to cover the landing of the 30th Brigade and a Mountain Battery, which were known to have left Basrah. This, however, was not put into effect as that force was recalled to Basrah.

8. The enemy resumed their attack at 2-15 P.M., mainly directed as before on the South Salient, and to prevent them establishing themselves on the western portion of the Dorset position I sent ½ Battalion 2nd Norfolk Regiment from the reserve to occupy this place, replacing them in my General Reserve by ½ Battalion 2nd Dorset Regiment from 16th Brigade.

9. Up to this time nothing of note had occurred on the Eastern Defence work beyond some sniping, but at 2-30 P.M. as the snipers had become troublesome to the Artillery observation post, Major Wheeler, 7th Lancers, volunteered to take his squadron and clear them. The movement was made at the gallop, but the original objective was covered by enemy's irregulars in a hidden position—these were ridden over and many lanced, while "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, and machine guns repelled an attempted counter-attack by hostile horsemen. The manœuvre was very effective and the squadron was admirably led with great dash by Major Wheeler, who lost only one man and three horses wounded.

10. At 3 P.M. the attack died away and sniping tactics were resorted to—and soon afterwards about 3-25 P.M. further enemy's guns opened fire from a southerly direction, and at 4 P.M., the enemy's artillery appeared to be registering ranges on various portions of the positions with percussion fuze without doing much damage.

Night arrangements

11. For the ensuing night I reinforced Cairn Post with a Double Company 120th Infantry from the southern portion of East Work, their place being taken by a Double Company 110th Light Infantry. The ½ Battalion, 2nd Norfolk Regiment, was withdrawn from Dorset position to their original position and the ½ Battalion, 2nd Dorset Regiment, rejoined the 16th Brigade. To increase my reserve, however, I asked General Delamain for ½ Battalion from 16th Brigade and this, furnished by the 117th Infantry, was placed centrally between the two portions of Piquet Hill Works. During the earlier part of the night the 24th Punjabis arrived in "bellums" from Basrah and bivouacked near the Cavalry Camp.

12. About 5 P.M. a distinct rearward movement was noticed in front of our north defensive line and 14 big "bellums" were seen going off in a northerly direction filled with Arabs from North Mound vicinity.

13. At dusk a furious attack was made from the western extremity of Dorset position, supported by fire from south-west and west, heavy rifle and machine gun fire being brought to bear on the South Salient and ground immediately east and west of the Fort, but they made no progress and the attack died away to intermittent firing. The machine gun in South Salient was out of action from 7 P.M. to 9 P.M. but was replaced by one from the 48th Pioneers during this time, and the searchlight here too was put out of action by rifle fire 15 minutes after it had opened up.

14. Throughout the night intermittent firing, with occasional heavy bursts with machine gun fire, took place to cover bold attempts to cut our wire entanglements, especially on South Salient where the enemy's main efforts were concentrated, though these attacks extended to the north end of the Fort on our right and to Cairn Post on the left. The brunt of these attacks fell on the 48th Pioneers and 17th Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners, which units with ceaseless vigilance repelled every effort of the enemy. During the heavier periods of the attacks the star shell fired by Field and Mountain Artillery greatly assisted in the defence. The machine gun of the 2nd Norfolk Regiment at the southern extremity of South Salient did most excellent service throughout the day and night in a very exposed position. The 120th Infantry and portion of the 110th Light Infantry in East Work and Cairn Post were less heavily engaged, but frequently repelled the efforts of wire-cutters and were throughout alert for developments.

11 P.M.

15. At 11 P.M. the enemy were heard digging off South Salient and a half Double Company, 48th Pioneers, was held in readiness to meet any penetration by the enemy, while I held 1 Double Company, 2nd Norfolk Regiment, ready for particular support in this direction.

13th April

16. The night thus passed with occasional lulls till 3-30 A.M., when the final attempt was made and small parties were seen close up to the entanglements (one party was heard to call out in Hindustani "Do not fire"). After this no further attacks were made and all became quiet.

4-30 A.M.

17. From 4-30 A.M. Major-General Melliss, V.C., C.B., who had arrived late the previous evening with the 6th Divisional Staff, took over command of the garrison, but not being 'au fait' with the defence arrangements, had left the conduct of the operations for the night to me and my report on subsequent operations has been submitted to him.

18. The casualties during this action were comparatively slight and were, approximately, British officers, wounded, 4; Rank and file killed 5, wounded 62.

19. The artillery expended some 1,495 shrapnel and 15 star shell during the above period of the action.

20. The 6th Cavalry Brigade were not employed during the day except one squadron 7th Lancers and "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, under Lieutenant-Colonel C. A. Sykes, Royal Horse Artillery, which did good work in co-operation with the Infantry and other Artillery; they however came in for many casualties among their horses as, unfortunately, their camp was situated directly behind the Fort Section of the defence and in line with the main hostile attacks. I wish to mention:—

Major G. G. M. Wheeler, 7th Lancers.—For the gallant and admirable leading of his Squadron in the charge against a body of the enemy south of Piquet Works, who had been causing much annoyance to our artillery observation post, with a most successful and effective result.

21. The Artillery afforded, as has been my experience throughout the campaign, a magnificent support and their rapid location of the enemy's guns was followed by a slackening and in many cases a cessation of their fire. Lieutenant-Colonel E. S. Cleeve, R.F.A., most efficiently directed the artillery during the defence as my C. R. A. and I would also mention—

Major E. V. Sarson, R.F.A. Major H. Broke Smith, R.F.A. Major E. E. Edlmann, D.S.O., R.G.A.	for their clever handling of their batteries and accuracy of fire in silencing the enemy's guns and repelling his attack.

22. The 16th Infantry Brigade were not seriously engaged during the day or night and the General Officer Commanding has no recommendations to make. I would like however to pay tribute to Brigadier-General W. S. Delamain, C.B., D.S.O., and his Brigade, who originally constructed the defences which the 18th Infantry Brigade were occupying.

23. I wish to bring forward to special notice the very gallant defence made by the 48th Pioneers and 17th Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners, who bore the brunt of the enemy's attacks. All ranks behaved with great steadiness and their vigilance and good shooting repelled all attempts of the Turkish forces to break through the defences. This section of the defence was admirably commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel A. J. N. Harward, 48th Pioneers.

The following further names are brought forward for recognition :—

No. 365 Naik Hukmi, 48th Pioneers, when at dawn No. 7 Piquet retired, refused to leave the piquet until the last man had got away safely under a heavy fire.

No. 315 Havildar Harchand, 48th Pioneers, commanded No. 7 Piquet and withdrew his men with skill and coolness so well that the enemy continued to fire into the piquet position after its evacuation.

No. 1686 Sepoy Chanda Singh } 48th Pioneers, stretcher-bearers,
No. 1406 Sepoy Narain Singh } brought in a dangerously wounded man to the aid post for 100 yards under very heavy enfilade fire.

24. The 17th Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners (with 48th Pioneers), withstood all the shocks of the Turkish attacks, being in occupation of the South Salient, with utmost coolness and steadiness and were ably commanded by Captain E. J. Loring, R.E., I would mention—

No. 31125 Sapper C. A. Wells, R.E., Searchlight Section, who did excellent work under heavy fire till his light was put out of action.

Jemadar Mohammed Din, No. 17 Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners.—For his coolness under heavy fire and the able way in which he directed the fire of his men under trying circumstances in a particularly exposed part of the defences.

25. The 120th Rajputana Infantry under Major P. F. Peacock, though not very seriously attacked during the day, were frequently assailed at night in attempts of the enemy to cut their wire entanglement. They occupied a somewhat exposed position at Cairn Post and behaved very steadily and with great coolness.

26. The 2nd Norfolk Regiment and 110th Light Infantry, excepting 1 Double Company of the latter under Lieutenant-Colonel Britten, who were engaged during the night in repelling attempts on their obstacles, were not seriously engaged, though kept continually on the alert, especially at night, to meet developments. I mention—

Lieutenant H. S. Farebrother, 2nd Norfolk Regiment, for his skilful handling of the machine gun at South Salient until seriously wounded.

No. 6592 Lance-Corporal R. Waller, 2nd Norfolk Regiment, was in charge of the machine gun at South Salient after Lieutenant Farebrother was wounded and handled his gun exceedingly well and assisted largely in keeping off the attack when it was heaviest. Though wounded, he still continued to direct the work of the gun throughout the night 12th-13th.

The action of Lieutenant Farebrother and Lance-Corporal Waller has also been brought to my notice by Lieutenant-Colonel Harward, Commanding the Fort Section, in which this machine gun was employed in a very important and exposed position. He reports that the accuracy and intensity of the fire was remarkably good.

27. Medical.—I cannot speak too highly of the behaviour of the Medical Department in all its ranks. There was no flinching during the bombardment and perfect steadiness, and their work was done in a most efficient manner under the able direction of Lieutenant-Colonel J. Hennessey, R.A.M.C. As I have already noted during this campaign the Army Bearer Corps and Hospital Corps behaved excellently. I would particularly bring to notice the good work done by—

Major T. G. Foster, R.A.M.C., and Captain R. E. Wright, I.M.S., No. 3 Field Ambulance, who were working in the Fort Section of the defence and most exposed to fire.

28. 34th Divisional Signal Company.—I wish to specially notice the excellent work done by the 18th Brigade Section of this company. Throughout the operations under report they were constantly engaged in the dual capacity of Brigade Signal Section and Divisional Signal Section, being the link between me and my whole force. They were consequently exceedingly hardworked and got no rest. I cannot speak too highly of their work and they were ably commanded by Captain H. G. Morrell, who was untiring in his exertions.

I would also bring to favourable notice—

No. 41 Sergeant F. Murphy for continuous hard work supervising both telephone and visual signalling.

No. 16 Corporal J. Sleven for unremitting assistance in looking after and keeping telephones in working order. He also laid a fresh line to Cairn Piquet under heavy fire when the line was broken.

No. 47 Pte. A. Cloud.
No. 44 Pte. A. Barker.
No. 53 Pte. A. Palmer.
No. 8597 Lance-Corporal J. Anderson, Cameron Highlanders (attached).
} For continuous hard and willing work requiring care and great coolness.

29. Finally I wish to bring to special notice the good work done by my Staff Officers, Captain E. G. Dunn, Royal Irish Rifles, Brigade Major, and Captain W. F. C. Gilchrist, 52nd Sikhs (F. F.), Staff Captain. They have had on their shoulders the Staff work of the Shaiba Force and of the 18th Infantry Brigade up to the time of the arrival of the Divisional Headquarters on the night of 12th, and have carried out their duties with untiring zeal and efficiency, especially during the enemy's attack on the 12th, when their forethought and general good staff work were of the greatest assistance to me.

I would also mention Major H. Smyth, Cheshire Regiment, Intelligence Officer, attached to my Staff. The information collected by this Officer was wonderfully accurate and was of the greatest assistance to me.

I have the honour to be,
SIR,
Your obedient servant,
C. I. FRY. Major-General,
Commanding at Shaiba.

REPORT ON OPERATIONS ON 13th AND 14th APRIL NEAR SHAIBA.

No. 250-G.

HEADQUARTERS 6TH DIVISION,
Shaiba, 24th April 1915.

FROM

THE GENERAL OFFICER COMMANDING, SHAIBA FORCE.

To

THE MAJOR-GENERAL, GENERAL STAFF,
INDIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE "D."

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to submit reports on the operations of the Shaiba Force on 13th and 14th April 1915.

I arrived at Shaiba by "bellum" convoy at 8-30 P.M on the 12th April with the 24th Punjabis (less 1 Double Company) and 6th Divisional Staff, placed at my disposal by the Army Commander. A general all-round night attack on the landward sides of the defensive perimeter was in progress at the time of my arrival. This attack was nowhere pressed home, but continued with varying intensity throughout the night of 12-13th, the enemy endeavouring without success to cut the barbed wire entanglement at various points.

As senior, I assumed command from Major-General C. I. Fry that night, after making myself acquainted with the distribution and disposition of the troops.

The night attack died away at 4 A.M.

13th April
* "S" Royal Horse Artillery.
7th Lancers
16th Cavalry
3 squadrons, each unit.

The Cavalry Brigade,* in pursuance of orders issued by Major-General Fry on the afternoon of the 12th instant and approved by me that night, moved out at 7 A.M. towards North Mound in order to clear our right flank and ascertain the enemy's strength and dispositions to the north-west. The 104th Rifles (Lieutenant-Colonel Clery) followed as a support and were placed under the orders of the Cavalry Brigadier.

† Vide large map No. IV in pocket (not reproduced)

The Cavalry, 7th Lancers leading, remainder following in support, on nearing North Mound came under a very heavy rifle fire from superior forces advancing from North Mound, the broken ground near House A,† and from House B.†

The 7th Lancers, under Lieutenant-Colonel Cook, made a gallant charge on North Mound and vicinity and a large number of hostile Arabs were put to flight. Trenches, however, immediately behind North Mound and House A were strongly held, and a hot fire was poured into the Cavalry ranks. A squadron of the 7th Lancers most gallantly led by Major Wheeler actually charged the mound itself. Major Wheeler, closely supported by Jemadar Sudhan Singh, 7th Lancers, rode at the enemy's standard planted on the mound and both were shot dead in their gallant attempt. The remaining squadrons of the 7th Lancers, under Lieutenant-Colonel Cook's command, made a gallant attempt to clear the enemy from the palm groves, but from good cover the enemy's fire at short range proved so effective that the 7th Lancers had to retire and Brigadier-General Kennedy, realising that the enemy in force were firmly established and that his main body (16th and 33rd Cavalry) were exposed to a severe flanking fire from entrenched infantry, decided not to press the attack and to withdraw his Brigade. I had previously instructed him verbally not to commit his Brigade at this phase of the action if serious opposition were encountered. This took place at 7-45 A.M.

The actions of the Cavalry Brigade were well supported by "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, under Lieutenant-Colonel Sykes, while the 104th Rifles, posted just north of House C,† covered the retirement by a well sustained and accurate fire. I ordered the withdrawal to camp of this battalion on the retirement of the Cavalry.

From Kiln Post, where I established my Headquarters, an excellent view of the whole of the terrain to the north of Shaiba is obtainable and large bodies of the enemy were visible advancing near North Mound and to the east of it. At 8-30 A.M. I ordered Brigadier-General Delamain, Commanding 16th Brigade, to move out from the defensive perimeter with 3 battalions (2nd Dorsets, 104th Rifles and 24th Punjabis) with North Mound as his first objective, covering his advance with the concentrated fire of the 63rd and 76th Batteries, Royal Field Artillery, and 23rd Mountain Battery, whilst "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, also co-operated. The concentrated fire of the guns and the engaging of successive enemy's targets was most skilfully controlled and directed by the Divisional Artillery Commander, Lieutenant-Colonel Cleeve, whose valuable assistance throughout the operations of the 13th I particularly desire to bring to notice.

The co-operation between Infantry and Artillery in the attack and indeed throughout the action of the 13th was most marked, and very largely contributed to the success of the operations. By 11 A.M. Brigadier-General Delamain was in occupation of North Mound and the enemy, many of whom had clung to their trenches with great tenacity, were in full retreat to the northward. Over 90 of his dead were found on North Mound itself. Meanwhile consistent sniping and desultory attacks were in progress to the west-south-west, and south of my perimeter, and troops, computed at 3 battalions, were visible to the south-west of the Brick Kiln and a considerable force to the westward. I now decided to continue the clearing movement against this unbroken enemy, and incidentally to capture two of their guns, which their teams owing to our accurate shell fire had been unable to remove.

With this object I ordered the General Officer Commanding, 16th Brigade, to make a partial left wheel, pivotting on North Mound, which was to be held to protect his right flank. I pushed a ½ Battalion 119th Infantry (Lieutenant-Colonel Chitty) to reinforce Brigadier-General Delamain's left and ordered 1½ Battalions of the 18th Brigade (2nd Norfolks, 2 Double Companies 48th Pioneers) under Lieutenant-Colonel Peebles to prolong the line of the 16th Brigade to the left, co-operating with their advance. The Cavalry Brigade were again moved forward and placed under Brigadier-General Delamain's orders, to protect his right flank. Supported by a sustained and accurate shrapnel fire from our batteries, the enemy, though in considerable force in well constructed trenches, were unable to withstand the élan of our Infantry. Many surrendered and the two abandoned mountain guns were secured. The Cavalry Brigade on the right flank succeeded in getting home into the now broken enemy and accounting for more than 100 of them.

By 2-30 P.M. the whole vicinity of the camp was clear of the enemy, but large numbers could still be seen to the southward in direction of South Mound, where 2 Turkish guns had been located. The General Officer Commanding 16th Brigade, reported at 2-35 P.M. that he was advancing on South Mound some 3 miles distant and hoped to capture these guns.

I decided that at this late hour it was not desirable to undertake a general engagement with the enemy's main forces with my troops who had been under arms continuously throughout the previous night and were in need of rest.

I therefore issued orders to break off the engagement for the day and ordered a general retirement to the Fort at 3 P.M.

The enemy's casualties were estimated at 1,000, many of their dead being left on the field while over 400 prisoners, 2 guns and a standard fell into our hands.

The night of the 13-14th, in marked contrast to the previous night, was entirely undisturbed by hostile sniping or shell-fire.

Report on operations on 14th April 1915

From personal observation shortly after dawn on 14th April 1915, from the Kiln Post, considerable bodies of the enemy were seen in the direction of South Mound some 2½ miles south-west of Shaiba Fort, while the immediate vicinity of the fort was practically clear of the enemy.

The exact whereabouts of the enemy's main force was uncertain. On the 12th April a large force had been reported to be at Old Basrah, while all reports pointed to the Barjisiyah Woods being strongly held, but it was evident that the enemy had been severely shaken by the action of the 13th April. I decided therefore to continue the offensive without awaiting the arrival of the remainder of the 30th Brigade (2 battalions). These reinforcements would, I was aware, be necessarily delayed by the difficulty of transport through the area which is inundated to a depth of from 2 to 4 feet and which extends for some 8 miles between Shaiba and Basrah. Moreover the necessary line of advance to Shaiba from Old Basrah had been, as I was aware, hitherto closed by the enemy, while reports of withdrawal from Barjisiyah Wood in a north-west direction rendered it desirable to advance without further delay.

Note—63rd Battery had only 5 guns

I therefore ordered the whole force (less 104th Rifles, 48th Pioneers and 3 field guns as Camp Garrison) to start at 9 A.M. to engage the enemy wherever found.

Operation Orders were issued accordingly. 300 rounds rifle ammunition and water pakhals were taken by the troops, who carried a haversack ration.

The troops moved off at 9-30 A.M. in preparatory formation for Artillery fire, the 16th Brigade, with the 23rd Mountain Battery, 22nd Company Sappers and Miners and 24th Punjabis attached moving with their left directed on a point 300 yards to the west of South Mound, while the three Battalions of the 18th Brigade, with 17th Company Sappers and Miners, moved off on the left of the 16th Brigade, echeloned back, left refused. The Cavalry Brigade was moved wide on the right flank of the 16th Brigade, detaching ½ squadron to protect our extreme left flank guns in rear of centre and Divisional Headquarters with the guns.

The 16th Brigade were directed on South Mound, with 18th Brigade refused on my left, as I apprehended a possible attack from the direction of Old Basrah or Zubair. The advance on South Mound took place under ineffective long range rifle fire from the enemy's advanced troops—mostly mounted men who soon gave way before our advance, South Mound being occupied and Divisional Headquarters established there by 10-30 A.M.

It now became apparent that the enemy's main force was in position in the vicinity of Barjisiyah Wood and that Old Basrah and Zubair were not strongly held. I accordingly ordered the left of the 16th Brigade to be directed somewhat north of the Watch Tower while I ordered 2 battalions of the 18th Brigade (2nd Battalion, Norfolk Regiment, and 120th Rajputana Infantry) to pass from left to the right rear of the 16th Brigade and the remaining battalion of the 18th Brigade (110th Mahratta Light Infantry) to remain echeloned on left of 16th Brigade. Whilst these movements were in progress I rode forward to where the Cavalry Brigade were in position on my right flank, engaged in dismounted fire action.. From this point I endeavoured to make a reconnaissance of the enemy's position, but owing to the mirage this proved extremely difficult. It was not possible to locate any of the enemy's trenches, but I was able to determine that his right extended as far south as the high Watch Tower, but where his left rested I could not ascertain. On returning to Divisional Headquarters I therefore ordered General Delamain to direct the left of his advance on the Watch Tower and requested General Fry, Commanding 18th Brigade, to pass over his remaining battalion (110th Mahratta Light Infantry) to the right rear of his own Brigade. My plan of operations was to engage the enemy along his front extending from a point to the west of the Watch Tower, while I drove back his left with the 18th Brigade and thereby threatened his line of retirement towards Nakhailah. I ordered my Cavalry Brigade to co-operate with this object, while giving the Brigadier a free hand to seize any opportunity for vigorous action which might offer.

It soon became evident that the enemy occupied a very extensive front of some 3½ miles and considerably overlapped our line. The 18th Brigade had to come up into line with and on the right of the 16th Brigade in order to engage the enemy along his front—the 110th Infantry being my sole reserve. By 11-15 A.M. I discovered definitely that the enemy's line covered over 3 miles, extending from west of Watch Tower to the north end of Barjisiyah Wood ("Dry Wells" on map).*

* Not reproduced

The 18th Brigade having come into line with the 16th Brigade a general advance from South Mound was continued for a mile without incident. By 11-30 A.M. the two battalions in the front line of the 16th Brigade (2nd Battalion, Dorset Regiment and 24th Punjabis) became suddenly heavily engaged with the enemy in position at 900 yards distance from the Dorsets and 600 from the Punjabis, while on the right the 18th Brigade were also fully engaged, the Norfolks and 120th Infantry coming under heavy rifle and machine gun fire from trenches some 400 yards to their front.

The enemy's trenches were well sited and practically invisible from the front, while the glacis-like slope of the ground trending towards the Barjisiyah Woods afforded them an ideal position for defence, and a large proportion of our casualties occurred at this stage.

At 1 P.M. I ordered the 18th Brigade to advance direct on the gap in the trees near the north end of Barjisiyah Wood and the 16th Brigade to close the gap between the 2 Brigades—both to co-operate in the attack. Heavy firing now became general all along the line, the whole of our Artillery being engaged in close support of the Infantry attack. At 11·30 P.M. three casualties occurred in the Divisional Staff, my C. R. A., Lieutenant-Colonel Cleeve, being wounded and his successor Major Edlmann being hit before he could take over his duties, while Captain Cardew, Assistant Director, Army Signals, was also wounded. At this period the General Officer Commanding, 16th Brigade, ordered the 22nd Company Sappers and Miners to prolong the right of the 24th Punjabis, and ½ battalion, 117th Mahrattas, to reinforce on the right of the Sappers and Miners, and with these reinforcements a further advance was effected in this part of the field. The General Officer Commanding, 18th Brigade, now pushed forward ½ battalion of 110th Mahratta Light Infantry on the right of the 120th Infantry, holding the remaining wing of the 110th and No. 17 Company, Sappers and Miners, in reserve, but owing to an enfilading fire from the right flank the advance of the 18th Brigade was checked.

At 2-30 P.M. I called on the Cavalry Brigade for vigorous action to assist the forward movement of the 110th on the extreme right flank. The Cavalry assisted by dismounted rifle fire, while "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, also co-operated.

At 3·0 P.M. the fight was practically stationary, the enemy clinging to his trenches with desperate tenacity while the Cavalry reported their inability to press forward on the enemy's left flank owing to severe shell fire and the mud line. The Artillery were supporting our Infantry attack to the utmost, but such support was extremely difficult to render owing to the mirage and the invisibility of the enemy's trenches. Our gunners did splendid work and I must mention one of many instances of it. The Norfolks were losing heavily and asked for further Artillery support, Lieutenant Gilpin, 63rd Battery, Royal Field Artillery, went forward into the Norfolk firing line for observation of fire, and communication with his Battery Commander was maintained by Captain De Grey, Adjutant of the Norfolks, who from the firing line flag signalled back to the Battery the result of Lieutenant Gilpin's observations. Many were the gallant deeds of resolute courage by all ranks on this day, but this appears a striking example of the right kind of Infantry and Artillery co-operation.

The day was now waning and I told both Infantry Brigadiers that the enemy's position in advance of Barjisiyah Woods must be taken and that a general advance with the whole of the Artillery in close support must now be made. The troops responded most gallantly to this fresh call, the 76th Battery in action close to the Watch Tower supporting the 16th Brigade, the 63rd Battery and 23rd Mountain Battery, the 18th Brigade.

At 4-15 P.M. the 2nd Battalion, Norfolks, and 120th Infantry under Colonel Peebles and Major Pocock respectively, dashed at the enemy's trenches with the bayonet, while the 110th, also under heavy fire, pressed unflinchingly forward on the right supported by "S" Battery and dismounted Cavalry fire. Almost simultaneously part of the 16th Brigade consisting of the 2nd Battalion, Dorsets, 24th Punjabis, 119th Infantry (less 1 Double Company in reserve) and 1 Double Company, 117th Mahrattas, withdrawn from the left flank guard, made a general advance and by 5-0 P.M. the enemy abandoned the front trenches all along the line and fled, many surrendering.

In the meantime at 4-0 P.M., in view of the necessary withdrawal before nightfall, the 48th Pioneers with all available Jaipur carts were ordered out from Shaiba. The Pioneers were directed to take up a rearguard position about South Mound to cover the retirement of the main body and the carts were also directed there to be ready to assist in the collection and evacuation of the wounded. The arrangements for the collection and disposal of the large numbers of wounded were ably arranged for by Lieutenant-Colonel H. O. B. Browne-Mason, Royal Army Medical Corps, Officiating Assistant Director of Medical Services.

The retirement timed for 5-30 actually commenced at 6-0 P.M. owing to the difficulty of collection and removal of the wounded scattered over a wide area. Our withdrawal was entirely unmolested and the troops reached Shaiba with all wounded by 8-30 P.M.

It is impossible to conceive a more exposed tract of ground than the plain devoid of cover over which our Infantry had to attack the Turkish trenches, cleverly concealed and sited. Our advance in the last 400 yards was down a glacis-like slope. It was on the crest of this slope that so many of our losses occurred. Splendid dash, combined with resolute courage, alone carried our men across that bullet-swept glacis. It was a sheer dogged soldiers' fight and no words of mine can adequately express my admiration of the conduct of those gallant regiments who won through, viz., 2nd Battalion, Norfolks, 2nd Battalion Dorsets, 24th Punjabis, 110th Mahratta Light Infantry, 119th Infantry, 117th Mahrattas, 120th Infantry, 17th and 22nd Companies of the 3rd Sappers and Miners.

It is gratifying to record the fact that all the Indian troops engaged (24th Punjabis excepted) are old Bombay Presidency Regiments. They have proved on this occasion that they are worthy to stand shoulder to shoulder with the best troops that the Empire can produce, and I trust that these Corps may be permitted to inscribe the battle honour of "Barjisiyah" on their colours as a fitting tribute to their gallant conduct on this hard-fought field.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I desire to bring to notice the specially good services of the following:—

COMMANDERS, STAFF, ETC.

Major-General C. I. Fry—Commanded his Brigade to my entire satisfaction during the battle of Barjisiyah on the 14th; his Brigade behaved admirably under his direction.

Captain B. G. Peel, 81st Pioneers.—A very useful Staff Officer.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. S. Cleeve, R.A.—A very capable Artillery Commander. As my Divisional Artillery Commander his services during the operations of 13th were of great value, the handling of the Artillery on that day being a decisive factor in the success of the operations. MEDICAL SERVICES.

Captain R. E. Wright, I.M.S.

Displayed exceptional ability in handling his subdivision of No. 3 Field Ambulance throughout the day. He displayed particular initiative in proceeding to the firing-line of the 18th Brigade under a heavy fire and, by ascertaining personally the position of the groups of wounded, was able to conduct a detachment of Jaipur Transport Carts direct to the place where they were most required when speedy evacuation was most essential. He afterwards superintended the main advanced dressing station at South Mound in a most efficient manner.

Captain F. C. Fraser, I.M.S.

Displayed great coolnessin bringing his subdivision forward under heavy shell and rifle fire and was in close touch with the 16th Brigade throughout the day. I was particularly struck by the steadfast behaviour of the A. B. C. men of this subdivision and attribute it in great part to his excellent example and leading.

Colonel (temporary Brigadier-General) Benjamin Holloway, C.I.E., to be temporary Major-General whilst Secretary to the Government of India, Army Department, dated 10th July 1915.

Supplement dated the 10th July 1915 to the "London Gazette" of the 9th July 1915.

From—THE FIELD-MARSHAL COMMANDING-IN-CHIEF, THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE.

To—THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR, War Office, London, S. W

General Headquarters,
15th June 1915.

MY LORD,—

I HAVE the honour to report that since the date of my last despatch (5th April 1915) the Army in France under my command has been heavily engaged opposite both flanks of the line held by the British Forces.

1. In the North the town and district of Ypres have once more in this campaign been successfully defended against vigorous and sustained attacks made by large forces of the enemy, and supported by a mass of heavy and field artillery, which, not only in number, but also in weight and calibre, is superior to any concentration of guns which has previously assailed that part of the line.

In the South a vigorous offensive has again been taken by troops of the First Army, in the course of which a large area of entrenched and fortified ground has been captured from the enemy, whilst valuable support has been afforded to the attack which our Allies have carried on with such marked success against the enemy's positions to the east of Arras and Lens.

2 I much regret that during the period under report the fighting has been characterised on the enemy's side by a cynical and barbarous disregard of the well-known usages of civilised war and a flagrant defiance of the Hague Convention.

All the scientific resources of Germany have apparently been brought into play to produce a gas of so virulent and poisonous a nature that any human being brought into contact with it is first paralysed and then meets with a lingering and agonising death.

The enemy has invariably preceded, prepared and supported his attacks by a discharge in stupendous volume of these poisonous gas fumes whenever the wind was favourable.

Such weather conditions have only prevailed to any extent in the neighbourhood of Ypres, and there can be no doubt that the effect of these poisonous fumes materially influenced the operations in that theatre, until experience suggested effective counter-measures, which have since been so perfected as to render them innocuous.

The brain power and thought which has evidently been at work before this unworthy method of making war reached the pitch of efficiency which has been demonstrated in its practice shows that the Germans must have harboured these designs for a long time.

As a soldier I cannot help expressing the deepest regret and some surprise that an Army which hitherto has claimed to be the chief exponent of the chivalry of war should have stooped to employ such devices against brave and gallant foes.

3. On the night of Saturday, April 17th, a commanding hill which afforded the enemy excellent artillery observation toward the West and North-West was successfully mined and captured.

This hill, known as Hill 60, lies opposite the northern extremity of the line held by the 2nd Corps.

The operation was planned and the mining commenced by Major-General Bulfin before the ground was handed over to the troops under Lieutenant-General Sir Charles Fergusson, under whose supervision the operation was carried out.

The mines were successfully fired at 7 P.M. on the 17th instant, and immediately afterwards the hill was attacked and gained, without difficulty, by the 1st Battalion, Royal West Kent Regiment, and the 2nd Battalion, King's Own Scottish Borderers. The attack was well supported by the Divisional Artillery, assisted by French and Belgian batteries.

During the night several of the enemy's counter-attacks were repulsed with heavy loss, and fierce hand-to-hand fighting took place: but on the early morning of the 18th the enemy succeeded in forcing back the troops holding the right of the hill to the reverse slope, where, however, they hung on throughout the day.

On the evening of the 18th these two battalions were relieved by the 2nd Battalion, West Riding Regiment, and the 2nd Battalion, King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, who again stormed the hill under cover of heavy artillery fire, and the enemy was driven off at the point of the bayonet.

In this operation fifty-three prisoners were captured, including four officers.

On the 20th and following days many unsuccessful attacks by the enemy were made on Hill 60, which was continuously shelled by heavy artillery.

On May 1st, another attempt to recapture Hill 60 was supported by great volumes of asphyxiating gas, which caused nearly all the men along a front of about 400 yards to be immediately struck down by its fumes.

The splendid courage with which the leaders rallied their men and subdued the natural tendency to panic (which is inevitable on such occasions), combined with the prompt intervention of supports, once more drove the enemy back.

A second and more severe "gas" attack, under much more favourable weather conditions, enabled the enemy to recapture this position on May 5th.

The enemy owes his success in this last attack entirely to the use of asphyxiating gas. It was only a few days later that the means, which have since proved so effective, of counteracting this method of making war were put into practice. Had it been otherwise, the enemy's attack on May 5th would most certainly have shared the fate of all the many previous attempts he had made.

4. It was at the commencement of the Second Battle of Ypres on the evening of the 22nd April, referred to in paragraph 1 of this report, that the enemy first made use of asphyxiating gas.

Some days previously I had complied with General Joffre's request to take over the trenches occupied by the French, and on the evening of the 22nd the troops holding the lines east of Ypres were posted as follows:—

From Steenstraate to the east of Langemarck, as far as the Poelcappelle Road, a French Division.

Thence, in a south-easterly direction toward the Passchendaele-Becelaere Road, the Canadian Division.

Thence, a Division took up the line in a southerly direction east of Zonnebeke to a point west of Becelaere, whence another Division continued the line south-east to the northern limit of the Corps on its right.

Of the 5th Corps there were four battalions in Divisional Reserve about Ypres; the Canadian Division had one battalion in Divisional Reserve and the first Canadian Brigade in Army Reserve. An Infantry Brigade, which had just been withdrawn after suffering heavy losses on Hill 60, was resting about Vlamertinghe.

Following a heavy bombardment, the enemy attacked the French Division at about 5 P.M., using asphyxiating gases for the first time. Aircraft reported that at about 5 P.M., thick yellow smoke had been seen issuing from the German trenches between Langemarck and Bixschoote. The French reported that two simultaneous attacks had been made east of the Ypres-Staden Railway, in which these asphyxiating gases had been employed.

What follows almost defies description. The effect of these poisonous gases was so virulent as to render the whole of the line held by the French Division mentioned above practically incapable of any action at all. It was at first impossible for anyone to realise what had actually happened. The smoke and fumes hid everything from sight, and hundreds of men were thrown into a comatose or dying condition, and within an hour the whole position had to be abandoned, together with about 50 guns.

I wish particularly to repudiate any idea of attaching the least blame to the French Division for this unfortunate incident.

After all the examples our gallant Allies have shown of dogged and tenacious courage in the many trying situations in which they have been placed throughout the course of this campaign it is quite superfluous for me to dwell on this aspect of the incident, and I would only express my firm conviction that, if any troops in the world had been able to hold their trenches in the face of such a treacherous and altogether unexpected onslaught, the French Division would have stood firm.

The left flank of the Canadian Division was thus left dangerously exposed to serious attack in flank, and there appeared to be a prospect of their being overwhelmed and of a successful attempt by the Germans to cut off the British troops occupying the salient to the East.

In spite of the danger to which they were exposed the Canadians held their ground with a magnificent display of tenacity and courage and it is not too much to say that the bearing and conduct of these splendid troops averted a disaster which might have been attended with the most serious consequences.

They were supported with great promptitude by the reserves of the Divisions holding the salient and by a Brigade which had been resting in billets.

Throughout the night the enemy's attacks were repulsed, effective counter-attacks were delivered, and at length touch was gained with the French right, and a new line was formed.

The 2nd London Heavy Battery, which had been attached to the Canadian Division, was posted behind the right of the French Division, and being involved in their retreat, fell into the enemy's hands. It was recaptured by the Canadians in their counter-attack, but the guns could not be withdrawn before the Canadians were again driven back.

During the night I directed the Cavalry Corps and the Northumbrian Division, which was then in general reserve, to move to the west of Ypres, and placed these troops at the disposal of the General Officer Commanding the Second Army. I also directed other reserve troops from the 3rd Corps and the First Army to be held in readiness to meet eventualities.

In the confusion of the gas and smoke the Germans succeeded in capturing the bridge at Steenstraate and some works south of Lizerne, all of which were in occupation by the French.

The enemy having thus established himself to the west of the Ypres Canal, I was somewhat apprehensive of his succeeding in driving a wedge between the French and Belgian troops at this point. I directed, therefore, that some of the reinforcements sent north should be used to support and assist General Putz, should he find difficulty in preventing any further advance of the Germans west of the canal.

At about 10 o'clock on the morning of the 23rd connection was finally ensured between the left of the Canadian Division and the French right, about eight hundred yards east of the canal; but as this entailed the maintenance by the British troops of a much longer line than that which they had held before the attack commenced on the previous night, there were no reserves available for counter-attack until reinforcements, which were ordered up from the Second Army, were able to deploy to the east of Ypres.

Early on the morning of the 23rd I went to see General Foch, and from him I received a detailed account of what had happened, as reported by General Putz. General Foch informed me that it was his intention to make good the original line and regain the trenches which the French Division had lost. He expressed the desire that I should maintain my present line, assuring me that the original position would be re-established in a few days. General Foch further informed me that he had ordered up large French reinforcements, which were now on their way, and that troops from the North had already arrived to reinforce General Putz.

I fully concurred in the wisdom of the General's wish to re-establish our old line, and agreed to co-operate in the way he desired, stipulating, however, that if the position was not re-established within a limited time, I could not allow the British troops to remain in so exposed a situation as that which the action of the previous twenty-four hours had compelled them to occupy.

During the whole of the 23rd the enemy's artillery was very active, and his attacks all along the front were supported by some heavy guns which had been brought down from the coast in the neighbourhood of Ostend.

The loss of the guns on the night of the 22nd prevented this fire from being kept down and much aggravated the situation. Our positions, however, were well maintained by the vigorous counter-attacks made by the 5th Corps.

During the day I directed two Brigades of the 3rd Corps, and the Lahore Division of the Indian Corps, to be moved up to the Ypres area and placed at the disposal of the Second Army.

In the course of these two or three days many circumstances combined to render the situation east of the Ypres Canal very critical and most difficult to deal with.

The confusion caused by the sudden retirement of the French Division, and the necessity for closing up the gap and checking the enemy's advance at all costs, led to a mixing up of units and a sudden shifting of the areas of command, which was quite unavoidable. Fresh units, as they came up from the South, had to be pushed into the firing line in an area swept by artillery fire which, owing to the capture of the French guns, we were unable to keep down.

All this led to very heavy casualties; and I wish to place on record the deep admiration which I feel for the resource and presence of mind evinced by the leaders actually on the spot.

The parts taken by Major-General Snow and Brigadier-General Hull were reported to me as being particularly marked in this respect.

An instance of this occurred on the afternoon of the 24th when the enemy succeeded in breaking through the line at St. Julien.

Brigadier-General Hull, acting under the orders of Lieutenant-General Alderson, organised a powerful counter-attack with his own Brigade and some of the nearest available units. He was called upon to control, with only his Brigade Staff, parts of battalions from six separate divisions which were quite new to the ground. Although the attack did not succeed in retaking St. Julien, it effectually checked the enemy's further advance.

It was only on the morning of the 25th that the enemy were able to force back the left of the Canadian Division from the point where it had originally joined the French line.

During the night and the early morning of the 25th, the enemy directed a heavy attack against the Division at Broodseinde crossroads which was supported by powerful shell fire, but he failed to make any progress.

During the whole of this time the town of Ypres and all the roads to the East and West were uninterruptedly subjected to a violent artillery fire, but in spite of this the supply of both food and ammunition was maintained throughout with order and efficiency.

During the afternoon of the 25th many German prisoners were taken including some officers. The hand-to-hand fighting was very severe, and the enemy suffered heavy loss.

During the 26th the Lahore Division and a Cavalry Division were pushed up into the fighting line, the former on the right of the French, the latter in support of the 5th Corps.

In the afternoon the Lahore Division, in conjunction with the French right, succeeded in pushing the enemy back some little distance toward the North, but their further advance was stopped owing to the continual employment by the enemy of asphyxiating gas.

On the right of the Lahore Division the Northumberland Infantry Brigade advanced against St. Julien and actually succeeded in entering, and for a time occupying the southern portion of that village. They were, however, eventually driven back, largely owing to gas and finally occupied a line a short way to the South. This attack was most successfully and gallantly led by Brigadier-General Riddell, who, I regret to say, was killed during the progress of the operation.

Although no attack was made on the south-eastern side of the salient, the troops operating to the east of Ypres were subjected to heavy artillery fire from this direction which took some of the battalions, which were advancing North to the attack, in reverse.

Some gallant attempts made by the Lahore Division on the 27th, in conjunction with the French, pushed the enemy further North; but they were partially frustrated by the constant fumes of gas to which they were exposed. In spite of this, however, a certain amount of ground was gained.

The French had succeeded in retaking Lizerne, and had made some progress at Steenstraate and Het Sas; but up to the evening of the 28th no further progress had been made toward the recapture of the original line.

I sent instructions, therefore, to Sir Herbert Plumer, who was now in charge of the operation, to take preliminary measures for the retirement to the new line which had been fixed upon.

On the morning of the 29th I had another interview with General Foch, who informed me that strong reinforcements were hourly arriving to support General Putz and urged me to postpone issuing orders for any retirement until the result of his attack, which was timed to commence at daybreak on the 30th, should be known. To this I agreed, and instructed Sir Herbert Plumer accordingly.

No substantial advance having been made by the French, I issued orders to Sir Herbert Plumer at one o'clock on May 1st to commence his withdrawal to the new line.

The retirement was commenced the following night, and the new line was occupied on the morning of May 4th.

I am of opinion that this retirement, carried out deliberately with scarcely any loss, and in the face of an enemy in position, reflects the greatest possible credit on Sir Herbert Plumer and those who so efficiently carried out his orders.

The successful conduct of this operation was the more remarkable from the fact that on the evening of May 2nd, when it was only half completed, the enemy made a heavy attack, with the usual gas accompaniment, on St. Julien and the line to the west of it.

An attack on a line to the east of Fortuin was made at the same time under similar conditions.

In both cases our troops were at first driven from their trenches by gas fumes, but on the arrival of the supporting battalions and two brigades of a Cavalry Division, which were sent up in support from about Potijze, all the lost trenches were regained at night.

On the 3rd May, while the retirement was still going on, another violent attack was directed on the northern face of the salient. This was also driven back with heavy loss to the enemy.

Further attempts of the enemy during the night of the 3rd to advance from the woods west of St. Julien were frustrated entirely by the fire of our artillery.

During the whole of the 4th the enemy heavily shelled the trenches we had evacuated, quite unaware that they were no longer occupied. So soon as the retirement was discovered the Germans commenced to entrench opposite our new line and to advance their guns to new positions. Our artillery, assisted by aeroplanes, caused him considerable loss in carrying out these operations.

Up to the morning of the 8th the enemy made attacks at short intervals, covered by gas, on all parts of the line to the east of Ypres, but was everywhere driven back with heavy loss.

Throughout the whole period since the first break of the line on the night of April 22nd all the troops in this area had been constantly subjected to violent artillery bombardment from a large mass of guns with an unlimited supply of ammunition. It proved impossible whilst under so vastly superior fire of artillery to dig efficient trenches, or to properly reorganise the line, after the confusion and demoralisation caused by the first great gas surprise and the subsequent almost daily gas attacks. Nor was it until after this date (May 8th) that effective preventatives had been devised and provided. In these circumstances a violent bombardment of nearly the whole of the 5th Corps front broke out at 7 A.M. on the morning of the 8th, which gradually concentrated on the front of the Division between north and south of Frezenberg. This fire completely obliterated the trenches and caused enormous losses.

The artillery bombardment was shortly followed by a heavy infantry attack, before which our line had to give way.

I relate what happened in Sir Herbert Plumer's own words:—

"The right of one Brigade was broken about 10-15 A.M.; then its centre and then part of the left of the Brigade in the next section to the south The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, however, although suffering very heavily, stuck to their fire or support trenches throughout the day. At this time two battalions were moved to General Headquarters 2nd line astride the Menin road to support and cover the left of their Division.

"At 12-25 P.M. the centre of a Brigade further to the left also broke; its right battalion, however, the 1st Suffolks, which had been refused to cover a gap, still held on and were apparently surrounded and overwhelmed. Meanwhile, three more battalions had been moved up to reinforce, two other battalions were moved up in support to General Headquarters line, and an Infantry Brigade came up to the grounds of Vlamertinghe Chateau in Corps Reserve.

"At 11-30 A.M. a small party of Germans attempted to advance against the left of the British line, but were destroyed by the 2nd Essex Regiment.

"A counter-attack was launched at 3-30 P.M. by the 1st York and Lancaster Regiment, 3rd Middlesex Regiment, 2nd East Surrey Regiment, 2nd Royal Dublin Fusiliers and the 1st Royal Warwickshire Regiment. The counter-attack reached Frezenberg, but was eventually driven back and held up on a line running about north and south through Verlorenhoek, despite repeated efforts to advance. The 12th London Regiment on the left succeeded at great cost in reaching the original trench line, and did considerable execution with their machine gun.

"The 7th Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the 1st East Lancashire Regiment attacked in a north-easterly direction towards Wieltje, and connected the old trench line with the ground gained by the counter-attack, the line being consolidated during the night.

"During the night orders were received that two Cavalry Divisions would be moved up and placed at the disposal of the 5th Corps, and a Territorial Division would be moved up to be used if required.

"On the 9th the Germans again repeated their bombardment. Very heavy shell fire was concentrated for two hours on the trenches of the 2nd Gloucestershire Regiment and 2nd Cameron Highlanders, followed by an Infantry attack which was successfully repulsed. The Germans again bombarded the salient, and a further attack in the afternoon succeeded in occupying 150 yards of trench. The Gloucesters counter-attacked, but suffered heavily, and the attack failed. The salient being very exposed to shell fire from both flanks, as well as in front, it was deemed advisable not to attempt to retake the trench at night, and a retrenchment was therefore dug across it.

"At 3 P.M. the enemy started to shell the whole front of the centre Division, and it was reported that the right Brigade of this Division was being heavily punished, but continued to maintain its line.

"The trenches of the Brigades on the left centre were also heavily shelled during the day and attacked by infantry. Both attacks were repulsed.

"On the 10th instant the trenches on either side of the Menin-Ypres Road were shelled very severely all the morning. The 2nd Cameron Highlanders, 9th Royal Scots, and the 3rd and 4th King's Royal Rifles, however, repulsed an attack made, under cover of gas, with heavy loss. Finally, when the trenches had been practically destroyed and a large number of the garrison buried, the 3rd King's Royal Rifles and 4th Rifle Brigade fell back to the trenches immediately west of Bellewaarde Wood. So heavy had been the shell fire that the proposal to join up the line with a switch through the wood had to be abandoned, the trees broken by the shells forming an impassable entanglement.

"After a comparatively quiet night and morning (10th-11th) the hostile artillery fire was concentrated on the trenches of the 2nd Cameron Highlanders and 1st Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders at a slightly more northern point than on the previous day. The Germans attacked in force and gained a footing in part of the trenches, but were promptly ejected by a supporting company of the 9th Royal Scots. After a second short artillery bombardment the Germans again attacked about 4-15 P.M., but were again repulsed by rifle and machine-gun fire. A third bombardment followed, and this time the Germans succeeded in gaining a trench—or rather what was left of it—a local counter-attack failing. However, during the night the enemy were again driven out. The trench by this time being practically non-existent, the garrison found it untenable under the very heavy shell fire the enemy brought to bear upon it, and the trench was evacuated. Twice more did the German snipers creep back into it, and twice more they were ejected. Finally, a retrenchment was made, cutting off the salient which had been contested throughout the day. It was won owing solely to the superior weight and number of the enemy's guns, but both our infantry and our artillery took a very heavy toll of the enemy, and the ground lost has proved of little use to the enemy.

"On the remainder of the front the day passed comparatively quietly, though most parts of the line underwent intermittent shelling by guns of various calibres.

"With the assistance of the Royal Flying Corps the 31st Heavy Battery scored a direct hit on a German gun, and the North Midland Heavy Battery got on to some German howitzers with great success.

"With the exception of another very heavy burst of shell fire against the right Division early in the morning the 12th passed uneventfully.

"On the night of the 12th-13th the line was re-organised, the centre Division retiring into Army Reserve to rest, and their places being taken in the trenches by the two Cavalry Divisions; the Artillery and Engineers of the centre Division forming with them what was known as the 'Cavalry Force' under the command of General De Lisle.

"On the 13th the various reliefs having been completed without incident, the heaviest bombardment yet experienced broke out at 4-30 A.M., and continued with little intermission throughout the day. At about 7-45 A.M. the Cavalry Brigade astride the railway, having suffered very severely, and their trenches having been obliterated, fell back about 800 yards. The North Somerset Yeomanry on the right of the Brigade, although also suffering severely, hung on to their trenches throughout the day, and actually advanced and attacked the enemy with the bayonet. The Brigade on its right also maintained its position; as did also the Cavalry Division, except the left squadron which, when reduced to sixteen men, fell back. The 2nd Essex Regiment, realising the situation, promptly charged and retook the trench, holding it till relieved by the Cavalry. Meanwhile a counter-attack by two Cavalry Brigades was launched at 2-30 P.M., and succeeded, in spite of very heavy shrapnel and rifle fire, in regaining the original line of trenches, turning out the Germans who had entered it, and in some cases pursuing them for some distance. But a very heavy shell fire was again opened on them and they were again compelled to retire to an irregular line in rear, principally the craters of shell holes. The enemy in their counter-attack suffered very severe losses.

"The fighting in other parts of the line was little less severe. The 1st East Lancashire Regiment were shelled out of their trenches, but their support company and the 2nd Essex Regiment, again acting on their own initiative, won them back. The enemy penetrated into the farm at the north-east corner of the line, but the 1st Rifle Brigade, after a severe struggle, expelled them The 1st Hampshire Regiment also repelled an attack, and killed every German who got within fifty yards of their trenches. The 5th London Regiment, despite very heavy casualties, maintained their position unfalteringly. At the southern end of the line the left Brigade was once again heavily shelled, as indeed was the whole front. At the end of a very hard day's fighting our line remained in its former position, with the exception of the short distance lost by one Cavalry Division. Later, the line was pushed forward, and a new line was dug in a less exposed position, slightly in rear of that originally held. The night passed quietly.

"Working parties of from 1,200 to 1,800 men have been found every night by a Territorial Division and other units for work on rear lines of defence, in addition to the work performed by the garrisons in reconstructing the front line trenches which were daily destroyed by shell fire.

"The work performed by the Royal Flying Corps has been invaluable. Apart from the hostile aeroplanes actually destroyed, our airmen have prevented a great deal of aerial reconnaissance by the enemy, and have registered a large number of targets with our artillery.

"There have been many cases of individual gallantry. As instances may be given the following:—

"During one of the heavy attacks made against our infantry gas was seen rolling forward from the enemy's trenches. Private Lynn of the 2nd Lancashire Fusilier at once rushed to the machine gun without waiting to adjust his respirator. Single-handed he kept his gun in action the whole time the gas was rolling over, actually hoisting it on the parapet to get a better field of fire. Although nearly suffocated by the gas, he poured stream of lead into the advancing enemy and checked their attack. He was carried to his dug-out, but, hearing another attack was imminent, he tried to get back to his gun. Twenty-four hours later he died in great agony from the effects of the gas.

"A young subaltern in a cavalry regiment went forward alone one afternoon to reconnoitre. He got into a wood, 1,200 yards in front of our lines, which he found occupied by Germans, and came back with the information that the enemy had evacuated a trench and were digging another—information which proved most valuable to the artillery as well as to his own unit.

"A patrol of two officers and a non-commissioned officer of the 1st Cambridgeshires went out one night to reconnoitre a German trench 350 yards away. Creeping along the parapet of the trench, they heard sounds indicating the presence of six or seven of the enemy. Further on they heard deep snores, apparently proceeding from a dug-out immediately beneath them. Although they knew that the garrison of the trench outnumbered them, they decided to procure an identification. Unfortunately, in pulling out a clasp knife with which to cut off the sleeper's identity disc, one of the officer's revolvers went off. A conversation in the agitated whispers broke out in the German trench, but the patrol crept safely away, the garrison being too startled to fire.

"Despite the very severe shelling to which the troops had been subjected, which obliterated trenches and caused very many casualties, the spirit of all ranks remains excellent. The enemy's losses, particularly on the 10th and 13th, have unquestionably been serious. On the latter day they evacuated trenches (in face of the cavalry counter-attack) in which were afterwards found quantities of equipment and some of their own wounded. The enemy have been seen stripping our dead, and on three occasions men in khaki have been seen advancing."

The fight went on by the exchange of desultory shell and rifle fire, but without any remarkable incident until the morning of May 24th. During this period, however, the French on our left had attained considerable success. On the 15th instant they captured Steenstraate and the trenches in Het Sas, and on the 16th they drove the enemy headlong over the canal, finding two thousand Germans dead. On the 17th they made a substantial advance on the east side of the canal, and on the 20th they repelled a German counter-attack, making a further advance in the same direction, and taking one hundred prisoners.

On the early morning of the 24th a violent outburst of gas against nearly the whole front was followed by heavy shell fire, and the most determined attack was delivered against our position east of Ypres.

The hour the attack commenced was 2-45 A.M. A large proportion of the men were asleep, and the attack was too sudden to give them time to put on their respirators.

The 2nd Royal Irish and the 9th Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders overcome by gas fumes, were driven out of a farm held in front of the left Division, and this the enemy proceeded to hold and fortify.

All attempts to retake this farm during the day failed, and during the night of the 24th-25th the General Officer Commanding the left Division decided to take up a new line which, although slightly in rear of the old one, he considered to be a much better position. This operation was successfully carried out.

Throughout the day the whole line was subjected to one of the most violent artillery attacks which it had ever undergone; and the 5th Corps and the Cavalry Divisions engaged had to fight hard to maintain their positions. On the following day, however, the line was consolidated, joining the right of the French at the same place as before, and passing through Wieltje (which was strongly fortified) in a southerly direction on to Hooge, where the Cavalry have since strongly occupied the chateau, and pushed our line further east.

6. In pursuance of a promise which I made to the French Commander-in-Chief to support an attack which his troops were making on the 9th May between the right of my line and Arras, I directed Sir Douglas Haig to carry out on that date an attack on the German trenches in the neighbourhood of Rougebance (north-west of Fromelles) by the 4th Corps, and between Neuve Chapelle and Givenchy, by the 1st and Indian Corps.

The bombardment of the enemy's positions commenced at 5 A.M.

Half-an-hour later the 8th Division of the 4th Corps captured the first line of German trenches about Rougebanc, and some detachments seized a few localities beyond this line. It was soon found, however, that the position was much stronger than had been anticipated, and that a more extensive artillery preparation was necessary to crush the resistance offered by his numerous fortified posts.

Throughout the 9th and 10th repeated efforts were made to make further progress. Not only was this found to be impossible, but the violence of the enemy's machine gun fire from his posts on the flanks rendered the captured trenches so difficult to hold that all the units of the 4th Corps had to retire to their original position by the morning of the 10th.

The 1st and Indian Divisions south of Neuve Chapelle met with no greater success, and on the evening of the 10th I sanctioned Sir Douglas Haig's proposal to concentrate all our available resources on the southern point of attack.

The 7th Division was moved round from the 4th Corps area to support this attack, and I directed the General Officer Commanding the First Army to delay it long enough to ensure a powerful and deliberate artillery preparation.

The operations of the 9th and 10th formed part of a general plan of attack which the Allies were conjointly conducting on a line extending from the north of Arras to the south of Armentieres; and, although immediate progress was not made during this time by the British forces, their attack assisted in securing the brilliant successes attained by the French forces on their right, not only by holding the enemy in their front but by drawing off a part of the German reinforcements which were coming up to support their forces east of Arras.

It was decided that the attack should be resumed on the night of the 12th instant, but the weather continued very dull and misty, interfering much with artillery observation. Orders were finally issued, therefore, for the action to commence on the night of the 15th instant.

On the 15th May I moved the Canadian Division into the 1st Corps area and placed them at the disposal of Sir Douglas Haig.

The infantry of the Indian Corps and the 2nd Division of the 1st Corps advanced to the attack of the enemy's trenches which extended from Richebourg L'Avoue in a south-westerly direction.

Before daybreak the 2nd Division had succeeded in capturing two lines of the enemy's trenches, but the Indian Corps were unable to make any progress owing to the strength of the enemy's defences in the neighbourhood of Richebourg L'Avoue.

At daybreak the 7th Division, on the right of the 2nd, advanced to the attack, and by 7 A.M. had entrenched themselves on a line running nearly North and South, half-way between their original trenches and La Quinque Rue, having cleared and captured several lines of the enemy's trenches, including a number of fortified posts.

As it was found impossible for the Indian Corps to make any progress in face of the enemy's defences, Sir Douglas Haig directed the attack to be suspended at this point and ordered the Indian Corps to form a defensive flank.

The remainder of the day was spent in securing and consolidating positions which had been won, and endeavouring to unite the inner flanks of the 7th and 2nd Divisions, which were separated by trenches and posts strongly held by the enemy.

Various attempts which were made throughout the day to secure this object had not succeeded at nightfall in driving the enemy back.

The German communications leading to the rear of their positions were systematically shelled throughout the night.

About two hundred prisoners were captured on the 16th instant.

Fighting was resumed at daybreak; and by 11 o'clock the 7th Division had made a considerable advance, capturing several more of the enemy's trenches. The task allotted to this Division was to push on in the direction of Rue D'Ouvert, Chateau St. Roch and Canteleux.

The 2nd Division was directed to push on when the situation permitted towards the Rue de Marais and Violaines.

The Indian Division was ordered to extend its front far enough to enable it to keep touch with the left of the 2nd Division when they advanced.

On this day I gave orders for the 51st (Highland) Division to move into the neighbourhood of Estaires to be ready to support the operations of the First Army

At about noon the enemy was driven out of the trenches and posts which he occupied between the two Divisions, the inner flanks of which were thus enabled to join hands.

By nightfall the 2nd and 7th Divisions had made good progress, the area of captured ground being considerably extended to the right by the successful operations of the latter.

The state of the weather on the morning of the 18th much hindered an effective artillery bombardment, and further attacks had, consequently, to be postponed.

Infantry attacks were made throughout the line in the course of the afternoon and evening; but, although not very much progress was made, the line was advanced to the La Quinque Rue-Bethune Road before nightfall.

On the 19th May the 7th and 2nd Divisions were drawn out of the line to rest. The 7th Division was relieved by the Canadian Division and the 2nd Division by the 51st (Highland) Division.

Sir Douglas Haig placed the Canadian and 51st Divisions, together with the artillery of the 2nd and 7th Divisions, under the command of Lieutenant-General Alderson, whom he directed to conduct the operations which had hitherto been carried on by the General Officer Commanding First Corps; and he directed the 7th Division to remain in Army Reserve.

During the night of the 19th-20th a small post of the enemy in front of La Quinque Rue was captured.

During the night of the 20th-21st the Canadian Division brilliantly carried on the excellent progress made by the 7th Division by seizing several of the enemy's trenches and pushing forward their whole line several hundred yards. A number of prisoners and some machine guns were captured.

On the 22nd instant the 51st (Highland) Division was attached to the Indian Corps, and the General Officer Commanding the Indian Corps took charge of the operations at La Quinque Rue, Lieutenant-General Alderson with the Canadians conducting the operations to the north of that place.

On this day the Canadian Division extended their line slightly to the right and repulsed three very severe hostile counter-attacks.

On the 24th and 25th May the 47th Division (2nd London Territorial) succeeded in taking some more of the enemy's trenches and making good the ground gained to the east and north.

I had now reason to consider that the battle, which was commenced by the First Army on the 9th May and renewed on the 16th, having attained for the moment the immediate object I had in view, should not be further actively proceeded with; and I gave orders to Sir Douglas Haig to curtail his artillery attack and to strengthen and consolidate the ground he had won.

In the battle of Festubert above described the enemy was driven from a position which was strongly entrenched and fortified, and ground was won on a front of four miles to an average depth of 600 yards.

The enemy is known to have suffered very heavy losses, and in the course of the battle 785 prisoners and 10 machine guns were captured. A number of machine guns were also destroyed by our fire.

During the period under report the Army under my command has taken over trenches occupied by some other French Divisions.

I am much indebted to General D'Urbal, Commanding the 10th French Army, for the valuable and efficient support received throughout the battle of Festubert from three groups of French 75 centimetre guns.

In spite of very unfavourable weather conditions, rendering observation most difficult, our own artillery did excellent work throughout the battle.

6. During the important operations described above, which were carried on by the First and Second Armies, the 3rd Corps was particularly active in making demonstrations with a view to holding the enemy in its front and preventing reinforcements reaching the threatened areas.

As an instance of the successful attempts to deceive the enemy in this respect it may be mentioned that on the afternoon of the 24th instant a bombardment of about an hour was carried out by the 6th Division with the object of distracting attention from the Ypres salient.

Considerable damage was done to the enemy's parapets and wire; and that the desired impression was produced on the enemy is evident from the German wireless news on that day, which stated, "West of Lille the English attemps to attack were nipped in the bud."

In previous reports I have drawn attention to the enterprise displayed by the troops of the 3rd Corps in conducting night reconnaissances, and to the courage and resource shown by officers and other patrols in the conduct of these minor operations.

Throughout the period under report this display of activity has been very marked all along the 3rd Corps front, and much valuable information and intelligence have been collected.

7. I have much pleasure in again expressing my warm appreciation of the admirable manner in which all branches of the Medical Services now in the field, under the direction of Surgeon-General Sir Arthur Sloggett, have met and dealt with the many difficult situations resulting from the operations during the last two months.

The medical units at the front were frequently exposed to the enemy's fire, and many casualties occurred amongst the officers of the regimental Medical Service. At all times the officers, non-commissioned officers and men, and nurses carried out their duties with fearless bravery and great devotion to the welfare of the sick and wounded.

The evacuation of casualties from the front to the Base and to England was expeditiously accomplished by the Administrative Medical Staffs at the front and on the Lines of Communication. All ranks employed in units of evacuation and in Base Hospitals have shown the highest skill and untiring zeal and energy in alleviating the condition of those who passed through their hands.

The whole organisation of the Medical Service reflects the highest credit on all concerned.

8. I have once more to call your Lordship's attention to the part taken by the Royal Flying Corps in the general progress of the campaign, and I wish particularly to mention the invaluable assistance they rendered in the operations described in this report, under the able direction of Major-General Sir David Henderson.

The Royal Flying Corps is becoming more and more an indispensable factor in combined operations. In co-operation with the artillery, in particular, there has been continuous improvement both in the methods and in the technical material employed. The ingenuity and technical skill displayed by the officers of the Royal Flying Corps, in effecting this improvement, have been most marked.

Since my last despatch there has been a considerable increase both in the number and in the activity of German aeroplanes in our front. During this period there have been more than sixty combats in the air, in which not one British aeroplane has been lost. As these fights take place almost invariably over or behind the German lines, only one hostile aeroplane has been brought down in our territory. Five more, however, have been definitely wrecked behind their own lines, and many have been chased down and forced to land in most unsuitable ground.

In spite of the opposition of hostile aircraft and the great number of anti-aircraft guns employed by the enemy, air reconnaissance has been carried out with regularity and accuracy.

I desire to bring to your Lordship's notice the assistance given by the French Military Authorities, and in particular by General Hirschauer, Director of the French Aviation Service, and his assistants, Colonel Bottieaux and Colonel Stammler, in the supply of aeronautical material, without which the efficiency of the Royal Flying Corps would have been seriously impaired.

9. In this despatch I wish again to remark upon the exceptionally good work done throughout this campaign by the Army Service Corps and by the Army Ordnance Department, not only in the field, but also on the Lines of Communication and at the Base Ports.

To foresee and meet the requirements in the matter of Ammunition, Stores, Equipment, Supplies and Transport has entailed on the part of the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of these Services a sustained effort which has never been relaxed since the beginning of the war, and which has been rewarded by the most conspicuous success.

The close co-operation of the Railway Transport Department, whose excellent work, in combination with the French Railway Staff, has ensured the regularity of the maintenance services, has greatly contributed to this success.

The degree of efficiency to which these Services have been brought was well demonstrated in the course of the Second Battle of Ypres.

The roads between Poperinghe and Ypres, over which transport, supply and ammunition columns had to pass, were continually searched by hostile heavy artillery during the day and night; whilst the passage of the canal through the town of Ypres, and along the roads east of that town, could only be effected under most difficult and dangerous conditions as regards hostile shell fire. Yet, throughout the whole five or six weeks during which these conditions prevailed, the work was carried on with perfect order and efficiency.

10. Since the date of my last report some Divisions of the "New" Army have arrived in this country.

I made a close inspection of one Division, formed up on parade, and have at various times seen several units belonging to others.

These Divisions have as yet had very little experience in actual fighting; but, judging from all I have seen, I am of opinion that they ought to prove a valuable addition to any fighting force.

As regards the Infantry, their physique is excellent, whilst their bearing and appearance on parade reflects great credit on the officers and staffs responsible for their training. The units appear to be thoroughly well officered and commanded. The equipment is in good order and efficient.

Several units of artillery have been tested in the firing line behind the trenches, and I hear very good reports of them. Their shooting has been extremely good, and they are quite fit to take their places in the line.

The Pioneer Battalions have created a very favourable impression, the officers being keen and ingenious and the men of good physique and good diggers. The equipment is suitable. The training in field works has been good, but generally speaking, they require the assistance of Regular Royal Engineers as regards laying out of important works. Man for man in digging the battalions should do practically the same amount of work as an equivalent number of sappers, and in rivetting entanglement, etc., a great deal more than the ordinary infantry battalions.

11. During the months of April and May several divisions of the Territorial Force joined the Army under my command.

Experience has shown that these troops have now reached a standard of efficiency which enable them to be usefully employed in complete divisional units.

Several divisions have been so employed: some in the trenches, others in the various offensive and defensive operations reported in this despatch.

In whatever kind of work these units have been engaged, they have all borne an active and distinguished part, and have proved themselves thoroughly reliable and efficient.

The opinion I have expressed in former despatches as to the use and value of the Territorial Force has been fully justified by recent events.

12. The Prime Minister was kind enough to accept an invitation from me to visit the Army in France, and arrived at my Headquarters on the 30th May.

Mr. Asquith made an exhaustive tour of the front, the hospitals and all the administrative arrangements made by Corps Commanders for the health and comfort of men behind the trenches.

It was a great encouragement to all ranks to see the Prime Minister amongst them; and the eloquent words which on several occasions he addressed to the troops had a most powerful and beneficial effect.

As I was desirous that the French Commander-in-Chief should see something of the British troops, I asked General Joffre to be kind enough to inspect a division on parade.

The General accepted my invitation, and on the 27th May he inspected the 7th Division, under the command of Major-General H. de la P. Gough, C. B., which was resting behind the trenches.

General Joffre subsequently expressed to me in a letter the pleasure it gave him to see the British troops, and his appreciation of their appearance on parade. He requested me to make this known to all ranks.

The Moderator of the Church of Scotland, the Right Reverend Dr. Wallace Williamson, Dean of the Order of the Thistle, visited the Army in France between the 7th and 17th May, and made a tour of the Scottish regiments with excellent results.

13. In spite of the constant strain put upon them by the arduous nature of the fighting which they are called upon to carry out daily and almost hourly, the spirit which animates all ranks of the Army in France remains high and confident.

They meet every demand made upon them with the utmost cheerfulness.

This splendid spirit is particularly manifested by the men in hospital, even amongst those who are mortally wounded.

The invariable question which comes from lips hardly able to utter a sound is, "How are things going on at the front?"

14. In conclusion, I desire to bring to Your Lordship's special notice the valuable services rendered by General Sir Douglas Haig in his successful handling of the troops of the First Army throughout the Battle of Festubert, and Lieutenant-General Sir Herbert Plumer for his fine defence of Ypres throughout the arduous and difficult operations during the latter part of April and the month of May.

I have the honour to be,

No. 13755-W.—The following regulations respecting certificates of origin for foreign goods imported into Russia are published for general information:—

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PROOF OF ORIGIN OF FOREIGN GOODS.

I. The following will be accepted as proof of the origin of goods subject to Customs duty at the rates of the "Conventional," or, as the case may be, "General" Tariff for European trade:—

1. Certificates of origin issued by (a) Russian diplomatic and consular officers, with the official seal affixed; (b) Chambers of Commerce, Municipal or Police Authorities, with the official seal affixed; (c) Customs houses discharging the goods from the country whose products are assessed in Russia at "Conventional" rates, or, as the case may be, "General" rates of the Tariff:
2. Accounts, invoices, or letters of manufacturers, wholesale stores, merchants, commission offices and traders.

II. The documents enumerated in point 1 (letters b and c) and point 2 of Section I will be recognised as sufficient proof of origin only when the said documents have been attested by Russian diplomatic or consular officers, if there be such in the country of origin. Not only the signatures in the documents must be so attested, but also the accuracy of the statements regarding the origin of the goods indicated. In the case of accounts, invoices, and letters of foreign manufacturers, etc. (point 2 of Section I), the above officials must also certify that the persons submitting these documents do in fact possess the commercial or industrial undertakings in the name of which the documents are submitted.

Note.—In countries where there are no Russian diplomatic or consular representatives, the documents may be attested by English, French, or Belgian diplomatic or consular officials, according to a list sanctioned by the Minister for Foreign Affairs.

III. Should (Russian) Customs establishments experience any difficulties in interpreting the foreign text of documents presented, the owner of the goods must, on demand, submit a translation in Russian, certifying the correctness of the same with his signature.

IV. The documents referred to in Section I will be accepted only if issued by persons residing, or institutions established in the country of origin of the goods, and not in countries through which they are being conveyed in transit.

V. These documents must contain information as to the quantity of packages, their marks and numbers, gross and net weight, and a description of the goods by their technical or trade name, the following exceptions being admitted:—

(a) In proof of origin of articles assessed in the Tariff not by weight but by piece, documents will be accepted without indication of the net and gross weight.

(b) In documents concerning vessels (ships), the dimensions may be indicated by gross capacity in tons.

(c) The net weight need not be given in the case of the following: all goods assessed in the Tariff by gross weight, and all goods allowed a deduction for tare if imported in packing specifically named in the Tare Table sanctioned by the Minister of Finance.

(d) Slight disparities in the marks and numbers of goods' packages, as compared with the entries in the documents, need not disqualify the documents if the Customs authorities have no doubt that the documents refer to the goods imported.

VI. It is sufficient to present one of the documents indicated in Section I if the goods come to Russia direct from the country of origin.

VII. By direct importation of goods from the country of origin is to be understood:

(a) the carriage of goods from a port of the country of origin to a Russian port without transhipment and without discharge at a port of a third country;

(b) the carriage of goods by rail or by a mixed route, by rail and by steamer, with through waybills or bills of lading, if the place of despatch indicated in these documents is situated within the boundaries of the country of origin, and the place of destination is any interior or frontier point of Russia, even if the goods have to be conveyed viâ other countries to the products of which favourable tariff rates are applied.

VIII. The conveyance of goods through German, Austro-Hungarian, or Turkish territories, as also the transhipment or discharge of goods at ports of these countries, shall deprive the goods of any right to favourable tariff rates.

IX. On the delivery of goods imported indirectly from the country of origin the following will be required:—

1. For goods coming from Customs warehouses, in addition to one of the documents indicated in Section I, a certificate of a Custom house of the country from which the goods are imported into Russia to the effect that the packages indicated in the said documents were not released from the warehouses of that Custom house, and indicating by what waybills or bills of lading they were despatched directly to Russia. This certificate must be attested by Russian diplomatic or consular officials; and

2. For goods acquired in a foreign interior market, a certificate of origin from Russian diplomatic or consular officials, indicating that the goods, on delivery into that country, did not pass in transit through German, Austro-Hungarian or Turkish territory, and were not transhipped or discharged at ports of those countries.

X. Goods specified in the appended list, on direct import into Russia from the country of origin, do not require certificates of origin. If these goods are imported indirectly from the country of origin, they require a certificate of the Custom house of the country from which hey were despatched direct to Russia, this certificate indicating the country of origin, the point whence the goods were received at the place where the Custom house issuing the certificate is situated, and the routes by which the goods were proceeding to Russia. This certificate must be attested by a Russian diplomatic or consular officer.

Note.—At the desire of the owners of the goods, instead of the Customs certificate mentioned in this Section, documents mentioned in Sections I and IX may be presented.

XI. Asiatic goods, imported by Persian, Afghan, Mongolian and overland Chinese frontiers, do not require certificates of origin.

XII. In goods' declarations, when the amount of the duty depends on the country of origin, the owner must indicate the country of origin, otherwise the declaration will be returned for the insertion of this information.

XIII. Documents showing the origin or place of despatch of goods (Sections I to [illegible]) may be presented at Custom houses at the time of import of the goods together with the lading docoments, or on delivery of the declaration, or afterwards with a separate statement handed in previous to the discharge of the goods from the Custom house, but in any case, not later than six months from the date of arrival [illegible] the goods at the Custom house.

XIV. On inspection of the goods, the Customs authorities must see that the proofs of origin presented correspond with the goods, and in cases of reasonable doubt, must verify the proofs, apart from the documents referred to above, and make an expert examination of the goods.

XV. If the number of packages of goods presented for inspection should be found to be less than that entered in the documents of origin, this circumstance alone should not be a reason for refusing to recognise the goods as subject to assessment under the "Conventional" or, as the case may be, "General" Tariff, and the documents of origin must not be returned to the owner of the goods. If the latter declares that the missing packages will be delivered later, the Custom house must, on his written request, deliver to him a copy of these documents with a note on the same explaining the cirscumstances.

XVI. The documents indicated in sections I to X of these regulations delivered at Custom houses with postal declarations, will be recognised as proof of origin of goods imported in postal parcels. For goods received in parcels, delivered to addressees direct from Custom houses (section 617 of the Customs Code, 1912, Supplement), proof or origin may also be presented by the receivers on the same basis as is established for the presentation of proof of origin of goods inspected according to declaration.

XVII. For goods inspected without inspection documents in the cases provided for in sections 197, 198, 257, 391, 399 and 417 of the Customs Code, proof of origin will be accepted on the same basis as is established for goods inspected according to declarations.

XVIII. Documents of origin, as also other documents, after payment of Customs duties on the goods, shall be sent to the competent Control Chambers with the inspection documents.

XIX. In the absence of proofs of origin, or non-compliance of the same with these regulations, the goods will be assessed for duty according to the rates established for goods of German, Austrian, and Turkish origin.

XX. Exemptions from the stipulations of these regulations may be made in exceptional cases on the special authorization, in each separate case of the Minister of Finance.

Third Supplement dated the 6th July 1915, to the "London Gazette" of the 2nd July 1915.

From the General Commanding the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force.

To the Secretary of State for War, War Office, London, S. W.

General Headquarters,
Mediterranean Expeditionary Force,
20th May 1915.

MY LORD,—

I have the honour to submit my report on the operations in the Gallipoli Peninsula up to and including the 5th May.

In accordance with your Lordship's instructions I left London on 13th March with my General Staff by special train to Marseilles, and thence in H.M.S. "Phaeton" to the scene of the naval operations in the Eastern Mediterranean, reaching Tenedos on the 17th March shortly after noon.

Immediately on arrival I conferred with Vice-Admiral de Robeck, Commanding the Eastern Mediterranean Fleet; General d'Amade, Commanding the French Corps Expéditionnaire; and Contre Amiral Guepratte, in command of the French Squadron. At this conference past difficulties were explained to me, and the intention to make a fresh attack on the morrow was announced. The amphibious battle between warships and land fortresses took place next day, the 18th of March. I witnessed these stupendous events, and thereupon cabled your Lordship my reluctant deduction that the co-operation of the whole of the force under my command would be required to enable the Fleet effectively to force the Dardanelles.

By that time I had already carried out a preliminary reconnaissance of the north-western shore of the Gallipoli Peninsula, from its isthmus, where it is spanned by the Bulair fortified lines, to Cape Helles, at its extremest point. From Bulair this singular feature runs in a south-westerly direction for 52 miles, attaining near its centre a breadth of 12 miles. The northern coast of the northern half of the promontory slopes downwards steeply to the Gulf of Xeros, in a chain of hills, which extend as far as Cape Suiva. The precipitous fall of these hills precludes landing, except at a few narrow gullies, far too restricted for any serious military movements. The southern half of the peninsula is shaped like a badly-worn boot. The ankle lies between Kaba Tepe and Kalkmaz Dagh; beneath the heel lie the cluster of forts at Kilid Bahr, whilst the toe is that promontory, five miles in width, stretching from Tekke Burnu to Sedd-el-Bahr.

The three dominating features in this southern section seemed to me to be:—

(1) Saribair Mountain, running up in a succession of almost perpendicular escarpments to 970 feet. The whole mountain seemed to be a network of ravines and covered with thick jungle.

(2) Kilid Bahr plateau, which rises, a natural fortification artificially fortified, to a height of 700 feet to cover the forts of the Narrows from an attack from the Ægean.

(3) Achi Babi, a hill 600 feet in height, dominating at long field gun range what I have described as being the toe of the peninsula.

A peculiarity to be noted as regards this last southern sector is that from Achi Babi to Cape Helles the ground is hollowed out like a spoon, presenting only its outer edges to direct fire from the sea. The inside of the spoon appears to be open and undulating, but actually it is full of spurs, nullahs and confused underfeatures.

Generally speaking the coast is precipitous, and good landing places are few. Just south of Tekke Burnu is a small sandy bay (W),* and half a mile north of it is another small break in the cliffs (X).* Two miles further up the coast the mouth of a stream indents these same cliffs (Y2),* and yet another mile and a half up a scrub-covered gully looked as if active infantry might be able to scramble up it on to heights not altogether dissimilar to those of Abraham, by Quebec (Y).* Inside Sedd-el-Bahr is a sandy beach (V),* about 300 yards across, facing a semi-circle of steeply-rising ground, as the flat bottom of a half-saucer faces the rim, a rim flanked on one side by an old castle, on the other by a modern fort. By Eski Hissarlik, on the east of Morto Bay (S)* was another small beach, which was however dominated by the big guns from Asia. Turning northwards again, there are two good landing places on either side of Kaba Tepe. Farther to the north of that promontory the beach was supposed to be dangerous and difficult. In most of these landing-places the trenches and lines of wire entanglements were plainly visible from on board ship. What seemed to begun emplacements and infantry redoubts could also be made out through a telescope, but of the full extent of these defences and of the forces available to man them there was no possibility of judging except by practical test.

Altogether the result of this and subsequent reconnaissances was to convince me that nothing but a thorough and systematic scheme for flinging the whole of the troops under my command very rapidly ashore could be expected to meet with success; whereas, on the other hand, a tentative or piecemeal programme was bound to lead to disaster. The landing of an army upon the theatre of operations I have described—a theatre strongly garrisoned throughout, and prepared for any such attempt—involved difficulties for which no precedent was forthcoming in military history except possibly in the sinister legends of Xerxes. The beaches were either so well defended by works and guns, or else so restricted by nature that it did not seem possible, even by two or three simultaneous landings, to pass the troops ashore quickly enough to enable them to maintain themselves against the rapid concentration and counter-attack which the enemy was bound in such case to attempt. It became necessary, therefore, not only to land simultaneously at as many points as possible, but to threaten to land at other points as well. The first of these necessities involved another unavoidable if awkward contingency, the separation by considerable intervals of the force.

The weather was also bound to play a vital part in my landing. Had it been British weather there would have been no alternative but instantly to give up the adventure. To land two or three thousand men, and to then to have to break off and leave them exposed for a week to the attacks of 34,000 regular troops, with a hundred guns at their back, was not an eventuality to be lightly envisaged. Whatever happened the weather must always remain an incalculable factor, but at least by delay till the end of April we had a fair chance of several days of consecutive calm.

Before doing anything else I had to redistribute the troops on the transports to suit the order of their disembarkation. The bulk of the forces at my disposal had, perforce, been embarked without its having been possible to pay due attention to the operation upon which I now proposed that they should be launched.

Owing to lack of facilities at Mudros redistribution in that harbour was out of the question. With your Lordship's approval, therefore, I ordered all the transports, except those of the Australian Infantry Brigade and the details encamped at Lemnos Island, to the Egyptian ports. On the 24th March I myself, together with the General Staff, proceeded to Alexandria, where I remained until 7th April, working out the allocation of troops to transports in minutest detail as a prelude to the forthcoming disembarkation. General d'Amade did likewise.

On the 1st April the remainder of the General Headquarters, which had not been mobilised when I left England, arrived at Alexandria.

Apart from the rearrangements of the troops, my visit to Egypt was not without profit, since it afforded me opportunities of conferring with the G. O. C. Egypt and of making myself acquainted with the troops, drawn from all parts of the French Republic and of the British Empire, which it was to be my privilege to command.

By the 7th April my preparations were sufficiently advanced to enable me to return with my General Staff to Lemnos, so as to put the finishing touches to my plan in close co-ordination with the Vice-Admiral commanding the Eastern Mediterranean Fleet.

The covering force of the 29th Division left Mudros Harbour on the evening of 23rd April for the five beaches, S, V, W, X, and Y.* Of these V, W, and X were to be main landings, the landings at S and Y being made mainly to protect the flanks, to disseminate the forces of the enemy, and to interrupt the arrival of his reinforcements. The landings at S and Y were to take place at dawn, whilst it was planned that the first troops for V, W, and X beaches should reach the shore simultaneously at 5-30 A.M. after half an hour's bombardment from the fleet.

The transports conveying the covering force arrived off Tendos on the morning of the 24th, and during the afternoon the troops were transferred to the warships and fleet-sweepers in which they were to approach the shore. About midnight these ships, each towing a number of cutters and other small boats, silently slipped their cables, and escorted by the 3rd Squadron of the fleet, steamed slowly towards their final rendezvous at Cape Helles. The rendezvous was reached just before dawn on the 25th. The morning was absolutely still; there was no sign of life on the shore; a thin veil of mist hung motionless over the promontory; the surface of the sea was as smooth as glass. The four battleships and four cruisers which formed the 3rd Squadron at once took up the positions that had been allotted to them, and at 5 A.M., it being then light enough to fire, a violent bombardment of the enemy's defences was begun. Meanwhile the troops were being rapidly transferred to the small boats in which they were to be towed ashore. Not a move on the part of the enemy; except for shells thrown from the Asiatic side of the Straits the guns of the Fleet remained unanswered.

The detachment detailed in S beach * (Eski Hissarlik Point) consisted of the 2nd South Wales Borderers (less one company) under Lieutenant-Colonel Casson. Their landing was delayed by the current, but by 7-30 A.M. it had been successfully effected at the cost of some 50 casualties, and Lieutenant-Colonel Casson was able to establish his small force on the high ground near De Totts Battery. Here he maintained himself until the general advance on the 27th brought him into touch with the main body.

The landing on Y beach* was entrusted to the King's Own Scottish Borderers and the Plymouth (Marine) Battalion, Royal Naval Division, specially attached to the 29th Division for this task, the whole under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Koe. The beach at this point consisted merely of a narrow strip of sand at the foot of a crumbling scrub-covered cliff some 200 feet high immediately to the west of Krithia.

A number of small gullies running down the face of the cliff facilitated the climb to the summit, and so impracticable had these precipices appeared to the Turks that no steps had been taken to defend them. Very different would it have been had we, as was at one time intended, taken Y 2* for this landing. There a large force of infantry, entrenched up to their necks, and supported by machine and Hotchkiss guns, were awaiting an attempt which could hardly have made good its footing. But at Y* both battalions were able in the first instance to establish themselves on the heights, reserves of food, water and ammunition were hauled up to the top of the cliff, and, in accordance with the plan of operations, an endeavour was immediately made to gain touch with the troops landing at X* beach. Unfortunately, the enemy's strong detachment from Y 2* interposed, our troops landing at X* were fully occupied in attacking the Turks immediately to their front, and the attempt to join hands was not persevered with.

Later in the day a large force of Turks were seen to be advancing upon the cliffs above Y* beach from the direction of Krithia, and Colonel Koe was obliged to entrench. From this time onward his small force was subjected to strong and repeated attacks, supported by field artillery, and owing to the configuration of the ground, which here drops inland from the edge of the cliff, the guns of the supporting ships could render him little assistance Throughout the afternoon and all through the night the Turks made assault after assault upon the British line. They threw bombs into the trenches. and, favoured by darkness, actually led a pony with machine gun on its back, over the defences and were proceeding to come into action in the middle of our position when they were bayonetted. The British repeatedly counter-charged with the bayonet, and always drove off the enemy for the moment, but the Turks were in a vast superiority and fresh troops took the place of those who temporarily fell back. Colonel Koe (since died of wounds) had become a casualty early in the day, and the number of officers and men killed and wounded during the incessant fighting was very heavy. By 7 A.M., on the 26th only about half of the King's Own Scottish Borderers remained to man the entrenchment made for four times their number. These brave fellows were absolutely worn out with continuous fighting; it was doubtful if reinforcements could reach them in time, and orders were issued for them to be re-embarked. Thanks to H.M.S. "Goliath," "Dublin," "Amethyst," and "Sapphire," thanks also to the devotion of a small rearguard of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, which kept off the enemy from lining the cliff, the re-embarkation of the whole of the troops together with the wounded, stores and ammunition, was safely accomplished, and both battalions were brought round the southern end of the peninsula. Deplorable as the heavy losses had been, and unfortunate as was the tactical failure to make good so much ground at the outset, yet, taking the operation as it stood, there can be no doubt it has contributed greatly to the success of the main attack, seeing that the plucky stand made at Y* beach had detained heavy columns of the enemy from arriving at the southern end of the peninsula during what it will be seen was a very touch-and-go struggle.

The landing-place known at X beach* consists of a strip of sand some 200 yards long by 8 yards wide at the foot of a low cliff. The troops to be landed here were the 1st Royal Fusiliers, who were to be towed ashore from H.M.S. "Implacable" in two parties, half a battalion at a time, together with a beach working party found by the Anson Battalion Royal Naval Division. About 6 A.M., H.M.S. "Implacable," with a boldness much admired by the Army, stood quite close in to the beach, firing very rapidly with every gun she could bring to bear. Thus seconded, the Royal Fusiliers made good their landing with but little loss. The Battalion then advanced to attack the Turkish trenches on the Hill 114, situated between V and W beaches,* but were heavily counter-attacked and forced to give ground. Two more battalions of the 87th Brigade soon followed them, and by evening the troops had established themselves in an entrenched position extending from half a mile round the landing place and as far south as Hill 114. Here they were in touch with the Lancashire Fusiliers, who had landed on W beach.* Brigadier-General Marshall, commanding the 87th Brigade, had been wounded during the day's fighting, but continued in command of the brigade.

The landing on V beach* was planned to take place on the following lines:—

As soon as the enemy's defences have been heavily bombarded by the fleet, three companies of the Dublin Fusiliers were to be towed ashore. They were to be closely followed by the collier "River Clyde" (Commander

* In map (not reproduced)

Unwin, R.N.), carrying between decks the balance of the Dublin Fusiliers, the Munster Fusiliers, half a battalion of the Hampshire Regiment, the West Riding Field Company, and other details.

The "River Clyde" had been specially prepared for the rapid disembarkation of her complement, and large openings for the exit of the troops had been cut in her sides, giving on to a wide gang-plank by which the men could pass rapidly into lighters which she had in tow. As soon as the first tows had reached land the "River Clyde" was to be run straight ashore. Her lighters were to be placed in position to form a gangway between the ship and the beach, and by this means it was hoped that 2,000 men could be thrown ashore with the utmost rapidity. Further, to assist in covering the landing, a battery of machine guns, protected by sandbags, had been mounted in her bows.

The remainder of the covering force detailed for this beach was then to follow in tows from the attendant battleships.

V beach* is situated immediately to the west of Sedd-el-Bahr. Between the bluff on which stands Sedd-el-Bahr Village and that which is crowned by No. 1 Fort the ground forms a very regular amphitheatre of three or four hundred yards radius. The slopes down to the beach are slightly concave, so that the whole area contained within the limits of this natural amphitheatre, whose grassy terraces rise gently to a height of a hundred feet above the shore, can be swept by the fire of a defender. The beach itself is a sandy strip some 10 yards wide and 350 yards long, backed along almost the whole of its extent by a low sandy escarpment about 4 feet high, were the ground falls nearly sheer down to the beach. The slight shelter afforded by this escarpment played no small part in the operations of the succeeding thirty-two hours.

At the south-eastern extremity of the beach, between the shore and the village, stands the old fort of Sedd-el-Bahr, a battered ruin with wide breaches in its walls and mounds of fallen masonry within and around it. On the ridge to the north, overlooking the amphitheatre, stands a ruined barrack. Both of these buildings, as well as No. 1 Fort, had been long bombarded by the fleet, and the guns of the forts had been put out of action; but their crumbled walls and the ruined outskirts of the village afforded cover for riflemen, while from the terraced slopes already described the defenders were able to command the open beach, as a stage is overlooked from the balconies of theatre. On the very margin of the beach a strong barbed-wire entanglement, made of heavier metal and longer barbs than I have ever seen elsewhere, ran right across from the old fort of Sedd-el-Bah to the foot of the north-western headland. Two-thirds of the way up the ridge a second and even stronger entanglement crossed the amphitheatre, passing in front of the old barrack and ending in the outskirts of the village. A third transverse entanglement, joining these two, ran up the hill near the eastern end of the beach, and almost at right angles to it. Above the upper entanglement the ground was scored with the enemy's trenches in one of which four pom-poms were emplaced; in others were dummy pom-poms to draw fire, while the debris of the shattered buildings on either flank afforded cover and concealment for a number of machine guns, which brought a cross-fire to bear on the ground already swept by rifle fire from the ridge.

Needless to say, the difficulties in the way of previous reconnaissance had rendered it impossible to obtain detailed information with regard either to the locality or to the enemy's preparations.

As often happens in war, the actual course of events did not quite correspond with the intentions of the Commander. The "River Clyde" came into position off Sedd-el-Bahr in advance of the tows, and, just as the latter reached the shore, Commander Unwin beached his ship also. Whilst the boats and the collier were approaching the landing place the Turks made no sign. Up to the very last moment it appeared as if the landing was to be unopposed. But the moment the first boat touched bottom the storm broke. A tornado of fire swept over the beach, the incoming boats, and the collier. The Dublin Fusiliers and the naval boats' crews suffered exceedingly heavy losses while still in the boats. Those who succeeded in landing and in crossing the strip of sand managed to gain some cover when they reached the low escarpment on the further side. None of the boats, however, were able to get off again and they and their crews were destroyed upon the beach.

Now came the moment for the "River Clyde" to pour forth her living freight: but grievous delay was caused here by the difficulty of placing the lighters in position between the slip and the shore. A strong current hindered the work and the enemy's fire was so intense that almost every man engaged upon it was immediately shot. Owing, however, to the splendid gallantry of the naval working party, the lighters were eventually placed in position, and then the disembarkation began.

A company of the Munster Fusiliers led the way; but, short as was the distance, few of the men ever reached the father side of the beach through the hail of bullets which poured down upon them from both flanks and the front. As the second company followed, the extemporised pier of lighters gave way in the current. The end nearest to the shore drifted into deep water, and many men who had escaped being shot were drowned by the weight of their equipment in trying to swim from the lighter to the beach. Undaunted workers were still forthcoming, the lighters were again brought into position, and the third company of the Munster Fusiliers rushed ashore, suffering heaviest loss this time from shrapnel as well as from rifle, pom-pom, and machine gun fire.

For a space the attempt to land was discontinued. When it was resumed the lighters again drifted into deep water, with Brigadier-General Napier, Captain Costeker, his Brigade Major, and a number of men of the Hampshire Regiment on board. There was nothing for them all but to lie down on the lighters, and it was here that General Napier and Captain Costeker were killed. At this time, between 10 and 11 A.M., about 1,000 men had left the collier, and of these nearly half had been killed or wounded before they could reach the little cover afforded by the steep, sandy bank at the top of the beach. Further attempts to disemark were now given up. Had the troops all in open boats but few of them would have lived to tell the tale. But, most fortunately, the collier was so constructed as to afford fairly efficient protection to the men who were still on board, and, so long as they made no attempt to land, they suffered comparatively little loss.

Throughout the remainder of the day there was practically no change in the position of affairs. The situation was probably saved by the machine guns on the "River Clyde" which did valuable service in keeping down the enemy's fire and in preventing any attempt on their part to launch a counter-attack. One half-company of the Dublin Fusiliers, which had been landed at a camber just east of Sedd-el-Bahr village, was unable to work its way across to V beach,* and by mid-day had only twenty-five men left. It was proposed to divert to Y beach* that part of the main body which had been intended to land on V beach;* but this would have involved cosiderable delay owing to the distance, and the main body was diverted to W beach,* where the Lancashire Fusiliers had already effected a landing.

Late in the afternoon part of the Worcestershire Regiment and the Lancashire Fusiliers worked across the high ground* from W beach,* and seemed likely to relieve the situation by taking the defenders of V beach* in flank. The pressure on their own front, however, and the numerous barbed-wire entanglements which intervened, checked this advance, and at nightfall the Turkish garrison still held their ground. Just before dark some small parties of our men made their way along the shore to the outer walls of the Old Fort, and when night had fallen the remainder of the infantry from the collier were landed. A good force was now available for attack, but our troops were at such a cruel disadvantage as to position, and the fire of the enemy was still so accurate in the bright moonlight that all attempts to clear the fort and the outskrits of the village during the night failed one after the other. The wounded who were able to do so without support returned to the collier under cover of darkness; but otherwise the situation at daybreak on the 26th was the same as it had been on the previous day except that the troops first landed were becoming very exhausted.

Twenty-four hours after the disembarkation began there were ashore on V beach* the survivors of the Dublin and Munster Fusiliers and of two companies of the Hampshire Regiment. The Brigadier and his Brigade-Major had been killed; Lieutenant-Colonel Carrington Smith, commanding the Hampshire Regiment, had been killed and the Adjutant had been wounded. The Adjutant of the Munster Fusiliers was wounded, and the great majority of the senior officers were either wounded or killed. The remnant of the landing-party still crouched on the beach beneath the shelter of the sandy escarpment which had saved so many lives. With them were two officers of my General Staff—Lieutenant-Colonel Doughty-Wylie and Lieutenant-Colonel

Williams. These two officers, who had landed from the "River Clyde" had been striving with conspicuous contempt for danger, to keep all their comrades in good heart during this day and night of ceaseless imminent peril.

Now that it was daylight once more, Lieutenant-Colonels Doughty-Wylie and Williams set to work to organise an attack on the hill above the beach. Any soldier who has endeavoured to pull scattered units together after they have been dominated for many consecutive hours by close and continuous fire will be able to take the measure of their difficulties. Fortunately, General Hunter Weston had arranged with Rear-Admiral Wemyss about this same time for a heavy bombardment to be opened by the ships upon the Old Fort, Sedd-el-Bahr Village, the Old Castle north of the village, and on the ground leading up from the beach. Under cover of this bombardment, and led by Lieutenant-Colonel Doughty-Wylie and Captain Walford, Brigade-Major, R. A., the troops gained a footing in the village by 10 A.M. They encountered a most stubborn opposition and suffered heavy losses from the fire of well-concealed riflemen and machine guns. Undeterred by the resistance, and supported by the naval gunfire, they pushed forward, and soon after midday they penetrated to the northern edge of the village, whence they were in a position to attack the Old Castle and Hill 141. During this advance Captain Walford was killed. Lieutenant-Colonel Doughty-Wylie had most gallantly led the attack all the way up from the beach through the west side of the village under a galling fire. And now, when, owing so largely to his own inspiring example and intrepid courage, the position had almost been gained, he was killed while leading the last assault. But the attack was pushed forward without wavering, and, fighting their way across the open with great dash, the troops gained the summit and occupied the Old Castle and Hill 141 before 2 P.M.

W. beach* consists of a strip of deep, powdery sand some 350 yards long and from 15 to 40 yards wide, situated immediately south of Tekke Burnu, where a small gully running down to the sea opens out a break in the cliffs. On either flank of the beach the ground rises precipitously but, in the centre, a number of sand dunes afford a more gradual access to the ridge overlooking the sea. Much time and ingenuity had been employed by the Turks in turning this landing place into a death trap. Close to the water's edge, broad wire entanglement extended the whole length of the shore, and a supplementary barbed network lay concealed under the surface of the sea in the shallows. Land mines and sea mines had been laid. The high ground overlooking the beach was strongly fortified with trenches to which the gully afforded a natural covered approach. A number of machine guns also were cunningly tucked away into holes in the cliff so as to be immune from a naval bombardment whilst they were converging their fire on the wire entanglements. The crest of the hill overlooking the beach was in its turn commanded by high ground to the north-west and south-east, and especially by two strong infantry redoubts near point 138. Both these redoubts were protected by wire entanglements about 20 feet broad, and could be approached only by a bare glacislike slope leading up from the high ground above W beach* or from the Cape Helles lighthouse. In addition, another separate entanglement ran down from these two redoubts to the edge of the cliff near the lighthouse, making intercommunication between V and W beaches* impossible until these redoubts had been captured.

So strong, in fact, were the defences of W beach* that the Turks may well have considered them impregnable, and it is my firm conviction that no finer feat of arms has ever been achieved by the British soldier—or any other soldier—than the storming of these trenches from open boats on the morning of 25th April.

The landing at W* had been entrusted to the 1st Battalion, Lancashire Fusiliers (Major Bishop), and it was to the complete lack of the senses of danger or of fear of this daring battalion that we owed our astonishing success. As in the case of the landing at X,* the disembarkation had been delayed for half an hour, but at 6 A.M. the whole battalion approached the shore together, towed by eight picket boats in line abreast, each picket boat pulling four ship's cutters. As soon as shallow water was reached, the tows were cast off and the boats were at once rowed to the shore. Three companies headed for the beach and a company on the left of the line made for a small ledge of rock immediately under the cliff at Tekke Burnu. Brigadier-General Hare, commanding the 88th Brigade, accompanied this latter party, which escaped the cross-fire brought to bear upon the beach, and was also in a better position than the rest of the battalion to turn the wire entanglements.

While the troops were approaching the shore no shot had been fired from the enemy's trenches, but as soon as the first boat touched the ground a hurricane of lead swept over the battalion. Gallantly led by their officers, the Fusiliers literally hurled themselves ashore and, fired at from right, left and centre, commenced hacking their way through the wire. A long line of men was at once mown down as by a scythe, but the remainder were not to be denied. Covered by the fire of the warships, which had now closed right into the shore and helped by the flanking fire of the company on the extreme left, they broke through the entanglements and collected under the cliffs on either side of the beach. Here the companies were rapidly reformed, and set forth to storm the enemy's entrenchments wherever they could find them.

In making these attacks the bulk of the battalion moved up towards Hill 114, whilst a small party worked down towards the trenches on the Cape Helles side of the landing place.

Several land mines were exploded by the Turks during the advance, but the determination of the troops was in no way affected. By 10 A.M. three lines of hostile trenches were in our hands, and our hold on the beach was assured.

About 9-30 A.M more infantry had begun to disembark, and two hours later a junction was effected on Hill 114 with the troops who had landed on X beach.

On the right, owing to the strength of the redoubt on Hill 138, little progress could be made. The small party of Lancashire Fusiliers which had advanced in this direction succeeded in reaching the edge of the wire entanglements, but were not strong enough to do more, and it was here that Major Frankland, Brigade-Major of the 86th Infantry Brigade, who had gone forward to make a personal reconnaissance, was unfortunately killed. Brigadier-General Hare had been wounded earlier in the day, and Colonel Woolly-Dod, General Staff, 29th Division, was now sent ashore to take command at W beach* and organise a further advance.

At 2 P.M. after the ground near Hill 138 had been subjected to a heavy bombardment, the Worcester Regiment advanced to the assault. Several men of this battalion rushed forward with great spirit to cut passages through the entanglement; some were killed, others persevered, and by 4 p.m. the hill and redoubt were captured.

An attempt was now made to join hands with the troops on V beach,* who could make no headway at all against the dominating defences of the enemy. To help them out, the 86th Brigade pushed forward in an easterly direction along the cliff. There is a limit however to the storming of barbed wire entanglements. More of these barred the way. Again the heroic wire-cutters came out. Through glasses they could be seen quietly snipping away under a hellish fire as if they were pruning a vineyard. Again some of them fell. The fire pouring out of No. 1 Fort grew hotter and hotter until the troops, now thoroughly exhausted by a sleepless night and by the long day's fighting under a hot sun, had to rest on their laurels for a while.

When night fell, the British position in front of W beach* extended from just east of Cape Helles lighthouse, through Hill 138, to Hill 114. Practically every man had to be thrown into the trenches to hold this line, and the only available reserves on this part of our front were the 2nd London Field Company, R. E., and a platoon of the Anson Battalion, which had been landed as a beach working party.

During the night several strong and determined counter-attacks were made, all successfully repulsed without loss of ground. Meanwhile the disembarkation of the remainder of the Division was proceeding on W and X beaches.*

The Australian and New Zealand Army Corps sailed out of Mudros Bay on the afternoon of April 24th, escorted by the 2nd Squadron of the Fleet, under Rear-Admiral Thursby. The rendezvous was reached just after half-past one in the morning of the 25th, and there the 1,500 men who had been placed on board H. M. ships before leaving Mudros were transferred to their boats. This operation was carried out with remarkable expedition.

and in absolute silence. Simultaneously the remaining 2,500 men of the covering force were transferred from their transports to six destroyers. At 2-30 A.M. H. M. ships, together with the tows and the destroyers, proceeded to within some four miles of the coast, H. M. S. "Queen" (flying Rear-Admiral Thursby's flag) directing on a point about a mile north of Kaba Tepe. At 3-30 a.m. orders to go ahead and land were given to the tows, and at 4-10 A.M. the destroyers were ordered to follow.

All these arrangements worked without a hitch, and were carried out in complete orderliness and silence. No breath of wind ruffled the surface of the sea, and every condition was favourable save for the moon, which, sinking behind the ships, may have silhouetted them against its orb, betraying them thus to watchers on the shore.

A rugged and difficult part of the coast had been selected for the landing, so difficult and rugged that I considered the Turks were not at all likely to anticipate such a descent. Indeed, owing to the tows having failed to maintain their exact direction the actual point of disembarkation was rather more than a mile north of that which I had selected, and was more closely overhung by steeper cliffs. Although this accident increased the initial difficulty of driving the enemy off the heights inland, it has since proved itself to have been a blessing in disguise, inasmuch as the actual base of the force of occupation has been much better defiladed from shell fire.

The beach on which the landing was actually effected is a very narrow strip of sand, about 1,000 yards in length, bounded on the north and the south by two small promontories. At its southern extremity a deep ravine, with exceedingly steep, scrub-clad sides, runs inland in a north-easterly direction. Near the northern end of the beach a small but steep gully runs up into the hills at right angles to the shore. Between the ravine and the gully the whole of the beach is backed by the seaward face of the spur which forms the north-western side of the ravine. From the top of the spur the ground falls almost sheer, except near the southern limit of the beach, where gentler slopes give access to the mouth of the ravine behind. Further inland lie in a tangled knot the under-features of Saribair, separated by deep ravines which take a most confusing diversity of direction. Sharp spurs, covered with denese scrub and falling away in many places in precipitous sandy cliffs, radiate from the principal mass of the mountain, from which they run north-west. west, south-west, and south to the coast.

The boats approached the land in the silence and the darkness, and they were close to the shore before the enemy stirred. Then about one Battalion of Turks was seen running along the beach to intercept the lines of boats. At this so critical a moment the conduct of all ranks was most praiseworthy. Not a word was spoken—everyone remained perfectly orderly and quiet awaiting the enemy's fire, which sure enough opened, causing many casualties. The moment the boats touched land the Australian's turn had come. Like lightning they leapt ashore, and each man as he did so went straight as his bayonet at the enemy. So vigorous was the onslaught that the Turks made no attempt to withstand it and fled from ridge to ridge pursued by the Australian infantry.

This attack was carried out by the 3rd Australian Brigade, under Major (temporary Colonel) Sinclair Maclagan. D.S.O. The 1st and 2nd Brigades followed promptly, and were all disembarked by 2 P.M., by which time 12,000 men and two Batteries of Indian Mountain Artillery had been landed. The disembarkation of further artillery was delayed owing to the act that the enemy's heavy guns opened on the anchorage and forced the transports, which had been subjected to continuous shelling from his field guns, to stand further out to sea.

The broken ground, the thick scrub, the necessity for sending any formed detachments post haste as they landed to the critical point of the moment, the headlong valour ef scattered groups of the men who had pressed far further into the peninsula than had been intended—all these led to confusion and mixing up of units. Eventually the mixed crowd of fighting men, some advancing from the beach, others falling back before the oncoming Turkish supports, solidified into a semi-circular position with its right about a mile north of Kaba Tepe and its left on the high ground over Fisherman's Hut. During this period parties of the 9th and 10th Battalions charged and put out of action three of the enemy's Krupp guns. During this period also the disembarkation of the Australian Division was being followed by that of the New Zealand and Australian Division (two brigades only).

From 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. the enemy, now reinforced to a strength of 20,000 men, attacked the whole line, making a specially strong effort against the 3rd Brigade and the left of the 2nd Brigade. This counter-attack was, however, handsomely repulsed with the help of the guns of H. M. ships. Between 5 and 6-30 P M. a third most determined counter-attack was made against the 3rd Brigade, who held their ground with more than equivalent stubbornness. During the night again the Turks made constant attacks, and the 8th Battalion repelled a bayonet charge; but in spite of all the line held firm. The troops had had practically no rest on the night of the 24-25th; they had been fighting hard all day over most difficult country, and they had been subjected to heavy shrapnel fire in the open. Their casualties had been deplorably heavy. But, despite their losses and in spite of their fatigue, the morning of the 26th found them still in good heart and as full of fight as ever.

It is a consolation to know that the Turks suffered still more seriously. Several times our machine guns got on to them in close formation, and the whole surrounding country is still strewn with their dead of this date.

The reorganisation of units and formations was impossible during the 26th and 27th owing to persistent attacks. An advance was impossible until a reorganisation could be effected, and it only remained to entrench the position gained and to perfect the arrangements for bringing up ammunition, water, and supplies to the ridges—in itself a most difficult undertaking. Four Battalions of the Royal Naval Division were sent up to reinforce the Army Corps on the 28th and 29th April.

On the night of May 2nd a bold effort was made to seize a commanding knoll in front of the centre of the line. The enemy's enfilading machine guns were too scientifically posted, and 800 men were lost without advantage beyond the infliction of a corresponding loss to the enemy. On May 4th an attempt to seize Kaba Tepe was also unsuccessful, the barbed-wire here being something beyond belief. But a number of minor operations have been carried out, such as the taking of a Turkish observing station; the strengthening of entrenchments; the reorganisation of units; and the perfecting of communication with the landing place. Also a constant strain has been placed upon some of the best troops of the enemy who, to the number of 24,000, are constantly kept fighting and being killed and wounded freely, as the Turkish sniper is no match for the Kangaroo shooter, even at his own game.

The assistance of the Royal Navy, here as elsewhere, has been invaluable. The whole of the arrangements have been in Admiral Thursby's hands, and I trust I may be permitted to say what a trusty and powerful friend he has proved himself to be to the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps.

Concurrently with the British landings a regiment of the French Corps was successfully disembarked at Kum Kale under the guns of the French fleet, and remained ashore till the morning of the 26th, when they were re-embarked. 500 prisoners were captured by the French on this day.

This operation drew the fire of the Asiatic guns from Morto Bay and V beach * on to Kum Kale, and contributed largely to the success of the British landings.

On the evening of the 26th the main disembarkation of the French Corps was begun, V beach* being allotted to our Allies for this purpose, and it was arranged that the French should hold the portion of the front between the telegraph wire and the sea.

The following day I ordered a general advance to a line streching from Hill 236 near Eski Hissarlik Point to the mouth of the stream two miles north of Tekke Burnu. This advance which was commenced at midday was completed without opposition, and the troops at once consolidated their new line. The forward movement relieved the growing congestion on the beaches, and by giving us possession of several new wells afforded a temporary solution to the water problem, which had hitherto been causing me much anxiety.

By the evening of the 27th the Allied forces had established themselves on a line some three miles long, which streched from the mouth of the nullah, 3,200 yards north-east of Tekke Burnu, to Eski Hissarlik Point, the three Brigades of the 29th Division less two battalions on the left and in the centre, with four French Battalions on the right, and beyond them again the South Wales Borderers on the extreme right.

* In map (not reproduced)

Owing to casualties this line was somewhat thinly held. Still, it was so vital to make what headway we could before the enemy recovered himself and received fresh reinforcements, that it was decided to push on as quickly as possible. Orders were therefore issued for a general advance to commence at 8 A. M., next day.

The 29th Division were to march on Krithia, with their left brigade leading, the French were directed to extend their left in conformity with the British movements and to retain their right on the coast-line south of the Kereves Dere.

The advance commenced at 8 A.M. on the 28th, and was carried out with commendable vigour, despite the fact that from the moment of landing the troops had been unable to obtain any proper rest.

The 87th Brigade, with which had been incorporated the Drake Battalion, Royal Naval Division, in the place of the King's Own Scottish Borderers and South Wales Borderers, pushed on rapidly, and by 10 A.M., had advanced some two miles. Here the further progress of the Border Regiment was barred by a strong work on the left flank. They halted to concentrate and make dispositions to attack it, and at the moment had to withstand a determined counter-attack by the Turks. Aided by heavy gun fire from H. M. S. "Queen Elizabeth," they succeeded in beating off the attack, but they made no further progress that day and when night fell entrenched themselves on the ground they had gained in the morning.

The Inniskilling Fusiliers who advanced with their right on the Krithia ravine, reached a point about three-quarters of a mile south-west of Krithia. This was, however, the farthest limit attained, and later on in the day they fell back into line with other corps.

The 88th Brigade on the right of the 87th progressed steadily until about 11-30 A.M., when the stubbornness of the opposition, coupled with a dearth of ammunition, brought their advance to a standstill. The 86th Brigade, under Lieutenant-Colonel Casson, which had been held in reserve, were thereupon ordered to push forward through the 88th Brigade in the direction of Krithia.

The movement commenced at about 1 P.M., but though small reconnoitring parties got to within a few hundred yards of Krithia, the main body of the brigade did not get beyond the line held by the 88th Brigade. Meanwhile, the French had also pushed on in the face of strong opposition along the spurs on the western bank of Kereves Dere, and had got to within a mile off Krithia with their right thrown back and their left in touch with the 88th Brigade. Here they were unable to make further progress: gradually the strength of the resistance made itself felt, and our Allies were forced during the afternoon to give ground.

By 2 P.M, the whole of the troops with the exception of the Drake Battalion had been absorbed into the firing line. The men were exhausted, and the few guns landed at the time were unable to afford them adequate artillery support. The small amount of transport available did not suffice to maintain the supply of munitions, and cartridges were running short despite all efforts to push them up from the landing places.

Hopes of getting a footing on Achi Babi had now perforce to be abandoned—at least for this occasion. The best that could be expected was that we should be able to maintain what we had won and when at 3 P.M., the Turks made a determined counter-attack with the bayonet against the centre and right of our line, even this seemed exceedingly doubtful. Actually a partial retirement did take place. The French were also forced back, and at 6 P.M., orders were issued for our troops to entrench themselves as best as they could in the positions they then held, with their right flank thrown back so as to maintain connection with our Allies. In this retirement the right flank of the 88th Bridade was temporarily uncovered and the Worcester Regiment suffered severely.

Had it been possible to push in reinforcements in men, artillery and munitions during the day, Krithia should have fallen, and much subsequent fighting for its capture would have been avoided.

Two days later this would have been feasible, but I had to reckon with the certainty that the enemy would, in that same time, have received proportionately greater support. I was faced by the usual choice of evils, and although the result was not what I had hoped, I have no reason to believe that hesitation and delay would better have answered my purpose.

For, after all, we had pushed forward quite appreciably on the whole. The line eventually held by our troops on the night of the 28th ran from a point on the coast three miles north-west of Tekke Burnu to a point one mile north of Eski Hissarlik, whence it was continued by the French south-east to the coast.

Much inevitable mixing of units of the 86th and 88th Brigades had occurred during the day's fighting, and there was a dangerous re-entrant in the line at the junction of the 87th and 88th Brigades near the Krithia nullah. The French had lost heavily, especially in officers, and required time to re-organise.

The 29th April was consequently spent in straightening the line, and in consolidating and strengthening the positions gained. There was a certain amount of artillery and musketry fire, but nothing serious.

Similarly, on the 30th, no advance was made, nor was any attack delivered by the enemy. The landing of the bulk of the artillery was completed, and a readjustment of the line took place, the portion held by the French being somewhat increased.

Two more Battalions of the Royal Naval Division has been disembarked, and these, together with three Battalions of the 88th Brigade withdrawn from the line, were formed into a reserve.

This reserve was increased on the 1st May by the addition of the 29th Indian Infantry Brigade, which released the three Battalions of the 88th Brigade to return to the trenches The Corps Expéditionnaire d'Orient had disembarked the whole of their infantry and all but two of their batteries by the same evening.

At 10 P.M. the Turks opened a hot shell fire upon our position, and half an hour later, just before the rise of the moon, they delivered a series of desperate attacks. Their formation was in three solid lines, the men in the front rank being deprived of ammunition to make them rely only upon the bayonet. The officers were served out with coloured Bengal lights to fire from their pistols, red indicating to the Turkish guns that they were to lengthen their range; white that our front trenches had been stormed; green that our main position had been carried. The Turkish attack was to crawl on hands and knees until the time came for the final rush to be made.

The first momentum of this ponderous onslaught fell upon the right of the 86th Brigade, an unlucky spot, seeing all the officers thereabouts had already been killed or wounded. So when the Turks came right on without firing and charged into the trenches with the bayonet they made an ugly gap in the line. This gap was instantly filled by the 5th Royal Scots (Territorials), who faced to their flank and executed a brilliant bayonet charge against the enemy, and by the Essex Regiment detached for the purpose by the Officer Commanding 88th Brigade. The rest of the British line held its own with comparative ease, and it was not found necessary to employ any portion of the reserve. The storm next broke in fullest violence against the French left, which was held by the Senegalese. Behind them were two British Field Artillery Brigades and a Howitzer Battery. After several charges and counter-charges the Senegalese began to give ground and a company of the Worcester Regiment and some gunners were sent forward to hold the gap. Later, a second company of the Worcester Regiment was also sent up, and the position was then maintained for the remainder of the night, although, about 2 A.M., it was found necessary to despatch one Battalion Royal Naval Division to strengthen the extreme right of the French.

About 5 A.M. a counter-offensive was ordered, and the whole line began to advance. By 7-30 A.M. the British left had gained some 500 yards, and the centre had pushed the enemy back and inflicted heavy losses. The right also had gained some ground in conjunction with the French left, but the remainder of the French line was unable to progress. As the British centre and left were now subjected to heavy cross fire from concealed machine guns, it was found impossible to maintain the ground gained, and therefore, about 11 A.M., the whole line withdrew to its former trenches.

The net result of the operations was the repulse of the Turks and the infliction upon them of very heavy losses. At first we had them fairly on the run, and had it not been for those inventions of the devil—machine guns and barbed wire—which suit the Turkish character and tactics to perfection, we should not have stopped short of the crest of Achi Babi. As it was, all brigades reported great numbers of dead Turks in front of their lines, and 350 prisoners were left in our hands.

On the 2nd, during the day, the enemy remained quiet, burying his dead under a red crescent flag, a work with which we did not interfere.

Shortly after 9 P.M., however, they made another attack against the whole allied line, their chief effort being made against the French front, where the ground favoured their approach. The attack was repulsed with loss.

During the night 3rd-4th the French front was again subjected to a heavy attack, which they were able to repulse without assistance from my general reserve.

The day of the 4th was spent in reorganisation, and a portion of the line held by the French, who had lost heavily during the previous night's fighting, was taken over by the 2nd Naval Brigade. The night passed quietly.

During the 5th the Lancashire Fusilier Brigade of the East Lancashire Division was disembarked and placed in reserve behind the British left.

Orders were issued for an advance to be carried out next day, and these and the three days' battle which ensued, will be dealt with in my next despatch.

The losses, exclusive of the French, during the period covered by this despatch were, I regret to say, very severe, numbering:—

177 Officers and 1,990 other ranks killed,
412 Officers and 7,807 other ranks wounded,
13 Officers and 3,580 other ranks missing.

From a technical point of view it is interesting to note that my Administrative Staff had not reached Mudros by the time when the landing were finally arranged. All the highly elaborate work involved by these landings was put through by my General Staff working in collaboration with Commodore Roger Kayes, C.B., M.V.O., and the Naval Transport Officers allotted for the purpose by Vice-Admiral de Robeck. Navy and Army carried out these combined duties with that perfect harmony which was indeed absolutely essential to success.

Throughout the events I have chronicled the Royal Navy has been father and mother to the Army. Not one of us but realises how much he owes to Vice-Admiral de Robeck; to the warships, French and British; to the destroyers, mine sweepers, picket boats, and to all their dauntless crews, who took no thought of themselves, but risked everything to give their soldier comrades a fair run in at the enemy.

Throughout these preparations and operations Monsieur le Général d' Amade has given me the benefit of his wide experiences of war, and has afforded me, always, the most loyal and energetic support. The landing of Kum Kale planned by me as a mere diversion to distract the attention of the enemy was transformed by the Commander of the Corps Expenditionnaire de l'Orient into a brilliant operation, which secured some substantial results. During the fighting which followed the landing of the French Division at Sedd-el-Bahr no troops could have acquitted themselves more creditably under very trying circumstances, and under very heavy losses, than those working under the orders of Monsieur le Géneral d' Amade.

Lieutenant-General Sir W. R. Birdwood, K.C.S.I., C.B., C.I.E., D.S.O., was in command of the detached landing of the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps above Kaba Tepe, as well as during the subsequent fighting. The fact of his having been responsible for the execution of these difficult and hazardous operations—operations which were crowned with a very remarkable success—speaks, I think, for itself.

Major-General A. G. Hunter-Weston, C.B., D.S.O., was tried very highly not only during the landings, but more especially in the day and night attacks and counter-attacks which ensued. Untiring, resourceful and even more cheerful as the outlook (on occasion) grew darker, he possesses, in my opinion, very special qualifications as a Commander of troops in the field.

Major-General W. P. Braithwaite, C.B., is the best Chief of the General Staff it has ever been my fortune to encounter in war. I will not pile epithets upon him. I can say no more than what I have said, and I can certainly say, no less.

I have many other names to bring to notice for the period under review, and these will form the subject of a separate report at an early date.

RESOLUTION.

AT a meeting of the Imperial Legislative Council held on the 24th of January 1914, the Hon'ble Mr. Rama Rayaningar moved a Resolution recommending that local Governments should be consulted as to the desirability of establishing Advisory Boards composed of non-official gentlemen nominated by the revenue heads of districts to assist officials in assessing income-tax. After some discussion, in the course of which certain prima facie objections to the policy advocated by the Hon'ble Mover were stated, the Resolution was accepted on the ground that it was advisable to consult local Governments and through them public opinion as to the practicability and expediency of adopting the proposed method of assessment.

2. The Government of India have now received the views of all local Governments and Administrations on the subject, and it is found that the proposal has been widely canvassed and unhesitatingly condemned by practically all who were consulted. The general conclusion arrived at is that the creation of formal Advisory Boards would not improve the accuracy of assessment and would tend to make the tax more unpopular.

3. The objections advanced by local Governments and the public bodies and individuals whom they consulted confirm generally the criticism to which the proposal was subjected in the discussion in the Imperial Legislative Council. The more important arguments are summarised below:—

I. It is widely felt that business men would have the strongest objection to the disclosure of their accounts, and consequently of important information regarding their financial credit and methods of business. to a Board composed of their neighbours and possibly including trade rivals. It is an accepted principle of Income Tax law that information of this kind, while necessary for purposes of assessment, should be regarded as absolutely confidential as between the State and the tax-payer, and the maintenance of this principle would be seriously endangered by the proposed system of assessment.

II. The principal utility of the proposed Boards would by hypothesis lie in their local and personal knowledge. It would therefore be necessary to appoint a special Board in each area of assessment and the authorities consulted anticipate the utmost difficulty in obtaining men possessing the requisite standing and sense of public responsibility. This difficulty would be specially great in rural areas. It is also urged that apart from other considerations the frequent prevalence of local factions would enhance the difficulty of securing a Board which would command the confidence both of Government and the assessees.

III. The proposed Advisory Boards would be exposed to conflicting influences, the sense of their duty to Government on the one hand and, on the other, pressure implied or expressed on the part of the assessees, with many of whom they would necessarily have some personal or business relations. The position would be most difficult to sustain, and it is generally believed that qualified men would be reluctant to undertake the task.

IV It is represented that private individuals are often found by experience to be unwilling to take the responsibility of tendering advice in a formal and public way, and that influential and representative citizens who may at present be relied upon to give the Collector of Income-tax the benefit of their personal knowledge would thus be of diminished utility if identified with membership of an official committee.

V. The introduction of Advisory Boards would tend to weaken the sense of responsibility of the official Income-tax Collector. The duties which he performs are necessarily of an inquisitorial and somewhat distasteful nature, and it would not be an altogether unnatural result if he should display a tendency to throw as much responsibility as possible on the shoulders of the Advisory Boards.

4. These opinions appear to the Government of India to be conclusive, and they do not therefore propose to take any further steps in the direction of requiring local Governments to constitute formal Advisory Boards for the assessment of the tax.

5. The Government of India, however, do not desire to interfere with the existing practice by which non-official agency is widely employed in an informal manner in connection with income-tax assessments. It appears from the recent correspondence with local Governments that in every province the assessing officer is required to seek information from persons likely to be acquainted with the circumstances of those already on the assessment roll, or who might be brought on it. In towns municipal commissioners and leading representatives of the different communities and of commercial and industrial interests are consulted; and in rural areas headmen, ziladars, and village panchayats where these exist. In one or two provinces small committees consisting of influential citizens, representative traders and manufacturers, are informally associated with Government officials in the work of assessment. The information thus collected is recorded confidentially by the Government assessing officer, and a further feature of the arrangements generally obtaining is that in each case efforts are made to obtain information from a number of independent sources with the object of correcting or eliminating as far as possible biassed or inaccurate statements. Or, again, where questions of accounts are concerned, the assessee may be permitted, if he so desires, to have his books examined by a non-official commission and care is taken to select for such commissions gentlemen well qualified by their knowledge of business, their familiarity with systems of accounts and by a reputation for trustworthiness.

These expedients are legitimate and suitable, and it is understood that they have proved of material assistance in the work of assessing the tax. The matter, however, is one with which Provincial Governments are competent to deal, and it is unnecessary for the Government of India to do more than indicate their general approval of the methods employed, leaving it to local Governments to maintain and develop the existing procedure on practical lines suited to the varying circumstances of the communities with whom the assessing officer has to deal.

ORDERED that the Resolution be communicated to all local Governments and Administrations (except Baluchistan) and to all Chambers of Commerce, for information.

Ordered also that it be published in the Gazette of India.

Provided that where two or more adjoining holdings form part and parcel of the site or premises of a dwelling-house, manufactory, warehouse or place of trade or business, such holdings shall be deemed to be one holding for the purposes of these rules;

4. The Cantonment Authority, in order to prepare the valuation list, may, whenever it thinks fit, by notice, require the owners and occupiers of all holdings to furnish it with returns of the rent or annual value thereof; and the Cantonment Authority, or any person authorized by it in writing in that behalf, may, at any time between sunrise and sunset, enter, inspect and measure any such holding after having given forty-eight hours' previous notice of its intention to the occupier thereof.

Penalty for default in furnishing return

[Bengal Act III 1884, section 100.]

5. Whoever refuses or fails to furnish any such return for the space of one week from the day on which he shall have been required to do so, or knowingly makes a false or incorrect return, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and to a further daily fine not exceeding five rupees for each day during which he shall omit to furnish a true and correct return; and whoever hinders, obstructs or prevents the Cantonment Authority, or any person appointed by the Cantonment Authority as aforesaid, from entering or inspecting or measuring any such holding shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Annual value of holding how to be ascertained.

[Ibid, s 101]

6. The gross annual rental at which any holding may be reasonably expected to let shall be deemed to be the annual value thereof, and such value shall accordingly be determined by the Cantonment Authority and entered in the valuation list:

Provided that, if there be on a holding any building or buildings the actual cost of erection of which can be ascertained or estimated, the annual value of such holding shall in no case be deemed to exceed an amount which would be equal to seven and-a-half per cent. on such cost, in addition to a reasonable ground-rent for the land comprised in the holding;

Application for reduction of assessment

[Ibid, s 107]

9. If the value of any holding shall be diminished from any cause beyond the control of the owner thereof, the owner thereof may apply for reduction of the valuation of the same.

Any water-rate imposed, or enhancement made, under this rule shall take effect from the beginning of the quarter next following that in which the rate shall be imposed or enhancement made.

[Bengal Act III of 1884, section 109.]

[Ibid, s. 113.]

Any person who is dissatisfied with the amount assessed upon him, or with the valuation or rating of any holding, or who disputes his occupation of any holding, or his liability to be assessed or rated, may apply to the Cantonment Authority to review the amount of valuation or rating, or to exempt him from the rate.

[Ibid, s. 114.]

Procedure upon review

14. Every application presented under rule 13 shall be heard and determined by not less than three members of the Cantonment Authority, who shall be appointed in that behalf by the Cantonment Authority at a meeting. The members so appointed, after taking such evidence and making such inquiries as they may deem necessary, may pass such orders as they shall think fit in respect of such application.

The decision of such members, or of a majority thereof, in such cases shall be final.

[Ibid, s. 115.]

Limitation of time for application of review

15. Unless good cause shall be shown to the satisfaction of such members for extending the time allowed, no such application shall be received after the expiration of one month from the date of publication of the notice required by rule 12 relating to the list containing the valuation or rating in respect of which the application is made, or after the expiration of fifteen days from the date of service of the first notice of demand for payment at the rate in respect of which the application is made, whichever period shall last expire.

[Ibid, s. 116.]

Assessment to be questioned only under these rules

16. No objection shall be taken to any rating in any other manner than is provided for in these rules.

[Ibid, s. 118.]

Water rate payable in advance

18. The amount due by any person on account of the water-rate shall be deemed to be the amount entered in the list, the notice relating to which is published under rule 12, unless the amount entered in such list is subsequently altered by the Cantonment Authority as provided in these rules; in which case the amount to which the rating is so altered shall be deemed to be the amount due. Every instalment of such rate shall be deemed to be due on the first day of the quarter in respect of which such instalment is payable.

[Ibid, s. 279(3).]

Payment of water-rate

19. The water-rate shall be paid by the occupiers of the holdings by quarterly instalments in advance.

20. For all sums paid on account of the water-rate a receipt stating the amount and the rate on account of which it is paid shall be given, signed by the tax-collector, or by some other officer authorized by the Cantonment Authority to grant such receipts.

Receipt to be given

[Bengal Act III 1884, section 119.]

21. At any time within six months after any sum has become due on account of the water-rate, the Cantonment Authority shall cause to be presented to the person liable to the payment thereof a bill for the said sum, which shall contain a statement of the period for which the water-rate is in arrear. If the amount mentioned in such bill be not paid on presentation thereof, a notice of demand in the form marked B in the Schedule annexed to these rules, with copy of the bill appended thereto, shall be served on the person liable to pay the same, and such notice of demand may be served at any subsequent time:

Bill and notice of demand to be presented.

[Ibid, s. 120.]

Provided that no charge shall be made in respect of the service of such notice.

Such notice shall be signed by the President of the Cantonment Authority or an officer authorized in that behalf, and shall be served by the person authorized to receive payment.

22. Whenever the person by whom the water-rate shall have been paid, or from whom the said rate shall have been recovered, is not the owner of the house or land in respect of which the water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may recover from the owner one-fourth of the water-rate so paid or recovered; and may deduct the same from the rent payable by him to such owner:

Occupier paying water rate may deduct one-fourth from rent due to owner

Provided that, if any house belongs to one owner and the land on which it stands and any adjacent land which is usually occupied therewith belongs to another, the owner of the house may deduct from the rent which he pays for such lands such proportion of the water-rate recovered from him by the occupier as is equal to the proportion which such rent bears to the valuation of the entire holding.

23. If the sum due from the owner of any holding remains unpaid after the notice of demand has been duly served, and such owner be not resident within the Cantonment, or the place of abode of such owner be not known, the same may be recovered from the occupier for the time being of such holding:

Water-rate due from non-resident owner may be recovered from occupier

[Ibid, s. 105.]

Provided that no arrear of the tax which has remained due from the owner of any holding for more than one year shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof.

24. Whenever any person holding any house or land from the owner thereof has sublet the same in severalty to two or more persons, the person holding from the owner shall, for the purposes of these rules, be deemed to be the occupier of such house or land.

Person subletting to several different tenants to be deemed occupier

[Ibid, s. 285.]

25. If any holding shall be occupied by more than one tenant holding severally, or shall be of less value than one hundred rupees, it shall be lawful for the Cantonment Authority to recover the rate from the owner of such holding, who shall have the following remedies for the recovery of such rate from the tenant.

Power to assess owners in certain cases.

[Ibid, s. 312.]

Whenever any rate shall be recovered from any owner of any holding under the provisions of these rules, it shall be lawful for such owner, if there shall be but one occupying tenant of such entire holding, to recover from such tenant the entire amount of the rate which shall have been so paid by such owner: and, if there shall be one occupying tenant of a part of such holding or more than one occupying tenant of such holding, then to recover from such tenant, or each of such tenants, such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate which may have been so recovered from such owner the same proportion as the value of the portion of such holding in the occupation of such tenant bears to the entire value of such holding, subject, however, to the provisions of the next paragraph.

Owner to recover from the occupier rates paid by owner

[Ibid, s. 313.]

[al Act III of 1, section 314.]

Owner may recover rate so paid as rent.

Every owner who, under the provisions of the last paragraph, may be entitled to recover any sum from any occupying tenant of any holding or of any portion thereof, shall have, for the recovery of such sum, all such and the same remedies, powers, rights and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to such owner by such tenant in respect of so much of such holding as may be in the occupation of such tenant:

[Ibid, s. 286 proviso.]

Provided that the owner shall not be entitled to recover from any occupying tenant more than three-fourths of the water-rate that would but for this proviso be recoverable by him.

[Ibid, s. 121.]

If not paid in fifteen days, process of distress may issue.

26. If any person, after service upon him of the bill and notice referred to in rule 21, shall not, within fifteen days of the service of such notice or from the date of any order made on an application for review under rule 13, pay the sum due either to the Cantonment Authority at its office, or to some person authorized by it to receive the money, or show to the Cantonment Authority sufficient cause for not paying the same,—the amount of the arrear due, with costs on the scale shown in the table of fees marked C in the Schedule annexed to these rules, may, at any time within three months after the date of service of the said notice, or of the order made on an application for review as aforesaid, be levied by distress and sale of any moveable property belonging to the defaulter, except ploughs, plough-cattle, tools or implements of agriculture or trade, wherever found, or of any moveable property belonging to another person, subject to the same exceptions which may be found within the holding in respect of which such defaulter is liable to such rate:

Provided that, when the holding in respect of which the default is committed is a place of business, and the moveable property distrained is shown to the satisfaction of the Cantonment Authority to have been left there for repairs or safe custody in the ordinary course of business, it shall be released:

Provided also that, if the said property or any part thereof belonging to any person other than the defaulter, the defaulter shall be liable to indemnify the owner thereof for any damage he may sustain by reason of such distress, or by reason of any payment he may make to avoid such distress or any sale under the same.

[Ibid, s. 122.]

Distress how to be made

27. Every warrant of distress and sale under rule 26 shall be issued by the Cantonment Authority, and shall be in the form marked D in the Schedule annexed to these rules.

Distress shall be made by actual seizure of moveable property, and the officer charged with the execution of the warrant shall be responsible for the due custody thereof.

Such officer shall make an inventory of all moveable property seized under the warrant, and shall give not less than ten days' previous notice of the sale, and of the time and place thereof, by beat of drum, in the Cantonment, and by serving on the defaulter a notice in the form marked E in the Schedule annexed to these rules:

Provided that, if the property is of a perishable nature, it may be sold at once with the consent of the defaulter, or without such consent at any time after the expiry of six hours from the seizure.

[Ibid, s. 123.]

Officer may break open door

28. The officer charged with the execution of the warrant may, under the special orders of the Cantonment Authority, between sunrise and sunset, break open any outer or inner door or window of a house, in order to make the distress, if he has reasonable ground for believing that such house contains any moveable property belonging to the defaulter, and if, after notification of his authority and purpose and demand of admittance duly made, he cannot otherwise obtain admittance:

Provided that he shall not enter or break open the door of any room appropriated for the zenana or residence of women, which by usage of the country is considered private, except after three hours' notice and opportunity given for the retirement of the women.

Sale how to be conducted.

[Bengal Act III of 1884, section 124.]

29. If the sum due be not paid with costs before the time fixed for the sale, or the warrant be not discharged or suspended by the Cantonment Authority, the moveable property seized shall be sold by auction at the time and place specified, in the most public manner possible, and the proceeds shall be applied in discharge of the arrears and costs.

The surplus sale-proceeds (if any) shall be credited to the Cantonment Fund, and may be paid on demand to any person who establishes his right to the satisfaction of the Cantonment Authority or in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

F. A. A. COWLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Rules.

1. Every vessel passing through the line of navigation known as the Madaripur Bhil channel shall stop at the prescribed toll-stations notified in the Schedule II attached for the purpose of assessment, or check, of toll charges.

2. For the purposes of these rules, vessels other than rafts, timbers, bamboos or other floating material shall be divided into two classes as below:—

Class I.—To include all vessels of the usual native types of build.

Class II.—To include all steamers, flats and barges, and such other square-built boats as should, in the opinion of the Collector of Tolls, be included.

3. The net tonnage of every vessel of class I, whether laden or empty shall, for the purposes of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

(A) The product of one-quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water-line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the interior greatest depth from the water-line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

(B) The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches: the measurement of the breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

(C) The maundage on which tollage shall be charged shall be a simple multiple of 12½ maunds, rejecting any remainder by which the maundage, calculated as above, may exceed such simple multiple.

4. For vessels in class II the tonnage shall be determined as follows:—

The tonnage of steamers shall be the registered tonnage as given in the certificate of survey of the steamer.

Toll shall be levied on the actual weight of cargo carried on steamers flats, barges and other vessels included in this class, as declared in the manifests.

When the registered tonnage of a steamer, or the manifest for cargo of a flat is not available, the tonnage will be taken as arrived at under rule 3.

For square-built boats the total maundage, as determined under rules for class I, shall be increased by half, and for steamers one-third of the total maundage shall be deducted for engine space.

5. Every vessel except as exempted under rule 10 shall be furnished at the toll-station of entry with a ticket on which the name of the serang manjhi or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage of the vessel, the nature and weight of the cargo it contains, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket will remain current shall be entered.

6. This ticket may be demanded and checked by any navigation officer while the vessel is within the toll-limits of the Bhil channel and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. The ticket must be given up at the exit toll-station. If the ticket is not produced on demand by a canal officer, such officer shall assess the amount of toll payable and the vessel will be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act until such sum is realized.

7. Vessels leaving the channel between two toll-stations shall obtain a permit for so doing in Form No. 1 from the Toll Collector of the toll-station of entry. In such cases the Toll Collector will issue a ticket in the usual form and also collect the same before the vessel is permitted to proceed.

8. A vessel, which has been detained under these rules or under section 9 of the Act, may not be removed from the channel without the order of the Collector of tolls until the toll due has been paid. During such detention the manjhi, owner or agent must make arrangements for the safety of the vessel and cargo.

9. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll-station before a vessel is permitted to proceed. Provided that the Collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act may, at his discretion, permit vessels belonging to individuals or firms of recognised standing to proceed without prepayment, on an undertaking that the bills for tollage due shall be liquidated monthly on presentation.

10. (I) In the case of steamers and flats falling under the latter portion of rule 9 a copy of the traffic manifest must be handed in at the exit toll-station, a receipt for which in Form No. 2 will be issued by the Toll Collector to the person in charge of the vessel, in such cases no ticket in the usual form will be issued. If the traffic manifest is not produced at the exit toll-station the procedure as laid down in rules 6 and 8 will be adopted.

(II) The traffic manifest or the receipt for the same may be demanded by any navigation officer while the vessel is within the limits of the Bhil channels between the Manickdah entrance and Chur Maguria.

11. The term "Navigation officer" as used in rule 6 shall include the Collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act, and the officer, or the subordinate duly authorised by such officer of the Public Works Department in charge of the subdivision or section within which the channel is situated.

12. Duplicates of lost tickets will be granted by the Toll Collector who originally issued the ticket on payment of a fee of one-fourth of the amount of toll payable, subject to a maximum of one rupee and a minimum of four annas. The duplicate will be issued only when the Toll Collector is satisfied concerning the identity of the boat.

13. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the channel.

14. (1) In every case of a sunken vessel, whether due to negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

(2) If, three days after the occurrence of a wreck, it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner, provided that when the wreck obstructs the fairway they shall take action at once to remove the same.

15. When a sunken vessel has been recovered, the Supervisor shall cause notices to be posted at the toll offices, or other prominent places, calling on those concerned to pay to the Collector of tolls all toll or demurrage which may be due, as well as the expenses incurred in the recovery of the vessel and cargo. Should the sum due be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the boat and its furniture, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold under the procedure directed in section 9 of the Act.

16. The purchaser of a vessel sold under the provisions of section 9 of the Act shall have the right to take it out of the channel on the day of purchase, or within such time as may be allowed by the Collector of tolls, without payment of tolls.

17. When any laden vessel, which has sunk, has been recovered, or when any laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Act or of these rules, the Supervisor shall give immediate notice of the recovery or seizure to the owner of the cargo or his agent, requiring the removal of the cargo without delay, and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

18. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or the abode of the owner of the cargo of such vessel, the notice prescribed in rule 16 shall be effected by a notice exhibited in his office, and by advertisement in at least one English and one vernacular Calcutta and local newspaper.

19. Lights and Signals.—All vessels, whether travelling or moored in the channel, must, between sunset and sunrise, carry a white light in a lantern on the fore-part of the vessel where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the light prescribed in the first paragraph of this rule.

20 Every vessel proceeding in the channel must limit her speed to six miles an hour from the 15th October to the 10th July, and to eight miles an hour from the 11th July to the 14th October.

21. For any infringement of rule 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15, 17, 19 or 20 the person in charge of the vessel or other persons in fault shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 or Rs. 5 a pay for any continuing infringement.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following notification, issued by the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department, published in the Gazette of India dated the 14th August 1915, is republished for general information.

J. H. KERR,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 10th August 1915.

No. 1367-G.—With reference to the notification of the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, No. 1606-G., dated the 29th July 1910, the following revised section of the Political Department Memorial Rules is published for general information :—

II.—MEMORIALS, ETC., ADDRESSED TO HIS MAJESTY THE KING-EMPEROR OF INDIA, OR TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

1. Every memorial must be submitted to the Political Officer of the State within whose jurisdiction the subject matter has arisen, accompanied by a copy of the order appealed against and by a letter requesting its transmission to the authority to which it is addressed.

2. Memorials may be transmitted either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

3. Subject to the exceptions hereinafter contained every memorial received which conforms to the above rules should be forwarded by the Political Officer through the usual official channel with a concise statement of material facts, and, unless there be special reasons to the contrary, an expression of opinion.

4. Memorials, together with their accompanying documents, should be in English. If the accompanying documents must necessarily be forwarded in the vernacular, an English translation should be appended, which should be attested by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

N. B.—The transmitting officer should examine such translations, and if they are found to be incorrect or faulty, notice the fact in sending on the memorial.

5. Every memorial should be accompanied by copies of all the orders passed in the case by the authorities who have dealt with it in India.

6. Local Governments, Administrations, and Political* Officers in direct subordination to the Foreign and Political Department of the Government of India are vested with discretionary power to withhold memorials addressed to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State in the following cases:—

(1) When the memorial is illegible or unintelligible.

(2) When the memorial contains language which, in the opinion of the authority who would otherwise forward it, is disloyal, disrespectful, or improper.

(3) When a previous petition of the memorialist (which term includes a rejoinder submitted by the memorialist in answer to a previous petition of some other party) has been disposed of by the Secretary of State, and the petition discloses no new facts or circumstances which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case.

(4) When the memorialist has not previously appealed to the Government of India (or the Government of Madras, Bombay or Bengal, as the case may be) and received the decision of the Governor-General (or Governor) in Council upon it.

(5) When the memorial is an appeal preferred more than six months after the date on which the memorialist was informed of the orders against which he appeals, provided that the Local Government, Administration, or Political Officer, as the case may be, may, at their or his discretion, extend the period to twelve months, if the delay will facilitate a settlement of the dispute, or other good cause is shown.

(6) When the memorial refers to matters in which the memorialist is not personally interested.

(7) When the memorial is in effect an appeal in a boundary case between Native States in which the decision, original or appellate, of the Political Officer has been passed after enquiry on the spot and confirmed on appeal by the Local Government, Local Administration or the Government of India as the case may be.

(8) Cases which turn entirely on questions of fact, where the Political Officer and Local Government or Local Administration are in agreement.

7. Provided they do not contravene the conditions specified in the preceding section, memorials which are appeals against orders passed by the Governor-General in Council (or Governor in Council in Madras, Bombay or Bengal, as the case may be) in the exercise of political control in territories not included in British India, shall be forwarded, except in the following cases in which a discretionary power to withhold the memorials may be exercised:

†(1) When the order appealed against has been passed by the Government of India, Madras, Bombay or Bengal (as the case may be), as a recognised Court of Appeal in regard to a judgment or order of any Court of civil or criminal jurisdiction established or continued by the Governor-General in Council in such territories.

(2) When the order appealed against is a mere refusal to exercise political control in regard to a judgment or order of any special Court established by the Governor-General in Council in such territories, from which Court there is, by its constitution, no appeal, though a general political control over it is declared or understood to exist.

* Political Officers who are not Heads of Local Administrations may not exercise discretionary power to withhold memorials of the kind referred to in clauses (7) and (8) of Rule 6.

† Note to Rule 7 (1) of Sections I and II.—Memorials which are practically appeals for mercy or pardon must be transmitted. But their transmission will not affect the discretion in regard to capital sentences allowed to Local Governments and Administrations by the Home Department Resolution No 20—1403-13, dated the 14th October 1885, as modified by Foreign Department Circular letter No 3259-I B, dated the 30th August 1901.

(3) When the order appealed against is a mere refusal to interfere in a matter of purely internal policy with the action or orders of the Ruler of a Native State, of which the memorialist is a subject: provided that the State is one in which it is not customary for the British Government to intervene in matters of internal policy, and that the matter complained of does not disclose a state of misrule so gross that the Paramount Power would be called upon to interfere.

N. B.—This rule applies to a temporary Administration established in a Native State by the Governor-General in Council when the temporary Administration is appointed to exercise the same powers and occupy the same position as the Native Administration which it supersedes.

8. Memorials from persons,* in such territories which are not covered by these rules, may be treated under the memorial rules of the Home Department when they are applicable.

*E. g., petitions from Government servants about dismissal, pensions, etc.

9. The following special rules apply to the case of appeals against the orders of the Government of Bombay:—

(1) In the following cases the decision of the Local Government shall ordinarily be considered as final, an appeal to the Secretary of State for India only being admissible with the permission of the Local Government, which should be previously obtained :—

(a) Giras cases in States of classes I to IV in Kathiawar, which would have been tried by the Rajasthanik Court when it existed, but are now tried by the States Huzur Courts from whose decision an appeal lies to the Agency and to the Local Government.

(b) Giras cases in States below class IV in which the decision of the Agent to the Governor, Kathiawar, is at present final under the rules sanctioned in Government Resolution No. 6511, dated the 18th November 1898, subject to the general political control of the Local Government.

(c) Cutch Jadeja Court cases.

(2) Memorialists who desire to appeal against the orders of the Government of Bombay, in political cases shall have the option of addressing such appeals either to the Government of India or to the Secretary of State and such appeal shall be forwarded subject to the provisions of Rules 6 and 7. When in the exercise of this option an appeal has been presented to the Government of India, no further appeal shall lie to the Secretary of State. This rule shall not apply to—

(a) appeals in Giras cases or in those which are specially covered by any of the foregoing rules;

(b) memorials of the class specially reserved in Rule IV of the rules published with Home Department Notification No. 148 (Public), dated the 19th January 1905;

(c) memorials which involve questions affecting the status, dignity or powers of a Ruling Chief or his relations with the Paramount Power (including questions of succession or adoption) and with other Chiefs.

Secy. to the Govt. of India.

The following notification, issued by the Government of India in the Home Department, published in the Gazette of India dated the 28th August 1915, is republished for general information.

No. 2046M.—The 27th August 1915.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 569 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899 (Bengal Act III of 1899), the Governor in Council is pleased to sanction the following rules made by the Corporation of Calcutta under clause (b) of section 73 of that Act, for regulating the commutation of pensions granted to Municipal Officers and servants into lump sum payments.—

RULES REGULATING THE COMMUTATION OF PENSIONS.

1. Subject to the conditions stated below, the Corporation may, on the application of a pensioner (existing and future), permit commutation, for a lump payment of a portion of his pension, the sum payable being calculated according to the table of present values, printed in Appendix 10 of the Civil Service Regulations.
2. All applications for commutation must be made to the Chairman of the Corporation in Form A appended to these rules, setting forth the grounds and purposes of such application.

3. On receipt of an application for commutation, the Chairman shall satisfy himself, by strict enquiry and scrutiny, on the following points :—

(a) That the commutation is for a definite purpose and to the distinct and permanent advantage of the applicant and his family;
(b) That the case is one of a very exceptional nature;
(c) That the amount of pension intended to be commuted is not more than one-fourth of the amount of pension sanctioned;
(d) That the residue after commutation is not less than Rs. 15 per month and is sufficient to maintain the pensioner in the status of life to which he has been accustomed, and (e) That the age of the applicant does not exceed 70 years.

4. (a) If on consideration of the facts stated in the application and on being satisfied on the points mentioned in rule 3, the Chairman decides to recommend to the Corporation such commutation, the applicant should be required to produce a certificate as to his expectation of life ordinarily from the Health Officer of the Corporation. It will be open to the Chairman to require the applicant to produce such further or other medical certificates as he may consider necessary.

(b) In the case of a pensioner who has an impaired life the Health Officer shall submit a report as to the age upon which the commutation should be calculated so as to allow for the probable decrease in his expectation of life, and the Corporation, on the recommendation of the Chairman, may, then, at their discretion, sanction the commutation, the sum payable being computed on the basis of the age at which his life has been so estimated by the Health Officer.

(c) The certifying medical officer shall subject the applicant to a strict medical examination requiring him to give such information as to his health and habits as is usual in the case of persons proposing to insure their lives in Insurance Companies and will report in the following form :—

"I have examined..and am of opinion that he is / is not of good bodily health and has / has not the prospect of an average duration of life. I therefore do / do not recommend compliance with his application to capitalize a portion of his pension."

(d) In the case of a pensioner who has retired on invalid pension, the particulars of his incapacity and statement of his medical case must be communicated to the certifying medical authority.

5. The lump sum payable on commutation will be certified by the Chief Accountant according to the table of present values shown in Appendix 10 of the Civil Service Regulations with special reference to the date on which the commutation should take effect.

6. The Corporation, at their discretion, may allow the application for commutation on the recommendation of the Chairman and on being satisfied on the points mentioned in rules 3 and 5.

7. All sanctions to the commutation of a pension shall be subject to the condition that the expenditure can be met from a sanctioned Budget grant.

8. Commutation once applied for, sanctioned and given effect to, cannot be rescinded, i.e., the portion of a pension commuted cannot be restored on refund of the capitalized value.

9. If a pensioner, whose pension has been commuted, dies before receiving the commutation value, the amount will be payable to his heirs.

10. If a pensioner, a portion of whose pension has been commuted, dies before he has drawn a full year's pension, the fact of commutation having been allowed, cancels any claim on the part of his family to a compassionate allowance.

FORM A.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Ben Act III of 1905

The working of the Bengal Smoke-nuisances Act, 1905, during the past nine years, has disclosed certain defects which it is now considered necessary to remedy. These defects, and the methods by which it is proposed to remedy them, are indicated in the following paragraphs.

II. Inability to take action in respect of smoke-nuisances caused by chimneys, and steam-engines used for generating electricity, in clubs, hotels and similar institutions.—Experience in the working of the Act has shown that amendments are required so as to bring clubs, hotels and similar institutions under the Act in Calcutta, as is the case in the United Kingdom. In view of the fact that complaints have frequently been made regarding the smoke emitted from the chimneys of such buildings and that the Commission has, under the present law, found itself powerless to act. It is also considered desirable to subject steam-engines used for generating electricity in such institutions to the provisions of the Act. In order to effect these objects it is proposed to bring furnaces and fire places used in buildings of this class within the definition of "furnace" in clause (1) of section 3 of the Act, and thus subject them to the rules made under section 10 (1) in respect of the density and altitude of smoke emitted therefrom. The terms of the proposed new clause (1) for section 3 closely resemble those of section 3 (1) of the Bombay Act (Clause 2).

Bom Act VII of 1912.

III. Smoke-nuisances arising from the partial exemption allowed under the Act to ocean-going steamers in the Port of Calcutta.—Under the existing law,—proviso (ii) to section 3 (1) of the Act and rules made under clause (f) of section 10 (2),—no restriction is placed upon the amount of smoke which ocean-going steamers may emit for a certain period prior to leaving port or to moving from one part of the port to another. Experience has shown that this concession is no longer necessary and that in the cases in which excessive smoke is emitted it is due to carelessness on the part of those responsible on board the vessel. Further, recent statistics show that these cases are increasing very considerably. It is therefore considered that the special exemption hitherto in force, which has been found to be unnecessary in the case of the majority of ocean-going steamers, should be withdrawn, and it is accordingly proposed to repeal that provision of clause (1) of section 3 which has hitherto exempted the furnaces of ocean-going steamers. Rule 24 of the existing rules under section 10 of the Act will, in due course, be suitably amended so as to deal with the case of such vessels.

IV. Inability to prevent the excessive emission of smoke from kilns and furnaces erected before the Act came into force.—The provisions of section 6 of the Act do not at present apply to such kilns and furnaces, but it is considered highly desirable that they should apply to them. It is therefore proposed to make the necessary alterations in section 6 of the Act so as to give power to prohibit by notification the use of kilns and furnaces as well as (at present) their erection. (Clauses 4 (a), (b) and (c) and 5.)

V. Insufficient power to deal effectively with the nuisance caused by coke-making in open fires.—With a view to put a stop to the great nuisance caused by persons making coke in open heaps, the Local Government issued a notification in February, 1909, under clause (d) of section 6 (1) of the Act, prohibiting the manufacture of coke without ovens or special appliances within the town of Calcutta. At first, the action taken by the Commission under this notification effected a considerable improvement, but offenders soon discovered that, by giving false names or addresses, or by disowning the coal or by removing to other places, they escaped punishment. In order, therefore, to deal effectively with this nuisance it is proposed, by substituting new provisions in place of sub-section (4) of section 6 of the Act, to make the owner or occupier of the building or land (in or upon which coke is made without proper appliances) equally liable with the person who offends in this respect, and to permit of the seizure, confiscation and disposal of the coke which is the subject of the offence. It is further proposed, in order to control more effectively the appliances used in the manufacture of coke, to apply the provisions of the Act and rules thereunder, in respect of the density and altitude of smoke from other furnaces, to furnaces used in the manufacture of coke. (Clauses 4 (d) and 6.)

VI. Inability to control the construction of chimneys and flues.—It is considered advisable that (as in America) the Commission should have power under the Act to control the construction of chimneys and flues in order to prevent the erection of unsafe chimneys. This proposal would benefit owners by avoiding the expense of subsequent alterations. (Clause 7.)

VII. Inadequate powers of inspection.—At present Inspectors are required by section 9 of the Act to give notice of their intention to visit places where they suspect that acts contrary to the law are being committed, and this procedure often defeats the purpose of these visits, especially in the case of coke-making. It is therefore proposed to give power to Inspectors to visit suspected places without notice. With a view to minimising the chance of Inspectors being obstructed in their duties, it is proposed to make them "public servants" within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code. (Clauses 3 and 8.)

VIII. A further explanation of the provisions of the Bill is given in the subjoined notes on clauses.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

1. Clause 2.—The object of this clause, which follows almost exactly section 3(1) of the Bombay Smoke-nuisances Act, 1912, is— Bom Act VII of 1912.

(i) to apply this Act to chimneys, and steam-engines used for generating electricity, in clubs, hotels and similar institutions, and

(ii) to provide for the total repeal of the partial exemption in respect of the emission of smoke now enjoyed by ocean-going steamers, for reasons given in the Statement of Objects and Reasons.

2. Clause 3.—This clause will, as indicated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, enable the Commission to secure the punishment of persons who obstruct Inspectors in the execution of their duties.

3. Clause 4.—(i) Sub-clause (a).—This amended sub-clause will enable the Local Government to prohibit, by notification, the use, as well as the erection of kilns, and also to deal with any one class of kilns without interfering with any other class.

(ii) The Local Government are empowered by sub-clause (b) of clause 4 to prohibit, by notification, the use of furnaces used for the purposes mentioned in clause (b) of section 6 (1).

(iii) Sub-clause (c) of clause 4 provides a penalty for breach of a notification prohibiting the use of a kiln or certain classes of furnace, and is consequential on the two previous amendments referred to in this paragraph.

(iv) The necessity for the provisions in sub-clause (d) of clause 4 is referred to in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. The objects of the proposed sub-section (4) are—

(a) to make the owner or occupier of the building or land in or upon which the offence of making coke without proper appliances is committed equally liable with the person who makes the coke improperly; and

(b) to permit of such coke being seized by an Inspector pending the order of the Magistrate.

The proposed sub-section (5) empowers the Magistrate, in the case of a conviction under the proposed sub-section (4), to order confiscation of the coke seized, the manner of the disposal of the coke upon the passing of any such order being left to the Local Government. The proposed sub-section (6) explains the meaning to be given to the terms "owner" and "occupier" as used in sub-section (4).

4. Clause 5.—This clause contains a consequential provision permitting a demolition order when a fine is imposed under the provision made by sub-clause (c) of clause 4—see paragraph 3 (iii), ante.

5. Clause 6.—The object of the repeal proposed in this clause is to make furnaces used in kilns, or in foundries in the neighbourhood of dwelling-houses, or for the manufacture of coke, amenable, as regards the emission of smoke, to the altitude and density rules prescribed under the Act in respect of such emission from other "furnaces," as defined in the Act.

6. Clause 7.—The necessity for control over the construction of chimneys and flues is noted in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. The object of this clause is to give the necessary power of control to the Commission by making it compulsory for plans of new chimneys and flues, and plans of alterations in existing ones, to be submitted to them, a penalty being imposed for default in compliance.

7. Clause 8.—The object of this clause is to enable Inspectors to visit suspected places without notice, on the authority of a written order from the Commission, or, in an urgent case, from the President, for the reasons explained in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. In every case in which the President passes an order under this provision, he will be required to report the fact to the Commission.

8. Clause 9.—(i) Sub-clause (a).—In accordance with the principles of decentralization recommended by the Royal Commission on Decentralization, it is proposed to do away with the necessity for the prior sanction of the Governor General in Council to rules made under the Act. It is considered that this power may safely be entrusted to the Local Government.

(ii) Sub-clause (b) of clause 9 provides for the repeal of clause (f) of sub-section (2) of section 10. This amendment is consequential on the proposed repeal of the partial exemption now enjoyed by ocean-going steamers under sub-clause (ii) of the proviso to section 3 (1) of the Act—see paragraph 1 (ii), ante.

(iii) The additions to the rule-making powers proposed in sub-clause (c) of clause 9 are merely consequential on the amendments which it is proposed to introduce into the Act by this Bill.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 3370Com.—The 6th September 1915.—The following notification of the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry, together with the accounts, balance sheets, abstracts, statements and other documents published therewith, relating to Life Assurance Companies, which have their principal place of business within the Presidency of Bengal, is republished for general information.

NOTIFICATION.

INSURANCE.

Simla, the 28th August 1915.

No. 14060-90.—In accordance with the provisions of Section 28 of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912 (VI of 1912), the Governor General in Council is pleased to publish herewith the accounts, balance sheets, abstracts, statements and other documents deposited with him by Life Assurance Companies under the provisions of sub-section (1) of Section 11 of the Act and relating to periods not later than the 30th June 1914, together with a note by the Actuary to the Government of India, thereon.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

BY

The Actuary to the Government of India.

The accompanying accounts and valuation particulars of Indian, British, Colonial and Foreign life assurance companies doing business in British India were due for submission to Government not later than 31st December 1914. The accounts now published comply with the prescribed forms more fully than those contained in the first returns made under the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act which were published in the early part of 1914, and it has consequently been possible to publish, as an appendix to this note, summaries of the ordinary accounts of the Indian companies, while the financial position of many of those companies may now be ascertained from the abstracts of their actuarial valuation reports which are contained in this and in the previous publication. Although the summaries of the accounts are fairly complete they fail to disclose many of the special features of the smaller companies as they are almost entirely hidden when amalgamated with the larger totals of the older and larger companies.

Actuarial valuations.

During the year actuarial valuation reports, each of which disclosed a divisible surplus, were received from the following five companies:—The Bharat of Lahore, the India Equitable of Calcutta, the Indian Life of Karachi, the National Insurance of Calcutta, and the Indian Empire Branch of the Independent Order of Rechabites.

The valuation of the General Assurance Society of Ajmer only shows a surplus when paid-up capital is taken credit for. The solvency of the company is thereby demonstrated, but a surplus thus obtained does not admit of payment of bonus as it is laid down in the Life Assurance Companies Rules that paid-up capital shall not be treated as part of a company's assets for the purpose of showing a divisible surplus at the time of any actuarial investigation into its financial position.

The valuation of the Mangalore Roman Catholic Provident Fund shows the society to be insolvent. As it is a mutual society and has no subscribed capital which could be utilised to make up the deficiency in the funds, it became necessary to reduce the benefits payable under existing policies and to increase the rates of premium for new ones. Of the three methods of reduction of existing contracts suggested by the consulting actuary as a means to restore solvency the society decided to adopt that by which the sum assured payable at death is reduced by one-third.

The valuation as at 30th April 1912 of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society of Calcutta was not finally completed and submitted to Government until after three years from that date. It presented many difficult questions for solution, but, fortunately, it had been made by one of the senior British actuaries from whom the society received much valuable advice which should enable it to remedy the errors made in past years. For the purposes of valuation the business was divided into three sections. The ordinary life assurance section was found to be solvent, but with no surplus available for distribution. The combined investment life assurance section disclosed a deficit of from about 4 to 7 lakhs depending on the proportion of premium income at which shareholders are willing to conduct this branch of the company's business. The annuities certain and capital redemption section showed a small deficit. Part of the deficit in the combined investment section has now been made good and is shown in the accounts up to 30th April 1914 and the balance falls to be restored as at 30th April 1915. The company must now be careful to keep expenditure at a much lower rate, so that the concern as a whole may be worked at a profit which will justify the assumption of a 7 per cent. dividend on the combined investment business and permit of reduction of the capital expenditure.

Actuarial valuations of the financial position of 14 Indian Companies have now been received. In the following summary of these valuations the particulars have been arranged according to the magnitude of Life Assurance Funds.

Liquidation.

The Pioneer Assurance Company, Limited, Bombay, which was established towards the end of 1913, evidently expected to be exempt from compliance with the Life Act as the sum assured under its policies was said to be restricted to Rs. 500. The company, however, rendered itself subject to the provisions of that Act by undertaking that "the heirs of the first claimant would receive Rs. 25,000, those of the second Rs. 15,000, and so on, until the sum of Rs. 10 lakhs has been divided among 10,000 claimants, each claim being in addition to the sum assured." The company was ordered to be wound up by the Civil Court in January 1914.

The Crown Life Insurance Company of Bombay, which was established a year ago, decided in view of the banking crises not to commence the issue of policies and is being voluntarily wound up.

The following nine companies which had been carrying on Life Assurance business since the passing of the Life Act are now under process of voluntary liquidation. Such a step was rendered necessary in the majority of these cases by financial difficulties brought about by insurance business having been transacted on the Dividing Society principle.

Name of company.	Place of Head Office	Date of resolution to go into voluntary liquidation.
Indian Mutual Provident Fund ..	Bombay	April 1913.
Catholic Death Benefit ..	Do.	8th June 1913.
National Relief Corporation ..	Shikarpur	8th June 1913.
Mutual Beneficial	Ranpur	1st December 1913.
Doaba	Jullundar	14th December 1913.
All India Banking and Insurance	Lahore	March 1914.
Aswini	Bimlipatam	4th April 1914.
Imperial Guaranteed	Calcutta	November 1914.
Capital	Do.	12th March 1915.

The financial position of the Coromandel of Bimlipatam disclosed by the audited accounts up to 31st December 1913 made it desirable that the company should be wound up. A meeting convened for this purpose at Bimlipatam adopted the accounts and agreed to the Directors' proposals to wind up the company. The shareholders at a subsequent meeting held at Vizagapatam suspended the Manager and the Secretary and removed the Directors on the ground that the accounts were false; they adopted a resolution disapproving of the Directors' recommendation to wind up the company, and resolved to transfer the company's registered office from Bimlipatam to Vizagapatam. A lawsuit and a counter suit filed by the rival parties are still pending. It has been decided to await the result of those suits.

The New Bombay Presidency Assurance Society, Limited, was registered on the 1st February 1910 and took over the business of the Bombay Presidency Assurance Society, Limited, which went into voluntary liquidation on the 31st March 1910. No life assurance policies have been issued by the new company.

New Companies.

One ordinary life assurance company, viz., the British Indian Insurance Company, Limited, of Lahore, was established in India, during the year 1914. It has complied with the provisions of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act. Two other companies, viz., the Gujarat Zoroastrian of Surat and the Mutual Help Association of Simla, which were previously working as Provident Insurance Societies, became subject to the Life Act during 1914. The United Assurance Company, Limited, Calcutta, which also had been doing provident fund business, lodged during 1914 the initial security deposit under the Act with a view to transacting ordinary life assurance business. It did not, however, issue any policy under the latter class and has subsequently been refunded the amount of the security deposit.

In Southern India, there are several funds managed by Missionary Societies which have petitioned Government for exemption from compliance with some of the provisions of the Life Act and whose accounts are not included in these returns. The matter is under consideration.

In the following list the names of the existing Indian Life Assurance Companies have been arranged according to the date of establishment under the Province in which their Head Office is now situated.

Mutual Societies.

Of the companies shown as established prior to 1896, thirteen were mutual and only two proprietary. None of these mutual societies have large funds and it is found that in many cases payment of the full deposit prescribed in section 4 of the Life Act presses unduly on their resources. Payment of the full deposit also interferes with the formation of new mutual societies. In such cases Government will favourably consider any application from an Indian mutual society for permission to pay a smaller deposit. Another privilege which Government have recently decided to extend to such societies is with regard to the audit of their accounts. While life assurance companies having a share capital may employ as an auditor only the holder of an unrestricted certificate, or the member of one of the six exempted societies of accountants, mutual life assurance companies may, in addition, employ as an auditor the holder of a restricted certificate or an Associate either of the Institute or of the Faculty of Actuaries.

Life Annuities.

Only three Indian companies grant ordinary annuities, viz., the Bharat, Empire of India and the Oriental, the annuity payments made last year by each of these companies, respectively, being Rs. 505, 1,029 and 21,526.

Business other than Life Assurance.

There has been a considerable reduction during the year in the number of Indian companies which transact other business in addition to life assurance, the number having decreased from twenty-one to the nine noted below:—

1.	All Indian United, which transacts		Fire Insurance.
2.	Bharat	}
3.	Empire	,,	Fidelity Guarantee Insurance.
4.	National of Calcutta	}
5.	Rechabites	,,	Sickness Insurance.
6.	Bengal Provident	}
7.	Hindustan of Gujranwala	,,	Marriage Insurance.
8.	Victoria	}
9.	Christian Mutual	,,	Capital Redemption business.

The classes of business other than Life Assurance which were discontinued may be summarised as follows:—

Policies payable on Marriage	have been discontinued by 10 Companies.
,, ,, at Birth
,, ,, at Upanayan ceremony
Capital Redemption policies	1 Company.
Personal Accident ,,	1 ,,

Dividing Insurance business.

The following 13 companies have ceased to issue policies on the dividing principle:—

1. Eastern, which issued policies payable at Death.
2. Capital
3. Coromandel
4. Doaba
5. Indian Equitable — which issued policies payable at Death and on Marriage.
6. Northern Circars
7. Popular
8. Star of India
9. Universal
10. Aryya, which issued policies payable at Death, on Marriage and at Upanayan ceremony.
11. National of Amritsar, which issued policies payable at Death, on Marriage and at Birth.
12. Unique, which issued policies payable at Death, on Marriage, at Birth and at Upanayan ceremony.
13. Imperial Guaranteed, which issued policies payable on Personal Accidents.

Many of the abovementioned companies must regret that they ever transacted such business. Life assurance policies on the dividing principle can now be obtained only from the following four companies:—

1. Bengal Provident.
2. Chittagong.
3. Hindustan of Gujranwala.
4. Victoria.

In every case where any of these 17 companies has guaranteed a minimum benefit in respect of each policy that minimum amount is all that is now being paid. Although this is very much less than many policyholders were originally led to expect, it is more than some of the companies can now afford to pay. Where no minimum benefit is guaranteed the sum payable on a claim occurring is, as was to be expected, steadily decreasing. In the Introductory Note to last year's issue of the Returns, I referred to the mistakes made by many companies transacting life insurance on the dividing principle in supposing that such business never entails more than a liability for the period to which the premiums paid relate and in supposing that it is unnecessary to build up a reserve on actuarial principles to ensure payment of the benefit guaranteed at death or survivance. Such mistakes if continued can only end in the insolvency of the company. Those Indian life offices, which have not yet appointed an actuary on their staff and which can afford to do so, might with advantage to themselves procure the services of some of those Indians who have passed the examination of Associate of the Institute of Actuaries, London. These companies could then have expert advice which would help them to build up a business on sound lines and avoid all crude and unsound systems such as the Combined Investment endowment of the Hindusthan Co-operative of Calcutta and the Dividing Insurance business previously referred to. At present only one of the Indian Companies is known to have a whole-time actuary employed on its staff. The Institute of Actuaries holds examinations in April each year in Calcutta and Bombay.

Surrender Values.

Some of the companies which have not yet undergone an actuarial valuation are noticed to be allowing surrender values at a rate which it is quite likely they cannot very well afford. The question of what would be a safe surrender value to allow is much more difficult to answer than is generally believed and should not be decided without actuarial advice. It depends on the rates of premium charged, the benefits promised and on the company's experience in regard to the rates of mortality, interest and expenditure.

Policy conditions and power to alter them.

In the Introductory Note to last year's Returns, I referred to the desirability of companies stating clearly the procedure to be adopted in making new rules or in altering or repealing existing ones, and prescribing that no such amendment or repeal should detrimentally affect the terms of contracts then existing. Instances have occurred during the year of the need of such rules, as well as of the desirability of such policy containing a full statement of the conditions to which it is subject.

Statistical information.

The new sums assured by Indian companies under ordinary life assurance policies have remained constant during each of the past two years and amounted to about 3 crores and 20 lakhs each year.

Whole Life policies were issued last year for	40 lakhs.	This is	12·5 °/o of the total.
Limited Payment policies	22 „	„	7·0 „
Endowment Assurance policies	246 „	„	76·8
Children's Endowments and other classes of policies	12 „	„	3·7
	Total 300 lakhs

The total sums assured, including bonus additions, under ordinary life assurance policies in force at the end of the year under review was nearly 22½ crores of rupees This is about 1¼ crores in excess of the corresponding amount at the end of the previous year. The total amount for which policies are issued each year in India by all companies cannot be stated as no particulars of this nature are submitted by the British companies and the other companies which transact business both in the United Kingdom and in India.

The average rate of annual premium payable under the policies issued by Indian Companies is nearly equal to 5½ per cent. of the sum assured. The corresponding rate deduced from the returns to the British Board of Trade is about 4 per cent. The higher rates of premium payable for residence in India have less to do with this difference in the average rate of premium than the fact that more than three-quarters of the sums insured by Indian companies is under the endowment assurance system, while in the United Kingdom such policies do not constitute half such a large proportion of the total business.

It will be seen from the summary of new business that some of the smaller companies have been issuing policies for sums which bear a dangerously high ratio to the total amount of their assets; this should be carefully guarded against in future.

The summary of dividend rates shows that notwithstanding an increase in the dividends of some of the older companies the average rate of the Indian companies as a whole has fallen to less than half of what it was two years previously. This is greatly due to the fact that no dividend was paid in the year under review by thirteen companies which formerly had paid dividends, several of those thirteen having been persuaded to forego payment of dividend until after completion of an actuarial valuation of their assets and liabilities.

The total income shown in the life assurance revenue accounts of Indian Companies was 1 crore and 12 lakhs—

Of this	1,17	lakhs	or 82·4	per cent	of the total	was derived from	Premiums.
„	23	„	or 16 3	„	„	„	interest and rents (less tax)
„	2	„	or 1 3	„	„	„	other items
	1,42	„

This total income was disposed of as follows :—

49 lakhs	or 84·4 per cent. of the total went in payment of	Claims by Death.
13 „	9·3	Claims by Survivance.
2 „	1·4	Surrenders.
1 „	7	Annuities.
0·4 „	·3	Bonus in cash and reduction of premium.
0·7 „	·5	Dividends to shareholders.
28 „	19·7	Expenses.
2	1·3	Depreciation, transfer to Investment Reserve Fund, etc.
46	32 4	Increase to Funds.
142 lakhs

The total expenses in connection with life assurance business amounted to 24 per cent. of the premium income. If the expenditure applicable to new business be assumed to be equal to the new annual premium income it will be found that the balance of the life assurance expenditure comes to about 10 per cent. of the renewal premium income.

The life assurance funds of the Indian companies amounted to over 5¾ crores. During the year these funds earned interest at the rate of 4¼ per cent. on the average, after deduction of income-tax; this is about ¼ per cent. higher than the average rate earned in the United Kingdom by life assurance companies.

The total assets of the Indian companies have increased during the year by over two-thirds of a crore and now amount to nearly 6⅔ crores, made up as follows:—

Mortgages on property in India	13	lakhs.
Loans on Companies policies within their surrender values	37	„
Loans on personal security, etc.	5	„
3½ per cent. Government Promissory Notes at approximate cost price	3,69	„
3 per cent. Government Promissory Notes at approximate cost price	32	„
Indian Municipal, Port Trust and Improvement Trust Debentures	1,09	„
Indian Railway Company shares	1	„
House Property	37	„
Other Indian Investments	11	„
Colonial stock	1	„
Agents' balances, outstanding premiums and outstanding interests	21	„
Accrued interest	6	„
Deposits, Cash, Stamps, etc	17	„
Stationery, Furniture, etc.	2	„
Sundry Debtors and other miscellaneous assets	2	..
Total	6,63

Capital outlay for preliminary and organisation expenses, restoration of valuation deficits, etc, is not included in the above statement; it amounted to 15½ lakhs, due mainly to the capital expenditure of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society. The total amount of the paid-up capital of the Indian Companies exceeded 37 lakhs of rupees.

British, Colonial and Foreign Companies.

In the last portion of this publication will be found the accounts and valuation particulars relating to 20 companies, of which 15 are constituted in Britain, 2 in Canada, 1 in Australia, 1 in the United States of America and 1 in Shanghai, and which are partially exempt from the Indian Act on the ground that they carry on business in the United Kingdom and comply with provisions of the English Assurance Companies Act of 1909

The classes of business, in addition to ordinary life assurance, transacted by those 20 companies are shown in the following statement.—

The principal effect of the exemptions allowed to these British Colonial and foreign companies is that they are freed from the necessity of making a deposit with the Controller of Currency and may submit their accounts in the form required by the English Assurance Companies Act of 1909. That Act is slightly different from the Indian Act and requires separate revenue accounts for each of certain classes of business other than life assurance, such as, fire, accident, employers' liability, capital redemption, etc. Not many policies of these classes of business are issued in India, and the revenue accounts relating to these classes as published by these non-Indian companies have consequently been omitted from this publication, except in cases in which there are not more than two such accounts in addition to the revenue accounts of the ordinary life assurance and annuity business. Similarly, many of the valuation statements furnished by these companies have been omitted where they do not relate to Indian business. Although the particulars are thus reduced by nearly two-thirds, yet nothing of importance has been omitted which either gives details relating to Indian policies or shows the position of a company as a whole.

Exemptions.

During the year complete exemption from compliance with the Act was granted to the National Mutual, London, and to the Sun Life Assurance Society, London, as they no longer issue policies in India, while the City of Glasgow and the Liverpool Victoria life assurance companies no longer submit returns under the Act as they are now incorporated in the Scottish Union and National and Commercial Union Companies, respectively.

I have examined the Books and Accounts of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited, for the year ending 30th April 1914, with the vouchers as kept at the Head Office and the certified returns from the Branch and Agency Offices, and have found them correct.

I have seen the receipt of the Comptroller-General for the India Government Securities lodged with him.

I certify that I have obtained all the information and explanations I have required and that in my opinion the above Balance Sheet exhibits a true and correct view of the state of the Society's affairs as at 30th April 1914, according to the best of my information and the explanations given to me and as shewn by the Books of the Society.

I further certify that the above Balance Sheet is drawn up in conformity with the law.

Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited.

Statement under the Indian Life Assurance Companies Rules, 1913, made by Mr. T. E. Young, the Consulting Actuary employed by the Directors of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited, to make the first quinquennial valuation of the Society as at the 30th April 1912.

Section 3.—I am a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries, London.

Section 4.—The particulars of the policies for valuation were supplied to me on cards, which I myself prepared (with full instructions), and I hold a letter under the Signatures of two of the principal Officers of the Society, stating that the entries on these cards have been checked and re-checked, and that, to the best of their knowledge and belief, they are accurate. Some few discrepancies, as was to be expected in so large a number of entries, were found to exist, and these were referred back for correction: other obvious discrepancies were rectified by me as the work progressed, and these being generally an error in the date of birth or entry were at once rectified by a reference to the tabular premiums entered upon the cards. I have carefully scrutinised the valuation schedules in connexion with the ages at entry, the sums assured and the office premium extracted from cards and, after all discrepancies were rectified as above-mentioned, I was satisfied that the particulars furnished were reasonably correct. Moreover, I found the various particulars upon the cards were consistent so far as I could trace.

Section 5 (a)—All the calculations have been made by my skilled assistants and have been thoroughly checked, and are based upon the principles mentioned in the statement furnished under the Second Heading of the Fourth Schedule of the Act.

(b) The principles on which the valuations have been based were devised by me.

(c) I have obtained full and adequate information from the Society on all the many questions I have had to submit, and in every case I have been furnished with an attested letter signed by two of the principal Officers of the Society to the effect that the answers given and the special information furnished are correct.

(d) The Society accepts all assurances at the nearer-age at entry, and the nearer-age at entry has also been adopted in the valuation: the valuation-ages are the nearer-ages at the date of the valuation, except in a very few cases where the nearer-age at valuation would bring out a "Zero Value," and here the valuation-age has been assumed to be the nearer-age at entry increased by the number of premiums paid.

(f) The table of mortality employed was the Om table of the "British Offices' Life Tables," 1893, with an addition of 6 years to each age. This table has been published, and where the valuation has been based upon a 3¾ per cent. rate of interest, the monetary functions have been ascertained by interpolating between the 3½ per cent. and 4 per cent. values published.

(g) Every Negative Value and every Zero Value have been excluded from the valuation, and the method of valuation has secured that every policy upon the Books has a definite positive liability attached to it.

(h) The following are specimens of reserve values under policies for the whole-term of life with premiums payable throughout the duration of life:—

Number of premiums paid	Effected at age 20	30	40
1 ...	2 5	3·9	6·2
2 ...	17 7	24·5	35·4
3 ...	28 0	38 6	55·5
4 ...	38 4	52 9	75·8
5 ...	49·0	67·5	96·4

The premiums under whole-life policies subject to a limited number of payments, and the sums assured and premiums under endowment assurances were valued in groups, according to the fact whether they were effected before or after the 30th of April in the calendar year of entry, and in further accordance with the calendar year of maturity (or cessation of payment of premiums as the case might be), and it is therefore not possible to give specimens of the reserve values of individual policies.

Further reserves have in all cases been made on account of (i) early payment of claims, (ii) suspended mortality, (iii) for loading after the whole of the premiums have been paid up in the case of whole-life policies subject to a limited number of premiums and endowment assurances effected with premiums payable for a less number of years than the number of years contained in the endowment assurance period, and (iv) as mentioned and explained under heading two of the Fourth Schedule of the Act, a large additional reserve has been made to secure that in no case shall the future net premiums valued exceed 75 per cent. of the office premiums, while in those cases where the reverse obtains the values given by the net premiums have been allowed to stand. A reserve has also been introduced for the cost of the valuation.

Sections 6 and 7.—The "Ordinary" section of the business calls for no further comment than that it is solvent in itself with a surplus, and with careful future management should yield a sound profit to the policy-holders in the future, although I do not consider that on the present occasion any portion of this surplus should be divided. This Fund therefore stands on a sound financial basis, and in my great concern to preserve it, and my earnest desire not to prejudice its future in the mind of the public I offer the following remarks on the deficiencies in the other two Funds.

The "Provident Endowment and Annuity-Certain" Fund.—It is sufficient to say that this fund is insolvent (but only to a small extent at present) owing to the fact that the balance of the office premiums remaining after the deduction of the 25 per cent. towards the management expenses, falls short of the 75 per cent. net premiums required. There will be a further deficiency disclosed at the next valuation, but the Directors could relieve this by crediting each year the balance required to make the 75 per cent. of the office premiums received equal to the true premiums required and accumulate these extra credits at the guaranteed rate of 5 per cent.

The "Combined Investment Assurance System" Fund.—I now deal with this fund :—On a 5 per cent. valuation the deficiency amounts to Rs. 7,31,279 : 3/2, and it is of course covered by the Capital yet uncalled which in the Accounts of 1911-12 is stated to be about Rs. 77,00,000. In order that a fair judgment may be formed upon the subject of the deficiency, I call special attention to the following remarks :—

(i) The deficiency is consequent on the insufficiency at present (compared with the usual endowment assurance premiums of the dividends upon the successive Calls of Capital involved in the scheme—the scheme is described under heading one of the Fifth Schedule of the Act—these are naturally very small at first owing to the mode of making the calls, and can only increase as the required Calls are paid-up and as earned augmented dividends can be applied as premiums to increase the fund. There are also to be noted the future dividends to be required beyond the term of 25 years if the policy becomes a claim by death, which it has been impossible to insert in the valuation, as the present value cannot be assessed, but which nevertheless exists as an additional reserve.

(ii) There are two obvious modes of restoring the deficiency :—(a) The calling up of sufficient Capital to meet the deficiency. The difficulty of this course lies in the fact that such called up capital would so materially increase the total Capital paid-up that it might be practically impossible to provide the assumed earned divided of 7 per cent. in the valuation, for such additional Capital would be producing no profit, by investment, to the Shareholders' Profit Fund, but on the contrary, on being transferred to the Assurance Fund would itself require to be accumulated at the guaranteed rate of 5 per cent. interest. Even the saving on reduced expenses (which I have earnestly insisted upon in my report to the Directors) would probably at all events for a considerable period, fail to aid the profits sufficiently to maintain the necessary 7 per cent. dividend as premium.

(b) But another mode is feasible, which I have recommended to the Directors. This fund being now closed none of the special expenses incidental to new business are entailed, and the cost is limited to that demanded for the conduct of a business already acquired and diminishing annually; hence I have suggested that the charge of the Shareholders upon the fund as compensation for sustaining the whole of the expenses should be restricted to 10 per cent., instead of to 25 per cent. I admit that this reduction again hampers the dividend fund in the mode I have mentioned, but this must be counteracted by larger savings on expenditure.

Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited.

Hence summarising :—

	Rs.
Deficiency in the Provident Fund	4,600
Deficiency in the Combined Investment Fund	7,31,279*
Total Deficiency ...	7,35,879*
There is a balance of realisable assets over the three accumulated funds as they stood at my valuation of	1,17,625
Hence capital to be called up ...	6,18,254*

If the reasonable course be adopted of reducing the rate of payment to the shareholders from 25 per cent, to 10 per cent. on the Combined Investment System (from the 30th April 1912), then—

The Deficiency is	3,94,895*
Add Provident Fund Deficiency	4,600
Total Deficiency ...	3,99,495*
Deduct balance of realisable Assets (as above)	1,17,625
Hence Capital to be called up	2,81,870*

(c) I have also indicated to the Directors in a supplemental Report another alternative, which consists in a direct modification of the sums assured in the Combined System, according in equity, to the ages at entry and the terms of the policies. While furnishing the Directors with calculations in connection with such modification, I have refrained from expressing any personal judgment upon the practical feasibility of action in this direction. This is a matter which rests exclusively upon the discretion and judgment of the Directors themselves, and their legal advisers. Should they consider the course to be practicable, the deficiency, I should say, approximately, would disappear as the result.

(3) It is also to be remarked that during the first 10 years of the duration of the policies, Calls, paid under the scheme, will be credited to Capital Account in aid of the free Capital and should be taken into consideration in connexion with the amount of Capital to be called up.

(4) The dividends declared in the past have been successively 7 per cent., 9 per cent., 10 per cent. and 10 per cent. I cannot predict the future scale of dividend, but as a practical valuation must be made, I have assumed a uniform dividend, as premium, of 7 per cent. per annum, of which 75 per cent. has been utilised as premiums. And I have pointed out in my Report that the fulfilment of this assumption is absolutely dependent upon a serious and immediate diminution of expenses.

(5) The essence of the position is the very heavy rate of expenditure. My Report treats most urgently and emphatically upon this point, and the absolute necessity of instant, severe and continuous reduction of expenditure as the indispensable condition of stability and prosperity generally, and the preservation of the excellent Ordinary Branch.

THE FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Statement respecting the Valuation of the Liabilities under the Life Policies and Annuities of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited, to be made and signed by the Actuary.

I.

The valuation is made up to the 30th April 1912.

[NOTE.—Owing to the special nature and features of the business I have been compelled, with a view to ascertaining the real effect in each of the departments, to make three separate valuations and thus to present three separate Summaries and Valuation Balance Sheets, which disclose the whole of the processes and results.

The general principles adopted in the valuation, the method followed in the valuation of particular classes of assurances and the method by which the net premiums have been arrived at, were determined by me.

Article Number 117 of the Society's Articles of Association constitutes a guide to the valuation, and is as follows :—

"The Premium Reserve Fund" (that is what is commonly known as the Life Assurance Fund) "shall be maintained in order to secure the due fulfilment of the Society's obligations to its policy-holders and shall not be drawn upon for any purpose other than the payment thereout, firstly, of duly substantiated claims under policies and, secondly, of profit additions thereto. Provided that 75 per cent. of the premium income of the Society (the balance thereof remaining after being drawn upon as above improved at 5 per cent. interest) shall either be placed in the Premium Reserve Fund or applied for the benefit of the policy holding interest only."

{NOTE.—The above bracket should obviously end after the words :—
. . . "drawn upon as above"
T. E. Y.

The ORDINARY ASSURANCE Section of the business consists of the usual class of assurance business involving the contingency of life, as is carried on in all ordinary Life Assurance Companies. The PROVIDENT ENDOWMENT and ANNUITY-CERTAIN section of the business consist of what are ordinarily known as "Sinking Fund" policies and of one Annuity Certain. The COMBINED INVESTMENT ASSURANCE system section of the business is fully described under Heading number one of the Fifth Schedule of the Act, as drawn by me.

The principles are here given as they affect the three classes of the business.

THE ORDINARY ASSURANCE BUSINESS.

Contracts in the first year of Assurance.—Here a reserve has been made in every case irrespective of the class of the assurance, to provide for the unexpired risk of death during the balance remaining, at the date of valuation, of the period covered by the premium last paid prior to the date of the valuation. In cases where the premiums are payable yearly this reserve consists of one half of the single premium for a term assurance for a period of one year, reckoned upon the appropriate sum assured and valuation age; in half-yearly cases the reserve is one quarter of such single premium; and in quarterly and monthly payments of premium the reserves are one-eighth and one-twenty-fourth respectively of such single premium. The reserves thus set up are consistent with the general basis of the valuation as explained in the next paragraph.

Contracts in the second and subsequent years of Assurance.—In all cases it has been assumed that the first year's premium has been entirely absorbed in the payment of initial expenses, and the payment of current claims by death appertaining to such policies in the first year of assurance, and hence the premium that will be required to provide for the future risk of death will be the premium appertaining to the original age at entry increased by the addition of one year: and in the case of Endowment Assurances, and Whole-life Assurances under a limited number of premiums, besides the addition of the one year to the age at entry there will require to be a deduction of one year from the original number of years during which premiums are stipulated to be paid. It was at once perceived that these hypothetical premiums would put too great a strain on the future premium resources of the Society as regards short-term Endowment Assurances, and Whole-life Assurances under premiums payable during a short period, and the valuation has been very considerably strengthened by the inclusion of a large additional reserve to secure that in no case shall the hypothetical premium valued exceed ·75 per cent. of the office premium, while in all cases where the reverse obtains the hypothetical premiums alone have been brought into the valuation. The method adopted has entirely excluded Negative values; the valuation schedules have also been carefully scrutinised to discover any Zero-values, and by amending the valuation-ages all Zero-values have been accorded a Positive value. This amendment of the valuation-ages was effected by adding the number of premiums paid to the age at entry. Thus, a positive liability has been assigned to every policy, and the reserve has in no case been less than the surrender value. The liability of the Society was ascertained by deducting from the present value of the sums assured, the present value of the future premiums, ascertained as above, and, besides the additional reserve above-mentioned, further additional reserves have been made to provide for (i) the early payment of claims, (ii) suspended mortality, (iii) absence of loading under whole-life limited-premium policies, and under endowment assurances subject to premiums payable for a less number of years than the number of years comprised in the endowment assurance period in order to meet the expenses when premiums are no longer payable. I am satisfied from certified details furnished by the Society, on schedules drawn by me, and from the very great preponderance of policies effected at half yearly, quarterly and monthly premiums, that the premium income may accurately be considered as distributed uniformly over the year, and hence under the whole-life assurances with premiums payable throughout the whole duration of life the usual addition of ·5 to the annuity function has been adopted. Special modifications, as hereafter explained, had to be made in connexion with Endowment Assurances and policies effected with a limited number of premiums. The sums assured and premiums under Whole-life policies with premiums payable throughout life, and the sums assured under Whole-life policies subject to a limited number of premiums were classified according to nearer ages at the date of valuation.

The sums assured and premiums under Endowment Assurances, and the premiums under whole-life policies subject to a limited number of payments were grouped in accordance with the calendar year of maturity (or cessation of premiums as the case might be) and each such group was then sub-divided according as the policies were effected prior or subsequent to the 30th April in the calendar year of assurance-entry. Thus in the case of a policy effected in the calendar year 1909, with a number of premiums limited to 20 payments, the last premium would become payable in the calendar year 1928 (similar remarks equally apply to Endowment Assurances) but the number of future premiums remaining to be made from the 30th April 1912, would be 16 or 17 according as the policy was originally effected prior or subsequent to the 30th April 1909.

The premiums of policies effected prior to the 30th April were valued by the annuity $\frac{1}{6} + a_{\overline{x:n-\frac{1}{6}}|}$ and those of policies effected subsequent to the 30th April were valued by the annuity $\frac{2}{3} + a_{\overline{x:n-\frac{2}{3}}|}$ both annuity-values assuming a uniform distribution of the premium income, and n the number of future yearly premiums payable.

In each sub-divided group the average valuation-age was found by a Modification of Lidstone's "Z." method Under policies effected prior to the 30th April the valuation-age is:—

M—(number of premiums remaining to be paid + ·8̇3̇);

While under policies effected subsequent to 30th April the valuation-age is:—

M—(number of premiums remaining to be paid + ·3̇).

The appropriate assurance-functions in each group were found from the annuity-functions above-mentioned.

Endowment assurances subject to premiums payable for a less number of years than the number of years comprised in the endowment assurance period were dealt with in a similar manner, first as regards the calendar year of maturity, and then as regards the calendar year in which the premiums would cease to be paid.

The extra rating on policies on under-average lives has in all cases been met by the Society, when accepting the risk, by an addition of years to the age, and these rated-up ages have been treated as the true ages in the valuation. There are no cases of constant extra premiums assessed on the sum assured.

In the case of policies with premiums payable more than once a year, the following courses have been adopted :—

Whole life policies with premiums payable throughout life :—Here the policies have been valued in exactly the same way as though they had all been cases with yearly premiums, and an addition has then been made to the present value of the premiums so found, of the balance of the net premiums (or office premiums as the case might be) outstanding for the current year of assurance.

In the case of endowment assurances and whole-life policies subject to a limited number of premiums where there may be n, n + ¼, n + ½, n + ¾, &c., premiums remaining to be paid, the yearly net premiums have been valued by the annuity for n payments and the result thus obtained has been increased by the addition of the actual amount of the unpaid portion of the full net premium (or office premium as the case might be) for the current year of assurance.

As the office premiums are true instalment-premiums (that is, subject to the condition that, in the event of the death of the life assured before the payment of the full number of instalments applicable to the current year of assurance, the unpaid instalments shall be deducted from the sum assured at settlement of the claim) the process adopted, as defined above, is essentially correct.

THE COMBINED INVESTMENT ASSURANCE BUSINESS.

This section of the business was closed to new entrants in June 1911.

A full description of the nature of these contracts is given under Heading number one of the Fifth Schedule of the Act. The sums assured, and the extra premium, where payable, were valued in exactly the same way as the Endowment Assurances under the Ordinary Assurance Business, as described above. The present value of the future dividends receivable (which take the place of the ordinary endowment assurance premiums) was ascertained as follows :—

A nominal share of Rs. 1,000, with Rs. 500 to be finally paid up in connexion with the scheme, was taken as the basis of the calculations; then, at the moment of effecting the policy the present value of a future dividend of 1 per cent. connected with a share of the nominal value of Rs. 1,000, with Rs. 500 to be finally paid up by 10 yearly instalments, payable in advance, of Rs. 50 each, would be :—

$$(v \times \cdot 5) + (v^2 \times 1\cdot 0) + (v^3 \times 1\cdot 5) + (v^4 + 2\cdot 0) + (v^5 \times 2\cdot 5) + \ldots\ldots\ldots\ldots + (v^9 \times 4\cdot 5) + (v^{10} + v^{11} + v^{12} + v^{13} + \ldots\ldots + v^{25}) \times 5\cdot 0.$$

Where 24 future dividends only are outstanding the above series would commence with $(v \times 1\cdot 0) + (v^2 \times 1\cdot 5) + \ldots$ and the final term would be $(v^{24} \times 5\cdot 0)$ and so on for 23, 22, 21, etc., future dividends outstanding. A table of these present values was prepared and, for policies of the face value of Rs. 1,000 these values were directly entered, while, for other amounts assured, the correct proportional parts of these functions were inserted. The total in each group was then modified, in accordance with the principles abovementioned, to give effect to the average time that would elapse before the next dividend would on the average fall due.

The valuation takes account of 75 per cent. only of the extra premiums where payable, and 75 per cent. of an assumed dividend of 7 per cent. and the deficiency thus brought out must therefore only be regarded in the light of this assumed dividend. The past dividends declared by the Society have been as follows :—7 per cent, 9 per cent, 10 per cent. 10 per cent. and 10 per cent.

It is also to be remarked that I have not included in the valuation the present value of the dividends beyond the 25 years which are exactable under the scheme.

Extra reserves have been made for early payment of claims in the case of death within the endowment assurance period, and for suspended mortality.

THE PROVIDENT ENDOWMENT AND ANNUITY-CERTAIN BUSINESS.

This section of the business consists exclusively of what are commonly known as "Sinking-Fund" insurances, and of one Annuity-Certain.

The reserves have been formed by accumulating the net premiums at interest from the average dates or payment; in the case or contracts "Paid-up" and under single premiums the present values of the sums insured have been taken as the reserves, while in the case of the Annuity-certain an ordinary annuity-certain, loaded for monthly payments, has been used in the valuation. Having regard to the 25 per cent. of the premiums contributed to the expenses, I have recommended the Directors to cease doing any further business at the present rates of premiums.

Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited.

The table of mortality used in the valuation was the O^m table of the British Offices' Life Tables 1893, with an addition of 6 years to each age. This table was decided upon after I had made a careful examination into the mortality experience of the Society. A further reserve has been made for suspended mortality—the lives being "Select" on the whole.

4.

The rates of interest assumed in the calculations were as follows :—

In the Ordinary Assurance Business—3½ per cent.

In the Combined Investment Assurance Business, and in the Provident Endowment and Annuity-Certain Business—5 per cent. (estimated from an exact 4 per cent. valuation).

These rates of interest were adopted for the following reasons :—

Ordinary Assurance Business.—The net rate of accumulation guaranteed by Article 117 of the Constitution is 5 per cent. and adopting a reasonable margin arrived at the rate I assumed.

Combined Investment Assurance Business.—The valuation had originally been based by me upon 4 per cent. and exact results at that rate has been obtained. Reflection satisfied me that looking (i) to the fact that the Series was finally closed, and (ii) that all the contracts (endowment assurances) were definitely terminable within a comparatively short period of years, this course was not just or appropriate. Hence to the exact results of the 4 per cent. valuation, I added an adjustment (after calculation) to produce a 5 per cent. valuation.

Provident Endowment and Annuity-Certain Business.—Here it appeared reasonable to adopt the full 5 per cent. as the whole of the business is a terminating one, and I have further recommended the Directors to close it to new entrants on the existing rates of premiums. The valuation had originally been made by me at 4 per cent., but I added an adjustment (duly calculated) in order to produce a 5 per cent. valuation.

The proportion of annual premiums, reserved as a provision for future expenses and profits in the case of policies effected under the Ordinary Assurance section of the business, is for Ordinary whole-life policies the difference between the office yearly premiums, and the net yearly premiums appertaining to ages at entry one year older than the ages on which such office premiums are based; in cases where preminms are payable for a definite number of years the reserve is the difference between the office premiums appertaining to the true ages at entry and to the true period during which it is contracted that premiums should continue to be paid, and the net premium appertaining to an age one year older and a duration of premium payments one year less.

Besides the usual extra reserve made to meet the expenses when premiums shall cease to be paid under Whole-life Assurance with a limited number of premiums, and Endowment Assurances with premiums payable for a less number of years than the number of years comprised in the endowment assurance period, a very large additional reserve has been made to secure that in all cases the net premiums valued shall in no case exceed 75 per cent. of the office yearly premiums, while, whenever the reverse has obtained, the net yearly premiums as described above have been allowed to stand.

In the valuation of the extra premiums and the assumed rate of future dividend a margin of 25 per cent. has been left unvalued, to provide for the future expenses of the Combined Investment Assurance Business. In this connexion I refer to my remarks in the last paragraph but two of the Combined Investment System section under heading two of this Schedule. In connexion with the tentative rate of future dividend of 7 per cent. which I have adopted in order to present a practical Valuation Balance Sheet, it must be understood that I do not pretend to make any prediction whatever of the future rate of dividend, the 7 per cent. tentatively assumed being a rate within that which had been declared during the last three years of the quinquennium.

As regards the Provident and Annuity-Certain section of the business, I refer to my remarks under that section in my answer under Heading two of this Schedule.

* The above account is made out in exact accordance with the certified copies of the duly audited Revenue Accounts for each year as submitted to me, but it will be observed that in the Valuation Balance Sheets. I have included as an adjustment certain amounts of further Interest Revenue to conform with my interpretation of Article 117 which reads as follows:—"The Premium Reserve Fund shall be maintained in order to secure the due fulfilment of the Society's obligations to its policy-holders and shall not be drawn upon for any purpose other than the payment thereout firstly of duly substantiated claims under policies and, secondly of profit additions thereto. Provided that 75 per cent. of the premium Income of the Society (the balance thereof remaining after being drawn upon as above improved at 5 per cent. compound Interest shall either be placed in the Premium Reserve Fund or applied for the benefit of the Policy-holding interest only." A minute of the Board of Directors, dated the 4th February 1914, states:—"The Directorate do not express any opinion as to the depletion of the Premium Reserve Fund by reason of the Auditor computing interest on only the amounts of the Fund as at the beginning of each year, but hereby authorise the Actuary, Mr. T. E. Young to replace in the Ordinary Life Fund any amount of Interest which may thereby or otherwise be found by him to be short of the amount required by the 5 per cent. guarantee given by the Articles as understood by him, the amount thus replaced being balanced against the requisite amount of further Capital Outlay." On a careful perusal of Article 117, I have no hesitation in adopting the interpretation I have above expressed.

† This should rightly be included among the surrenders.

8 and 9.

I do not advise the distribution of any portion of the Surplus in the Ordinary Branch and have recommended that the entire amount should be carried forward unappropriated.

In coming to this decision I am influenced by the following facts and considerations :—

(i) That the Society is a young one, and I should like to see its valuation basis (in respect of the allowance for initial expenses) somewhat more strengthened before any distribution is entertained;

(ii) I consider that the effect of the heavy lapse-rate, which the Society has experienced, on the future rate of mortality should be precisely observed, not only before any distribution should take place but also before any Scheme of Distribution is formulated and recommended to the Directors for adoption; and

(iii) The 5 per cent. interest guaranteed on this amount (beyond the 3½ per cent. assumed) so carried forward unappropriated will have an appreciable effect by the time the next valuation takes place and will thus considerably strengthen the position, and help towards the reduction of the valuation to a normal basis.

T. E. YOUNG, F. I. A.,
Actuary.

APPENDIX I TO THE FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Since my Valuations and Returns were prepared, I have received a letter, dated the 26th February 1914, from the Head Office, informing me that certain "intimated" Claims have not been included in the Audited Accounts.

So far as I can ascertain the omitted items amount to :—(i) in respect of the Ordinary Branch—Rs. 69,969, and (ii) in respect of the Combined Investment System Branch—Rs. 75,500.

Thus (even if all the Intimated Claims should be admitted by the Directors) a Surplus still remains in the Ordinary Branch; while the Deficiency in the Combined Investment System Branch is increased by the portion of intimated claims which may be admitted.

T. E. YOUNG, F. I. A.,
Actuary.

APPENDIX II TO THE FOURTH SCHEDULE.

I.—PENDING INTIMATED CLAIMS.

By reason of a misunderstanding the amounts of the claims intimated but not admitted were not included in the Audited Balance Sheet furnished to Mr. T. E. Young for the valuation. On the requisition of the Actuary to the Government of India a statement on the point was subsequently prepared and submitted but reached Mr. Young too late to included in the Valuation Balance Sheet; moreover, owing to the same not being couched in proper technical terms, Mr. Young could not gather the correct figures therefrom, and in his appendix to the Fourth Schedule he stated what he considered to be (but what as a matter of fact were not) the figures supplied from the Head Office of the Society. This led to further correspondence which terminated by Mr. Young advising the Directorate (acting upon the Solicitor's and Auditor's reports) to state the correct figures for the sanction of the Actuary to the Government of India.

The following are the correct audited figures for the Pending Intimated Claims so arrived at :—

Ordinary	...	...	Rs.	60,969
Combined	...	...	„	49,900

For the purpose of ascertaining the amount to be added to the liability side of the Ordinary and Combined Valuation Balance Sheets, respectively, on account of the above :—

(i) a deduction of Rs. 1,000 should be made from figure for Ordinary Claims and an addition of the same amount made to the figure for the Combined Claims, by reason of one Combined Claim for Rs. 1,000 having been erroneously treated as Ordinary in the Audited Balance Sheet furnished for the valuation which error was subsequently detected and corrected in the Audited accounts.

Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited.

(ii) Rs. 4,500 should be deducted from the figure for the Ordinary Claims by reason of this amount having already been taken into account under the head of "Intimated claims admitted" in the Balance Sheet for the valuation;

(iii) Rs. 1,600 should be deducted from the figure of the combined claim by reason of this amount having already been taken into account under the head of "Intimated claims admitted" in the Balance Sheet for the valuation.

Thus the correct amount to be respectively taken as added to the Liability side of the Valuation Balance Sheets, as given in the body of the Schedule, are as under:—

Ordinary	...	...	Rs. 55,469
Combined	...	...	" 49,300

and the figure of the Ordinary surplus must be read and diminished, and that of the Combined deficiency as increased accordingly.

II.—PAID-UP POLICY RESERVE.

The Actuary to the Government of India is of opinion that an additional Reserve for Paid-up Policies (to which the holders of lapsed Policies may be entitled on application) should have been shown as a liability which would further reduce the above surplus but admits that the point is not free from an element of reasonable doubt. The question of this Reserve was not investigated by Mr. T. E. Young as the materials before him at the time of the Valuation did not include the particulars from which the necessity for such further Reserve might be deduced. As there is no question of dividing any surplus before the next valuation, the Actuary to the Government of India in order to avoid further delay, has not required this matter to be investigated at this stage. It will therefore be held over till the next valuation which falls to be made as at the 30th April 1917. In the meantime those who are in any way interested in the valuation results should read the Valuation Balance Sheet and specially the Ordinary Branch surplus, as subject to the possibility of such additional Reserve.

THE COMBINED INVESTMENT SYSTEM.

THIS SCHEME WAS CLOSED IN JUNE 1911.

Class A Policies.

Any person, aged between 18 and 50, provided he be not suffering from any serious disease, was granted an Ordinary Endowment Assurance free from payment of all ordinary premiums provided he took up shares in the Society of a nominal amount equal to the amount of the policy. The purchase price of such shares was spread over the first 10 years of the contract—the assured paying down cash for shares to the extent of 5% of the sum assured at the time of entering into the contract, and further payments for calls of a like amount were to be made at the beginning of each year thereafter, up to and inclusive of the tenth year. Thus at the end of this period the sum paid up would be equal to half the amount of the policy. These payments, as and when made, are credited to the Capital account. The shares thus purchased are termed "Bond" shares.

The assured covenants on behalf of himself and legal heirs that all dividends on the shares thus purchased shall be paid to the Society during a period of 25 years reckoned from the date of the original grant of the contract. The Society then credits 75% of the actual dividends declared upon such paid up portions of shares to the Life Assurance Fund as premiums on the Endowment Assurance policy granted. The balance of 25% of these dividends is credited to the Shareholders' Account in consideration of their guarantee to defray all the costs of conducting and managing the business, and to accumulate the Funds at 5% interest per annum. It will be seen that the Shares on which dividends are credited to the Life Assurance Fund annually increase in amount during the first ten years and thereafter remain constant for the remainder of the 25 years.

If the assured should die before the whole of the ten share calls have been taken up and paid for, then the Life Assurance Fund pays over the full sum assured,—namely, any amount due for share calls not paid at the time of death to the Capital Account, and the balance of the sum assured to the legal heirs of the Assured. 75% of the dividends on amount thus fully paid up continues to be paid to the Life Assurance Fund for the remainder of the 25 years above mentioned.

If the Assured should die at any time during the Endowment Assurance period, the sum assured is paid over (with the specific reservation in the particular case just above-mentioned where it is paid partly to capital and partly to the legal heirs), and the Society has the power to increase the period, over and above the 25 years stipulated, during which the dividends shall continue to be paid to the Life Assurance Fund.

If the Assured survive the Endowment period the full sum assured will be paid over and the lien that the Society held upon the dividends will immediately cease, and future dividends will be paid to the legal heirs.

Class B Policies.

The scheme was also open to under-average lives and to persons aged between 50 and 55, but in these cases shares to the extent of the sum assured (with calls to the like extent of 5% of the sum assured similarly paid for) had to be purchased for 15 years, instead of 10 years.

Class A and B Policies.

The term of the Endowment Assurances was in all cases 25 years, but the assured was allowed to vary the term to 20, 15 or 10 years on payment of "extra" yearly premiums as under—

	Rs.	A.		Rs.
20-year term	7	8	per	1,000	assured.
15 " "	16	14	"	"	"
10 " "	27	8	"	"	"

Class A Policies were required to pay 10 of the above yearly "extra" premiums, and class B Policies 15. Where class B Policies were varied to 10 years only, 10 yearly "extra" premiums alone were required to be paid.

If the assured should die before all these "extra" premiums had been paid, a deduction of Rs. 5 per Bond share per annum would be made in respect of the balance of "extra" premiums remaining to be paid at the time of death. In the case of Class B—10 year Endowment Assurances this deduction is increased to Rs. 6-12 per Bond share per annum.

8 and 9.

The Total Amount of Immediate Annuities on lives and the amount of Annuities and Premiums receivable annually for all classes of Annuities other than immediate annuities in existence at 30th April 1912.

The Society had no annuity contracts on the books on the 30th April 1912.

Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited.

The average rate of interest yielded by the assets constituting the Life Assurance Funds of the Society calculated by Hardy's Formula during each year since 8th May 1907.

Year.	Ordinary.	Combined.	Provident.
8th May 1907 to 30th April 1908	Nil	No Business	Nil
1st " 1908 " " " 1909	2 4 8 %	Nil	1 13 1 %
" 1909 " " " 1910	2 9 7	0 4 4 %	3 8 8
" 1910 " " " 1911	3 6 10	2 3 10	3 15 9
" 1911 " " " 1912	3 14 8	5 0 0	4 4 4

The above rates of interest are obtained from attested copies of the duly audited Revenue Accounts, by Hardy's Formula—

$$\frac{2\ I}{A + B - I}$$

By Article 117 of the Society's Articles of Association the Shareholders guarantee the accumulation of 75 % of the premium income remaining after payment of all claims and surrenders at 5 % Interest Net. The Auditors have interpreted this as a guarantee of 5 % on the fund at the beginning of the year, and no interest on the increases to the fund during the year.

I am unable to concur with the Aud tors' interpretation and I have, by increasing the three Funds by a total of Rs. 16,736-8-3 distributed as in the valuation Balance Sheets, made the rate of interest yield on the Funds 5 % in each year except the years of commencing business, where I have assumed that the effective income would come in during the last 8 months of the year only—the first four months being practically taken up with canvassing and other preparations.

The Shareholders' guarantee is stated to be free of income-tax.

The Society has no Reversionary investments.

11.

The present practice of the Society is to grant minimum Surrender Values on the following scales :—

Whole Life Assurances 30 % of all the premiums paid, excluding the first year's premium.

Endowment Assurance 40 % of all the premiums paid, excluding the first year's premium.

Provident Endowments—

Number of Premiums paid.	Cash Surrender value.
From 1 to 5	Total Premiums paid less 5 %
" 6 to 10	Total Premiums paid.
" 11 to 15	Total Premiums paid plus 5 %
" 16 to 20	Total Premiums paid plus 10 %

Examples of Surrender Values at present allowed for Policies of Rs. 1,000 for the wholes term of Life, and for Endowment Assurances payable at the end of 20 years or at previous death.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Statement respecting the valuation of the Liabilities under life Policies of the India Equitable Assurance Co., Ltd., made by the Consulting Actuary.

1. The date up to which the valuation is made is the 30th June 1913.
2. The valuation has been made upon the following principles :—

(a) Policies for the Whole Term of life subject to uniform premiums throughout life were valued in classes according to the ages attained by the lives assured. Whole Life Policies subject to Limited Premiums of Paid up were valued individually according to age attained.

(b) Endowment Assurance Policies and Popular Life Policies were valued in classes according to the unexpired term of the Assurance and a mean valuation age was calculated for each group by an application of Makeham's formula for the law of mortality, in such a way that full weight was given to the various present ages of the assured lives in each group and to the magnitude of the respective sums assured.

(c) Combined Whole Life and Endowment Policies, and Double Endowments were valued individually.

(d) Children's Endowments and Cheap Investment Policies were valued on an interest basis simply and the reserve was arrived at by deducting from the discounted value of the sums assured the present value of the future Office Premiums. As regards the Cheap investment Policies there is a condition that the dividends on the shares, which form part of the benefit, may be deferred at the discretion of the Directors and in view of this condition it has been thought sufficient to take the shares at 75 per cent. of their face value. Probably this course over-states, if anything, the real liability.

(e) In cases where the anniversary of the Policies fell within six months of the Valuation date, the premium was valued by the Annuity due and in other cases by the simple annuity. Experience shows that this method makes an automatic and very accurate adjustment for the incidence of the premium income.

(f) For policies other than Children's Endowment and Cheap Investment Policies the net premiums were calculated on the basis of the British Offices O^m (5) Table with $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. interest and were the true net premiums for the risk without any allowance whatever for initial expenditure.

(g) In the case of lives assured at increased rates, whether permanent or temporary, the policies were valued as though only the minimum contract premiums were payable with an additional reserve equal to one half year's extra premium.

The principles were determined by the Directors on the advice of the Consulting Actuary.

3. The table of Mortality used was the British Offices O^m (5) Table, an addition of five years to the age being made in the case of whole Life Policies only, as an allowance for Indian mortality.

4. The rate of interest assumed was three and one half per cent. throughout.

5. The loading reserved is the whole of the difference between the office and the net premiums without any allowance for initial expenditure, and represents for policies with immediate profits 27·46 per cent., for Policies with contingent Profits, 19·65 per cent. for Policies without profits, 1·61 per cent. and for Popular Policies, 17·49 per cent., of the annual premium income. In the case of Limited Premium and paid up Policies, an additional reserve has been made to provide for expenses and profits after the premiums have been made up.

Note.—The business is in three sections, namely, (1) that which may be called the Ordinary Business, (2) the Popular Policy Scheme, and (3) the Rupee Policy Marriage Insurance. The Policies in the first two categories have been valued, but no valuation is required of the Rupee Policy Marriage Insurance as that is scarcely more than a Banking Account.

8 and 9. No annuities have been granted by the Company.

10. On account of the recent establishment of the Company, it is scarcely possible to give a full and satisfactory answer to this question, but for the last two years of the valuation period the rate of interest realised on the mean fund was as follows:—

Year ending 30th June.	Average rate of interest per cent. per annum.
	Rs. A.
1912	4 [illegible]
1913	4 [illegible] 2

11. After three years and three years' premiums have been paid in the case of policies for the whole of life, whether by uniform annual premiums or by a limited number of annual premiums exceeding twenty, or after two years and two years' premiums paid, when the limited premiums do not exceed twenty, the guaranteed minimum surrender value is 30 per cent., of the premiums paid. In the case of endowment assurances after two years and two years' premiums have been paid, the guaranteed minimum surrender value is 33 per cent. of the premiums paid.

For Children's endowments after two full years' premiums have been paid the surrender value consists of the whole of the premiums paid with 2 per cent. compound interest.

No scale of surrender values other than the above has yet been prepared.

GEORGE KING, F.I.A., F.F.A.

London, 1st September 1914.

India Equitable Insurance Company, Limited.

Statement under the Indian Life Assurance Companies Rules, 1913, made by Mr. George King, the Consulting Actuary, employed by the Directors of the India Equitable Insurance Company, Limited, to make the first valuation of the Company as on 30th June, 1913.

Section 3 of the Rules:—I am a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries, London, and a Fellow of the Faculty of Actuaries in Scotland.

Section 4 of the Rule:—The Officials of the Company supplied a schedule signed by them as correct, showing all the policies, according to their books, in force on 30th June 1913, and at my request the Managing Director wrote me a letter stating that the schedules were complete. The particulars in the schedules were then verified as far as possible as to rates, etc., from Prospectuses supplied and after correspondence, all discrepancies were cleared up. I am, therefore, satisfied that the particulars on which my valuation is based, are correct.

Section 5 of the Rules.—Attached to this statement are the replies to the questions asked in the 4th and 5th schedules of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, and as regards the 4th schedule, I certify :—

(a) that the calculations are correct and were made on the principles explained in the answers to the questions of the Fourth Schedule;

(b) that these principles have my approval;

(c) that I have obtained all the information and explanations which I have asked for;

(d) that the adjustment, used in the Valuation, for unequal incidence of the premium income is set forth in answer to question No. 2 of the Fourth Schedule, and that, as regards premiums payable more often than once a year, seeing that in the Balance sheet the outstanding instalments of premiums represent only those instalments which were actually due and unpaid at the Valuation date, an adjustment was made to the value of the future premiums and the reserves for the instalments of the current year's premiums falling due after the valuation date;

(e) that, as regards ages at entry, it was assumed that the Office age at entry was attained on the 30th June following entry, and for the valuation age there was added to the entry age, so ascertained, the number of policy years actually completed. In the case of policies for the whole of life an addition of 5 years was made to such entry and valuation ages respectively as an allowance for Indian mortality:

(f) that the table used in the valuation is that known as the O^m (5) which has been published;

(g) that the method of valuation secures that there can be no negative values;

(h) that the following are specimens of the Reserve Values:—

(i) Whole Life Assurance, with premiums payable throughout life;

BASIS OF VALUATION.

Rate of Interest.

I have adopted 3½ per cent. as the rate at which the Funds may be assumed to accumulate.

Mortality.

Sufficient data are not yet available on which to base precise estimates of the rate of mortality likely to be experienced by the Company. Such statistics as have been published relative to Indian mortality indicate that the rate of mortality among Natives is improving and that, in the case of medically selected lives, the British Offices (O^m) Tables with an addition to the age of some five or six years is a fairly safe basis to adopt in the case of whole life assurances, and that in the case of Endowment Assurances the addition may be dispensed with. I have, therefore adopted that basis.

Loading.

What is known as a Net O^m Valuation, that is one in which the net actuarial premiums (and not the premiums actually payable or some modification of them) are valued and taken credit for, is not, as a rule, suitable in the case of a recently established Company with heavy initial expenditure. This is owing to the fact that in such circumstances a company cannot keep in hand a sufficiently large portion of the contributions. In such a case it is, therefore more appropriate to take credit for the future actual premiums payable less such a deduction as may be thought reasonably sufficient to meet future expenses on the existing business and, if possible, provide for bonus. After careful consideration I am of opinion that a margin of not less than 16 per cent. of the future Office premiums should be left for these purposes, and have consequently set against the present actuarial value of the Sums Assured the present value of 84 per cent. of the actual Office premiums payable under the Assurances. The Pure Endowments which are all with returnable premiums, have been valued by accumulating past premiums, subject to a deduction for expenses, at 3½ per cent, the resulting Reserve along with the future premiums similarly modified being just sufficient, if accumulated at that rate of interest, to meet the claims under these Endowments.

The following is a summary of the Assurances and of the Valuation :—

Class of Policy.	Number of Policies.	Total Sums Assured. Rs.	A.	P.	Total premiums payable. Rs.	Value of Sum Assured. Rs.	Value of 84 per cent of Office premiums. Rs.
Whole Life Assurances : by Whole Life Premiums ...	61	11,07,397	11	0	34,726	4,84,544	4,74,676
Whole Life Assurances : by Limited Payments ...	340	5,16,062	8	0	22,807	2,24,605	1,98,243
Endowment Assurances	3,635	53,97,269	7	8	3,00,149	31,61,132	28,21,512
Children's Endowments	51	73,500	0	0	5,521	17,893	...
	4,707	70,94,229	10	8	3,63,203	38,88,234	34,94,431
Less Re-assurances	...	25,000	0	0	1,675	17,028	12,855
	4,707	70,69,229	10	8	3,61,528	38,71,206	34,81,576

National Insurance Company, Limited.

Valuation as at 29th February 1912.

The Reserve, being the difference between—

	Rs
The Value of the Sums Assured	38,71,206
And the value of future Premiums	34,81,576
is thus	3,89,630
against which the Life Assurance Fund at the date of valuation was	3,91,104
Shewing a surplus of	1,474

In view of the heavy initial expenditure already referred to, a surplus at the end of the first five years sufficiently large to provide a bonus, was scarcely to be anticipated. It should, however, be added that even the nominal surplus brought out cannot be considered as actually realised. The present value of such a large proportion as 84 per cent. of the Office Premiums exceeds the present value of the sums Assured in the case of many of the policies, especially those effected only a year or two ago, and particularly on whole life premium scale at young ages. The result in such cases is what is termed a Negative value, in other words, the Policy is treated as an asset. That asset would be lost to the Company if the policies were dropped and, since there is no certainty that they will be kept up, the excess of the values of the Premiums over the values of the Sums Assured in those cases should, strictly speaking, be excluded altogether from the valuation and, if this were done, the position would not appear so favourable as it does.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Foreign and Political Department.

IN paragraph 9 of the Resolution by the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No. 2185-Est.-A., dated the 1st September 1911, announcing the introduction of a scheme for the reorganisation of the Political Department of the Government of India, it was declared that future entrants into the Political Department, both civilians and military officers, would be graded strictly in accordance with the date from which each officer is entitled to count his service for increment under the time scale. The strict application of this rule to a group of military officers selected simultaneously for the Department has given rise to certain difficulties, while similar difficulties are also liable to occur in the event of two or more officers of the Indian Civil Service of the same year being taken into the Department.

2. With the approval of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India the Government of India are accordingly pleased to decide that seniority in the Political Department will be governed by the following rules:—

(1) The seniority inter se of military officers recruited for the Department simultaneously shall be regulated by the dates of their first commissions.

(2) The seniority inter se of members of the Indian Civil Service shall be reckoned in the same manner as in the Provinces; that is to say, according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the combined marks of the open competitive and final examinations for admission into the service.

(3) The relative seniority of a member of the Indian Civil Service on the one hand and of a military officer on the other shall be determined with reference to the length of their servcie in the Indian Civil Service and the Political Department, respectively.

The above rules will govern the seniority of all officers admitted into the Political Department subsequently to the 1st September 1911.

RESOLUTION.

Simla, the 28th August 1915.

THE following review on the working of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912 (VI of 1912), is published for general information :—

The Indian Life Assurance Companies Act came into force on 18th March 1912. The accounts and valuation particulars for two complete years have been received and published each year with an introductory note by the Government Actuary. The figures for the latter year relate in all cases to a period ending before the outbreak of the war.

2. The manner in which the accounts are drawn up exhibits a gratifying degree of improvement, and bears testimony to the capacity of the smaller Companies to profit by the advice and assistance given them in the preparation of their statements and the maintenance of their accounts. In spite of the untoward financial conditions which prevailed throughout much of the period under review, the number of Companies doing business under the Life Assurance Act exhibits little change, and it is obvious that the apprehensions entertained at one time of the possibly injurious effect of the legislation now in force on Indian Life Assurance enterprises have not been justified. When the Act was passed, there were 49 Indian Companies which came under its scope. Of these, 9 have undergone liquidation, while 6 fresh ones have commenced business, leaving a balance of 46. In addition to this number, life assurance business is undertaken by other 22 Companies, of which 15 are constituted in the United Kingdom, 6 in other parts of the British Empire and 1 in the United States of America. Of the 46 Indian Insurance Companies now working, there are, it is true, a few which, sooner or later, will probably have to admit that their financial position does not warrant a continuance of their operations, and will have to go into liquidation. The Government Actuary's statements relate to two years, during the latter of which the amount of life assurance funds held by Indian Companies increased by nearly half a crore and now exceeds 5¾ crores, while the total sums assured have increased in the same period by about one-and-a-half crores and now amount to nearly 22¼ crores. Though the larger Companies naturally account for the bulk of this increase, there are many smaller Companies which had materially improved their position up to the close of the period to which their published accounts relate and the general improvement would have been undoubtedly far greater but for the adverse conditions created by the Bank failures in Bombay and the Punjab.

3. The general policy of the Government of India with regard to Indian Life Assurance Companies has been to bring home to them the disadvantages of unsound methods where such have been pursued and to endeavour to induce the Companies concerned to remedy such methods where it seemed that their financial position had not already been shaken to too great an extent to permit of reparation While keeping in view the duty of securing the interests of policy-holders, Government have also borne in mind the importance of abstaining from action which might unnecessarily harass a Company under temporary difficulties due to unskilled though honest management. This policy has been loyally carried out by Mr. Meikle, the Government Actuary, who has maintained helpful and sympathetic relations with Indian Insurance Companies, while paying due attention to the necessity of safeguarding the interests of policy-holders.

4. One of the worst faults which have characterised the less efficiently-managed Companies, has been their failure to obtain skilled actuarial assistance to advise them regarding their financial position. This has led in some cases to their declaring dividends unwarranted by the profits earned.

The need for skilled help is now much more generally recognised. During the past two years, 14 actuarial valuations have been received, and there is a widespread recognition that something more than zeal and intelligence is needed to manage so highly technical a business as that of Life Assurance. The result has been that since the Act came into force several Companies have discontinued the payment of dividends in consequence of the advice either of their actuary or of Government. Another source of danger was the undertaking, in addition to ordinary Life Assurance, of such business as 'dividing' insurances, payable on death, or on the occasion of births and marriages, a line of business which has involved several Companies in serious difficulties. Thirteen Companies which previously undertook dividing insurance have now discontinued it.

5. In view of the less complicated nature of the accounts of Mutual Companies and the comparative smallness of the sums involved in their transactions, permission has been given to such Companies to employ the services of auditors holding restricted certificates. There are a number of Mutual Companies, the larger proportion of whose business consists of small insurances such as would ordinarily fall under the Provident Insurance Societies Act. In such cases, the Government of India have expressed their readiness to consider applications for some temporary relaxation of the provision of the Act regarding compulsory deposits; and in no case has any such Company been compelled to suspend business solely on account of the necessity for the payment of the statutory deposit. The Government of India are gratified to observe the growing sense of responsibility and the desire to attain a satisfactory standard of working that has generally characterised the smaller Indian Life Assurance Companies; and they see good reason to hope that their efforts to put their business on a sounder basis will be rewarded by an increase in its volume and by enhanced prosperity, when the unfavourable conditions arising out of the war have passed away. These, however, will not begin to be apparent until the receipt of the next series of annual statements.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the foregoing Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations for information, and that it be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

The lectures in the former course will be delivered during the day, while those in the latter will be delivered in the evening only. No candidate shall be admitted to the examinations held in connexion with the day and evening courses unless he has completed such minimum attendance at lectures and classes as may be laid down by the Commercial Course Advisory Board.

No candidate shall be allowed to pass unless his answers on every subject are written in a good, legible handwriting.

Evening course.

3. The following will be the subjects prescribed for the evening course:—

In these subjects special examinations will be held, candidates being allowed to take up each separately and to obtain certificates of having passed in it.

4. Certificates will be awarded by the Education Department to successful students and will be endorsed by the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. Lists of successful candidates will be published by that Chamber and by the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce.

Award of certificates and publication of results.

5. There will be no age-limit for candidates for either course.

Candidates who have passed the Matriculation Examination, or other examination held to be equivalent, will be eligible for admission to the day course. Others will be admitted only if they satisfy the Education Department, by passing a preliminary test examination of a similar standard, that they have sufficient general education to enable them to derive advantage from the lectures. Candidates who have not attended the lectures in the day course at the Government Commercial Institute will be allowed to compete at the examination only if they are certified by the Principals of affiliated Colleges or Institutions as having a reasonable prospect of success. The form of certificate to be issued to students who have passed this examination, as laid down in paragraph 2 above, will show whether the student has passed the Matriculation Examination or not and also whether he has duly attended the lectures prescribed for the day course at the Government Commercial Institute or any institution affiliated thereto. Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following order, issued by the Government of India in the Army Department, published in the Gazette of India dated the 25th September 1915, is republished for general information.

J. H. KERR,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Simla, the 24th September 1915.

LONDON GAZETTE.

No. 932.—The following extracts are published for general information:—

Second Supplement, dated the 16th August 1915, to the "London Gazette" of the 13th August 1915, pages 8125 to 8136.

Admiralty, 16th August 1915.

The following despatch has been received from Vice-Admiral John M. de Robeck, reporting the landing of the Army on the Gallipoli Peninsula, 25th-26th April 1915.

"Triad, July 1, 1915.

SIR,—I have the honour to forward herewith an account of the operations carried out on the 25th and 26th April 1915, during which period the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force was landed and firmly established in the Gallipoli peninsula.

The landing commenced at 4-20 A.M. on 25th. The general scheme was as follows:—

Two main landings were to take place, the first at a point just north of Gaba Tepe, the second on the southern end of the peninsula. In addition, a landing was to be made at Kum Kale, and a demonstration in force to be carried out in the Gulf of Xeros near Bulair.

The night of the 24th-25th was calm and very clear, with a brilliant moon, which set at 3 A.M.

The first landing, north of Gaba Tepe, was carried out under the orders of Rear-Admiral C. F. Thursby, C. M. G. His squadron consisted of the following ships:—

Battleships.	Cruiser.	Destroyers.	Seaplane Carrier.	Balloon Ship.	Trawlers.
Queen.	Bacchante.	Beagle.	Ark Royal.	Manica.	15
London.		Bulldog.
Prince of Wales.		Foxhound.
Triumph.		Scourge.
Majestic.		Colne.
		Usk.
		Chelmer.
		Ribble.

To "Queen," "London," and "Prince of Wales," was delegated the duty of actually landing the troops. To "Triumph," "Majestic," and "Bacchante" the duty of covering the landing by gunfire.

In this landing a surprise was attempted. The first troops to be landed were embarked in the battleships "Queen," "London," and "Prince of Wales."

The squadron then approached the land at 2-58 A.M., at a speed of 5 knots. When within a short distance of the beach selected for landing the boats were sent ahead. At 4-20 A.M., the boats reached the beach and a landing was effected.

The remainder of the infantry of the covering force were embarked at 10 P.M., 24th.

The troops were landed in two trips, the operation occupying about half an hour, this in spite of the fact that the landing was vigorously opposed, the surprise being only partially effected.

The disembarkation of the main body was at once proceeded with. The operations were somewhat delayed owing to the transports having to remain a considerale distance from the shore in order to avoid the howitzer and field guns' fire brought to bear on them and also the fire from warships stationed in the Narrows, Chanak.

The beach here was very narrow and continuously under shell fire The difficulties of disembarkation were accentuated by the necessity of evacuating the wounded; both operations proceeded simultaneously. The service was one which called for great determination and coolness under fire, and the success achieved indicates the spirit animating all concerned. In this respect I would specially mention the extraordinary gallantry and dash shown by the 3rd Australian Infantry Brigade (Colonel E. G. Sinclair Maclagan, D.S.O.), who formed the covering force. Many individual acts of devotion to duty were performed by the personnel of the Navy; these are dealt with below. Here I should like to place on record the good service performed by the vessels employed in landing the second part of the covering force; the seamanship displayed and the rapidity with which so large a force was thrown on the beach is deserving of the highest praise.

On the 26th the landing of troops, guns and stores continued throughout the day; this was a most trying service, as the enemy kept up an incessant shrapnel fire, and it was extremely difficult to locate the well-concealed guns of the enemy. Occasional bursts of fire from the ships in the Narrows delayed operations somewhat, but these bursts of fire did not last long, and the fire from our ships always drove the enemy's ships away.

The enemy heavily counter-attacked, and though supported by a very heavy shrapnel fire he could make no impression on our line, which was every minute becoming stronger. By nightfall on the 26th April our position north of Gaba Tepe was secure.

The landing at the southern extremity of the Gallipoli peninsula was carried out under the orders of Rear-Admiral R. E. Wemyss, C.M.G., M.V.O., his squadron consisting of the following ships:—

Battleships.	Cruisers.	Fleet sweepers.	Trawlers.
Swiftsure. Implacable. Cornwallis. Albion. Vengeance. Lord Nelson. Prince George.	Euryalus. Talbot. Minerva. Dublin.	6	14

Landings in this area were to be attempted at five different places; the conditions at each landing varied considerably. The position of beaches is given below.

Position of Beach.—"Y" beach, a point about 7,000 yards north-east of Cape Tekeh.

"X" beach, 1,000 yards north-east of Cape Tekeh. "W" beach. Cape Tekeh—Cape Helles. "V" beach, Cape Helles—Seddul Bahr. Camber, Seddul Bahr. "S" beach, Eski-Hissarlik Point.

Taking these landings in the above order:—

Landing at "Y" Beach.—The troops to be first landed, the King's Own Scottish Borderers, embarked on the 24th in the "Amethyst" and "Sapphire" and proceeded with the transports "Southland" and "Braemar Castle," to a position off Cape Tekeh. At 4-0 A.M., the boats proceeded to "Y" beach timing their arrival there at 5-0 A.M., and pulled ashore covered by fire from H.M.S. "Goliath." The landing was most successfully and expeditiously carried out, the troops gaining the top of the high cliffs overlooking this beach without being opposed; this result I consider due to the rapidity with which the disembarkation was carried out and the well placed covering fire from ships.

The Scottish Borderers were landed in two trips, followed at once by the Plymouth Battalion, Royal Marines. These troops met with severe opposition on the top of the cliffs, where fire from covering ships was of little assistance and, after heavy fighting, were forced to re-embark on the 26th. The re-embarkation was carried out by the following ships: "Goliath," "Talbot," "Dublin," "Sapphire," and "Amethyst." It was most ably conducted by the beach personnel and covered by the fire of the warships, who prevented the enemy reaching the edge of the cliff, except for a few snipers.

Landing at "X" Beach.—The 2nd Battalion, Royal Fusiliers (two companies and M. G. Section) embarked in "Implacable" on 24th, which ship proceeded to a position off the landing-place, where the disembarkation of the troops commenced at 4-30 A.M. and was completed at 5-15 A.M.

A heavy fire was opened on the cliffs on both sides. The "Implacable" approached the beach, and the troops were ordered to land, fire being continued until the boats were close into the beach. The troops on board the "Implacable" were all landed by 7 A.M. without any casualties. The nature of the beach was very favourable for the covering fire from ships, but the manner in which this landing was carried out might well serve as a model.

Landing at "W" Beach.—The 1st Battalion, Lancashire Fusiliers, embarked in "Euryalus" and "Implacable" on the 24th who proceeded to positions off the landing-place, where the troops embarked in the boats at about 4 A.M. Shortly after 5 A.M "Euryalus" approached "W" beach and "Implacable" "X" beach. At 5 A.M. the covering ships opened a heavy fire on the beach, which was continued up to the last moment before landing. Unfortunately this fire did not have the effect on the extensive wire entanglements and trenches that had been hoped for, and the troops, on landing at 6 A.M., were met with a very heavy fire from rifles, machine guns, and pom-poms, and found the obstructions on the beach undamaged. The formation of this beach lends itself admirably to the defence, the landing-place being commanded by sloping cliffs offering ideal positions for trenches and giving a perfect field on fire. The only weakness in the enemy's position was on the flanks, where it was just possible to land on the rocks and thus enfilade the more important defences. This landing on the rocks was effected with great skill, and some maxims, cleverly concealed in the cliffs and which completely enfiladed the main beach, were rushed with the bayonet. This assisted to a great extent in the success of the landing, the troops, though losing very heavily, were not to be denied and the beach and the approaches to it were soon in our possession.

The importance of this success cannot be over-estimated; "W" and "V" beaches were the only two of any size in this area, on which troops, other than infantry, could be disembarked, and failure to capture this one might have had serious consequences as the landing at "V" was held up. The beach was being continuously sniped, and a fierce infantry battle was carried on round it throughout the entire day and the following night. It is impossible to exalt too highly the service rendered by the 1st Battalion, Lancashire Fusiliers, in the storming of the beach; the dash and gallantry displayed were superb. Not one whit behind in devotion to duty was the work of the beach personnel, who worked untiringly throughout the day and night, landing troops and stores under continual sniping. The losses due to rifle and machine-gun fire sustained by the boats' crews, to which they had not the satisfaction of being able to reply, bear testimony to the arduous nature of the service.

During the night of the 25th-26th enemy attacked continuously, and it was not till 1 P.M. on the 26th, when "V" beach was captured, that our position might be said to be secure.

The work of landing troops, guns, and stores continued throughout this period and the conduct of all concerned left nothing to be desired.

Landing at "V" Beach.—This beach, it was anticipated would be the most difficult to capture; it possessed all the advantages for defence which "W" beach had, and in addition the flanks were strongly guarded by the old castle and village of Seddul Bahr on the east and perpendicular cliffs on the west; the whole foreshore was covered with barbed wire entanglements which extended in places under the sea. The position formed a natural amphitheatre with the beach as stage.

The first landing here, as at all other places, was made in boats, but the experiment was tried of landing the remainder of the covering force by means of a collier, the "River Clyde." This steamer had been specially prepared for the occasion under the directions of Commander Edward Unwin; large ports had been cut in her sides and gangways built whereby the troops could reach the lighters which were to form a bridge on to the beach.

"V" beach was subjected to a heavy bombardment similarly to "W" beach, with the same result, i.e., when the first trip attempted to land they were met with a murderous fire from rifle, pom-pom and machine gun, which was not opened till the boats had cast off from the steamboats.

A landing on the flanks here was impossible and practically all the first trip were either killed or wounded, few managing to find some slight shelter under a bank on the beach; in several boats all were either killed or wounded; one boat entirely disappeared, and in another there were only two survivors. Immediately after the boats had reached the beach the "River Clyde" was run ashore under a heavy fire rather towards the eastern end of the beach, where she could form a convenient breakwater during future landing of stores, etc.

As the "River Clyde" grounded, the lighters which were to form the bridge to the shore were run out ahead of the collier, but unfortunately they failed to reach their proper stations and a gap was left between two lighters over which it was impossible for men to cross; some attempted to land by jumping from the lighter which was in position into the sea and wading ashore; this method proved too costly, the lighter being soon heaped with dead and the disembarkation was ordered to cease.

The troops in the "River Clyde" were protected from rifle and machine gunfire and were in comparative safety.

Commander Unwin, seeing how things were going, left the "River Clyde" and, standing up to his waist in water under a very heavy fire, got the lighters into position; he was assisted in this work by Midshipman G. L. Drewry, R.N.R., of H.M.S "Hussar"; Midshipman W. St. A. Malleson, R.N., of H.M.S. "Cornwallis"; Able Seaman W. C. Williams, O.N. 186774

(R.F.R.B. 3766), and Seaman R.N.R. George McKenzie Samson, O.N. 2408A, both of H.M.S. "Hussar."

The brigade to the shore, though now passable, could not be used by the troops, anyone appearing on it being instantly shot down, and the men in "River Clyde" remained in her till nightfall.

At 9-50 A.M., "Albion" sent in launch and pinnace manned by volunteer crews to assist in completing bridge, which did not quite reach breach; these boats, however, could not be got into position until dark owing to heavy fire.

It had already been decided not to continue to disembark on "V" Beach, and all other troops intended for this beach were diverted to "W."

The position remained unchanged on "V" beach throughout the day, men-of-war and the maxims mounted in "River Clyde" doing their utmost to keep down the fire directed on the men under partial shelter on the beach.

During this period many heroic deeds were performed in rescuing wounded men in the water.

During the night of 25th-26th the troops in "River Clyde" were able to disembark under cover of darkness and obtain some shelter on the beach and in the village of Seddul Bahr, for possession of which now commenced a most stubborn fight.

The fight continued, supported ably by gunfire from H.M.S. "Albion," until 1-24 P.M., when our troops had gained a position from which they assaulted hill 141, which dominated the situation. "Albion" then ceased fire, and the hill, with old fort on top, was most gallantly stormed by the troops, led by Lieutenant-Colonel C. H. H. Doughty-Wylie, General Staff, who fell as the position was won. The taking of this hill effectively cleared the enemy from the neighbourhood of the "V" Beach, which could now be used for the disembarkation of the allied armies. The capture of this beach called for a display of the utmost gallantry and perseverance from the officers and men of both services—that they successfully accomplished their task bordered on the miraculous.

Landing on the Camber, Seddul Bahr.—One half company, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, landed here without opposition, the Camber being "dead ground." The advance from the Camber, however, was only possible on a narrow front, and after several attempts to enter the village of Seddul Bahr this half company had to withdraw after suffering heavy losses.

Landing at "De Totts" "S" Beach.—The 2nd South Wales Borderers (less one company) and a detachment 2nd London Field Company, R.E., were landed in boats, convoyed by "Cornwallis," and covered by that ship and "Lord Nelson."

Little opposition was encountered, and the hill was soon in the possession of the South Wales Borderers. The enemy attacked this position on the evening of the 25th and during the 26th, but our troops were firmly established, and with the assistance of the covering ships all attacks were easily beaten off.

Landing at Kum Kale.—The landing here was undertaken by the French.

It was most important to prevent the enemy occupying positions in this neighbourhood, whence he could bring gun fire to bear on the transports off Cape Helles. It was also hoped that by holding this position it would be possible to deal effectively with the enemy's guns on the Asiatic shore immediately east of Kum Kale, which could fire into Seddul Bahr and De Totts.

The French, after a heavy preliminary bombardment, commenced to land at about 10 A.M., and by the afternoon the whole of their force had been landed at Kum Kale. When they attempted to advance to Yeni Shehr, their immediate objective, they were met by heavy fire from well-concealed trenches, and were held up just south of Kum Kale village.

During the night of the 25th-26th the enemy made several counter-attacks, all of which were easily driven of; during one of these 400 Turks were captured, their retreat being cut off by the fire from the battleships.

On the 26th, when it became apparent that no advance was possible without entailing severe losses and the landing of large reinforcements, the order was given for the French to withdraw and re-embark, which operation was carried out without serious opposition.

I now propose to make the following more general remarks on the conduct of the operations :—

From the very first the co-operation between army and navy was most happy; difficulties which arose were quickly surmounted, and nothing could have succeeded the tactfulness and forethought of Sir Ian Hamilton and his staff.

The loyal support which I received from Contre-Amiral E. P. A. Guepratte simplified the task of landing the Allied armies simultaneously.

The Russian fleet was represented by H.I.R.M.S "Askold.' which ship was attached to the French squadron. Contre-Amiral Guepratte bears testimony to the value of the support he received from Captain Ivanoff, especially during the landing and re-embarkation of the French troops at Kum Kale.

The detailed organisation of the landing could not be commenced until the Army Headquarters returned from Egypt on the 10th April. The work to be done was very great, and the naval personnel and material available small.

Immediately on the arrival of the Army Staff at Mudos, committees composed of officers of both services commenced to work out the details of the landing operations, and it was due to these officers' indefatigable efforts that the expedition wae ready to land on the 22nd April. The keenness displayed by the officers and men resulted in a good standard of efficiency, especially in the case of the Australian and New Zealand Corps, who appear to be natural boatmen.

Such actions as the storming of the Seddul Bahr position by the 29th Division must live in history for ever; innumerable deeds of heroism and daring were performed; the gallantry and absolute contempt for death displayed alone made the operations possible.

At Gaba Tepe the landing and the dash of the Australian Brigade for the cliffs was magnificent— nothing could stop such men. The Australian and New Zealand Army Corps in this, their first battle, set a standard as high as that of any army in history, and one of which their countrymen have every reason to be proud.

In closing this despatch I beg to bring to their Lordships' notice the names of certain officers and men who have performed meritorious service. The great traditions of His Majesty's Navy were well maintained, and the list of names submitted of necessity lacks those of many officers and men who performed gallant deeds unobserved and therefore unnoted. This standard was high, and if I specially mention one particular action it is that of Commander Unwin and the two young officers and two seamen who assisted him in the work of establishing communication between "River Clyde" and the beach. Rear-Admirals R. E. Wemyss, C.M.G., M.V.O., C. F. Thursby, C.M.G., and Stuart Nicholson, M.V.O., have rendered invaluable service. Throughout they have been indefatigable in their efforts to further the success of the operations and their loyal support has much lightened my duties and responsibilities.

I have at all times received the most loyal support from the Commanding Officers of His Majesty's ships during an operation which called for the display of great initiative and seamanship.

Captain R. F. Phillimore, C.B., M.V.O., A.D.C., as principal Beach Master, and Captain D. L. Dent, as principal Naval Transport Officer, performed most valuable service.

SPECIAL RECOMMENDATIONS.

Commander Edward Unwin, R. N.

While in "River Clyde," observing that the lighters which were to form the bridge to the shore had broken adrift, Commander Unwin left the ship and under a murderous fire attempted to get the lighters into position. He worked on until, suffering from the effects of cold and immersion, he was obliged to return to the ship, where he was wrapped up in blankets. Having in some degree recovered, he returned to his work against the doctor's order and completed it. He was later again attended by the doctor for three abrasions caused by bullets, after which he once more left the ship, this time in a lifeboat, to save some wounded men who were lying in shallow water near the beach. He continued at this heroic labour under continuous fire until forced to stop thro' pure physical exhaustion.

Midshipman George L. Drewry, R. N. R.

Assisted Commander Unwin at the work of securing the lighters under heavy rifle and maxim fire. He was wounded in the head, but continued his work and twice subsequently attempted to swim from lighter to lighter with a line.

Midshipman Wilfred St. A. Malleson, R. N..

Also assisted Commander Unwin, and after Midshipman Drewry had failed from exhaustion to get a line from lighter to lighter, he swam with it himself and succeeded. The line subsequently broke, and he afterwards made two further but unsuccessful attempts at his self-imposed task.

Able Seaman William Chas. Williams, O. N. 186774 (R. F. R. B. 3766).

Held on to a line in the water for over an hour under heavy fire, until killed.

Seaman R. N. R. George McKenzie Samson, O. N. 2408A.

Worked on a lighter all day under fire, attending wounded and getting out lines; he was eventually dangerously wounded by maxim fire.

Lieutenant Commander Ralph B. Janvrin, R. N.

Conducted the trawlers into Morto Bay, for the landing at "De Totts," with much skill

This officer showed great judgment and coolness under fire, and carried out a difficult task with great success.

Lieutenant John A. V. Morse, R. N.

Assisted to secure the lighters at the bows of the "River Clyde" under a heavy fire, and was very active throughout the 25th and 26th at "V" beach.

Surgeon P. B. Kelly, R. N., attached to R. N. A. S.

Was wounded in the foot on the morning of the 25th in "River Clyde." He remained in "River Clyde" until morning of the 27th, during which time he attended 750 wounded men, although in great pain and unable to walk during the last twenty-four hours.

Lieutenant-Commander Adrian St. V. Keyes, R. N.

General Sir Ian Hamilton reports as follows:—

"Lieutenant-Commander Keyes showed great coolness, gallantry, and ability. The success of the landing on "Y" beach was largely due to his good services. When circumstances compelled the force landed there to re-embark, this officer showed exceptional resource and leadership in successfully conducting that difficult operation."

I entirely concur in General Hamilton's opinion of this officer's services on the 25th-26th April.

Commander William H. Cottrell, R. N. V. R.

This officer has organised the entire system of land communication; has laid and repaired cables several times under fire; and on all occasions shown zeal, tact, and coolness beyond praise.

The work accomplished by the destroyer flotillas fully maintained the high standard they have established in these water.

On the 25th and 26 "Wolverine" (Commander O. J. Prentis) (killed in action), "Scorpion" (Lieutenant-Commander, now Commander, A. B. Cunningham), "Renard" (Lieutenant-Commander L. G. B. A. Campbell), "Grampus" (Lieutenant-Commander R. Bacchus), "Pincher" (Lieutenant-Commander H. W. Wyld), and "Rattlesnake" (Lieutenant-Commander P. G. Wodehouse) carried out mine-sweeping operations under Captain Heneag inside the Dardanelles in a most satisfactory manner, being frequently under heavy fire. On the 26th the French sweepers "Henriette" (Lieutenant de Vaisseau Auverny), "Marius Chambon" (Lieutenant de Vaisseau Blanc), and "Camargue" (Lieutenant de Vaisseau Bergeon) assisted them, "Henriette" doing particularly well.

"Beagle" Commander (now Captain H. R. Godfrey), "Bulldog" (Lieutenant-Commander W. B Mackenzie), "Scourge" (Lieutenant-Commander H. de B. Tupper), "Foxhound" (Commander W. G. Howard), "Coline"

Rear-Admiral Thursby reports as follows on the war accomplished by these boats :—

"The destroyers under Captain C. P. R. Coode (Captain 'D') landed the second part of the covering force with great gallantry and expedition, and it is in my opinion entirely due to the rapidity with which so large a force was thrown on the beach that we were able to establish ourselves there."

I entirely concur in Admiral Thursby's remarks on the good work performed by this division.

Ordinary Seaman Jesse Lovelock, H.M.S. "Albion," J.28798, assisted in getting pontoon in position; also helped wounded on beach and in boats to reach "River Clyde," displaying great gallantry and coolness under fire.

Able Seaman Lewis Jacobs, O. N. J.4081, H.M.S. "Lord Nelson." Took his boat into "V" beach unaided, after all the remainder of the crew and the troops were killed or wounded. When last seen Jacobs was standing up and endeavouring to pole the cutter to the shore. While thus employed he was killed.

No officer could have been better served by his staff than I have been during these operations. The energy and resource of my Chief of Staff, Commodore R. J. B. Keyes, was invaluable, and, in combination with Major-General Braithwaite—Chief of the General Staff—he established a most excellent working agreement between the two services.

Captain George P. W. Hope, of "Queen Elizabeth," acted as my flag captain. His gift of organisation was of the greatest assistance in dealing with the mass of details inseparable from an operation of such magnitude.

Commander the Hon. A. R M. Ramsay has used his sound practical knowledge of gunnery to great advantage in working out, in connection with the military, the details of gun-fire from the covering ships.

Captain William W. Godfrey, R.M., a staff officer of great ability, has given me invaluable assistance throughout the operations.

I would also mention my secretary, Mr. Basil F. Hood, Acting Paymaster, and secretarial staff, whose good services under the direction and example of Mr. Edward W. Whittington-Ince, Assistant Paymaster, will form the subject of a later separate report. Also Lieutenant-Commander James F. Sommerville (Fleet Wireless Telegraph Officer, and Flag Lieutenants L. S. Ormsby-Johnson, Hugh S Bowlby, and Richard H. L. Bevan, who have performed good service in organising with the military the intercommunication between the allied fleets and armies.

I have, &c.,

J. M. DE ROBECK, Vice-Admiral.

Stoker R.N.R., Henry Ridsdale, O.N. 1136 U.

Admiralty, 16th August 1915.

The following awards have been made in recognition of services during the operations in the vicinity of the Dardanelles prior to 25th-26th April :—

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the grant of the Victoria Cross to Lieutenant-Commander (now Commander) Eric Gascoigne Robinson. R.N., for the conspicuous act of bravery specified below.

Lieutenant-Commander Robinson on the 26th February advanced alone, under heavy fire, into an enemy's gun position, which might well have been occupied, and destroying a four-inch gun, returned to his party for another charge with which the second gun was destroyed. Lieutenant-Commander Robinson would not allow members of his demolition party to accompany him, as their white uniforms rendered them very conspicuous. Lieutenant-Commander Robinson took part in four attacks on the mine fields—always under heavy fire.

The KING has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointment to the Distinguished Service Order and for the award of the Distinguished Service Cross to the undermentioned Officers in recognition of their services as mentioned :

To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order.

Commander William Mellor, R N.

Commander Mellor was in charge of the trawler mine-sweepers, and took part in all the mine-sweeping operations under fire prior to and including the 18th March; he displayed conspicuous gallantry, always being to the fore in a picket boat in the most exposed positions, encouraging his sweepers and setting a fine example.

Lieutenant-Commander (now Commander) John Richards Middleton, R. N.

Lieutenant-Commander Middleton on three occasions entered the minefields under heavy fire, where he organized and successfully carried out attacks—by means of explosive creeps—on the cables and jack stays.

Lieutenant Francis Hugh Sandford, R.N.

Lieutenant Sandford was specially recommended for his good work in connection with the attacks on the minefields, which he entered on several occasions, including night of 13th-14th March. He invariably displayed great determination when under fire. Lieutenant Sandford also rendered good service in the demolition of Fort Seddul Bahr.

Acting Lieutenant Bernard Thomas Cox, R.N.R.

Lieutenant Cox behaved in a most gallant manner when a volunteer in trawler No. 318 during the attack on the minefield on 13th-14th March. Though severely wounded he refused to quit his bridge until out of action. His vessel suffered serious damage and severe casualties.

Captain Christopher Powell Metcalf, R.N.

On the 18th March, after H.M.S. "Irresistible" struck a mine, Captain Metcalfe took H.M.S "Wear" alongside her, and rescued nearly the whole of her crew under a very heavy fire, which caused several casualties—a very fine display of seamanship.

Lieutenant-Commander (now Commander) the Hon'ble Patrick George Edward Cavendish Acheson, M.V.O., R N.

Acting Sub-Lieutenant (now Sub-Lieutenant) Alfred Edward Boscawen Giles, R.N.

Lieutenant-Commander Acheson, with Acting Sub-Lieutenant Alfred E. B. Giles, Chief E. R. A. 2nd Class Robert Snowdon, O.N. 270651, and Stoker 1st Class Thomas Davidson, O. N. K. 14753, went down into the fore magazine and shell room of H.M.S. "Inflexible" when the parties working in these places had been driven out by fumes, caused by the explosion of a mine under the ship; they closed valves and water-tight doors, lights being out, and the shell room having two feet of water in it, rising quickly, and the magazine flooding slowly.

The fumes were beginning to take effect on acting Sub-Lieutenant Giles, but neither he nor the others left until ordered to do so by Lieutenant-Commander Acheson who was the last to leave the shell room.

Engineer-Commander Harry Lashmore, C.B., R.N.
Engineer-Lieutenant-Commander Arthur Ellis Lester, R N.
Engineer-Lieutenant Rey Griffith Parry, R.N.
Surgeon Martyn Henry Langford, R.N.

During the time H.M.S. "Inflexible" was steaming to Tenedos—after having struck a mine—the engine-room being in semi-darkness and great heat, the ship in possible danger of sinking on passage, a high standard of discipline was called for in the Engineer Department, a call which was more than met. Engineer-Commander Harry Lashmore, responsible for the discipline of the engine-room department, was in the starboard engine-room throughout the passage and set a fine example to his men.

Engineer-Lieutenant-Commander Lester was in the port engine-room carrying out the same duties as Engineer-Commander Lashmore did in the starboard engine-room.

Engineer-Lieutenant Parry went twice through the thick fumes to the refrigerator flat to see if the doors and valves were closed; he also closed the escape hatch from the submerged flat, fumes and vapour coming up the trunk at the time.

Surgeon Langford brought up the wounded from the fore distributing station in the dark. Fumes permeated the place, rendering five men unconscious. Surgeon Langford, though partially overcome by the fumes, continued his work.

Lieutenant Claud Herbert Godwin, R.N.

Lieutenant Godwin commanded H.M.S. "Majestic's" picket boat, and was responsible for the successful shot by which the submarine E. 15 was destroyed after running aground.

To receive the Distinguished Service Cross.

Sub-Lieutenant (now Acting Lieutenant) Stephen Augustus Bayford, R.N.R., H.M.S. "Majestic."

Midshipman James Charles Woolmer Price, H.M.S. "Ocean."

These officers were both in command of picket boats on night of 13th-14th March.

When "Ocean's" boat lay helpless, having been struck in the boiler-room by a shell, "Majestic's" took her in tow, under heavy fire, the conduct of these two young officers being altogether admirable, as was their handling of their boats.

Gunner (T) John William Alexander Chubb, R. N.

Mr. Chubb, when a volunteer in trawler No. 488, on the night of 13th-14th March, brought his vessel out of action in a sinking condition, his commanding officer and three of the small crew being killed.

Gunner (T) William Walter Thorrowgood, R. N.

Mr. Thorrowgood was in command of an armed whaler, which, on the night of 4th-5th March, twice went into the shore between Kum Kale and Yeni Shehr, bringing off two officers and five men, two of them wounded, exposed to rifle fire on both occasions.

Midshipman Hugh Dixon, R. N.

Midshipman Dixon was in command of "Queen Elizabeth's" picket boat, and was responsible for saving several officers and men from "Irresistible" while under heavy fire, on the 18th March.

Acting Sub-Lieutenant (now Sub-Lieutenant) George Tothill Philip, R.N.

Acting Sub-Lieutenant Philip, H. M. S. "Inflexible," was in charge of his picket-boat on the 18th March to deal with floating mines.

The picket-boat was struck by a heavy shell. Acting Sub-Lieutenant Philip got her alongside "Inflexible," ordered his crew inboard, and, though his knee was injured, got into the engine-room, shut off steam and closed scuttle to stokehold before leaving his boat.

Lieutenant Arthur Cyril Brooke-Webb, R.N.R.

Midshipman John Blaxland Woolley, R.N.

These officers took part in the picket-boat attack on the 18th April.

Lieutenant Colin George MacArthur, R.N.

Lieutenant MacArthur (commanding submarine B. 6) carried out two most enterprising reconnaissances of E. 15, both under fire. During the latter reconnaissance his skilful handling saved his ship.

The following Officers are Commended for service in action :—

Between 19th February and 24th April.

Explanation.—The expression "running expenses" in this proviso, includes all outlay incurred in connection with the use of the vessels other than any charges for their hire or for the wages of the officers and crews of such vessels :

Provided, secondly, that any officer making a requisition under this section shall exercise his powers in such a way as to cause as little disturbance to the ordinary business of the port as is compatible with the exigencies of the efficient carrying out of the manœuvres :

Provided, thirdly, that no suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against any authority for any default occurring by reason only of compliance with a requisition under this section."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

SECTION 34 of the Indian Ports Act, 1908 (XV of 1908), gives power to exempt vessels entering a port from the payment of port-dues. In January 1911 the Government of Madras brought to the notice of the Government of India that this section permitted only of the exemption of all vessels and not of any particular class of vessels entering a port and represented the advisability of amending the Act so as to exempt fishing vessels from the payment of port-dues. The Government of India agreed with the Local Government that every facility should be afforded to the development of this rising industry. Before taking up legislation, however, they consulted the other maritime Local Governments on the proposal, and invited suggestions, with regard to any other difficulties arising in the administration of the Act. The Local Governments, in reply, submitted a number of proposals for amending the law ; and the Government of India have accorded these their careful consideration. They have also taken the opportunity to consider whether any of the powers under the Act now exercised by Local Governments, subject to the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, could not with advantage, be surrendered absolutely to Local Governments, and whether the law does not call for amendment in other respects; and they have decided to amend the Act in the directions indicated in the draft Bill. The precise amendments proposed are explained in the Notes on Clauses.

The 6th September, 1915. W. H. CLARK.

Notes on Clauses.

Clauses 2 and 3.—It has been decided, in connection with the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Decentralization, that the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, for which provision is made under section 4 (1) in respect of extensions and withdrawals of the Act, or of certain sections thereof, and under section 5 (1) in respect of alterations to the limits of ports, should be dispensed with, and it is proposed to legislate accordingly.

Clause 4.—It has been represented that there is at present no statutory provision in the Act enabling Local Governments to frame rules for the control and working of Government jetties, etc. Similarly, the Local Governments possess no power to punish refractory boatmen, to revoke the licenses granted to boatmen, to levy fees, to fix the rates of hire, to compel licensed vessels to ply for hire, or to fix the number of crews to be carried by such vessels. As the absence of these powers causes much practical difficulty and inconvenience to local authorities in their control of an important section of port traffic, it is proposed to empower Local Governments in these respects in the manner indicated in this clause.

Clause 5.—The adherence of India to the International Maritime Convention for the unification of rules of law relating to collisions and salvage renders it necessary to legislate so as to give effect to the Article abolishing the defence of compulsory pilotage. Similar legislation was found necessary in the United Kingdom, and is embodied in section 15 of the Pilotage Act, 1913, on which the provisions of clause 5 of the Bill are based.

Clauses 6 and 7.—Under section 33 (1) of the Indian Ports Act, 1908, Local Governments have power to levy port dues, and under section 34, they are empowered to exempt vessels entering a port from the payment of port-dues, and also to vary the rates at which port-dues are to be levied. But these powers are limited in the case of existing ports by the maximum fixed by the First Schedule of the Act, and are further restricted by the fact that, apart from the exemptions specially provided in the Schedule, no power is given to Local Governments to discriminate between particular vessels or classes of vessels either with respect to the exemption from payment of the due, or with regard to the nature or frequency of its incidence. They have also no power to disturb the grouping of ports laid down in the Schedule, although alterations may, from time to time, be desirable for administrative reasons. It is considered that these restrictions may suitably be relaxed in the interests of administrative convenience; and it is proposed accordingly to amend sections 33 and 34 of the Act in the manner indicated in clauses 6 and 7 of the Bill.

Clause 8.—Under section 35 of the Act, Local Governments have full power to prescribe the rates for fees chargeable on account of special services rendered, subject to the proviso that the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council is required in determining the fees to be charged for pilotage. In accordance with the general principle of decentralisation already recognised in clauses 2 and 3 supra, it is considered unnecessary to retain the proviso to this section.

Clause 9.—In view of the provisions of section 4 (xi) of the Local Authorities Loans Act, 1914 (IX of 1914), the provisions of section 36, sub-section (3), of the Indian Ports Act, 1908, have become unnecessary; and it is therefore proposed to repeal the sub-section.

Clause 10.—Section 37 (2) (a) of the Indian Ports Act, 1908, permits of Local Governments grouping together certain ports for the purposes of accounts, subject to the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council. Although the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council is considered unnecessary, the Government of India are of opinion that it is desirable that their general control should be maintained. It is proposed to amend the section accordingly.

Clause 11.—The military authorities carry out periodical practices of the examination services which will be instituted at ports in time of war, in order to ensure a thorough knowledge of their working. It is considered important that the port authorities should be required to provide vessels and personnel for these practices during peace, and it is accordingly proposed to impose this requirement on them by law. The new section 68-A is intended to provide for this and, at the same time, to ensure that the necessary requisitions for the loan of the vessels on Port Trusts are made with a due regard to the convenience of the Trusts concerned.

Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 22nd September 1915 :—

No. 15 OF 1915.

A Bill to prevent the grant to unqualified persons of titles implying qualifications in western medical science, and the assumption and use by such persons of such titles.

WHEREAS it is expedient to prevent the grant to unqualified persons of titles implying qualifications in western medical science, and the assumption and use by such persons of such titles; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Medical (Bogus Degrees) Act, 1915

Definition.

2. In this Act "western medical science" means the western methods of allopathic medicine, obstetrics and surgery, but does not include the Homœopathic or Ayurvedic or Unani systems of medicine.

Exclusive privilege of granting qualifications in western medicine, etc.

3. The right of granting or issuing in British India degrees, diplomas, licenses and other documents stating or implying that the grantee or the recipient thereof is qualified to practise in western medical science, shall be exercisable only by the authorities specified in the Schedule and by any other authority which the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, and subject to such conditions and restrictions as he thinks fit, authorize in this behalf.

Prohibition of unauthorised issue of degrees, etc., in western medicine or surgery

4. Save as provided by section 3, no person in British India shall grant, or issue or hold himself out as entitled to grant, or issue any degree, diploma, license, or other document stating or implying that the grantee or the recipient is qualified to practise in western medical science.

Contravention of section 4.

5. Whoever contravenes the provisions of section 4 shall be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and if the person so contravening is an association, every member of such association, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the contravention, shall be liable to the like fine.

Penalty for falsely assuming titles

6. Whoever voluntarily and falsely—

(a) pretends to be, or assumes, or uses the name or title of any person holding any qualification in western medical science, granted by any authority referred to in section 3, or by the General Council of Medical Education of the United Kingdom; or

(b) assumes or uses any colourable imitation of any such title or any name, addition or description implying that he possesses any such qualification; shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

SCHEDULE.

(See section 3.)

1. Every University established by an Act of the Governor General in Council.

2. The State Medical Faculty in Bengal.

3. The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Bombay.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

ACTS of the Local Councils provide in many of the larger provinces of British India for the registration of persons duly qualified to practise western medicine or surgery, and where such Acts have been passed, Medical Councils have been constituted with specific powers and duties.

2. It is now considered necessary to supplement this provincial legislation by an Imperial Act, restricting the right to issue degrees and diplomas in these systems of medicine and surgery to duly constituted authorities, so as to ensure that such degrees and diplomas are not issued to unqualified persons. It has been found that, at present, diplomas are issued by private institutions to untrained or insufficiently trained persons, and that many of these diplomas are colourable imitations of those issued by recognised Universities and Corporations. The result is that recipients of such diplomas are able to pose to the public as possessing qualifications in medicine and surgery which they do not possess The present Bill is intended to remove the public inconvenience and injury arising out of the present state of affairs. It prohibits all persons, save certain specified authorities, from issuing or alleging that they are entitled to issue any degree or diploma in western medicine or surgery. It also penalises persons who voluntarily and falsely assume any medical title which is granted either by the General Council of Medical Education of the United Kingdom, or by the authorities constituted under the Act, and further prohibits the use of any colourable imitations of such titles.

3. The Bill does not affect the right of any person to exercise the profession of medicine or to practise as a Physician or Surgeon, provided he does not pretend to qualifications which he has not got; and its operation is rigidly restricted to the western methods of Allopathic medicine and surgery, Homœopathic, Ayurvedic and Unani practitioners being excluded from the purview of the Bill.

No. 467, dated Simla, the 15th September 1915.

NOTIFICATION—By the Government of India, Department of Education (Ecclesiastical).

THE Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that the following shall be substituted for Rule 1 and paragraphs 2 and 3 of Rule 9, Part V of the Ecclesiastical Rules published with the Department of Education Notification No. 212, dated the 10th May 1913:—

Rule 1. All State charges for churches [except those referred to in Rule 21 (b) (2) which are debitable to "23-Ecclesiastical"] in Civil, military or State railway stations are provided from Public Works funds from the ordinary grant for Imperial Works under "45—Civil Works." The limits of expenditure prescribed in Rules 9, 10, 23-A and 24 following are exclusive of any charges on account of establishment and tools and plant and grants made under these rules may be increased by a percentage not greater than that which the total charges levied on account of establishment, tools and plant bear to the total outlay on works.

Rule 9. * * * * * *

The maximum grant will be found by multiplying the estimated cubic contents of the approved design by a rate 15 per cent. in excess of the local rate per cubic foot for ordinary first class single-storied buildings of substantial construction, such as court-houses. In the absence of a building of the class referred to, the cubic foot rate may be obtained from the nearest station where such a building exists in similar conditions, or the rate may be taken from an existing church in the same or the nearest station without the 15 per cent. excess, which is allowed when the rate has been derived from a building other than a church. It is to be clearly understood that the local rate is to be calculated with reference to the actual cost of construction of the building from which it is derived, that is, charges for establishment and tools and plant, if any were paid, should be excluded from the calculation. The cubic contents of a church will be arrived at by multiplying the plinth areas of the different parts, such as main rooms. verandahs, tower, etc., by the heights from plinth to roof level of these parts and then by adding them together. If a portion of the sitting accommodation has been provided for in a gallery the area of the gallery multiplied by half the height of the church from plinth level to the portion of the roof under which the gallery is situated should also be added. In the case of a sloping roof the height will be measured to the mean height ot the slope.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following notification, issued by the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department, published in the Gazette of India, dated the 16th October 1915, is republished for general information.

J. H. KERR,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 13th October 1915.

No. 2391-I.-C.—The following Regulations respecting Foreign Orders and Medals which have been recently revised by Command of His Majesty the King-Emperor of India are published for general information. These Regulations supersede all those hitherto in force on the subject.

A

Regulations respecting Foreign Orders and Medals applicable to Persons in the Service of the Crown.

Orders.

1. It is the King's wish that no subject of His Majesty in the Service of the Crown shall accept and wear the Insignia of any Foreign Order without having previously obtained His Majesty's permission to do so, signified either :

(a) By Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual, or
(b) By private permission conveyed through His Majesty's Private Secretary.

2. Permission given by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual will enable the Insignia of the Foreign Order to be worn at all times and without any restriction.

Private permission will only enable the Insignia to be worn on the occasions specified in the terms of the letter from the King's Private Secretary conveying the Royal sanction.

3. Full and unrestricted permission by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual is contemplated in the following cases :—

For a Decoration conferred—

On an Officer in His Majesty's Naval or Military Forces lent to a Foreign Government; on an Officer in His Majesty's Naval or Military Forces attached by his Government to a Foreign Navy or Army during hostilities; or on any British Official lent to a Foreign Government and not in receipt of any emoluments from British public funds during the period of such loan.

In the case of decorations awarded in recognition of services under the Red Cross, permission will only be granted where such services have been rendered in a war in which the Empire has itself been engaged, and by persons serving under one of the officially recognised British voluntary aid societies or under similar societies of Allied States duly recognised by the Governments of those States.

4. Private or restricted permission is contemplated for Decorations which have been conferred in recognition of personal attention to the Head of a Foreign State, and which are therefore of a more or less complimentary character, and will, as a rule, only be given on exceptional occasions when in the public interest and for political reasons it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of a Foreign Decoration should not be declined. Private permission will generally be given in the following cases :—

For a Decoration conferred—

(1) On British Ambassadors or Ministers abroad when the King pays a State visit to the country to which they are accredited;

(Note.—A State visit is defined as one on which the King is accompanied by a Minister or High Official in attendance.)

(2) On Members of Deputations of British Regiments to Foreign Heads of States;

(3) On Members of Special Missions when the King is represented at a Foreign Coronation, Wedding, or Funeral; or on any Diplomatic Representative when specially accredited to represent His Majesty on such occasions; and such Members of his Staff who actually attend the ceremonies in their official capacity;

(4) On Naval and Military Attachés only after completion of five years' service at the post to which they are appointed in that capacity.

5. Private or restricted permission will not be given to—

(1) British Ambassadors or Ministers abroad when leaving;

(2) Members of British Missions announcing the Accession of a Sovereign;

(3) British Officers attending Foreign Manœuvres;

(4) Naval Officers of British Squadrons visiting Foreign Waters.

6. The desire of the Head of a Foreign state to confer upon a British subject in the Service of the Crown the Insignia of an Order must be notified to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs either through the British Diplomatic Representative accredited to the Head of the Foreign State, or through his Diplomatic Representative at the Court of St. James.

7. When His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have taken the King's pleasure on any such application, and shall have obtained His Majesty's permission for the person in whose favour it has been made to wear the Insignia of a Foreign Order, he shall signify the same to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, in order that he may cause a Warrant, if it be a case for the issue of a Warrant, as defined in Rule 2, to be prepared for the Royal Sign-Manual.

When such Warrant shall have been signed by the King, a notification thereof shall be inserted in the Gazette, stating the service for which the Foreign Order has been conferred.

Persons in whose favour such Warrants are issued will be required to pay to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department a stamp duty of 10*s*.

8. The Warrant signifying His Majesty's permission may, at the request and at the expense of the person who has obtained it, be registered in the College of Arms. Every such Warrant as aforesaid shall contain a clause providing that His Majesty's licensee and permission does not authorise the assumption of any style, appellation, rank, precedence, or privilege appertaining to a Knight Bachelor of His Majesty's Realms.

9. When a British subject in the Service of the Crown has received the Royal permission, full or private, to accept and wear the Decoration of a Foreign Order, he will not be allowed to accept and wear the Decoration of a higher class of the same Order, without His Majesty's approval, which will only be given if the higher honour is being conferred in circumstances contemplated by these Regulations.

Medals.

10. Medals which constitute a particular class of a Foreign Order are subject in all respects to the Regulations in the same manner as higher grades of the Order, except that permission to wear will be given by Letter and not by Royal Warrant.

11. The King's unrestricted permission to accept and wear a Foreign Medal will only be given in the case of a Foreign Medal conferred by the Head or Government of a Foreign State for saving or attempting to save life at sea or on land.

In the case of medals for Red Cross services, permission will only be granted subject to the fulfilment of the conditions laid down in Rule 3 above.

12. The King's unrestricted permission to accept and wear a Foreign War Medal will only be given to (1) Officers of His Majesty's Military or Naval Forces if serving with a Foreign Army or Navy with His Majesty's licence, and (2) Military or Naval Attaches or other Officers officially attached to Foreign Armies or Navies during hostilities.

13. In exceptional cases, when for special reasons it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of the Medal should not be declined, His Majesty will grant restricted permission. Such cases will be judged on their merits, and the circumstances in which the Medal may be worn will be specified in the Letter conveying His Majesty's permission.

14. The term "person in the Service of the Crown" includes persons in receipt of a salary or pension from Public Funds, or holding a Royal Commission in any part of His Majesty's Dominions, Protectorates, or Possessions.

15. Ladies are subject to the Regulations in all respects in the same manner as men.

Foreign Office, July 12, 1915.

B

Regulations respecting Foreign Orders and Medals applicable to Persons NOT in the Service of the Crown.

Orders.

1. It is the King's wish that no subject of His Majesty shall wear the Insignia of any Foreign Order without having previously obtained His Majesty's permission to do so, signified either:

(a) By Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual, or

(b) By private permission conveyed through His Majesty's Private Secretary.

2. Permission given by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual will enable the Insignia of the Foreign Order to be worn at all times and without any restriction.

Private permission will only enable the Insignia to be worn on the occasions specified in the terms of the letter from the King's Private Secretary conveying the Royal sanction.

3. The full and unrestricted permission by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual is designed to meet cases where the Decoration may be said to have been earned by some valuable service rendered to the Head of the State conferring it, or to the State itself. Application will be made to His Majesty for full permission by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs on behalf of any person who, not being at the time in the Service of the Crown, is either in the salaried employment of a Foreign State or has rendered valuable services within the period of two years immediately preceding the notification of the Decoration to His Majesty's Government as prescribed under Rule 5.

The expression "valuable services" must be construed as meaning some service rendered to a Foreign Head of State or Government specifically, and must be indisputably valuable in the strict sense of the word. Though such services need not necessarily be gratuitous as in the case of a person actually in the employ of a Foreign Government, they must be unconnected with any transaction of a commercial or financial character brought about in the ordinary course of business. The term "valuable services" does not therefore, as a general rule, apply to services connected with the fulfilment of Government or Municipal contracts, the financing of Government or Municipal loans. It also does not include the presentation of objects of value to Public Museums and Institutions, pecuniary donations or endowments, personal performances, services in connection with Exhibitions and Industrial Congresses, services in the domain of art, literature, science, education, and agriculture, services rendered by British subjects in the capacity of honorary foreign Consular Officers.

Red Cross services will only be regarded as "valuable" for the purposes of these Regulations when they have been rendered in a war in which the Empire has itself been engaged, and by persons serving under one of the officially recognised British voluntary aid societies or under similar societies of Allied States duly recognised by the Governments of those States.

4. Private or restricted permission is contemplated for Decorations which have been conferred in recognition of personal attention to the Head of a Foreign State or Member of a Reigning House, and which are therefore of a more or less complimentary character. Private permission is as a rule only given on exceptional occasions, when in the public interest and for political reasons it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of a Foreign Decoration should not be declined.

5. Both in the case of full and in that of private permission the matter will be submitted to the King by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The desire of the Head of a Foreign State to confer upon a British subject the Insignia of an Order, or the fact that he has done so, must be notified to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs either through the British Diplomatic Representative accredited to the Head of the Foreign State, or through the Diplomatic Representative of the latter at the Court of St. James. His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall be under no obligation to consider claims that are not brought to his notice through one of these channels.

6. When His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have taken the King's pleasure on any such application, and shall have obtained His Majesty's permission for the person in whose favour it has been made to wear the Insignia of a Foreign Order, he shall signify the same to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, in order that he may cause a Warrant, if it be a case for the issue of a Warrant as defined in Rule 2, to be prepared for the Royal Sign-Manual.

When such Warrant shall have been signed by the King, a notification thereof shall be inserted in the "Gazette", stating the service for which the Foreign Order has been conferred.

Persons in whose favour such Warrants are issued will be required to pay to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department a stamp duty of 10s.

7. The Warrant signifying His Majesty's permission may, at the request and at the expense of the person who has obtained it, be registered in the College of Arms. Every such Warrant as aforesaid shall contain a clause providing that His Majesty's licence and permission does not authorise the assumption of any style, appellation, rank, precedence, or privilege appertaining to a Knight Bachelor of His Majesty's Realms.

8. When a British subject has received the Royal permission, full or private, to accept and wear the Decoration of a Foreign Order, he will not be allowed to accept the Decoration of a higher class of the same Order without His Majesty's approval. His Majesty will in such cases grant permission only if the promotion in the Order is conferred for fresh services which come within these Regulations.

9 These Regulations apply only to Orders of Chivalry. Decorations conferred by Private Societies and Decorations of a purely academic nature, and all Decorations not being Orders of Chivalry, may be accepted without His Majesty's permission, but must not be worn.

Exception is made in the case of a few Foreign Orders, which, though not in strictness Orders of Chivalry, yet are of such a high distinction that, for the purpose of these Regulations, they are to be considered and treated as Orders of Chivalry.

10. Ladies are subject to the Regulations in all respects in the same manner as men.

Medals.

11. Medals which constitute a particular class of a Foreign Order are subject in all respects to the Regulations in the same manner as higher grades of the Order, except that permission to wear will be given by Letter and not by Royal Warrant.

12. Medals for saving or attempting to save life at sea or on land conferred on behalf of the Head or Government of Foreign State may be accepted without His Majesty's special permission, and may be worn at Court

In the case of Medals for Red Cross services, permission will only be granted subject to the fulfilment of the conditions laid down in Rule 3, paragraph 3, above.

13. Medals conferred by Private Societies, or Institutions and Commemorative Medals may be accepted without permission, but none of these Medals can be worn.

14. The King's permission must be obtained for any order Medal to be worn. No permission is needed to accept a Foreign Medal if it is not intended to be worn.

15. His Majesty will not grant permission to wear any Foreign War Medal if the person on whom it is to be or has been conferred was during the war acting in contravention of the Foreign Enlistment Act.

Foreign Office, July 12, 1915.

2. The notification of the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department, No. 1173-I.C., dated the 16th July 1914, is hereby cancelled.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

BY the Resolution of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry No. 7148-45, dated the 12th October 1910, an addition was made to the form of agreement for the engagement of lascars, requiring masters of foreign vessels to obtain the certificate of the British Consular Officer to changes in the crew occurring at foreign ports No similar provision, however, exists with respect to changes in crews occurring at ports in British Colonies and Possessions. The Government of India consider it important that such provision should be made in order to afford Shipping Masters in India authentic information when paying off crews. The Secretary of State for India has concurred in the proposal and has taken action to secure that similar procedure should be adopted also in the United Kingdom.

2. The Governor General in Council is therefore pleased to direct, under section 27 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1883 (V of 1883), that the following additional stipulation be substituted for the last additional stipulation printed at the foot of page 1 of the form of agreement for lascars:

I hereby further agree that, in case before arrival at, or after arrival at, and before departure from, any port of call I shall make any new engagement or there shall occur any discharge, transfer, leaving behind, desertion, or death of any lascar or other native seaman under this agreement I will (if the same shall not have been previously reported) report such engagement, discharge, transfer, leaving behind, desertion, or death to the officer next hereinafter mentioned, that is to say, in the case of a foreign port the British Consular Officer at such port, and in the case of a port in the United Kingdom or in any British Dominion, Colony, or Possession, the Lascar Transfer Officer, or if there is no such officer the Superintendent, or in the absence of a Superintendent, the Chief Customs Officer thereat, and in the case of a port in a British Protectorate or a port in the Malay States, North Borneo, or Sarawak, the Chief Customs or Port Officer thereat, and in the case of a new engagement will attend before such officer and (by endorsement hereon or addition hereto, or otherwise as may be convenient) in his presence enter into an agreement with the lascar or other native seaman engaged in the same form as this agreement, and in the case of a discharge, transfer, leaving behind, desertion, or death will present this agreement to such officer for the purpose of his certifying by a memorandum thereon that such discharge, transfer, leaving behind, desertion, or death has taken place, and in the case of a discharge, transfer, or leaving behind that the same was authorised or unavoidable, and will pay to such officer in respect thereof the fee or fees prescribed in this behalf by the Consular Fees (Amendment) Order in Council, 1910, or by or in pursuance of any other order or law for the time being in force, or if the certifying officer is not a Consular Officer the same fee or fees (unless it is otherwise provided by any rule or enactment locally in force) as would have been payable under such Order or law as the case may be if he had been such an officer.

No. 129Marine.—The following revised scheme of storm-warning signals as finally approved by the Government of India, is published for general information, so far as it relates to ports in the Bay of Bengal situated in the Presidency of Bengal. The scheme shall come into force with effect from the 1st January 1916.

STORM-WARNING SERVICE.

The Government of India have decided to revise the distribution of meteorological information to ports and shipping. At present information is given by the hoisting of storm signals, by the exhibition of flags, and by telegrams in code to Port Officers. The meaning of the storm-signals now in use is different at different ports, and the new system is so arranged that the meaning of any given signal will be the same throughout the Indian seas, the only difference between different ports being that a larger or smaller number of signals will be in use. The flag-signals will be replaced by signals giving the locality of disturbances, and the sending of eight-word-code telegrams to Port Officers will be discontinued. The scheme now to be brought into use may be shortly described as—

(a) a general system of eleven signals; two of which will indicate the existence of distant disturbed weather, eight will indicate that local bad weather threatens the port, while the remaining one will indicate that communication with the Meteorological Department has broken down and that in the opinion of the local officer there is danger of bad weather.

(b) a brief system consisting of four only of the above signals. This system will be used at a few ports frequented mainly by small Indian boats engaged in local traffic.

(c) the general system combined with additional daily signals either to indicate that weather is undisturbed or if bad weather exists to show the position of the disturbance. This system will be in daily operation at certain stations in the Bay of Bengal and has been devised to replace the flag-signals at present in use.

The following are the ports in the Presidency of Bengal situated in the Bay of Bengal which will come under the different systems :—

General system	General system with additional signals.
Cox's Bazar.	Chittagong.
Calcutta.	Saugor Island.
Budge-Budge.	Sandheads.
Mud Point.
Diamond Harbour.

I.—GENERAL SYSTEM.

The Meteorological Department will keep Port Officers informed of the latest information with respect to all disturbances, and ships' officers should apply to them for information to supplement the storm-signals.

DISTANT SIGNALS

to indicate danger to ships after they have left the harbour.

Day Night.

I. CAUTIONARY.—There is a region of squally weather in which a storm may be forming.

NOTE.—This signal will be hoisted at ports situated with reference to the disturbed weather such that a ship leaving the port might run into danger during its voyage

II. WARNING.—A storm has formed.

NOTE.—This signal will be hoisted when there is no immediate danger of the port itself being affected but ships leaving the port might run into the storm to indicate that the port and ships in it are threatened.

LOCAL SIGNALS

Day Night

III. CAUTIONARY.—The port is threatened by squally weather.

IV. WARNING.—The port is threatened by a storm but it does not appear that the danger is as yet sufficiently great to justify extreme measures of precaution.

NOTE—The existence of a storm can often be determined before its direction of motion can be fixed In this case all those ports which the storm could possibly strike will be warned by this signal

DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the south of the port (or to the east in the case of the Hooghly Ports).

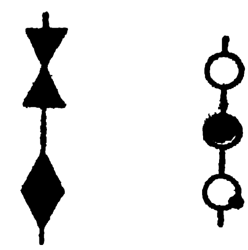

VI. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the north of the port (or to the west in the case of the Hooghly Ports and Chittagong).

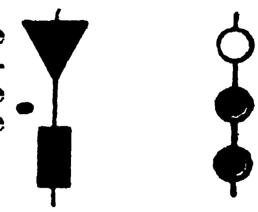

Day. Night.

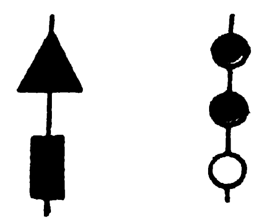

VII. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross over or near to the port.

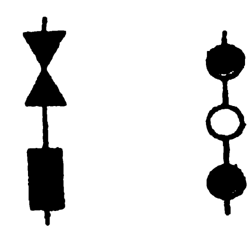

VIII. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the south of the port (or to the east in the case of the Hooghly Ports).

IX. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the north of the port (or to the west in the case of the Hooghly Ports and Chittagong).

X. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross over or near to the port.

XI. FAILURE OF COMMUNICATIONS.—Communication with the meteorological head-quarters has broken down and the local officer considers that there is danger of bad weather.

II.—BRIEF SYSTEM

for use at certain small ports.

In the brief system only the four following signals will be hoisted, but the Port Officers will be kept informed of the progress of bad weather for the general information of shipping:—

Signal No. III—Cautionary }
Signal No. IV—Warning } Meaning day and night signals as Signal No. VII—Danger } in the General system.
Signal No. X—Great danger }

N B – Under this system there are no ports in the Presidency of Bengal situated in the Bay of Bengal

III.—ADDITIONAL DAILY SIGNALS FOR THE BAY OF BENGAL.

In order to give daily information to a port regarding weather in the Bay it is necessary to provide for the following cases:—

(a) if no disturbance exists in the Bay of Bengal the fact will be indicated by hoisting a ball.

(b) if the port itself is threatened the appropriate local signal of the "general system" will be hoisted,

(c) if there be an area of squally weather or a storm that does not threaten the port the "distant cautionary" or "distant warning" of the "general system" will be hoisted; and additional signs will be hoisted under these to indicate the position of the disturbance in the Bay. For this purpose the Bay has been divided into six sections and the following shapes have been allotted to each of the divisions :—

Division	I	II	III	IV	V	VI

Signal

Thus if there is squally weather in section V of the Bay the signal

would be hoisted at the various ports; and if a storm has formed in section II the signal would be hoisted at all ports which were not directly threatened; as already stated the ports threatened would hoist one or other of the local signals. The Meteorological Department will endeavour to keep the number of locality signals on each hoist as few as possible and generally only the number of the section in which the centre of the storm is situated will be given. If however the centre of the storm is near the boundary of a division two locality signals will be given, the first indicating the division in which the centre is supposed to be and the second the neighbouring division near to which it is. In the event of a storm centre being near to the angles where three divisions meet, three locality signals will be hoisted. The first will give the division in which the storm is supposed to be, the second the nearest adjoining division and the third the remaining division.

Examples—

Storm centre.	Locality signals.
Lat. 16 N Long. 86 E	II.
Lat. 16 N Long. 88 E	II and III.
Lat. 16 N Long. 89 E	III and V.
Lat. 18 N Long. 87½ E	II, I and III.
Lat. 19 N Long. 89½ E	I, III and II.

 The sections may be defined as follows —

I —Contains the area north of lat 18½°,

II —Lies south of I, it is bounded on the south by lat 13° and to the east by long 88½°;

III.—Lies south of I and east of II, it is bounded to the south by lat. 13° and to the east by a line from the point 13° N 93° E to Diamond Island together with the Arakan coast thence up to 18½° N.;

IV —Lies south of II and west of 86°;

V.—Lies east of IV, south of II, III and west of 93°,

VI.—Lies east of V, IV and represents the Andaman Sea

A map illustrating these sections accompanies the Code of Storm-warning Signals, published by the Government of India which will be had on application to the Port Officers, Calcutta or Chittagong.

(3) In each recruiting district the Superintendent of Emigration shall furnish the Chairman of the Board with a monthly statement showing, in respect of each local agent and of each employer who has not appointed a local agent, the total number of persons recruited or engaged as labourers or assisted to emigrate by such local agent or employer during the month to which the return relates, and the number of persons as aforesaid despatched to each tea garden in the labour districts by each such local agent or employer.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Delhi, the 11th November, 1915.

No. 77.—The Governor General has been pleased, under Rule No. 23 of the Rules for the conduct of the Legislative Business of the Council of the Governor General, to order the publication in the Gazette of India and in the local official Gazettes in English, of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, and the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information:—

BILL No. 18 OF 1915.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Registration Act, 1908.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Registration Act, 1908; It is hereby enacted as follows:— XVI of 1908.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Registration (Amendment) Act, 1915.

Insertion of new section 87A after section 87, Act XVI of 1908. XVI of 1908.

2. After section 87 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Registration of document not to be deemed invalid by reason of defect in presentation.

"87A. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, the registration of a document registered before or after the commencement of this Act, shall not be deemed to be invalid by reason only of the fact that the document was presented for registration by an agent not duly authorised by a power-of-attorney executed and attested or authenticated under the provisions of any enactment in force.

Restoration of claims dismissed, rejected or withdrawn by reason of defect in presentation of a document for registration. [Cf. s. 31(4) of Act IX of 1908.]

(2) Where any claim has been wholly or in part dismissed, rejected or withdrawn after the 25th day of November, 1914, and before the commencement of the Indian Registration (Amendment) Act, 1915, in a Court of first instance or of revision or of appeal, by reason only of the fact that a document was presented for registration under any enactment in force by an agent not duly authorised by power-of-attorney under the provisions of such enactment, the case may, if the dismissal, rejection or withdrawal has had the effect of invalidating, in whole or in part, the said document as between persons claiming or liable thereunder, be restored on review in the manner provided by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for review of judgments, on application in writing made within six months from the commencement of the said Act; and on such restoration the provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply to the said document." V of 1908.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE recent decision of their Lordships of the Privy Council in Jambu Prasad v. Aftab Ali Khan (I.L.R., 37 All., February 1915, p. 49) threatens to affect the validity of the registration of many documents, which were accepted, when presented, by the registering officer from the person or persons presenting the same and duly registered. In the case of well-to-do landlords, money-lenders, men of business and pardanashin ladies, it has been a common practice to send agents, munibs, gumashtas, servants or relations to the registration office with the executant to pay the money payable before the registering officer, and to see that the document was duly registered. In some cases, such agents may possess a power-of-attorney of the kind required by section 33 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, but in the large majority of instances, where the creditor, trader or lady concerned is not a landed proprietor, the most suitable man in the service or family circle available at the time, who can safely be entrusted with the money, is generally selected, and though the executant usually goes with him to the registration office, care is not always taken that the presentation is effected by the executant, or by an agent authorised by a power-of-attorney executed and authenticated in the manner provided by the Indian Registration Act. There may also be cases where the agent possesses a power-of-attorney from one of the persons claiming under a document, but not from all The fact that the mere physical act of handing over the document to the Registrar was performed by a relative or agent not holding a proper power-of-attorney ought not, however, to stand in the way of the validity of registration, if the document be otherwise duly registered The matter has been the subject of various decisions, some of which will be found reported in Mohendra Nath v Samu Bibi (7 C W.N., page 229), Ishriprasad v. Baijnath (3 A.L.J. 743), Nathumal v Abdul Wahid Shah (I.L.R., 34 All. 305), Atma Ram v Ugrasen (I.L.R., 35 All. 134), Karta Kishen v Harnam Chand (I L.R., 35 All 72), Watayti Begum v. Fazal Hussain Khan (9 All. L. J 148), and Atal Beharilal v Hemenchal Singh (6 Oudh Cases 9), and in a case in which a document was presented for registration by an agent who held a power-of-attorney, after the death of his principal, it was ruled by their Lordships of the Privy Council that section 87 of the Registration Act did not cure the defect (Majib-un-nissa v. Abdul Rajim, I.L.R., 23 All 233) The recent decision of their Lordships of the Privy Council, however, goes further, and renders registration invalid in respect of all documents presented for registration by the agent of a party claiming under a document, if the agent was not authorised in the manner provided by section 33 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, though he may have been accompanied at the time of presentation by the executant. The consequences of such a decision will, it is apprehended, be serious and far-reaching, and there is urgent need, therefore, for meeting or removing the difficulty by legislation. The Bill proposes to provide a remedy by adding a sub-section to section 87 of the Act, to ensure that the mere fact that the person who presented a document for registration was not duly authorised by a power-of-attorney executed and authenticated in manner mentioned in section 33 of the Act, shall not invalidate the registration of the document if it was otherwise duly registered.

The Bill proposes to give retrospective effect to the amendment in order to prevent or obviate miscarriages of justice.

Besides, various committees composed of the Trustees and co-opted members were appointed by the Board to hear objections to improvement schemes undertaken by the Board and to consider various other questions.

4. Schemes considered by the Board.—During the period ending 31st March 1915, 17 improvement schemes were framed and published by the Board. A brief description of them is given below.

Scheme No. I (Surti Bagan).—This is a general improvement scheme for the construction of 1,350 yards of road, 40 to 45 feet wide (estimated net cost Rs. 20,08,000). It covers an area of 14·4 acres and involves the acquisition of 270 holdings. At the close of the year 1914-15, 263 holdings with an area of 12·11 acres had been acquired. Engineering works had been commenced, and gas, sewerage and water-pipes had been laid in Zakaria Road.

Schemes Nos. IA and IB.—These are subsidiary to general improvement scheme No. I. Scheme IA (estimated net cost Rs. 3,86,000) provides for a roadway 70 yards long and 40 feet wide connecting the Tarachand Dutt Street with Harrison Road. Scheme IB (estimated cost Rs. 6,97,000) is for a roadway 110 yards long and 40 feet wide connecting the new east and west road to the south of Scheme No. I with Colootolla Street. Both the schemes had been sanctioned by Government, but no land was acquired during the period.

Scheme No. II (Shambazar Bridge Road).—This is a street scheme designed to improve the approaches to the north of Calcutta (estimated net cost Rs. 7,36,000). It involves the acquisition of 86 holdings with an area of 22 acres. Except a few properties not yet acquired, almost all the ground had been cleared and the low-lying land raised.

Scheme No. IIA.—A street scheme providing for the widening of a part of Cornwallis Street, to be carried out in connection with Scheme No. II (estimated net cost Rs. 75,000). Out of 2·1 acres of land with 19 holdings notified for acquisition only two holdings had been acquired.

Scheme No. III.—A scheme for improving the sanitary conditions of the area in proximity to the site selected for rehousing scheme No. 1 in Wards Institution Lane (estimated net cost Rs. 3,34,000). It provides for the acquisition of 22 holdings with an area of 5 acres. Twelve holdings had been acquired and demolished, and tank-filling work was completed.

Scheme No. IV.—This is a street scheme for the widening of the first mile of Russa Road, between Elgin Road and Hazra Road (estimated net cost Rs. 12,20,000). The area covered by the scheme is 31 acres, of which 8·74 acres with 134 holdings had been acquired. Demolition of the acquired properties was well in hand.

Scheme No. IV.A.—This scheme provides for the widening of the Russa Road and the development of an area on each side of it between Hazra Road and the Eastern Bengal State Railway bridge. The estimate of the gross cost of the land is Rs. 32½ lakhs and the estimated cost of engineering works is Rs. 16 lakhs. Objections were received in regard to the acquisition of 325 holdings. The Board appointed a committee to consider these objections, and the committee submitted its report after the close of the year 1914-15. The scheme is now under the consideration of Government.

Scheme No. V.—This is a street scheme to improve an area of 23·4 acres in the suburb of Bhowanipore. The cost of acquiring land is estimated at Rs. 52,80,000. The land acquisition notification was issued at the close of the year 1914-15, but no land was actually acquired during the year.

Scheme No. VI.—This supersedes the original scheme to provide a new main thoroughfare from the north-east corner of Dalhousie Square meeting Harrison Road close to the Howrah Bridge. Under the revised scheme the proposed road follows a regular curve, and, instead of coalescing with Clive Street, is carried into the Strand Road. The road will give access to valuable building sites which are at present approached by narrow lanes. The scheme also contemplates the widening of Old Chinabazar south of Canning Street. The estimated cost of the scheme is Rs. 75 lakhs. The area of the property to be acquired is 34·7 acres. Notices were issued under section 45 of the Calcutta Improvement Act and a committee was appointed to hear objections.

Scheme No. VII.—This scheme provides for a Central Avenue from Beadon Street to Machuabazar Street between Chitpur Road and Cornwallis Street and for a spur running south-west from the Central Avenue to Upper Chitpur Road. The total area included is 37·67 acres and the estimated cost of the land and engineering works is about Rs. 25 lakhs. Notices were issued inviting objections to the acquisition of land, and a committee was appointed to hear objections.

Scheme No. VIIA.—This scheme contemplates the widening of Halliday Street forming a continuation of the Central Avenue proposed in Scheme VII from Machuabazar Street to Colootolla Street. The estimated cost of land and engineering works is Rs. 4,36,000. The Committee appointed to consider the scheme dealt with the objections received in connection with this scheme.

Scheme No. VIIB.—The object of the scheme is to continue the Central Avenue from Colootolla Street to Bowbazar Street at an estimated cost of Rs. 9,95,000. The objections received were considered by a committee appointed for the purpose.

Scheme No. VIIC.—This scheme provides for an east and west diagonal road running between Scheme No. VII (Central Avenue) and Maniktala. The estimated cost of land and engineering works is Rs. 13,68,000. The scheme was published during the latter part of the year 1914-15, but further proceedings were held in abeyance pending the consideration of the proposal that the diagonal road to Maniktala should start from Mirbohar Ghat Street.

Scheme No. VIII.—The scheme provides for the extension of Park Street across Lower Circular Road to meet the Eastern Bengal State Railway line in the neighbourhood of Bridge No. 4 and for laying out a park 29 acres in area. The cost of land acquisition and engineering works is estimated at Rs. 16,39,000. The scheme was published for criticism after the close of the year 1914-15.

Scheme No. IX.—This is a small scheme for the widening of Old Post Office Street at premises Nos. 1, 2 and 3, the cost of which is estimated at Rs. 81,000. Two objections were received. It has been sanctioned by Government since the close of the year 1914-15.

Dalhousie Square Improvement Scheme.—The object of the scheme is to relieve congestion of traffic in part of the roadway round Dalhousie Square. No private land is to be acquired, but it was proposed to throw strips of land from the Square into the roadway. The estimated cost is Rs. 1,89,000. The scheme was submitted to Government after the close of the year.

5. Squares.—Besides the schemes described above, the Board considered the question of providing squares in congested areas. Applications had been received from time to time from the Calcutta Corporation for opening out squares in various parts of Calcutta. The Board decided that they were prepared to allot Rs. 10 lakhs for the purpose and desired the advice of the Corporation as to the quarters in which this sum could best be spent. Towards the close of the year 1914-15 the Corporation submitted recommendations in favour of the construction of three squares in Districts Nos. I, II and III and the improvement of a triangular area at the junction of Ripon Street and Wellesley Street. The recommendations are under the consideration of the Board.

6. Town-planning Exhibition.—In May 1914 the Government of Madras submitted to this Government a proposal to invite Professor Geddes of Edinburgh to visit India during the cold weather of 1914 to deliver a series of lectures on town-planning illustrated by his extensive exhibits bearing on the subject. This Government agreed to share the expense of the visit with the Governments of Madras and Bombay, and the Improvement Trust agreed to contribute one-half of the expenditure to be incurred in Bengal. Unfortunately the ship conveying the exhibits was sunk by the Emden, and the Professor's programme had to be modified. It has been arranged that the Professor will deliver his lectures in Calcutta in the cold weather of 1915.

7. Finance.—Out of the lump grant of Rs. 50 lakhs sanctioned by the Government of India for the Calcutta Improvement Schemes, Rs. 40 lakhs were paid to the Board during the three years ending 31st March 1915. Other receipts on the Capital account were from sales of land, buildings, moveable properties, etc., which amounted to Rs. 3 lakhs. The expenditure on Capital account was 52 lakhs, incurred principally on land acquisition and engineering works. The deficit of nearly Rs. 9 lakhs was met from the surplus available from the funds on Revenue account. Total receipts on the Revenue account during the three years under review were Rs. 75 lakhs, of which Rs. 40 lakhs were derived from special taxation (viz., duty on transfer of property, terminal tax and duty on jute) placed at the disposal of the Board. Twenty-three lakhs of rupees were received from the Corporation of Calcutta and Rs. 6 lakhs from Government as recurring contributions. The Board earned about Rs. 4½ lakhs as interest on investments and realized Rs. 1 lakh from rent on properties. The expenditure on Revenue account was about Rs. 8 lakhs against total receipts of Rs. 75 lakhs, leaving a surplus of about Rs. 67 lakhs, at the close of the year 1914-15.

8. Legal matters.—One of the most important matters which occupied the attention of the Board was the question of the extension of the Calcutta Improvement Act to areas in the neighbourhood of Calcutta. The first action in this direction was the extension of section 167 in connection with the survey of the suburban municipalities of Tollygunj, Maniktalla, South Suburban and Cossipore-Chitpur as a preliminary to the execution of improvement schemes in those areas for the expansion of Calcutta. The Board subsequently applied to Government for a general extension of the Act to the areas surveyed, but it was found that such extension was ultra vires.

Government were, however, advised that the Act could be extended to the suburban municipalities to carry out such improvement schemes in those areas as were connected with the similar schemes within Calcutta. The matter was still under consideration at the close of the period reviewed.

An amending Act (Bengal Act III of 1915) was passed at the close of the year 1914-15 by the Bengal Legislative Council giving the Board power to lay down projected public streets within the area of Calcutta.

There were pending at the conclusion of the period under review seven suits against the Board bearing on the powers of the Board in connection with street improvement schemes to acquire lands lying outside the actual line of the proposed street.

The Governor in Council desires to express his acknowledgments to the Trustees for the energy and efficiency with which they have organised schemes for the improvement of Calcutta. His Excellency's thanks are conveyed to the Hon'ble Mr. C. H. Bompas for the conspicuous ability and the zeal with which he has performed his duties as Chairman of the Board.

By order of the Governor in Council,

K. C. DE,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt of Bengal.

(iii) The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M., but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of Government, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Government may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

(iv) Each lot shall contain five chests.

(v) [illegible] calculated according to the scale noted [illegible] shall be taken [illegible] on each [illegible] purchaser in [illegible] and before [illegible] registered in the sale-book, and all such [illegible] notes shall be redeemed on the part [illegible] purchasers at this office by Bank of Bengal receipts, or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as Government shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

(vii) The promissory notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

(viii) No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause (v) on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted: Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said promissory note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. (v) and No. (vi).

(ix) The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day after the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday, if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and, in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as Government shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

(x) Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests ordinarily required to be included in each certificate or order.

(xi) No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

(xii) The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India notes, Bank of Bengal notes, or Government securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a promissory note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

(xiii) With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 1,800 specified in the second of these conditions.

(xiv) The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of opium not exceeding altogether fifteen lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said fifteen.

(xv) In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

5. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal:—

No. 1—Certificate of the opium advertised for sale.
No. 2—Report of the examination of such opium.

6. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Ghazipur Factory, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal.

7. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Government entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

By order of the Governor in Council,

J. DONALD,
Secretary.

[Second publication.]

The 23rd November 1915.

No. 129Marine.—The following revised scheme of storm-warning signals as finally approved by the Government of India, is published for general information, so far as it relates to ports in the Bay of Bengal situated in the Presidency of Bengal. The scheme shall come into force with effect from the 1st January 1916.

STORM-WARNING SERVICE.

The Government of India have decided to revise the distribution of meteorological information to ports and shipping. At present information is given by the hoisting of storm-signals, by the exhibition of flags, and by telegrams in code to Port Officers. The meaning of the storm-signals now in use is different at different ports, and the new system is so arranged that the meaning of any given signal will be the same throughout the Indian seas, the only difference between different ports being that a larger or smaller number of signals will be in use. The flag-signals will be replaced by signals giving the locality of disturbances, and the sending of eight-word-code telegrams to Port Officers will be discontinued. The scheme now to be brought into use may be shortly described as—

(a) a general system of eleven signals, two of which will indicate the existence of distant disturbed weather, eight will indicate that local bad weather threatens the port, while the remaining one will indicate that communication with the Meteorological Department has broken down and that in the opinion of the local officer there is danger of bad weather.

(b) a brief system consisting of four only of the above signals. This system will be used at a few ports frequented mainly by small Indian boats engaged in local traffic.

(c) the general system combined with additional daily signals either to indicate that weather is undisturbed or if bad weather exists to show the position of the disturbance. This system will be in daily operation at certain stations in the Bay of Bengal and has been devised to replace the flag-signals at present in use.

The following are the ports in the Presidency of Bengal situated in the Bay of Bengal which will come under the different systems :—

General system	General system with additional signals.
Cox's Bazar.	Chittagong.*
Calcutta.	Saugor Island.
Budge-Budge.	Sandheads.
Mud Point.
Diamond Harbour.

I.—GENERAL SYSTEM.

The Meteorological Department will keep Port Officers informed of the latest information with respect to all disturbances, and ships' officers should apply to them for information to supplement the storm-signals.

DISTANT SIGNALS

to indicate danger to ships after they have left the harbour.

Day. Night.

I. CAUTIONARY.—There is a region of squally weather in which a storm may be forming.

NOTE.—This signal will be hoisted at ports situated with reference to the disturbed weather such that a ship leaving the port might run into danger during its voyage.

II. WARNING.—A storm has formed.

NOTE.—This signal will be hoisted when there is no immediate danger of the port itself being affected but ships leaving the port might run into the storm to indicate that the port and ships in it are threatened.

LOCAL SIGNALS

Day Night

III. CAUTIONARY.—The port is threatened by squally weather.

IV. WARNING.—The port is threatened by a storm but it does not appear that the danger is as yet sufficiently great to justify extreme measures of precaution.

NOTE.—The existence of a storm can often be determined before its direction of motion can be fixed. In this case all those ports which the storm could possibly strike will be warned by this signal

V. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the south of the port (or to the east in the case of the Hooghly Ports).

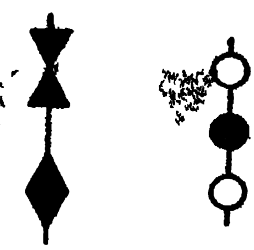

VI. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the north of the port (or to the west in the case of the Hooghly Ports and Chittagong).

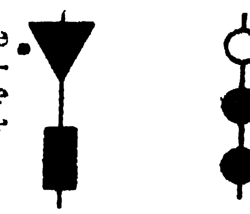

Day. Night.

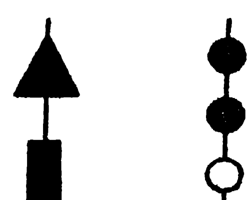

VII. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross over or near to the port.

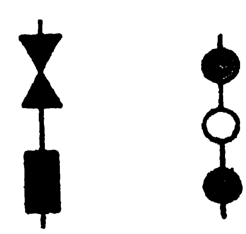

VIII. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the south of the port (or to the east in the case of the Hooghly Ports).

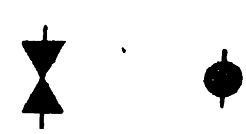

IX. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the north of the port (or to the west in the case of the Hooghly Ports and Chittagong).

X. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross over or near to the port.

XI. FAILURE OF COMMUNICATIONS.—Communication with the meteorological head-quarters has broken down and the local officer considers that there is danger of bad weather.

II.—BRIEF SYSTEM

for use at certain small ports.

In the brief system only the four following signals will be hoisted, but the Port Officers will be kept informed of the progress of bad weather for the general information of shipping:—

Signal No. III—Cautionary
Signal No. IV—Warning
Signal No. VII—Danger
Signal No. X—Great danger

} Meaning day and night signals as in the General system.

N.B.—Under this system there are no ports in the Presidency of Bengal situated in the Bay of Bengal.

III.—ADDITIONAL DAILY SIGNALS FOR THE BAY OF BENGAL.

In order to give daily information to a port regarding weather in the Bay it is necessary to provide for the following cases:—

(a) if no disturbance exists in the Bay of Bengal the fact will be indicated by hoisting a ball,

(b) if the port itself is threatened the appropriate local signal of the "general system" will be hoisted,

(c) if there be an area of squally weather or a storm that does not threaten the port the "distant cautionary" or "distant warning" of the "general system" will be hoisted; and additional signs will be hoisted under these to indicate the position of the disturbance in the Bay. For this purpose the Bay has been divided into six sections and the following shapes have been allotted to each of the divisions :—

Division I II III IV V VI

Signal

Thus if there is squally weather in section V of the Bay the signal

would be hoisted at the various ports; and if a storm has formed in section II the signal would be hoisted at all ports which were not directly threatened; as already stated the ports threatened would hoist one or other of the local signals. The Meteorological Department will endeavour to keep the number of locality signals on each hoist as few as possible and generally only the number of the section in which the centre of the storm is situated will be given. If however the centre of the storm is near the boundary of a division two locality signals will be given, the first indicating the division in which the centre is supposed to be and the second the neighbouring division near to which it is. In the event of a storm centre being near to the angles where three divisions meet, three locality signals will be hoisted. The first will give the division in which the storm is supposed to be, the second the nearest adjoining division and the third the remaining division

Examples—

Storm centre	Locality signals
Lat. 16° N Long. 86 E	II.
Lat. 16 N Long. 88 E	II and III.

II —Lies south of I, it is bounded on the south by lat 13° and to the east by long. 88½°;

III —Lies south of I and east of II, it is bounded to the south by lat 13° and to the east by a line from the point 11° N 93° E to Diamond Island together with the Arakan coast thence up to 18½° N.;

A map illustrating these sections accompanies the Code of Storm-warning Signals, published by the Government of India which will be had on application to the Port Officers Calcutta or Chittagong

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILLING IN THE DECLARATION.

Passengers should fill in the first two columns only. Columns 3 and 4 will be filled in by the Custom House.

Rules for the exemption of passengers' baggage from Customs duty.

1. The bona-fide baggage of a passenger is exempt from duty when it accompanies him, does not form part of the cargo, and is not included in the manifest.

2. Bona-fide baggage shall include wearing apparel and personal effects, provided that the articles are not for sale and are imported for the personal use of the passenger or for the use of members of his family travelling with him, but it shall not include the following articles, on which duty must be paid in all cases :—

(a) Arms, ammunition and all other articles enumerated in Schedule II of the Tariff Import Schedule.

(b) Alcoholic liquor exceeding two quarts, perfumed spirit exceeding one quart, and all other articles enumerated in Schedule III.

(c) Cigars and cigarettes exceeding 100 in number, whether in opened or unopened boxes, and other tobacco exceeding 1 lb. in weight.

(d) Pianos, pianolas, carriages, motor-cars and motor-cycles.

(e) Articles for household use, such as furniture, pictures, carpets, glass, crockery cutlery, and silver and plated ware, except such articles (other than furniture or carpets) as shall appear to the Customs authorities to be imported in a moderate quantity and to be required for the personal use of the passenger whilst travelling or immediately upon his arrival at his destination.

3. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in rule 1, bona-fide baggage landed at any Customs port within one month before or after the arrival of a passenger in India may, subject to the exceptions specified in rule 2, be passed free at the discretion of the Collector of Customs.

4. When articles, such as firearms, bear any marks, such as maker's name and a number by which they can be identified, such marks should be noted against them. Omission to give details in the case of firearms frequently results in the levy of duty a second time.

5. Articles imported as cargo, i.e., entered in the ship's manifest, should be distinguished from articles imported as baggage in this form. Such articles will not ordinarily be passed free, but they may be so passed at the discretion of the Collector of Customs under rule 3 above.

NOTICE.

1. Duty when charged ad valorem is charged on the value of the goods in India, including cost of importation.

2. On payment of duty, a receipt on a printed form will be immediately granted. All arms should be submitted to the Customs officers for examination to enable them to take the description of the arms and to note other particulars required for future identification.

3. All rifles are now permitted to be imported except those of ·303 and ·450 bores. A British Officer in staff, departmental or regimental employ, or an enrolled member of a Volunteer Corps, or Staff Sergeant or Warrant Officer of British Units of the Army, including Instructors of Volunteer Corps, may import, on payment of duty, one single-barrel ·303 rifle for match-shooting purposes, provided it is sighted to over 1,000 yards, and that a rifle so imported is to form part of the equipment of the Corps to which the importer belongs. For this purpose the owner must at the time of import produce a certificate from his Commanding Officer to the effect that the weapon in question will be brought on to the equipment ledger of his Corps, or in the case of an officer in staff or departmental employ, a certificate from the senior officer or head of the department to which he belongs, to the effect that the weapon will be brought on to the equipment ledger of a Corps in the officer's command or office inventory of stores and will be accounted for in the same manner as other equipment.

4. Any article on which duty is proved to have been previously paid on its importation into India is exempt, provided that not more than three years have elapsed since it was taken out of India, and that it remains the property of the original importer, or of a member of his family. All such articles must be entered in the Declaration and the grounds of exemption stated in the last column. Passengers are strongly advised to keep carefully the receipts for duty paid upon any articles likely to be taken out of India again and re-imported, in order that they may be able to pass them free at the time of such re-importation.

No passenger is entitled to exemption from duty on firearms on the ground that the arms are re-imported and that duty was paid on them on their first importation unless (1) the original receipt for the duty paid is forwarded to the Custom House either at the time of exportation or at the time of re-importation (2) in the case of arms exported as baggage, particulars of the arms as to description and the name of maker and number on the arms have been forwarded to the Custom House at the port of embarkation for registration and a pass obtained before shipment, and the pass is produced at the time of re-importation for the purpose of checking the arms with the pass, and (3) in the case of arms exported as cargo, particulars of the arms as above have been given in the shipping bill, and information as to the date and the vessel by which exported is furnished at the time of re-importation to allow of the information being checked by a reference to the shipping bill, or if the port of re-importation is not the original port of exportation, a certificate is produced from the Customs authorities at the port of exportation certifying to the correctness of such information.

Exemption from duty cannot be allowed in any case where (1) drawback has been claimed and paid on the exportation of the arms, or where (2) the arms have passed out of the possession of the original importer or a member of his family, or where (3) the arms are imported as merchandise for sale and not for private personal use; or where (4) the arms were exported more than three years before their re-importation.

5. "The articles mentioned below, when imported direct by an officer of His Majesty's Regular Forces serving in India for his own use, are passed free, provided that under the regulations and orders for the time being in force the officer is required to maintain the articles in question for the due performance of his military duty :—

> Rifles of regulation military pattern, and parts and appurtenances thereof. Ammunition for such rifles.

6. Any person making a false declaration or attempting to pass dutiable goods without payment of duty is liable to a fine of Rs. 500 and confiscation of the property.

7. All Americans and Europeans who are not natural-born or naturalised British subjects should take out licenses for arms and ammunition in their possession when they intend to reside permanently in India.

8. For all information regarding the landing and clearing of baggage, passengers are requested to apply to the Baggage Officers on board or in the Baggage godown at the Custom House.

9. A charge is made on account of wharf rent if baggage is not cleared from the Custom House within 4 days from the date of its receipt.

(vi) The said promissory notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or, whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

(vii) The promissory notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

(viii) No tenders of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of opi[illegible]m upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before t[illegible]escribed time in clause (v) on the fifth day following the day of sale, wi[illegible] afterwards accepted: Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said promissory note, but [illegible] acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any ri[illegible]o delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was gi[illegible]n, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. (v) and No. (vi).

(ix) The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day after the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and, in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as Government shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

(x) Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests ordinarily required to be included in each certificate or order.

(xi) No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

(xii) The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India notes, Bank of Bengal receipts, or Government securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a promissory note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

(xiii) With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 1,800 specified in the second of these conditions.

(xiv) The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of opium not exceeding altogether fifteen lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said fifteen.

(xv) In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

5. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal:—

No. 1—Certificate of the opium advertised for sale.
No. 2—Report of the examination of such opium.

6. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Ghazipur Factory, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal.

7. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Government entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

[Third publication.]

The 23rd November 1915.

No. 129Marine.—The following revised scheme of storm-warning signals as finally approved by the Government of India, is published for general information, so far as it relates to ports in the Bay of Bengal situated in the Presidency of Bengal. The scheme shall come into force with effect from the 1st January 1916.

STORM-WARNING SERVICE.

The Government of India have decided to revise the distribution of meteorological information to ports and shipping. At present information is given by the hoisting of storm-signals, by the exhibition of flags, and by telegrams in code to Port Officers. The meaning of the storm-signals now in use is different at different ports, and the new system is so arranged that the meaning of any given signal will be the same throughout the Indian seas, the only difference between different ports being that a larger or smaller number of signals will be in use. The flag-signals will be replaced by signals giving the locality of disturbances, and the sending of eight-word-code telegrams to Port Officers will be discontinued. The scheme now to be brought into use may be shortly described as—

(a) a general system of eleven signals, two of which will indicate the existence of distant disturbed weather, eight will indicate that local bad weather threatens the port, while the remaining one will indicate that communication with the Meteorological Department has broken down and that in the opinion of the local officer there is danger of bad weather.

(b) a brief system consisting of four only of the above signals. This system will be used at a few ports frequented mainly by small Indian boats engaged in local traffic.

(c) the general system combined with additional daily signals either to indicate that weather is undisturbed or if bad weather exists to show the position of the disturbance. This system will be in daily operation at certain stations in the Bay of Bengal and has been devised to replace the flag-signals at present in use.

The following are the ports in the Presidency of Bengal situated in the Bay of Bengal which will come under the different systems :—

General system	General system with additional signals
Cox's Bazar.	Chittagong.
Calcutta.	Saugor Island.
Budge-Budge.	Sandheads.
Mud Point.
Diamond Harbour.

I.—GENERAL SYSTEM

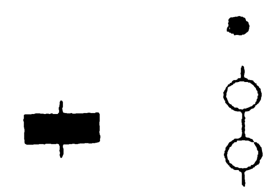

The Meteorological Department will keep Port Officers informed of the latest information with respect to all disturbances, and ships' officers should apply to them for information to supplement the storm-signals to indicate danger to ships after they have left the harbour.

Day — Night.

I. CAUTIONARY.—There is a region of squally weather in which a storm may be forming.

NOTE.—This signal will be hoisted at ports situated with reference to the disturbed weather such that a ship leaving the port might run into danger during its voyage.

II. WARNING.—A storm has formed.

NOTE.—This signal will be hoisted when there is no immediate danger of the port itself being affected but ships leaving the port might run into the storm.

LOCAL SIGNALS

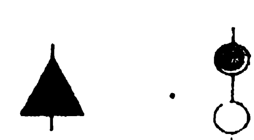

to indicate that the port and ships in it are threatened.

Day — Night

III. CAUTIONARY.—The port is threatened by squally weather.

IV. WARNING.—The port is threatened by a storm but it does not appear that the danger is as yet sufficiently great to justify extreme measures of precaution.

NOTE.—The existence of a storm can often be determined before its direction of motion can be fixed. In this case all those ports which the storm could possibly strike will be warned by this signal.

V. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the south of the port (or to the east in the case of the Hooghly Ports).

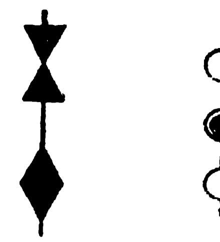

VI. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the north of the port (or to the west in the case of the Hooghly Ports and Chittagong).

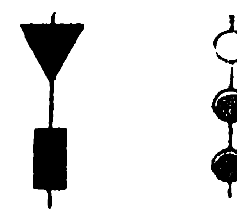

Day. Night.

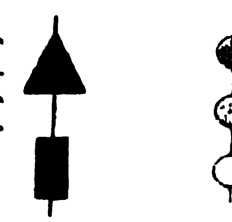

VII. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross over or near to the port.

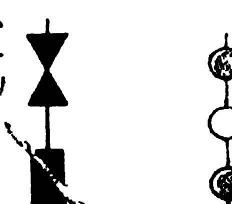

VIII. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the south of the port (or to the east in the case of the Hooghly Ports).

IX. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the north of the port (or to the west in the case of the Hooghly Ports and Chittagong).

X. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross over or near to the port.

XI. FAILURE OF COMMUNICATIONS.—Communication with the meteorological head-quarters has broken down and the local officer considers that there is danger of bad weather.

II.—BRIEF SYSTEM

for use at certain small ports.

In the brief system only the four following signals will be hoisted, but the Port Officers will be kept informed of the progress of bad weather for the general information of shipping:—

Signal No. III—Cautionary
Signal No. IV—Warning
Signal No. VII—Danger
Signal No. X—Great danger

} Meaning day and night signals as in the General system.

N.B.—Under this system there are no ports in the Presidency of Bengal situated in the Bay of Bengal.

III.—ADDITIONAL DAILY SIGNALS FOR THE BAY OF BENGAL.

In order to give daily information to a port regarding weather in the Bay it is necessary to provide for the following cases:—

(a) if no disturbance exists in the Bay of Bengal the fact will be indicated by hoisting a ball.

(b) if the port itself is threatened the appropriate local signal of the "general system" will be hoisted.

(c) if there be an area of squally weather or a storm that does not threaten the port the "distant cautionary" or "distant warning" of the "general system" will be hoisted; and additional signs will be hoisted under these to indicate the position of the disturbance in the Bay. For this purpose the Bay has been divided into six sections and the following shapes have been allotted to each of the divisions :—

Division I II III IV V VI

Signal

Thus if there is squally weather in section V of the Bay the signal

would be hoisted at the various ports; and if a storm has formed in section II the signal would be hoisted at all ports which were not directly threatened; as already stated the ports threatened would hoist one or other of the local signals. The Meteorological Department will endeavour to keep the number of locality signals on each hoist as few as possible and generally only the number of the section in which the centre of the storm is situated will be given. If however the centre of the storm is near the boundary of a division two locality signals will be given, the first indicating the division in which the centre is supposed to be and the second the neighbouring division near to which it is. In the event of a storm centre being near to the angles where three divisions meet, three locality signals will be hoisted. The first will give the division in which the storm is supposed to be, the second the nearest adjoining division and the third the remaining division.

Examples—

Storm centre	Locality signals
Lat. 16 N Long. 86 E	II.
Lat. 16 N Long. 88 E	II and III.
Lat. 16 N Long. 89 E	III and II.
Lat. 18 N Long. 87½ E	II, I and III.
Lat. 19 N Long. 89½ E	I, III and II.

 The sections may be defined as follows :—

I.—Contains the area north of lat. 18½° ;

II.—Lies south of I, it is bounded on the south by lat. 13° and to the east by long. 88½°.

III.—Lies south of I and east of II, it is bounded to the south by lat. 13° and to the east by a line from the point 13° N 94 E to Diamond Island together with the Arakan coast thence up to 18½° N.

IV.—Lies south of II and west of 86° ;

V.—Lies east of IV, south of II, III and west of 93°.

VI.—Lies east of III, IV and represents the Andaman Sea.

A map illustrating these sections accompanies the Code of Storm-warning Signals, published by the Government of India which will be had on application to the Port Officers, Calcutta or Chittagong.

C. E. LOW,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

The following orders, issued by the Government of India in the Army Department, published in the Gazette of India dated the 4th December 1915, are republished for general information.

J. H. KERR,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Delhi, the 3rd December 1915.

The following despatch has been received by the Secretary of State for War from the Field-Marshal Commanding-in-Chief, the British Army in France:—

General Headquarters,
British Army in France,
15th October 1915.

MY LORD,

I have the honour to report the operations of the Forces under my command since the date of those described in my last despatch dated 15th June 1915.

1. Those of the greatest importance took place during the last days of the period under report. Nevertheless, the Army under my command was constantly engaged throughout the whole time in enterprises which, although not securing the same important results, have yet had considerable influence on the course of events.

2. On 2nd June the enemy made a final offensive in the Ypres salient with the object of gaining our trenches and position at Hooge. The attack was most determined and was preceded by a severe bombardment. A gallant defence was made by troops of the 3rd Cavalry Division and 1st Indian Cavalry Division, and our position was maintained throughout.

During the first weeks of June the front of the Second Army was extended to the north as far as the village of Boesinghe.

3. After the conclusion of the Battle of Festubert the troops of the First Army were engaged in several minor operations.

By an attack delivered on the evening of 15th June after a prolonged bombardment the 1st Canadian Brigade obtained possession of the German front line trenches north-east of Givenchy, but were unable to retain them owing to their flanks being too much exposed.

4. On 16th June an attack was carried out by the 5th Corps on the Bellewaarde Ridge, east of Ypres.

The enemy's front line was captured, many of his dead and wounded being found in the trenches.

The troops, pressing forward, gained ground as far east as the Bellewaarde Lake but found themselves unable to maintain this advanced position. They were, however, successful in securing and consolidating the ground won during the first part of the attack, on a front of a thousand yards, including the advanced portion of the enemy's salient north of the Ypres-Menin Road.

During this action the fire of the artillery was most effective the prisoners testifying to its destructiveness and accuracy. It also prevented the delivery of counter-attacks, which were paralysed at the outset.

Over two hundred prisoners were taken, besides some machine guns, trench material and gas apparatus

Holding attacks by the neighbouring 2nd and 6th Corps were successful in helping the main attack, whilst the 36th French Corps co-operated very usefully with artillery fire on Pilkem

Near Hill 60 the 15th Infantry Brigade made four bombing attacks, gaining and occupying about fifty yards of trench

On 6th July a small attack was made by the 11th Infantry Brigade on a German salient between Boesinghe and Ypres, which resulted in the capture of a frontage of about 500 yards of trench and a number of prisoners.

In the course of this operation it was necessary to move a gun of the 135th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, into the front line to destroy an enemy sap-head. To reach its position the gun had to be taken over a high canal embankment, rafted over the canal under fire, pulled up a bank with a slope of nearly 45 degrees, and then dragged over three trenches and a sky line to its position seventy yards from the German lines. This was carried out without loss.

This incident is of minor importance in itself, but I quote it as an example of the daily difficulties which officers and men in the trenches are constantly called upon to overcome, and of the spirit of initiative and resource which is so marked a feature amongst them.

From the 10th to the 12th July the enemy made attempts, after heavy shelling, to recapture the lost portion of their line; but our artillery, assisted by that of the French on our left, prevented any serious assault from being delivered. Minor attacks were constant, but were easily repulsed by the garrison of our trenches.

On 19th July an enemy's redoubt at the western end of the Hooge defences was successfully mined and destroyed, and a small portion of the enemy's trenches was captured.

5. Since my last despatch a new device has been adopted by the enemy for driving burning liquid into our trenches with a strong jet.

Thus supported, an attack was made on the trenches of the Second Army at Hooge, on the Menin Road, early on 30th July. Most of the infantry occupying these trenches were driven back, but their retirement was due far more to the surprise and temporary confusion caused by the burning liquid than to the actual damage inflicted.

Gallant endeavours were made by repeated counter-attacks to recapture the lost section of trenches. These, however, proving unsuccessful and costly, a new line of trenches was consolidated a short distance further back.

Attacks made by the enemy at the same time west of Bellewaarde Lake were repulsed.

On 9th August these losses were brilliantly regained, owing to a successful attack carried out by the 6th Division. This attack was very well executed and resulted in the racapture, with small casualties, not only of the whole of the lost trenches, but, in addition, of four hundred [illegible] German trench north of the Menin Road.

At the end of this engagement it was estimated [illegible] between four and [illegible] on the battlefield.

Valuable help was rendered by two batteries of French artillery lent by General Hely d'Oissel, commanding 36th French Corps.

6. From the conclusion of the abovementioned operations until the last week in September there was relative quiet along the whole of the British line, except at those points where the normal conditions of existence comprised occasional shelling or constant mine and bomb warfare. In these trying forms of encounter all ranks have constantly shown the greatest enterprise and courage, and have consistently maintained the upper hand.

The close accord and co-op[illegible] which has always existed between the Commander-in-Chief of our Allies and my[illegible] been maintained, and I have had constant meetings with General Joffre, who has kept me informed of his views and intentions, and explained the successive methods by which he hopes to attain his ultimate object.

After full discussion of the military situation a decision was arrived at for joint action, in which I acquiesced.

It was arranged that we should make a combined attack from certain points of the Allied line during the last week in September.

The reinforcements I have received enabled me to comply with several requests which General Joffre has made that I should take over additional portions of the French line.

7. In fulfilment of the rôle assigned to it in these operations the Army under my command attacked the enemy on the morning of the 25th September.

The main attack was delivered by the 1st and 4th Corps between the La Bassée Canal on the north and a point of the enemy's line opposite the village of Grenay on the south.

At the same time a secondary attack, designed with the object of distracting the enemy's attention and holding his troops to their ground, was made by the 5th Corps on Bellewaarde Farm, situated to the east of Ypres. Subsidiary attacks with similar objects were delivered by the 3rd and Indian Corps north of the La Bassée Canal and along the whole front of the Second Army.

The object of the secondary attack by the 5th Corps was most effectively achieved, for not only was the enemy contained on that front, but we have reason to belive that reserves were hurried toward that point of the line.

The attack was made at daybreak by the 3rd and 14th Divisions, and at first the greater part of the enemy's front line was taken; but, owing to the powerful artillery fire concentrated against them, the troops were unable to retain the ground, and had to return to their original trenches toward nightfall. The 5th Corps succeeded, however, in capturing two officers and 138 other prisoners.

Similar demonstrations with equally good results were made along the whole front of the Second Army.

With the same object in view, those units of the First Army occupying the line north of the Bethune-La Bassée Canal were detailed to carry out some minor operations.

Portions of the 1st Corps assaulted the enemy's trenches at Givenchy. The Indian Corps attacked the Moulin du Peétre; while the 3rd Corps was directed against the trenches at Le Bridoux.

These attacks started at daybreak and were at first successful all along the line. Later in the day the enemy brought up strong reserves, and after hard fighting and variable fortunes the troops engaged in this part of the line reoccupied their original trenches at nightfall. They succeeded admirably, however, in fulfilling the rôle allotted to them, and in holding large numbers of the enemy away from the main attack.

The 8th Division of the 3rd Corps and the Meerut Division of the Indian Corps were principally engaged in this part of the line.

On the front of the Third Army subsidiary operations of a similar nature were successfully carried out.

The Wing of the Royal Flying Corps attached to this Army performed valuable work by undertaking distant flights behind the enemy's lines and by successfully blowing up railways, wrecking trains and damaging stations on the line of communication by means of bomb attacks.

Valuable assistance was rendered by Vice-Admiral Bacon and a squadron of His Majesty's ships operating off Zeebrugge and Ostend.

8. The general plan of the main attack on the 25th September was as follows :—

In co-operation with an offensive movement by the 10th French Army on our right, the 1st and 4th Corps were to attack the enemy from a point opposite the little mining village of Grenay on the south to the La Bassée Canal on the north. The Vermelles-Hulluch Road was to be the dividing line between the two Corps, the 4th Corps delivering the right attack, the 1st Corps the left.

In view of the great length of line along which the British troops were operating it was necessary to keep a strong reserve in my own hand. The 11th Corps, consisting of the Guards, the 21st and the 24th Divisions, were detailed for this purpose.

This reserve was the more necessary owing to the fact that the 10th French Army had to postpone its attack until one o'clock in the day ; and, further, that the Corps operating on the French left had to be directed in a more or less south-easterly direction, involving, in case of our success, a considerable gap in our line.

To ensure, however, the speedy and effective support to the 1st and 4th Corps in the case of their success, their 21st and 24th Divisions passed the night of the 24th-25th on the line Beuvry (to the east of Bethune)-Noeux les Mines. The Guards Division was in the neighbourhood of Lillers on the same night.

I also directed the General Officer Commanding Second Army to draw the 28th Division back to Bailleul and to hold it in readiness to meet unexpected eventualities.

The British Cavalry Corps, less 3rd Cavalry Division, under General Fanshawe, was posted in the neighbourhood of St. Pol and Bailleul les Pernes; and the Indian Cavalry Corps, under General Rimington, at Doullens; both in readiness to co-operate with the French Cavalry in exploiting any success which might be attained by the combined French and British Forces. Plans for effective co-operation were fully arranged between the Cavalry Commanders of both Armies.

The 3rd Cavalry Division, less one brigade, was assigned to the General Officer Commanding First Army as a reserve, and moved into the area of the 4th Corps on the 21st and 22nd September.

9. Opposite the front of the main line of attack the distance between the enemy's trenches and our own varied from about 100 to 500 yards.

The country over which the advance took place is open and overgrown with long grass and self-sown crops.

From the canal southward our trenches and those of the enemy ran, roughly, parallel up an almost imperceptible rise to the south-west.

From the Vermelles-Hulluch Road southward the advantage of height is on the enemy's side as far as the Bethune-Lens Road. There the two lines of trenches cross a spur in which the rise culminates, and thence the command lies on the side of the British trenches.

Due east of the intersection of spur and trenches, and a short mile away, stands Loos. Less than a mile further south-east is Hill 70, which is the summit of the gentle rise in the ground.

Other notable tactical points in our front were :—

"Fosse 8" (a thousand yards south of Auchy), which is a coal mine with a high and strongly defended slag heap.

"The Hohenzollern Redoubt."—A strong work thrust out nearly five hundred yards in front of the German lines and close to our own. It is connected with their front line by three communication trenches abutting into the defences of Fosse 8.

Cité St. Elie.—A strongly defended mining village lying fifteen hundred yards south of Haisnes.

"The Quarries."—Lying half way to the German trenches west of Cité St. Elie.

Hulluch.—A village strung out along a small stream, lying less than half a mile south-east of Cité St. Elie and 3,000 yards north-east of Loos.

Half a mile north of Hill 70 is "Puits 14 bis," another coal mine, possessing great possibilities for defence when taken in conjunction with a strong redoubt situated on the north-east side of Hill 70.

10. The attacks of the 1st and 4th Corps were delivered at 6-30 A.M. and were successful all along the line, except just south of the La Bassée Canal.

The enemy met the advance [illegible] infantry fire of slight intensity, but his artillery fire was accurate and caused considerable casualties.

The 47th Division on the right of the 4th Corps rapidly swung its left forward and occupied the southern outskirts of Loos and a big double slag heap opposite Grenay, known as the Double Crassier. Thence it pushed on, and, by taking possession of the cemetery, the enclosures and chalk pits south of Loos, succeeded in forming a strong defensive flank.

This London Territorial Division acquitted itself most creditably. It was skilfully led and the troops carried out their task with great energy and determination. They contributed largely [illegible] success in this part of the field.

On the left of the 47th Division a Scottish Division of the New Armies (15th Division) assaulted Loos, Hill 70 and Fosse 14 bis.

The attack was admirably delivered, and in a little more than an hour parts of the division occupied Loos and its northern outskirts, Puits 14 bis and Hill 70, whilst some units had pushed on as far as Cité St. Auguste, a mile east of Hill 70.

The 15th Division carried out its advance with the greatest vigour, in spite of its left flank being exposed, owing to the 1st Division on its left having been checked.

About 1 P.M. the enemy brought up strong reserves, and the advanced portions of the division at Fosse 14 bis and on the far side of Hill 70 were driven in. We had, however, secured the very substantial gain of Loos and the western portion of Hill 70.

11. At 9-30 A.M. I placed the 21st and 24th Divisions at the disposal of the General Officer Commanding First Army, who at once ordered the General Officer commanding the 11th Corps to move them up in support of the attacking troops.

Between 11 A.M. and 12 noon the central brigades of these divisions filed past me at Bethune and Noeux les Mines respectively. At 11-30 A.M. the heads of both divisions were within three miles of our original trench line.

As the success of the 47th Division on the right of the 4th Corps caused me less apprehension of a gap in our line near that point, I ordered the Guards Division up to Noeux les Mines, and the 28th Division to move in a southerly direction from Bailleul.

12. The 1st Division, attacking on the left of the 15th, was unable at first to make any headway with its right brigade.

The brigade on its left (the 1st) was, however, able to get forward and penetrated into the outskirts of the village of Hulluch, capturing some gun positions on the way.

The determined advance of this brigade, with its right flank dangerously exposed, was most praiseworthy, and, combined with the action of divisional reserves, was instrumental in causing the surrender of a German detachment some 500 strong which was holding up the advance of the right brigade in the front system of trenches.

The inability of the right of this division to get forward had, however, caused sufficient delay to enable the enemy to collect local reserves behind the strong second line.

The arrangements, the planning and execution of the attack, and the conduct of the troops of the 4th Corps were most efficient and praiseworthy.

13. In the attack of the 1st Corps the 7th Division was directed on the Quarries. The 9th Division was to capture the Hohenzollern Redoubt and then to push on to Fosse 8.

The assault of the 7th Division succeeded at once, and in a very short time they had reached the western edge of the Quarries, Cité St. Elie and even the village of Haisnes, the tendency of the action having been to draw the troops northward.

On the right of the 9th Division the 26th Brigade secured Fosse 8 after heavy fighting and the 28th Brigade captured the front line of the German trenches east of Vermelles railway. At the latter point the fighting was extremely severe; and this brigade, suffering considerable losses, was driven back to its own trenches.

At nightfall, after a heavy day's fighting and numerous German counter-attacks, the line was, roughly, as follows:—

From the Double Crassier, south of Loos, by the western part of Hill 70, to the western exit of Hulluch; thence by the Quarries and western end of Cité St. Elie, east of Fosse 8, back to our original line.

Throughout the length of the line heavy fighting was in progress, and our hold on Fosse 8, backed as it is by the strong defences and guns of Auchy, was distinctly precarious.

Heavy rain fell throughout the day, which was very detrimental to efficient observation of fire and reconnaissance by aircraft.

In the course of the night 25th-26th September the enemy delivered a series of heavy counter-attacks along most of our new front. The majority of these were repulsed with heavy loss; but in parts of the line, notably near the Quarries, our troops were driven back a certain distance.

At 6 P.M. the Guards Division arrived at Noeux les Mines, and on the morning of the 26th I placed them at the disposal of the General Officer commanding First Army.

14. The situation at the Quarries described above, was readjusted by an attack of the 7th Division on the afternoon of September 26th; and on that evening very heavy attacks delivered by the enemy were repulsed with severe loss.

On the 4th Corps front attacks on Hulluch and on the redoubt on the east side of Hill 70 were put in operation, but were anticipated by the enemy organising a very strong offensive from that direction. These attacks drove in the advanced troops of the 21st and 24th Divisions, which were then moving forward to attack.

Reports regarding this portion of the action are very conflicting, and it is not possible to form an entirely just appreciation of what occurred in this part of the field.

At nightfall there was no change up to Hill 70, except for a small gain of ground south of Loos. From Hill 70 the line bent sharply back to the north-west as far as Loos-La Bassée Road which it followed for a thousand yards, bearing thence north-eastward to near the west end of Hulluch. Thence northward it was the same as it had been on the previous night.

The night of September 26th-27th was as disturbed as the previous night, for many further counter-attacks were made and constant pressure was maintained by the enemy.

A dismounted cavalry brigade was thrown into Loos to form a garrison.

On this day I placed the 28th Division at the disposal of the General Officer commanding First Army.

I regret to say that Major-General Sir Thompson Capper, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O., commanding 7th Division, was severely wounded on the 26th, and died on the morning of the 27th. He was a most distinguished and capable leader, and his loss will be severely felt.

15. Soon after dawn on the 27th it became apparent that the brigade holding Fosse 8 was unable to maintain its position, and eventually it was slowly forced back until at length our front at this point coincided with the eastern portion of the Hohenzollern Redoubt.

I regret to say that during this operation Major-General G. H. Thesiger, C.B., C.M.G., A.D.C., commanding the 9th Division, was killed whilst most gallantly endeavouring to secure the ground which had been won.

In the afternoon of this day the Guards Division, which had taken over part of the line to the north of the 4th Corps, almost restored our former line, bringing it up parallel to and slightly west of the Lens-La Bassée Road.

This Division made a very brilliant and successful attack on Hill 70 in the afternoon. They drove the Germans off the top of the hill, but could not take the redoubt, which is on the north-east slopes below the crest. They also took the Chalk Pit which lies north of Puits 14, and all the adjacent woods, but were unable to maintain themselves in the Puits itself, which was most effectively commanded by well-posted machine-guns.

The 47th Division on the right of the Guards captured a wood further to the south and repulsed a severe hostile counter-attack.

The 28th was passed in consolidating the ground gained and in making a certain number of internal moves of divisions, in order to give the troops rest and to enable those units whose casualties had been heavy to refill their ranks with reinforcements.

The 47th Division made a little more ground to the south, capturing one field gun and a few machine-guns.

On the evening of this day the situation remained practic[illegible] un-changed.

16. The line occupied by the troops of [illegible] Army south of the [illegible] salient with which it indented the enemy's line.

The French 10th Army had been very heavily opposed, and I considered that the advance they were able to make did not afford sufficient protection to my right flank.

On representing this to General Joffre he was kind enough to ask the commander of the northern group of French Armies to render me assistance.

General Foch met these demands in the same friendly spirit which he has always displayed throughout the course of the whole campaign, and expressed his readiness to give [illegible] support he could.

On the morning of the 28th we discussed [illegible] situation, and the General agreed to send the 9th French Corps to take over the ground occupied by us extending from the French left up to and including that portion of Hill 70 which we were holding, and also the village of Loos.

This relief was commenced on the 30th September and completed on the two following nights.

17. During the 29th and 30th September and the first day of October fighting was almost continuous along the northern part of the new line, particularly about the Hohenzollern Redoubt and neighbouring trenches, to which the enemy evidently attached great value. His attacks, however, invariably broke down with very heavy loss under the accurate fire of our infantry and artillery.

The Germans succeeded in gaining some ground in and about the Hohenzollern Redoubt, but they paid heavily for it in the losses they suffered.

Our troops all along the front were busily engaged in consolidating and strengthening the ground won, and the efficient and thorough manner in which this work was carried out reflects the greatest credit upon all ranks. Every precaution was made to deal with the counter-attack which was inevitable.

During these operations the weather has been most unfavourable, and the troops have had to fight in rain and mud and often in darkness. Even these adverse circumstances have in no way affected the magnificent spirit continually displayed alike by officers and men. In the Casualty Clearing and Dressing Stations, of which I visited a great number during the course of the action, I found nothing but the most cheery optimism among the wounded.

I have to deplore the loss of a third most valuable and distinguished General of Division during these operations.

On the afternoon of 2nd October Major-General F. D. V. Wing, C.B., Commanding the 12th Division, was killed.

18. On the afternoon of 8th October our expectations in regard to a counter-attack were fulfilled. The enemy directed a violent and intense attack all along the line from Fosse 8 on the north to the right of the French 9th Corps on the south. The attack was delivered by some twenty-eight battalions in first line, with larger forces in support, and was prepared by a very heavy bombardment from all parts of the enemy's front.

At all parts of the line except two the Germans were repulsed with tremendous loss, and it is computed on reliable authority that they left some eight to nine thousand dead lying on the battlefield in front of the British and French trenches.

On the right the attack succeeded in making a small and unimportant lodgment on the Double Crassier held by the French; whilst on the left the trench held by troops of the Guards Division to the north-east of the Hohenzollern Redoubt was temporarily captured. The latter was, however, speedily retaken, and at midnight on the 9th October the line held by the First Army was identically the same as that held before the enemy's attack started.

The main enemy attacks on the front held by our troops had been against the 1st Division in the neighbourhood of the Chalk Pit and the Guards Division in the neighbourhood of the Hohenzollern Redoubt. Both attacks were repulsed, and the enemy lost heavily from machine-gun and artillery fire.

From subsequent information it transpired that the German attack was made by about twelve battalions against the line Loos-Chalk Pit, and that a subsidiary attack by six to eight battalions was made from the direction of the Hohenzollern Redoubt against the Guards Division.

Some eight or ten German battalions were directed against the French 9th Corps.

19. The position assaulted and carried with so much brilliancy and dash by the 1st and 4th Corps on 25th September was an exceptionally strong one. It extended along a distance of some 6,500 yards, consisted of a double line, which included works of considerable strength, and was a network of trenches and bomb-proof shelters. Some of the dug-outs and shelters formed veritable caves thirty feet below the ground, with almost impenetrable head cover. The enemy had expended months of labour upon perfecting these defences.

The total number of prisoners captured during these operations amounted to 57 officers and 3,000 other ranks. Material which fell into our hands included 26 field-guns, 40 machine-guns and 3 minenwerfer.

I deeply regret the heavy casualties which were incurred in this battle, but in view of the great strength of the position, the stubborn defence of the enemy and the powerful artillery by which he was supported, I do not think they were excessive. I am happy to be able to add that the proportion of slightly wounded is relatively very large indeed.

20. Since the date of my last despatch the Army has received strong reinforcements, and every reinforcement has had its quota of Field Artillery. In addition, numerous batteries of heavy guns and howitzers have been added to the strength of the heavy artillery. The arrival of these reinforcements in the field has tested the capacity of the Artillery as a whole to expand to meet the requirements of the Army, and to maintain the high level of efficiency that has characterised this arm throughout the campaign. Our enemy may have hoped, not perhaps without reason, that it would be impossible for us, starting from such small beginnings, to build up an efficient Artillery to provide for the very large expansion of the Army. If he entertained such hopes, he has now good reason to know that they have not been justified by the result.

The efficiency of the Artillery of the New Armies has exceeded all expectations, and during the period under review excellent services have been rendered by the Territorial Artillery.

The necessity to denude the old batteries of Regular Horse and Field Artillery of officers and non-commissioned officers, in order to provide for the expansion referred to, has not in any way impaired their efficiency and they continue to set an example to all by their high standard and devotion to duty.

I must give a special word of praise to the officers and rank and file of the Royal Garrison Artillery for the admirable way in which they have accustomed themselves to the conditions of active service in the field, to which for the most part they were unaccustomed, and for the manner in which they have applied their general knowledge of gunnery to the special problems arising in trench warfare. The excellence of their training and the accuracy of their shooting have, I feel sure, made a marked impression on the enemy.

21. The work of the Artillery during the daily life in the trenches calls for increasing vigilance and the maintenance of an intricate system of communications in a thorough state of efficiency, in order that the guns may be ever ready to render assistance to the Infantry when necessity arises. A high standard of initiative is also required in order to maintain the moral ascendancy over the enemy, by impeding his working parties, destroying his works and keeping his artillery fire under control.

To the many calls upon them the artillery has responded in a manner that is altogether admirable.

In the severe offensive actions that have taken place it is not too much to say that the first element of success has been the artillery preparation of the attack. Only when this preparation has been thorough have our attacks succeeded. It is impossible to convey in a despatch an adequate impression of the amount of care and labour involved in the minute and exact preparations that are the necessary preliminaries of a bombardment preparatory to an attack in a modern battle.

The immense number of guns that it is necessary to concentrate, the amount of ammunition to be supplied to them, and the diversity of the tasks to be carried out, demand a very high order of skill in organization and technical knowledge.

22. The successful attacks at Hooge on 9th August and of the First Army on 25th September show that our Artillery officers possess the necessary talents and the rank and file the necessary skill and endurance to ensure success in operations of this character.

Moreover, the repulse of the enemy's attack on 8th October in the neighbourhood of Loos and Hulluch with such heavy losses shows the capacity of the Artillery to concentrate its fire promptly and effectively at a moment's notice for the defence of the front.

I cannot close these remarks on the Artillery without expressing my admiration for the work of the observing officers and the men who work with them. Carrying out their duties as they do, in close proximity to the front line in observing stations that are the special mark of the enemy's guns, they are constantly exposed to fire, and are compelled to carry on their work, involving the use of delicate instruments and the making of nice calculations, in circumstances of the greatest difficulty and danger. That they have never failed in their duties, and that they have suffered very heavy casualties in performing them, are to their lasting credit and honour.

The work of the Artillery in co-operation with the Royal Flying Corps continues to make most satisfactory progress, and has been most highly creditable to all concerned.

The new weapons that have been placed in the field during the period under review have more than fulfilled expectations and the enemy must be well aware of their accuracy and general efficiency.

23. I have on previous occasions called your Lordship's attention to the admirable work of the Corps of the Royal Engineers.

This work covers a very wide field, demanding a high standard of technical knowledge and skill, as well as unflagging energy; and throughout the supreme test of war these qualities have never been found wanting, thus reflecting the greatest credit on the organisation of the Corps as a whole, and on the training of the officers and men individually.

The spirit which is imbued in all ranks from the base ports to the front trenches and beyond is the same.

No matter where or how the personnel of the Corps has been employed, devotion to duty and energy have been ever present.

In this despatch I wish particularly to draw attention to the work of the Field Units and Army Troops Companies, which must almost invariably be performed under the most trying circumstances by night as well as by day. Demanding qualities of whole-hearted courage and self-sacrifice, combined with sound judgment and instant action, the work of officers, non-commissioned officers and men has been beyond all praise.

The necessity for skilled labour at the front has been so continuous that Royal Engineer units have frequently been forced to forego those periods of rest which at times it has been possible to grant to other troops; but, in spite of this they have responded loyally to every call on their services.

Notwithstanding the heavy casualties sustained by all ranks, the esprit de corps of the Royal Engineers is such that the new material is at once animated by the same ideals, and the same devotion to duty is maintained.

24. I desire to call your Lordship's attention to the splendid work carried out by the Tunnelling Companies. These companies, officered largely by mining engineers, and manned by professional miners, have devoted themselves whole-heartedly to the dangerous work of offensive and defensive mining, a task ever accompanied by great and unseen dangers.

It is impossible within the limits of a despatch to give any just idea of the work of these units, but it will be found, when their history comes to be written, that it will present a story of danger, of heroism, and of difficulties surmounted, worthy of the best traditions of the Royal Engineers, under whose general direction their work is carried out.

25. Owing to the repeated use by the enemy of asphyxiating gases in their attacks on our positions, I have been compelled to resort to similar methods; and a detachment was organized for this purpose which took part in the operations commencing on the 25th September for the first time.

Although the enemy was known to have been prepared for such reprisals, our gas attack met with marked success, and produced a demoralising effect in some of the opposing units, of which ample evidence was forthcoming in the captured trenches.

The men who undertook this work carried out their unfamiliar duties during a heavy bombardment with conspicuous gallantry and coolness; and I feel confident in their ability to more than hold their own should the enemy again resort to this method of warfare.

26. I would again call your Lordship's attention to the work of the Royal Flying Corps.

Throughout the summer notwithstanding much unfavourable weather, the work of co-operating with the Artillery, photographing the positions of the enemy, bombing their communications and reconnoitring far over hostile territory has gone on unceasingly.

The volume of work performed steadily increases; the amount of flying has been more than doubled during this period. There have been more than 240 combats in the air, and in nearly every case our pilots have had to seek the enemy behind his own lines, where he is assisted by the fire of his movable anti-aircraft guns; and in spite of this they have succeeded in bringing down four of the German machines behind our trenches and at least twelve in the enemy's lines, and many more have been seen to dive to earth in a damaged condition or to have retired from the fight. On one occasion an officer of the Royal Flying Corps engaged four enemy machines and drove them off, proceeding on his reconnaissance. On another occasion two officers engaged six hostile machines and disabled at least one of them.

Artillery observation and photography are two of the most trying tasks the Royal Flying Corps is called upon to perform, as our airmen must remain for long periods within easy range of the enemy's anti-aircraft guns.

The work of observation for the guns from aeroplanes has now become an important factor in artillery fire, and the personnel of the two arms work in the closest co-operation.

As evidence of the dangers our flying officers are called upon to face I may state that on one occasion a machine was hit in no fewer than 300 places soon after crossing the enemy's lines, and yet the officer successfully carried out his mission.

The Royal Flying Corps has on several occasions carried out a continuous bombing of the enemy's communications, descending to 500 feet and under in order to hit moving trains on the railway. This has in some cases been kept up day after day; and during the operations at the end of September, in the space of five days, nearly six tons of explosives were dropped on moving trains and are known to have practically wrecked five, some containing troops, and to have damaged the main railway line in many different places.

For the valuable work carried out by the Royal Flying Corps I am greatly indebted to their commander, Brigadier-General H. M. Trenchard, C. B., D.S.O., A.D.C.

27. Throughout the campaign the financial requirements of the Army have been successfully met by the Army Pay Department. The troops have been paid, and all claims against the Army discharged, with unbroken regularity, and the difficulties inseparable from a foreign banking system and a strange currency have been overcome.

The work of the department has been greatly assisted by the Bank of France, the administration of which has spared no effort to help.

28. While the circumstances of this campaign have brought no exceptional strain on horses, great credit is due to all concerned for the excellent arrangements in the Remount Depôts and Veterinary Hospitals.

29. I am pleased to be able once more to report very favourably on the divisions of the New Armies which have arrived in this country since the date of my last report.

It is evident that great trouble and much hard work have been expended on these units during their training at home, and it is found that they have received such sound teaching that a short period of instruction in trench life under fire soon enables them to take their places with credit beside their acclimatised comrades of the older formation.

30. The Territorial Force units have continued to merit the favourable remarks I have made on them in previous despatches, and have taken a prominent part in many of the active operations in which the Army has been engaged.

31. A new Division has been sent from Canada and has joined the Army in the field. The material of which it is composed is excellent; and this Division will, I am convinced, acquit itself as well in face of the [illegible] as the 1st Canadian Division has always done.

32. During the period under report I have been [illegible] glad once more to [illegible] the [illegible] on 9th [illegible] Headquarters, as well as the Secretary of State for War.

The Prime Minister of Canada and the Minister of Militia and Defence of Canada also came to France for a few days and visited the troops of the Canadian Contingent.

The Chief Rabbi paid a short visit to the front and interested himself in the members of the large Jewish community now serving with the Army in the Field.

33. I cannot conclude the account of these operations without expressing the deep admiration felt by [illegible] the Army under my command for the splendid part taken by our French Allie[illegible] Battle which opened on 25th September. Fortified positions of immense strength, upon which months of skill and labour had been expended, and which extended for many miles, were stormed and captured by our French comrades with a bravery and determination which went far to instil hope and spirit into the Allied Forces.

The large captures of men and material which fell into their hands testified to the completeness of their victory.

The close co-operation between the two Armies of the Allied Powers, which has been so marked a feature throughout the whole campaign, has been as prominent as ever in the work of the last three weeks.

I have already referred to the cordial and willing help rendered by General Foch in the support of the 9th French Corps, and I have also once again to express my deep indebtedness to General d'Urbal commanding the 10th French Army, operating on my right: and to General Hely d'Oissel, commanding the French Forces in the North.

34. The part taken by the troops of His Majsety the King of the Belgians was very effective in holding the enemy in front of them to his positions.

35. I have many names to bring to your Lordship's notice for valuable, gallant and distinguished service during the period under review, and these will form the subject of a separate report at an early date.

I have the honour to be,

Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

J. D. P. FRENCH,

Field-Marshal, Commanding-in-Chief,
The British Army in France.

4. The following are the conditions of sale. Government reserves to itself the right of altering all or any of these conditions after giving three months' previous notice, and power is reserved to vary the upset price referred to in condition (ii) at any time without such previous notice :—

(i) The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

(ii) The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 1,800 per chest of uncertified opium and will be sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause (xiii) of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

(iii) The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M., but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of Government, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Government may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

(iv) Each lot shall contain five chests.

(v) A promissory note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such promissory notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this office by Bank of Bengal receipts, or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as Government shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

DEPOSIT

When the amount bid is less than Rs 2,000 per chest, Rs 400 per chest.

And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional to the extent of Rs 400.

(vi) The said promissory notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof [illegible] not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses [illegible] charged, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or [illegible] there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

(vii) The promissory notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

(viii) No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause (v) on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted: Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said promissory note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. (v) and No. (vi).

(ix) The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day after the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and, in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted: then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as Government shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

(xi) No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

(xii) The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India notes, Bank of Bengal receipts, or Government securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a promissory note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

(xiii) With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 1,800 specified in the second of these conditions.

(xiv) The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of l[illegible] opium not exceeding altogether fifteen lots, provided always th[illegible] main a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complet[illegible]teen.

[illegible] In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

5. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal:—

No. 1—Certificate of the opium advertised for sale.
No. 2—Report of the examination of such opium.

6. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Ghazipur Factory, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal.

7. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Government entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

By order of the Governor in Council,

J. DONALD, Secretary.

No. 2466Medl.—The 9th December 1915.—The following report is published for general information.

J. DONALD,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Dated Darjeeling, the 31st August 1915.

From—MAJOR CLAYTON LANE, M.D., I.M.S., Secy. and Supdt of Eden Sanitarium and Hospital, Darjeeling,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial and Medical Departments

(Through the Surgeon-General with the Government of Bengal.)

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Eden Sanitarium and Hospital for the year 1914. I was in charge of this institution from 1st January to 31st December 1914.

2. The Sanitarium was opened on the 1st April 1914 and closed on the 10th November 1914.

3. The Hospital attached to the Sanitarium remained open throughout the year and was occupied by six patients before the Sanitarium opened. It was occupied for nine and-a-half months during the year.

4. The following table shows the number of each class of patients and their friends admitted into the Sanitarium and Hospital during the past six years:—

Admissions.	1909.	1910.	1911.	1912.	1913.	1914.
First class ...	104	146	56	85	79	69
Intermediate class ..	73	78	126	124	125	97
Second class	178	206	230	288	291	296
Third class	117	136	119	178	177	144
Total .	472	566	531	675	672	606

The following tables show the number of patients and their relatives and friends admitted during the last six years, together with the daily average sick:—

Patients.

YEARS.	1909.	1910.	1911.	1912.	1913.	1914.
Admissions ...	389	427	393	506	499	183
Daily average sick ...	24·85	30·05	26·87	24·72	23·11	12·77*

* The Hospital was only occupied for nine and a half months during the year.

Relatives and friends.

Admissions	83	139	138	169	173	423
Total ...	472	566	531	675	672	606

The following table shows the total number of patients treated during the year 1914:—

Males.	Females.	Children.		Total.	Cured.	Relieved.	Died.
		Males.	Females.
77	65	22	19	183	164	13	6

The total number of admissions during the year 1914 was 606 against 672 during the year 1913; of these 69 were admitted to the first classas compared with 79, 97 in the intermediate class against 125, 296 in the second class against 291 and 144 in the third class against 177 admitted in the year 1913. Of these there were 9 children in the first class, 31 in the intermediate, 62 in the second class, and 19 in the third class, making a total of 121 children admitted in the year 1914.

From the above figures it will be seen that there has been a slight increase of residents in the second class only and fall in numbers in all other classes during the year 1914.

The number of patients treated in 1914 was 183 against 199 in the year 1913. The above figure is the lowest in the records of this institution. It depends on the fact that hitherto any inmate not classed under the heading of "relatives and friends" has been classed as a patient, and if not treated for any disease, has been classified as suffering from "debility." Many of these have been in no way sick and have merely used the institution as a hotel. This year they have been excluded from among the numbers of those shown as "sick."

The daily average number of residents for the whole year works out at 10, though for the period the Sanitarium was open it was 16 as compared with 42 and 55, respectively, during the year 1913.

The average stay of eac[illegible] [illegible]ident was three days during the year 1914.

The residents [illegible] [illegible]xpressed s[illegible]faction with the arrangements.

5 [illegible] [illegible]ds of the Medical Colle[illegible] [illegible]pital and Presidency G[illegible] [illegible]ospital were occupied nearly all the seaso[illegible]

Seven patients were treated in the Superintenden[illegible] free bed against 4 in the year 1913.

Seven patients were treated in the Presidency General Hospital free beds against ten in the year 1913

One patient was treated in the Medical College Hospital free beds against 8 in 1913.

Five patients were treated in the John White free bed, and one patient, who was a tea-planter was admitted in the Peter West free bed during the year 1914.

In the year 1914, 3 children were treated in the Theo. Beryl Cot, and the Ministering Children's League, Darjeeling, paid for the treatment of 7 children at the Eden Sanitarium.

The total amount spent on free-bed patients was Rs. 1,058 against Rs 1,417-8 in 1913.

6 The following donations and subscriptions were received in the year 1914 —

1.	Darjeeling Municipality ...	300	0
2.	Manager, Tukvar Co., Ltd ..	100	0

7. The rule whereby European Government servants on receipt of Rs. 400 or under can obtain first class accommodation by paying intermediate class rates was taken advantage of in two cases only.

The rule granting a reduction of rates to European assistants in commercial firms, banks, etc., who are annual subscribers, was taken advantage of in two cases only during the year 1914.

8. (1) There was one case of cholera imported from the plains and treated in the Infectious Ward. The patient died.

(2) There were 2 cases of enteric fever against 4 in the year 1913. These cases were of serious type, but the patients recovered after a prolonged illness.

(3) Fourteen malaria fever cases were treated against 12 in the year 1913. The patients all recovered.

(4) Two chicken-pox cases were treated in the Infectious Ward, both of whom recovered.

(5) Nine normal and one abnormal labour cases were treated in the Hospital against 10 in the year 1913.

(6) There were 47 operations performed during the year 1914 against 26 in the year 1913; of these 19 were selected operations and 15 were other important operations which were performed by me. The other 13 operations were performed by Military Assistant Surgeon J. C. Chalke.

(7) There were altogether 6 deaths against 6 in the year 1913.

The causes were—acute nephritis, cholera, acute dilatation of stomach and transverse colon, diphtheria, inanition and intestinal obstruction.

9. The daily cost of diet for residents, not including the staff, was Rs. 2-0-7 as compared with Re 1-9-5 in the year 1913.

The accounts were audited by Messrs. Vi[illegible]y and Thurston, Chartered Accountants of Calcutta.

10. GENERAL REMARKS—(a) The increa[illegible] diet by 7 annas per head per day as compared with the last year was [illegible] by any corresponding inc[illegible] prices.

(b) The nursing arrangements and linen as usual were under [illegible] supervision of two of the Clewer Sisters from Calcutta. I am much indebted to them for their valuable assistance.

It is far from easy to ensure that nurses shall be available for emergencies without wasting money in paying unnecessary salaries. Sister Mabel Theresa has managed this admirably.

(c) Sister Hope also took charge of the Library, which has undergone much improvement since she took over charge. Some new books were purchased out of the amount realized from the residents as subscription. The funds of the Library are kept apart from those of the Sanitarium, and are under the charge of the Sister in charge of the library.

(d) The Public Works Department carried out the annual repairs to the Sanitarium and Hospital during the cold weather months when the Sanitarium and Hospital were closed.

(e) The Government of Bengal in their letter No. 23T.—Medl., dated 24th April 1914, sanctioned an annual contribution of Rs. 1,500 towards the cost for the free treatment of the patients in the third class from the Presidency General Hospital and Medical College Hospital, Calcutta. This amount, being shown as third class receipt greatly recouped the loss derived from the treatment of third class patients, as the average cost per head is nearly Rs. 5 per diem.

(f) The Sanitarium was officially visited during the year 1914 by Colonel G. F. A. Harris, C.S.I., M.D., I.M.S., former Surgeon-General, and the following house visitors:—

(i) Rev. W. H. Drawbridge.	(iv) Rev. H C. Duncan, M.A.
(ii) Rev. Father F. Peal, S.J.	(v) Mr. E. A. Wernicke.
(iii) Dr. C. E. B. Seal.	(vi) Rev. H. Spooner

(g) The Committee held 9 meetings during the year 1914 against 7 in the year 1913 to discuss various subjects in the interest of the institution.

(h) The rates of all classes were raised by 8 annas a day per head during the year under report. This was followed by a falling off in admissions into the Sanitarium, and it would be easy to conclude that there was a direct connection between the two. Since, however, this report is actually written after considerable experience of another year's working with rates further increased, yet with a much fuller institution, it is obvious that this explanation is incorrect, except probably in the case of third class inmates. It would appear that residents were not as comfortable as they might have been in the year under report.

(i) The following improvements were proposed to be carried out, but could not be taken in hand for want of funds:—

(i) The sanitary arrangements for the third class rooms, particularly those for women. The present conditions are intolerably insanitary.

(ii) The conversion of the servants' latrine into one of a water-closet type. Estimated cost Rs. 3,484.

(iii) Certain additions and alterations to the Surgical Ward of the Eden Sanitarium, Darjeeling. Estimated cost Rs. 1,899.

(iv) Providing electric heaters in the first class sitting room and second class dining-room. Estimated cost Rs. 361.

(v) Removal of meat and vegetable larders from its present position. Estimated cost Rs. 1,065.

(j) An extension of the Hospital is very urgently required. It is quite inadequate for the number of patients which it ought to accommodate. These have constantly to be moved into the Sanitarium, although they are not really fit for this, owing to more urgent cases requiring the accommodation. The present Hospital was built by Government, and it appears entirely reasonable to ask Gove[illegible] to make the extension.

(k) The [illegible]ttee has, at least temporarily, lost the services of the R[illegible] F. Peal, S.J., a regularly atten[illegible] valuable Committee member, who has been deputed to military duty [illegible]ope as Chaplain to Troops. His place has been taken by the Rev. Father C. Grant, S.J.

(l) A new piano was purchased at a cost of Rs. 700 out of the funds raised through special concerts by Mr. Richardson.

(m) The Committee received very gratefully a donation of Rs. 6,150 from Mr. F. M. Leslie for the establishment of a fund called the "Binning Memorial Cot Fund" for the free treatment of children. This amount has been invested at 4 per cent. Calcutta Municipal debentures deposited with the Bank of Bengal.

[Fourth publication.]

[Revised issue.]

The 23rd November 1915.

No. 129Marine.—The following revised scheme of storm-warning signals, as finally approved by the Government of India, is published for general information, so far as it relates to ports in the Bay of Bengal situated in the Presidency of Bengal. The scheme shall come into force with effect from the 1st January 1916.

STORM-WARNING SERVICE.

The Government of India have decided to revise the distribution of meteorological information to ports and shipping. At present information is given by the hoisting of storm-signals, by the exhibition of flags, and by telegrams in code to Port Officers. The mea[illegible] the storm-signals now in use is different at different ports, and the new [illegible] arranged that the meaning of an[illegible] signal will be the same through[illegible] [illegible]ian seas, the only diff[illegible] between different ports being that a larger or [illegible] number of signals will be in use. The flag-signals will be replaced by signals giving the locality of disturbances, and the sending of eight-word-code telegrams to Port Officers will be discontinued. The scheme now to be brought into use may be shortly described as—

(a) a general system of eleven signals, two of which will indicate the existence of distant disturbed weather, eight will indicate that local bad weather threatens the port, while the remaining one will indicate that communication with the Meteorological Department has broken down and that in the opinion of the local officer there is danger of bad weather.

(b) a brief system consisting of four only of the above signals. This system will be used at a few ports frequented mainly by small Indian boats engaged in local traffic.

(c) the general system combined with additional daily signals either to indicate that weather is undisturbed or if bad weather exists to show the position of the disturbance. This system will be in daily operation at certain stations in the Bay of Bengal and has been devised to replace the flag-signals at present in use.

The following are the ports in the Presidency of Bengal situated in the Bay of Bengal which will come under the different systems :—

General system	General system with additional signals.
Cox's Bazar.	Chittagong.
Calcutta.	Saugor Island.
Budge-Budge.	Sandheads
Mud Point.
Diamond Harbour.

NOTE.—At the Sandheads the [illegible] exhibited, but information is available for passing vessels

I.—GENERAL SYSTEM.

The Meteorological Department will keep Port Officers informed of the latest information with respect to all disturbances, and ships' officers should apply to them for information to supplement the storm-signals.

DISTANT SIGNALS

to indicate danger to ships after they have left the harbour.

Day Night.

I. CAUTIONARY.—There is a region of squally weather in which a storm may be forming.

NOTE.—This signal will be hoisted at ports situated with reference to the disturbed weather such that a ship leaving the port might run into danger during its voyage.

II. WARNING.—A storm has formed.

NOTE.—This signal will be hoisted when there is no immediate danger of the port itself being affected, but ships leaving the port might run into the storm to indicate that the port and ships in it are threatened.

LOCAL SIGNALS

Day Night

III. CAUTIONARY.—The port is threatened by squally weather

IV WARNING.—The port is threatened by a storm but it does not appear that the danger is as yet sufficiently great to justify extreme measures of precaution.

NOTE.—The existence of a storm can often be determined before its direction of motion can be fixed In this case all those ports which the storm could possibly strike will be warned by this signal

V. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the south of the port (or to the east in the case of the Hooghly Ports).

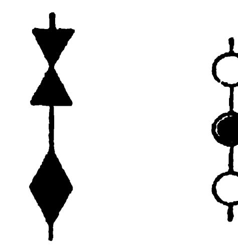

VI. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the north of the port (or to the west in the case of the Hooghly Ports and Chittagong).

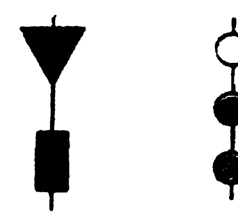

Day. Night.

VII. DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of slight or moderate intensity that is expected to cross over or near to the port.

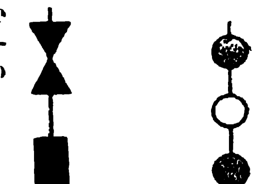

VIII. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross the coast to the south of the port (or to the east in the case of the Hooghly Ports).

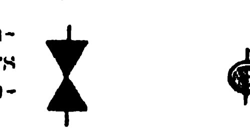

IX. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of [illegible] intensity that is expected to cross the coast to [illegible] port (or to the west in the case of [illegible] Hooghly Ports and Chittagong).

X. GREAT DANGER.—The port will experience severe weather from a storm of great intensity that is expected to cross over or near to the port.

XI. FAILURE OF COMMUNICATIONS.—Communication with the meteorological head-quarters has broken down and the local officer considers that there is danger of bad weather.

II.—BRIEF SYSTEM

for use at certain small ports.

In the brief system only the four following signals will be hoisted, but the Port Officers will be kept informed of the progress of bad weather for the general information of shipping:—

Signal No. III—Cautionary
Signal No. IV—Warning
Signal No. VII—Danger
Signal No. X—Great danger

} Meaning day and night signals as in the General system.

N.B.—Under this system there are no ports in the Presidency of Bengal situated in the Bay of Bengal.

III.—ADDITIONAL DAILY SIGNALS FOR THE BAY OF BENGAL.

In order to give daily information to a port regarding weather in the Bay it is necessary to provide for the following cases:—

(a) if no disturbance exists in the Bay of Bengal the fact will be indicated by hoisting a ball.

(b) if the port itself is threatened the appropriate local signal of the "general system" will be hoisted,

(c) if there be an area of squally weather or a storm that does not threaten the port the "distant cautionary" or "distant warning" of the "general system" will be hoisted; and additional signs will be hoisted under these to indicate the position of the disturbance in the Bay. For this purpose the Bay has been divided into six sections and the following shapes have been allotted to each of the divisions :—

Division I II III IV V VI

Signal

Thus if there is squally weather in section V of the Bay the signal  would be hoisted at the various ports; and if a storm has formed in section II the signal  would be hoisted at all ports which were not directly threatened; as already stated the ports threatened would hoist one or other of the local signals. The Meteorological Department will endeavour to keep the number of locality signals on each hoist as few as possible and generally only the number of the section in which the centre of the storm is situated will be given. If however the centre of the storm is near the boundary of a division two locality signals will be given, the first indicating the division in which the centre is supposed to be and the second the neighbouring division near to which it is. In the event of a storm centre being near to the angles where three divisions meet, three locality signals will be hoisted. The first will give the division in which the storm is supposed to be, the second the nearest adjoining division and the third the remaining division

Examples—

Storm centre	Locality signals
Lat. 16 N Long. 86 E	II.
Lat. 16 N Long. 88 E	II and III.
Lat. 16 N Long. 89 E	III and II.
Lat. 18 N Long. 87½ E	II. I and III.
Lat. 19 N Long. 89½ E	I. III and II

 The sections may be defined as follows —

II —Lies south of I, it is bounded on the south by lat 13° and to the east by long 88½°,

III —Lies south of I and east of II, it is bounded to the south by lat 18° and to the east by a line from the point 18° N 93° E to Diamond Island together with the Arakan coast thence up to 18½° N,

A map illustrating these sections accompanies the Code of Storm-warning Signals, published by the Government of India, which will be had on application to the Port Officer, Calcutta or Chittagong.
